Dr. Cole Speaks At SNSEA Meet

Dr. Catherine Cole, assistant professor of biology, presented a program entitled "Teaching and Learning from our Ebony Brothers" to members and guests of SNSEA, Feb. 15.

Dr. Cole's program was based on her experiences while teaching in the African country of Ghana. While teaching at Aburi School, a mere 28-miles from the capital city of Accra, Dr. Cole was living with people 300 years behind the present cultural development of the civilized world. To supplement her lecture, Dr. Cole showed slides which illustrated the way of life of the Ghanaians.

Students and faculty were invited to attend this first in a series of interesting programs planned to promote interest in the teaching field and SNSEA.

Library Employs Six New Students

Pioneer Hopes High for Victory; Lillymen Enter Tournament Today

By Keith Smith

Glenville will enter the WVIAC Tournament at the Civic Center in Charleston today with the best hopes in many years. The Pioneers' overall record of 16 wins-10 losses and their 13-9 conference record are favorable indications, especially in the light of their exciting clash with Morris Harvey the past Thursday night in the final game of the regular season.

In the 11 years since a Glenville team made the trip to Kanawha City the Pioneers have been in the WVIAC finals in 1956 and in the semifinals in 1957 and 1959. The other eight years have seen Glenville go no farther than the quarter-finals.

Since the tournament has been moved to Charleston, Glenville has made it no farther than the second round. In 1960 West Liberty upset the Pioneers and in 1961 Glenville fell in the second round, again to West Liberty.

For many years Glenville was the basketball power of the conference. Nate Rohrbough is said to have had nine championship trophies in his possession. There are one or two people who remember and even took part in the victory consumption of beer and cigars at the expense of Coach Rohrbough.

The free beer and cigars have gone the way of all good things and the Glenville Pioneer powerhouse seems to have followed suit.

Seventy-six students have been named to the Dean's Academic List at Glenville State College for the first semester, announces Dean Delmer K. Somerville.

Four students maintained a straight "A" average for the semester. These students are Harold Wayne Metz, Parkersburg; Barbara Jean Parsons, Dixie; Frances Yvonne Row, Junior; and Judith Ann Weese, Elkins.

To be eligible for the Academic List, a student must have made a quality point average of 3.2 or better on the courses taken during the first semester of the 1961-62 term.

The complete list includes Jackie Lee Barnes, Grantsville; Elizabeth Ann Beall, Parkersburg; Carolyn Marie Berry Meyer, Walton; Richard Neal Boggs, Grantsville; Margaret Pauline Bragg, Orlando.

Ellsworth Allen Buck, Richwood; Patricia Ann Burch, Grantsville; Jennie Jorene Butcher, Glenville;

Lucille Smith Butler, Orton; William Clay Butler, Richwood; Ronald Keith Cribfield, Gandeenville; Carolyn Jean Dawson, Mt. Zion; Elsie Marie Deal, Glenville.

Carolyn Janette Dotson, Harrisville; Carol Virginia Ellison, Glenville; Alvin Lee Engelke, Glenville; Johnny Joe Evans, Weston; Leah Jane Fox Hunt, Sutton; Genevieve Wilson Friedman, Lewisburg.

Alpha Psi Omega Sponsors Series of Foreign Films

Alpha Psi Omega is sponsoring a spring series of foreign films at GSC. Membership is $3.00 ($5.00 for a married couple).

Members will be guaranteed a minimum of three films. For each ten members over fifty, one bonus film will be added. If fewer than fifty join, the society will be discontinued and all fees returned.

The past series featured six films: "Night of Cabiria" (Italian), "Sawdust and Tinsel" (Swedish), "The Forty-Second" (Russian), "Outcast of the Islands" (British), and "Rashomon" (Japanese). A sixth film, a bonus to the members, will be shown Feb. 26.

Persons interested in joining the foreign film society can contact any Alpha Psi Omega member or see Mr. Coleman. Mr. Coleman points out that the success of the program depends upon the number joining the series. Faculty members and students are urged to join immediately.

GSC Students Attend UN Meet

James Booth, junior speech and physical education student from Parkersburg, was head of the West Virginia Collegiate Council of United Nations as they traveled south to Raleigh, N. C., the past week. Booth and nine representatives from Glenville joined students from Morris Harvey, Marshall, West Virginia Wesleyan, and West Virginia University in the U.N. Model General Assembly for five days of leadership training in international affairs.

The leadership conference is a direct concern of the United Nations and is backed by the W. Va. State Government.

Booth, Larry Wolfe, William Spelbring, Virginia Gill, Linda Russi, Wayman Johnson, Dwight Pearson, Donna Murphy, Edward Nichols and William Haywood were the representatives from GSC, serving as delegates from Haiti and Nicaragua. Miss Bessie Boyd Bell and Mr. Benjamin F. Bast served as advisers.

Delegates were divided into five committees to study such basic problems as politics, economics, education and health. "I represent Nicaragua and Haiti and my con-of the State Normal School of West Virginia. From 1898-1930, the institution was known as Glenville State Normal School; from 1930-1943 as Glenville State Teachers College; and since 1943 as Glenville State College.

Glenville State College is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education and is a member of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education and the American Council on Education. Thus academic credits earned at Glenville State College are standardized and are accepted by other colleges and universities.

Objectives of the College provide for the student the elements of a cultural education, a mastery of the fields of concentration, the ability and desire to use methods of critical inquiry, an understanding of democratic society, and the development of a well-rounded personality.

The College adopts the philosophy that its first responsibility is to serve the area, not only in providing adequate college training for the young men and women who are on campus, but to integrate the work on campus with every phase of community living.

With this goal in view, Glenville State College has dedicated itself to the task of making central West Virginia and points beyond a better place in which to live.

Mr. John White Advises Reserves

All service men who have military obligations with the Reserve Corp of the U. S. Army, Navy Reserve, or Air Force Reserve should communicate with the headquarters of their particular service in regard to their current mailing addresses.

Following the recent order of active duty for reservists and National Guard members Mr. John White, associate professor of mathematics, and captain in the United States Army Reserve, was besieged by several Glenville State College students who were then in receipt of alerting orders to report for active duty.

Upon investigation, Mr. White discovered that nearly all of the students concerned had failed to notify their respective service of their change in address, and that they are now attending college. Most of the current army records showed these students to be living at home, and to be unemployed. Mr. White states that records are selected from IBM machines, and thus only information which is currently recorded is used in the draft processes.

Military rules and laws require that every person who leaves his address for as much as 30 days, either temporarily or permanently must notify in writing the headquarters to which he was last assigned.

All students who need to contact their services and report a change in address should see Mr. White. He states that he will be happy to supply the proper forms for notification of the proper Army, Navy, and Air Force units.

Versatility Exemplified in Faculty Mr. Bast Leads Diversified Life

By Elizabeth Beall

"To be universally interesting you must first be universally interested." These words spoken long ago are appropriate today when the subject is Mr. Benjamin F. Bast, assistant professor of history. To Mr. Bast, being universally interested includes knowledge of three of the most difficult languages spoken by man today, plus English.

Mr. Bast speaks, reads and writes Russian; reads German; and reads and writes a "little" Arabic.

He obtained his Bachelors degree at Slippery Rock State College, Pa., and Masters from the University of Pittsburgh. He is currently working on his dissertation for a Ph. D. in Russian History.

As a research source, Mr. Bast is using a Russian book in Russian print concerning the "Era of the Five-year Plan in the Economy of the U. S. S. R."

He has major fields in speech and English also.

When asked why he chose Glenville State, "because of Russian history" was his reply. Mr. Bast seems to enjoy Glenville. "I find students at Glenville sincere, less sophisticated, but more honest than city students."

When it was known that a history instructor would go out of his field to coach a debate team, Glenville raised its eyebrows, but only

BE NONCHALANT WHEN . . .

You haven't read the assignment and the professor throws a "pop" quiz in your face.

You give someone a hearty slap on the back and find that you don't know the person.

You accidentally make two dates for the same night.

You write home for money.

You discover in mid-afternoon that your socks don't match.

You're typing madly along and discover that the shift key is pushed down to lock.

Your book is six days overdue at the library and it was on the reserve shelf.

You make a motion in a meeting and no one votes for it.

You're talking about someone and turn around to find him standing right behind you.

You tell a joke and no one laughs.

You dive and (boys) belly-smack or (girls) your bathing suit strap breaks.

You see a roach in your room at 2 a.m.

THEY SAY . . . BUT THEY MEAN . . .

"Be ladylike in the dormitory lounges, girls." (No kissing, no hugging, no sweet whispering.)

"Mother says I have to be in by eleven." (I'm bored.)

"I hate him. He's so stuck on himself." (I'd love to date him, but he won't ask me.)

"People who make the Dean's List are a bunch of clods who never socialize." (I missed being named by 2 point.)

"His questions are never clear." (I flunked his last test.)

"Sororities and fraternities are for the birds." (No one asked me to join.)

"Cafeteria food is terrible."

(THEY MEAN JUST WHAT THEY SAY.)

"I think it's funny because the pool is closed." (I have physical education 102 and I can't swim.)

"Art students are kooks." (I can't draw.)

"Her dress is just not the type one should wear at Glenville." (I wanted it, but she bought it first.)

"I really aced that test and didn't even crack a book." (I've been studying for two weeks.)

WHAT TO DO IF . . .

You fall down the library steps during the change of classes - just jump up and do it again, pretend it's some new kind of game.

Your girl gives back your fraternity pin - very nonchalantly say, "Oh, so that's where it was."

You fall down in the Ad Building - just lie there, pretend you're dead. Maybe no one will notice.

There is a green pea lying on the cafeteria floor and you slip on it and fall - pretend death in this case also. They'll think the food finally got the best of you.

The housemother catches you slipping in after hours - tell her that you were shaking the rug and fell out the window.

The Collegiate Council of United Nations (CCUN) is an international organization affiliated on most campuses through the student government. "As a result of CCUN all major colleges and universities will recognize UN Day," Booth added.

Booth expressed his thanks to the GSC Student Council for the student allotments to help cover expenses of the current conference.

St. Marys Hosts Drama Festivals

Little Kanawha Drama Festival and the Regional Drama Festival will not be held on campus this year. The College auditorium is not being used at this time because of planned remodeling in the near future.

Mr. William S. E. Coleman, associate professor of speech, points out that the Little Kanawha Drama Festival will be held at St. Mary's High School. Mr. Coleman will serve as one of the judges for the St. Mary's meet.

Area high schools that participate in the drama festival include dramatics in their curriculum. The Little Kanawha festival is non-competitive; the Regional Festival is competitive.

Pioneers Hopes

the name of Bob Hardman led the Pioneers all the way to Kansas City in 1951.

What will happen in 1962? Better yet, what could happen in 1962?
ANYTHING. The 1962 Glenville
State Pioneers can be just as good as they want to be. There have been instances when their play sparkled it was so sharp; there are other instances one wishes to forget. All that is left for the Pioneers to do now is to decide how strongly they want the tournament.

Tournament pairing is based on the conference standing. Standings are determined on a point system.
Pairings are as follows:

- Team No. 1 vs. bye
- Team No. 2 vs. No. 15
- Team No. 3 vs. No. 13
- Team No. 4 vs. No. 9
- Team No. 6 vs. No. 10
- Team No. 7 vs. No. 11
- Team No. 8 vs. No. 12

Glenville, No. V team, will play
Salem No. IX team, at 6:40 p.m.
Wednesday. The Pioneers are in the upper bracket, and if they beat Salem they will face the winner of the Shepherd - West Liberty game.

G-Men Lose 4 of Final 7 Win Wheeling, State, A-B

By Keith Smith

Morris Harvey, Here, Feb. 15
The ball came off the board,
hesitated momentarily on the rim, and rolled off. This is how the regulation game against Morris Harvey ended. Had the ball fallen through the basket, it would have been one of the season's major upsets.

The Morris Harvey game Thursday night was the final home game for five graduating seniors. These five men—Carney, Lambert, Gan-dee, Smith and Shepherd—have played together since their freshman year. This reporter can find no more appropriate words than those of Harry Hull. "Congratulations, men, for a job well done."

The season has seen Glenville have its ups-and-downs, but this was their finest game. Even though the Pioneers lost 107-101 it was an excellent performance. At one point in the second half the G-Men were down 15 points. They never let up. With but 18 seconds remaining, Larry Gande sank a 20-footer to tie it 91 all.

With three seconds to go Gande gathered in the ball on the Morris Harvey end of the floor. Gande turned, threw the ball almost the length of the floor to Fred Smith whose driving layup rolled off the rim.

To the delight of Morris Harvey fans, the overtime saw Glenville's defense falter. The overtime ended

107-101 Morris Harvey.

Bob Lambert kept the Pioneers
in the ball game with his 37 points.
Larry Gande let loose in the second half and overtime to score 18;
he had 20 for the game. The rest of the starters were in double figures. Eberbaugh had 12. Carney and Smith 11 each and Bob Maxwell came through with 10.

Tim Carney played a good steady game defensively and offensively.
Carney led the team in assists with seven.

Fred Smith was assigned the task of guarding Gene Miller, one of the two best guards in the conference.

Gande and Lambert showed their true colors. Both played exceptional offensive ball and good steady defense.

Glenville's downfall lay in their rebounds, turnovers, and a lag in second half and overtime defense.

A-B, Feb. 13

The Pioneers reached their high-point score in the 111-81 victory over Alderson-Broadus. This high scoring, fast-paced game saw the entire Glenville squad, not only enter the game, but also score.

Eberbaugh led the pack with 28;
Big Maxwell followed with 16, Mike Reed played only the last half and had 13. Lambert and Gande each scored 12 and Carney 10.

Eberbaugh and Big Maxwell combined for 30 rebounds, Eberbaugh 17, Maxwell 13. Carney and Smith played aggressive games at their guard positions.

The Pioneers pulled off 50 rebounds which is close to 20 over their season average. Rebounding has not been one of the Pioneers' strong points this season. This rebounding deficit has been due greatly to lack of height. Eberbaugh is the tallest man at 6'4".

Morris Harvey, There, Feb. 10
The Morris Harvey Eagles clawed Glenville thoroughly 104-77 in a game that may be filed under

"Worst Defeat of the Season." Feb.
10 was one of those nights one hopes does not happen too often.
After the first ten minutes of the game, Glenville could do no right.
Lambert got three quick fouls and had to leave the game.

The G-Men hit only 26 of 89
shots from the floor and 25 of 41 foul shots. Glenville's defensive game was not what it usually is either. Even after Gene Miller, Morris Harvey's outstanding guard, was forced to leave the game with a broken nose, the Pioneers could not pick up the pace.

Eberbaugh was high for Glenville with 25. Gande had 17, Carney 11 and Big Maxwell 10.

W. Va. State

West Virginia State appeared on two consecutive dates in the Pioneer schedule this season. When the schedules were first distributed,
this fact rather startled some fans
and frightened others.

It was State who represented
West Virginia in the NAIA Tournament in Kansas City this past season. Having only lost one man, Henry Thompson, State was a solid pre-season selection for the conference title.

By mid-season State had not lived up to the expectation of many. The first encounter with the G-Men certainly showed no indication of the expected strong State team.

Play At Institute

However, on their second meeting, a change was evident. Perhaps it was the fact that they were on their home floor or the strong

Glenville All-Stars Enter Tourney

Glenville will be represented in an intramural tournament to be held at Alderson-Broadus College March 2 and 3. This Tournament is part of the Central West Virginia Collegiate Exchange Program.

Coach Bob Summers and Keith Smith attended a meeting held on the A-B campus Feb. 11 to arrange for the tournament. Five of the six colleges in the program were represented: Salem, Fairmont, Davis and Elkins, Alderson-Broadus and Glenville.

No player who has ever earned a college letter in basketball can compete. Also players playing on junior varsity or freshmen teams in the second semester are ineligible. A group of 12 may be brought from each college. A male faculty member must be included.

The selection for the Glenville all-star squad will be made by members of the athletic department. Mr. Kent Monroe will be the faculty adviser for the team.

Glenville's all-stars will play
Davis and Elkins Friday, March 2, at 6:30. The winner of this game plays Salem who drew a bye, at 10 Saturday morning. Wesleyan and A-B play at 8:30 Friday and the winner plays Fairmont who also drew a bye, at 12 Saturday

The losers of the Saturday morn-game at 6:30 Saturday night. The morning winners then play for the championship at 8:30.

All lodging and meals will be provided by the student govern-

G-Men Lose

backing they had; it was not the same team the Pioneers beat 106-96 at Glenville on Feb. 6.

The Pioneers fell in the second meeting 99-85 at Institute, Feb. 9. The G-Men did not play their best ball but they did play a poor game either. On that night State was simply too much for the Pioneers; every move the Yellow-Jackets made was the right one.

State controlled the boards and made a high percentage of their shots. Bill LeFevre had one of his best nights of the season scoring 43 points. Along with their scoring, State had more than ample rebounding. The Yellow Jackets are the strongest team on the boards Glenville has faced.

Carney scored 23, Lambert 20, Gandee 16, and Smith 11 for the losing cause.

Play At Glenville

In their first meeting the Pioneers were more fortunate. Glenville broke the century mark for the fourth time this season to win 106-96 over the Yellow Jackets.

It was one of the G-Men's best productions. They hustled and worked together.

Bob Lambert finished with 34 and five other players were in doubles: Gandee, Carney, Eberbaugh, Eddy and Smith with 19, 15, 11, 11 and 10 respectively. The Pioneers led by two points at half-time. They came back to outscore State 61-53 in the second half.

Wheeling

Glenville felt the adverse effects of road trips this season. They were away from win only four of eleven games.

The Pioneers defeated Wheeling College for the second time this season by a score of 94-76. Wheeling had never once this year gotten its nose out of the cellar; therefore this victory was of little value, point-wise.

Four men scored in double figures in this contest. Carney was high with 20, Gandee 18, Lambert 17 and Smith 13. All members of the squad played in the game.

West Liberty, There, Feb. 2

West Liberty evened the count at 1 and 1 by defeating the Pioneers 83-82. The Pioneers had defeated the Hilltoppers 86-80 in a four overtime game on their first encounter.

A reversal of this second score would have been noticeable in standings. However, West Liberty has always been successful on their home court.

Only three men were in double figures: Lambert 22, Gandee 14 and Big Maxwell 10.

Versatility

to find a man much experienced in the art of speech. Mr. Bast is the proud owner of several speech trophies in extemp, debate, and dramatic interpretation.

He launched his speech activities in his sophomore year in high school after realizing he was too small for football. He accounts for his success in debate as being "naturally argumentative." He continued speaking in college and was awarded a place on the varsity debate team as a freshman at George Washington University, Washington, D. C.

After graduation, he coached high school debate for five years, and has had two trophy-winning debate teams and five extemp winners. He received a jeweled key for debate, a national Forensic honor for high school coaches.

Striving for attainment in intellectual development, he widened his interest areas to include mountain climbing, chess, which he feels is co-related with debate, painting, swimming, canoeing, reading history, and music.

Among his "likes" he lists classical music, guitar music, progressive jazz, coffee, and conversation. He enjoys climbing the mountains at Seneca Rock, Cooper's Rock, and McConnell's Mills, and has gone down Allegheny River in a canoe where he "smashed in the side of seven canoes."

On the subject of art, it is his belief that "most modern artists are frauds -- chaos and anarchy in the final analysis cannot be called art."

According to Mr. Bast, Western civilization is in winter of cultural development, but, "there is hope." This hope "exists only in the public education institutions of the world, "which is his basic reason for being in education.

Coming to Glenville from a larger city presents a problem to some, but not Mr. Bast. "I miss museums, large libraries, and the theatre, but can obtain the same cultural benefits at Glenville State in the inter-library loan, Foreign Films, and Mr. Coleman's plays."

Carolyn Jones, sophomore home economics and business student, is currently serving as a secretary in the Registrar's Office.

GSC Kindergarten Is A Busy Place

By Sandra Wamsley

Upon entering the kindergarten classroom in Kanawha Hall, one is surrounded with much warmth and sweetness. Miss Jewell Matxews, associate professor of education, is in charge of kindergarten five days a week from 9 to 12 each morning with student teachers assisting.

Kindergarten members are Charlotte Belasco, Dianne Burke, C. W. Campbell, Richard Hardman, Shawn Hermiz, Tommy McCorkle, Kathy Pegg, Vickie Perrill, Susan Reale, Libby Reed, Leon Starkey, Mary Steyer, Jane Stump, Vicki Taylor, and Roger Whaley.

A successful Valentine party was held by the group Feb. 14. Each child had made and displayed several Valentine arrangements and exhibited them attractively on a bulletin board. One exhibit consisted of personal Valentines made for each mother.

Party menu consisted of raspberry jello, cookies, sandwiches, candies and milk. Several student teachers aided Miss Matthews with the festivities.

Each child has a locker, there are several storage shelves and a broom room is being constructed. In the near future, paintings by several art students will be displayed. Drawing easels have been relocated next to the windows for a better lighting system. Mural paintings create an attractive border on the lower edge of the wall. Glenville State College kindergarten is quite a busy place.
