Glenville Grad Stars in Ohio Play; Gainer Acts in 'Marriage Go Round'

Robert K. Gainer, 1961 Glenville State College graduate with fields in speech and social studies, recently appeared in a lead role in "The Marriage Go Round" at the Black River Playhouse, Elyria, Ohio.

"The Marriage Go Round" by Leslie Stevens deals with that sometimes narrow and rocky road, marital fidelity and its major detour, the triangle. The triangle is composed of Paul and Content Deville, two college professors married happily for 25 years, and the tall, blonde and beautiful Swedish apex, Kathryn.

Gainer portrayed the part of Paul Deville and in the words of James Cox in the Elyria Chronicle-Telegram, "he milked the part of Paul Deville dry of every possible squirt of laughter."

Cox also stated that Gainer's acting experience showed in his effective delivery of lines and characterization.

Renovation Will Begin April 2 in Ad. Building

According to a recent announcement by President Harry B. Heflin, the Lewis Worlledge Company has been awarded the contract for renovation of Unit B and the auditorium in the Administration Building. The West Virginia Board of Education awarded the contract to the Worlledge Company for their low bid of $334,000. Because $36,000 was available for this project, the reminder of the money will be used to pay architect fees and to set up an emergency fund.

Under the terms of the contract, Unit B must be completed by no later than the end of the first semester next year and the auditorium must be completed 90 days after this time.

Some of the new features which will be included in the remodeling are the addition of eight music practice rooms along the sides of the auditorium. These rooms will be soundproof and each will have its own air-conditioning unit.

There will be two large air-conditioning units for the entire auditorium. The stage will be made larger by the removal of the dressing rooms to the upstairs. New seats will be installed in the balcony.

A dramatics workshop and a tape storage room will be set up. On the first floor of the building a Little Theatre will be created. This theatre will seat about 70 people and will be used for music and art appreciation classes, for recitals, for small dramatics productions, for lectures, etc. This room will be equipped for the showing of films.

308A will become two smaller rooms. Also on this floor, office space will be set up with six offices on one level and six on a slightly higher level.

The offices of the Dean of Women, the Dean of Student Affairs, the telephone operator, the business education office, the faculty secretary office, the English office and the social science office are now being moved or have been moved into Kanawha Hall and other areas.

Offices which will be moved and their new location are:

Room 308A will move to the double classroom in the Health and Physical Education Building, effective second term.

Offices of the Dean of Men, Dean of Women, telephone operator and the mailboxes will move to Room 102 of the Administration Building, effective second term.

English office will move to the old kitchen at Kanawha Hall.

Social Sciences office will move to Kanawha Hall in the room adjoining the English office.

Faculty secretary will move to Room 100 of the Administration Building.

Room 102A will move to Kanawha Hall, classroom at the west end, use the front door, effective second term.

Business Education office will move to Room 100, Administration Building.

Renovation should start about April 2.

Maturity Begins With Us

WE WOULD LIKE to encourage Glenville State College students to increase their own maturity. It is true that minority of troublemakers can draw a majority of students down with them.

IMMATURE ACTIONS by GSC students have reached a deplorable state. "Our children" spend their time stringing paper cups, food, and other debris on the campus. Some students find it highly amusing to stuff their water glasses with bread, vegetables, and anything else available so that the cafeteria workers will have to waste valuable time removing this mess. Many prefer to use the floor of the Student Union for their cigarette butts rather than to use an ashtray.

RECENTLY, XI BETA TAU women were disturbed and angered by the actions of some students in regard to the posters advertising the White Carnation Ball. The Xi Betas put much time and effort into creating eye-catching posters to advertise their dance. It seems that some students were so captivated by the posters that they removed them from the bulletin board and took them to their rooms. Several posters were taken from the bulletin board at the foot of the Union steps in a matter of a few days. One exceptionally attractive poster remained on display only two hours.

THESE INCIDENTS, with the exception of the cigarette butts, sound more like the antics of a small child than the actions of a supposedly adult college student.

IMMATUREITY DOES NOT stop here with these simple antics; it has gone over into other phases.

MANY STUDENTS in the mistaken notion that it is a sign of maturity are making a public display of their effection for their girl-or-boy friend. Conduct of some students, particularly at dances, is reaching a new low. Faculty chaperones have been shocked by some of the exhibitions they have witnessed at dances. The situation of necking at dances, in campus buildings, and in parked cars along the street leading to the college is a serious matter.

ANOTHER PROBLEM which needs to be cleared is the drinking situation, this problem is particularly evident at the dances. Students who bring alcoholic beverages to the dances may be doing so with only the thought of having a little extra fun, but it should be considered that the drinker may ruin the general atmosphere of a dance for his date, for the people around him, and the chaperones (both faculty and students) who are responsible for conduct at these affairs.

LETTERS HAVE BEEN sent to all campus organizations advising them of these problems at dances and urging each organization to take it upon itself to raise the standard of conduct at such activities.

IT IS THE responsibility of each student to help eliminate these problems at GSC. While you yourself may not be guilty, a minority of troublemakers is dragging the reputation of Glenville State College, and therefore of all students, here, down. These few are degrading the many; it is left for the many to rise up and meet and conquer these problem-makers.

THE PRIME ROLE of a COLLEGE STUDENT is NOT to BECOME a "PARTY GIRL OR BOY," BUT TO INCREASE HIS OWN MATURITY IN AN EFFORT TO ATTAIN SUCCESS AS A STUDENT. A COLLEGE is NOT PRIMARILY FOR "PARTYING," ITS MAIN PURPOSE IS TO PROVIDE a TRAINING GROUND FOR THE MIND.

WE AGREE that fun is necessary to keep the body active as well as the mind, but fun must remain secondary in our reason for being here. A college student's primary concern should be the search for truth and the attainment of knowledge.

Letter to the Editor

MERCURY Editor:

I would like to know what is being, or has been done with our Lyceum money.

I have asked several people about this matter and no one seems to know. One person suggested that it will be carried over for next year. If this is the case, it seems to me that this will not be fair to seniors and others who will not be here next year. If nothing is going to be done with the money this year, I make the suggestion that there should be a refund to all those who are involved.

Sincerely,
John Dobson

W. Va. Methodist Student Movement Elects Glenville Students to Office

Two Glenville State students were recently named state officers of the West Virginia Methodist Student Movement. Marie Jewell, Junior elementary education student from Mason County, and Wesley Bargehlo, sophomore chemistry student from Parkersburg, were chosen during the annual spring conference at Cedar Lakes, Ripley.

Miss Jewell was elected secretary of the state MSM. She was treasurer of the local Wesley Foundation the past year and is presently serving as vice president of the Foundation.

Bargehlo was elected publicity chairman for the state group. He will serve as editor of the "Mirror," MSM news sheet. He is active in the local Wesley Foundation and is currently serving as World Christian Community Chairman.

Theme of the Cedar Lakes conference was "The Christian Student and Social Concern." A high light of the conference was the panel discussion "Liquor by the Drink" conducted by West Virginia Wesleyan students. Glenville students were responsible for the Saturday-night communion service. Ninety-two people, representing nine area colleges were present.

Clair Morehead, state vice president, and the Glenville delegation handled registration. Attending from Glenville were Marie Jewell, Wesley Bargehlo, Carol Cosby, Alvin Engelke, Carolyn Lowther, Diane Long, Clair Morehead and the Rev. Chester Steyer.

McKown's Group Wins Drama Meet

Edward McKown, 1961 Glenville State College graduate with major field in music, is now serving as instrumental music instructor at Fayetteville High School.

McKown, active in dramatics at GSC, is also sponsor of the Thespian group at Fayetteville. His group participated in the Regional Drama Festival at West Virginia Tech on March 10. McKown directed the play "Gloria Mundi."

"Gloria Mundi" won first place in the festival and will be presented on March 30 at West Virginia University at the State Drama Festival.

While a student at Glenville, McKown appeared in such plays as "Misalliance," "The Glass Menagerie," "Golden Boy," and others.

Winning second place at the Regional Festival at W. Va. Tech was a play directed by another Glenville graduate, Miss Patricia Knicely. She teaches at Cowen High School.

In the past, Regional Drama Festivals have been won by the plays of other Glenville graduates. Ronald Schuman directed the Calhoun County High School winning play in 1959; and Harry Holbert directed the winnig Sutton High School play in 1960.

Such honors speak well for the Glenville State College graduates and the drama department.

Phi Mu Sponsors Show and Dance

Phi Mu Gamma will sponsor their annual dance Saturday, March 31, from 9-12 in the Student Union.

Theme for the dance will be "Sidewalk Cafe" with a French background.

French berets or any makeup may be worn which will add to the French setting.

Chairmen of the various dance committees are Eileen Kapalla, Dreama Lambert, Margy Simmons, Sue Skidmore, Janice Underwood, Alyce Griffith, Carol Ellison. Tickets may be purchased in advance from any member of the sorority for $2.00 or they may be purchased at the door for $2.50.

In observance of Community Arts Day on the National Calendar, Phi Mu Gamma, in co-operation with the Glenville Garden Club, sponsored a flower show Thursday, March 15 at Town Hall.

Flowers were divided into three categories—dry, permanent, and miscellaneous.

Program Held By Glenville Quartet

A quartet from Glenville State College Music Department presented a vocal music demonstration to Glenville and Normantown High Schools Tuesday, March 6. The demonstration was designed especially for the students in Gilmer County schools and presented to them a brief survey of music history along with acquainting the students with the four basic types of voices.

Members of the quartet are Sandra Moore, soprano; Patty Dent, alto; William Snyder, baritone; and Mr. Alexander Zeban, tenor. An-Kara Miller and Mary Stephenson are pianist for the group.

Included in the program are numbers sung in Italian, German, French, Latin, and English. Various types of songs include motets, madrigals, chorals and selections from a musical comedy.

Tuesday, March 20, the group plans a tour of the remaining Gilmer County schools which will include Tanner, and Sand Fork, and Tray.

Foreign Films Set For Presentation

Alpha Psi Omega spring foreign film association had 53 members at the time the MERCURY went to press. Fifty members were required for the program to continue. About one-half of this membership is composed of faculty members.

Mr. Coleman points out that if possible international award films will be selected for the three showings that are available for the members. Names of films and date of showing were not available. As in the past, the films will be shown in Louis Bennett Lounge on Tuesday afternoons at 3:30 and again at night at 7.

Frank Beall and Charles Friedman serve as projector operators for the films.

Glenville Wins Intramural Tourney Played at Alderson-Broaddus Mar. 2

On March 2, twelve students and one instructor traveled to Philippi for an intramural basketball tournament sponsored by Alderson-Broaddus student government. They returned March 3 with three trophies.

Glenville players were Ed Bell, Ellsworth Buck, Joe Duncan, Terry Dutton, Nick Nicholas, Norman Pinder, Glenn Proctor, Frank McKown, Harry Smith, Keith Smith and Walt Rogers. The instructor was Mr. Kent Monroe. Mike Reed served as coach of the team.

Six colleges participated in the tournament: Alderson - Broaddus, Davis & Elkins, Fairmont, Glenville, Salem, and W. Va. Wesleyan.

Glenville did not draw a bye for the first round. This meant they must play three games to win the tourney.

Davis & Elkins was the first victim. The Glenville All-Stars jumped to a strong early lead. The final score was 88-62 Glenville.

The next morning the Glenville team met the group from Salem. Once again a strong early lead was gained and held throughout the contest. Salem was downed 91-72.

The finals were played that night; a strong Fairmont team had to be faced. The Glenville team followed its self-set pattern by getting a solid lead and staying there. The 68-61 victory gave Glenville the winners trophy.

Glenville's victories were due to an unbeatable combination: teamwork, hustle, desire, and ability. This group of players had only one practice, yet in each game there

Harry Hull and Roy Clemens Hailed For Loyal and Outstanding Service

By Keith Smith

During the past few years many names have been printed on this page of the MERCURY. These have been names of people who have contributed to athletics here at Glenville. They have been the coaches and players, the actual participants.

We are taking this space to say well done to two men who have contributed a great deal with little said. They are HARRY HULL and ROY CLEMENS.

HARRY HULL is a senior from Bridgeport. During his four years here he was manager of the football team for three years. For two-and-a-half of these years he was not paid for managing but contributed his own time. Hull has served in any number of other capacities: scorekeeper, trainer, sports writer, and business manager for the MERCURY.

The Pioneer could have no more avid fan than HARRY HULL. He is not satisfied with helping on the field or court but he has organized thuses and skits for assemblies prior to games. Harry has tried to increase school spirit with posters and cards purchased at his own expense.

Before the final home game this year, no one had made arrangements to honor the five seniors on the squad. Harry took it upon himself to do so. What he said to those five senior men, we now say to him—"A job well done."

As far as fans go ROY CLEMENS is second only to HARRY HULL. For those of you who do not know ROY CLEMENS, he is the maintenance man in charge of the Health Building.

Few people realize where the trash and dirt go from one night to the next morning. Who opens, closes, waxes, and washes the Health Building? At 8 on Saturday mornings, it is Roy who hears us beat on the doors and comes to open them.

Perhaps this is all just part of a job, but ask any athlete about ROY CLEMENS. He is a friend to each and every one. Whether it is a difficult favor or to pass the time of day, Roy is always there. He is there at all the home games and any away games he can possibly make. The next day he will tell a player what he did wrong as well as right. To HARRY HULL and ROY CLEMENS the MERCURY and the Glenville athletes give a long overdue and deeply felt "Thanks."

The 1962 schedule includes two games with Marietta College there. Other changes include two game with Concord instead of one, W. Va. Tech has been dropped from the schedule and there will be one instead of last season's two games with Davis & Elkins.

There will be many openings this year due to lack of experienced personnel. Only five of the 19 names above were on the squad the past season. Bill Young, a three-year letterman, is the only regular starter. Reese and Stalnaker were members of the pitching staff.

Ten-Highs Hold Lead In MAA

MAA play for the past two weeks shows only one team still undefeated. The Ten-Highs with a 6-0 record are the only undefeated team. Joe Duncan's Untouchables were put down by the KKK in the March 1 session. Both the Untouchables and the KKK have each lost but one game.

In the March 8 session the Beaver-Shooters rolled over the Court 76-48. Dave Wall was high Beaver-Shooter with 28. Proctor led the Court with 19. The Stump Jumpers jumped on the Spats 69-61. Boblett led the Spats with 24 while Kitzmiller had 31.

Other games in the March 8 session were Untouchables 39-Ruffians 36; Pen City Boys 92 MENC 33; Court Pledges 54 KKK Pledges 40; and Wazoos 57 Hustlers 54.

Leading scorers were May for Untouchables, 11; McCoy for Ruffians, 22; Poling for MENC, 16; Bowser for Pen City Boys, 32; Bowser for KKK Pledges, 16; Beckner for Court Pledges, 18; Williams for Wazoos, 14; and Spencer for Hustlers, 24.

Students Find Competition Rough

By Elizabeth Beall & James Buck

On March 9 and 10, GSC speech students felt the culmination of months of planning and stewing for one of the highlights of their year. At last Glenville was getting the chance to pit itself against a fairly good representation of colleges and universities.

A group of seven students and adviser left March 9 for the fourth Annual Forensic Tournament at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. The group included James Booth, entered in oratory; Larry Wolfe, extemporaneous speaking; James Buck and Sherry Curtis, affirmative debate team; and Majorie Roth, Elizabeth Beall, negative debate team; and Mr. Benjamin J. Bast, advisor and debate coach.

Ninety-eight colleges were originally scheduled for the Meet, but only 22 were there.

When we arrived at the Miami campus, our tensions were slightly alleviated, when the first person we happened to meet was Mr. Evans, chairman of the Forensic Tournament. When Mr. Bast asked directions, Evans immediately said, "Glenville? We were worried that you wouldn't make it." "We said to ourselves, 'there goes a good debate'."

At least we were assured that they had heard of Glenville, and were of the impression we were competent competitors. Our hope was that we could prove them right.

Were they? To answer this question many elements must be considered. In talking with various students we found that instead of debating for credit in the speech field, only a small minority were speech studies students.

These colleges had early recognized the importance of debating and debating outside their respective states. In observing several colleges, debate is an extremely important activity. For some students debate was their only extra-curricular activity which had been maintained since their freshman year.

This was, as many know, Glenville's first tournament of the season, and GSC's first big debate meet. For some colleges it was at least their third for this season and more for others.

But back to the question, "how did Glenville stand up under this type of competition?" According to the critic sheets, Glenville was lacking most in material and fresh approach, this can be attributed to our limited backgrounds. Our logic was good, and the general speaking ability on an average with other colleges.

We found GSC placed exactly average in speaking ability. We placed below average in winning debate. These handicaps can be resolved in one way alone - more experience.

In recognizing all of these factors, we must also recognize that all colleges must start somewhere, and usually that first step in the most painful. We were sorry that GSC did no better, but we all look forward to more debates, increased knowledge, and the assurance that as in times past, Glenville goes the only way it knows how - up!

As for individual members, James Buck stated that "If only Sherry and I could have had the experience of meeting larger colleges our freshman year rather than our senior year, we could have been decent debaters. No matter how great winning a cup may seem in West Virginia, our debating ranks only average when pitted against larger universities and colleges."

Phy. Ed, Students
Make Field Trip

The Individual and Corrective Physical Education class visited Marmet Hospital Wednesday, March 14, to observe physical therapy in practice. Marmet, which handles both resident and out-patients, is a hospital for the rehabilitation of the handicapped.

The class, and Miss Clarissa Williams, was guided through the corrective rooms by courteous nurses, who explained the therapy being given each patient. Under the guidance of trained therapists, individual programs for each of the patients were being conducted.

Among the handicaps under treatment at that time were cerebral palsy, poliomyelitis, arthritis, and accident victims. Through observation of actual corrective therapy, the class was able to comprehend more clearly the role of the physical educator in correctives.

SNSEA Presents
Program Series

On Thursday, March 15, the Glenville Chapter of SNSEA presented a program entitled, "The Lighter Side of Teaching." The program was designed to reveal humorous incidents in the classroom that tend to make teaching a warm, rewarding field.

Miss Judy Godby, freshman from Elkview, was in charge of the program. Program was supplemented by reading which were selected on the basis of how they might relate to the teaching vocation.

This program was the third in a series of planned programs to stimulate interest in the teaching field and SNSEA. Some of the future programs will include films, readings, lectures, etc.

SNSEA extends to the students and faculty an invitation to attend the meetings which are held on the first and third Thursdays of each month, beginning at 6:15 p.m. in Room 302A.
