Student Council Election Is Set For April 18

Will Vote on Union Expansion

By Janet Long

Students will vote on the tentative plans to expand the Student Union in the election Wednesday. The preliminary sketch for expansion entails the addition of a radio broadcasting room, a recreational area, possible to include ping pong and pool, a bowling area to include two lanes with a possible expansion later. Also, included in the recreational section of the tentative plans is the addition of a new ballroom.

Book Store would be located on the street level. Student Council offices would be enlarged, and meeting rooms for general and organizational use, including storage space, would be provided. Likewise, additional study booths, extension of snack bar, and an enlarged television room are incorporated into the plans. These are the most important of the provisional plans and there are other changes, additions, and relocations.

If the students indicate that they desire these changes by a good showing of affirmative votes in the election, the tentative plans for the expansion of the Student Union Hall will be recommended to the State Board of Education for consideration. If the Board accepts the plans, the student union fee will be increased by $5 each semester or a total semester fee of $8.

Will Name '62 - '63 Officers

By Janet Long

1962-63 Student Council Officers will be chosen in all-campus election to be held in the Student Union April 18 according to Mr. Stanley Hall,

Student Council faculty adviser.

A special assembly will be held Thursday, April 12, at 10:10 in the gymnasium. At the assembly each candidate will present his platform orally before the student body.

Deadline for candidates to submit their names and platforms was April 1. Names of all candidates will be posted on the Book Store window today.

In the 1961 election 66 per cent of the students voted. With the two-fold purpose of this election, it is hoped that the student vote will be larger this year. Student teachers may obtain absentee ballots from Clair Morehead, sergeant at arms.

IOC, a branch of the Student Council, is working with the Council in asking the various organizations to submit candidates for office.

Pictures and platforms of candidates will appear in the April 17 issue of the MERCURY.

Coleman Tells of Plans for 3 Plays

Mr. William S. E. Coleman has announced the plays scheduled for the spring season. The triple bill will be composed of three one-act plays which are experimental in nature and which are original scripts of Mr. Coleman and Harry Lynch. The plays written by Mr. Coleman are "Smyth" and "Fantasy and Fugue," and Harry Lynch's play is entitled "Who's Who." The three plays will be presented on the Glenville State stage in the near future.

Speech department is preparing for the Jackson's Mill meet. Mr. Coleman has announced that the department will present excerpts from William Shakespeare's plays. The play will have a medieval setting with the theme of a power struggle for the throne of a country. Cast will be composed of eight to ten people and the parts will be evenly divided between men and women.

Annual Conference Will Not Be Held

The Educational Development Conference which has been held at Glenville State College for the past six years will not be held this spring due to renovation work in the auditorium. It is hoped that the conference will be able to meet in its entirety next fall, and it will definitely meet next spring.

This spring some segments of the Conference will be meeting in special groups. These groups will be considering special problems.

Several projects under the Educational Development Conference are underway. Dr. Delmer K. Somerville serves as director of the conference.

Foreign Films Set For Spring Show

The spring foreign film series began April 3. The first film of the series, "Young and Damned," directed by Luis Bunuel was shown at 3:35 and 8 p.m. in Louis Bennett Lounge. Setting of the film is Mexico City and the story is about juvenile delinquents.

Second film of the series is "The Rest Is Silence," and will be shown on April 17. The film is a German production and is a modern version of "Hamlet."

"The World of Apu" is scheduled for the third film to be presented on May 1. It is a Hindu film and is a great family film.

It will still be possible to join the series at the showing of the first film.

Rabbi Samuel Volkman

Rabbi Volkman Lectures Here

Today, Wednesday, April 4, Rabbi Samuel Volkman will present all-day lecture sessions in Louis Bennett Lounge. Beginning at 8 until 10 this morning with the topic "Judaism and Social Justice," the lectures will continue throughout the day.

Literary Issue Will Be May 9

Date for the second annual literary issue of the MERCURY will be Wednesday, May 9. Such an issue was first published here the past spring and the response indicated that many students were interested in creative writing.

Prose writings included in the 1961 literary issue were "The Ascetic," by Virgil Smith; "Slew-foot's Coinage," William Simmons; and Wordsworth Speaks to the Twentieth-Century Reader," Carol Sue Reed. Poetry included "Child," Leith Owen Clarke; "Life," Mary Francis Vaughan; "Moving Time," Lucille Smith Butler; "Oblivion," Leith Owen Clarke; and "Where?" Barbara Huggins. Janet Mae Fields did the illustrations for the literary issue.

Students are encouraged to submit poetry, short stories, essays and one-act plays for the 1962 literary issue. There is no contest, no prizes, merely an attempt to encourage creative writing by GSC students.

Literary material may be mailed to the MERCURY editor or brought to the MERCURY office by April 23. This is the deadline.

Literary Society Will Meet Sunday

"Reclaim in Literature and Drama" is the topic for the Literary Society meeting Sunday afternoon, April 8, at 3 o'clock in Louis Bennett Lounge. Patricia Horner and Carol Ellison are in charge of the program.

Joan Davis and Patricia Horner have resumed their duties as president and vice president respectively after completing directed teaching duties past term. Carol Cosby is secretary and treasurer for the Society.

Glenville 'Singers' Perform Recently

Glenchoes, Mistys and the Varsity Quartet are three vocal groups of Glenville State College under the direction of Mr. Alexander Zerban. All of these groups have been busy presenting programs before several groups.

Glenchoes consist of Sondra Moore, Patricia Dent, William Snyder and Mr. Zerban. Mary Stevens and AnKara Miller serve as accompanists. Recently this group gave vocal demonstrations in the five Gilmer County high schools. A varied program included soloists and ensembles, accompanied and unaccompanied. The program gave the high school students as full a realism of vocal music as could possibly be presented in one hour.

The Mistys and the Varsity Quartet recently made appearances at banquets, Women's Clubs, on television and before other organizations. In the near future these groups will sing on campus for high-school senior day and for the L.K. sports banquet.

Members of the Mistys are Kay Strosnider, AnKara Miller, Mary Stevens, and Sherry Sherwood.

For Effort, We Offer Praise

Efforts are many; rewards are few. Student Council officers and adviser spend time-consuming hours in serving students and the college. Frequently they feel as if they have accomplished little and seldom do they receive any recognition for work well done. If there is criticism, it is more often negative than positive.

The Council strives to serve the students, for it is the representative voice of the students. The Council has made several efforts during the current year to improve student life at GSC.

EFFORTS ARE MANY . . . Glenville students were dissatisfied with the entertainment available on campus; the Council sponsored a performance by the Four Freshmen . . . REWARDS ARE FEW . . . a financial loss was suffered because students did not attend.

OFFICERS AND ADVISERS GIVE TIME-CONSUMING HOURS IN SERVING . . . The Council meets every Tuesday evening, sometimes spending hours in discussions and making plans for improvement at GSC. Much of an officer's spare time is used to carry forth Council business.

The Council officers are a modest group; they never boast about their accomplishments. Occasionally, someone thinks to congratulate the group, but more often, officers RECEIVE LITTLE OR NO RECOGNITION FOR A JOB WELL DONE. Such events as the Homecoming, Who's Who election, even the Council election itself, are taken for granted by students. Students apparently think the events have always been and will continue to be; they never stop to realize that much planning and work by the Council lies behind the success of each of these.

IF THERE IS CRITICISM IT IS MORE OFTEN NEGATIVE . . . the Council ruled that married women would not be eligible for selection as cheerleader or Homecoming Court member in an effort to consider the financial burden such a choice might place on some of the couples if the wife were chosen; married women on campus looked upon the ruling as an attempt to exclude them from the social life of Glenville State . . . THAN POSITIVE . . . the MERCURY received one letter early this fall praising the Council for its efforts to make Homecoming a success.

Student Council officers are usually slighted and neglected simply because rather than praise, we tend to gripe.

The position of a Student Council officer is a precarious one; he is open to criticism, degradation, attacks, even ridicule by disgruntled students. But it is also a rewarding position, for the officer is trying to make Glenville State College better and bigger.

If reward can come through effort and dedication, then we think the 1961-62 officers have earned that reward. Many times defeat and disillusionment are the result of their work. Few times success and satisfaction are the result.

For these few times we are grateful; for the extended efforts we offer praise.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

IOC members spent some time recently discussing and criticizing the cafeteria food, service and menus. No doubt such a discussion was within their jurisdiction.

However, we would like to suggest that the IOC members discuss some of their own problems.

Suggestion No. 1: What ever happened to the IOC sponsored film program for the campus?

Yours truly,

Glenville, West Virginia

Dear Mrs. Mayhew:

Just a little note to compliment your editorial in the March 21 issue. I heartily agree.

Your last sentence is a gem. (I would capitalize "truth" because only a Person can be loved with a passion.)

Would classes in Christian ethics remedy the moral problems of drinking and necking? Wonder what the students think?

GSC Defeats OU In Novice Tourney

By Elizabeth Beall

Now that all of the labor legislation problems have been solved through the collegiate debate teams, we are sure Uncle Sam can rest. The heated debates took place March 17 at the University of Pittsburgh during the annual Novice Tournament.

Affirmative debaters from Glenville were Robert Smith and Jack Rhoades; negative, Elizabeth Beall and Marjorie Roth. James Buck, senior, went as student judge, and Mr. Benjamin F. Bast, as adviser. Purpose of the Novice Tournament centered on inexperienced debaters challenging each other. Only those who had not debated before were eligible. Here, as well as at the Miami Tournament, we noted that the smallest minority were speech students. Most of our opponents were students of pre-law, social studies, and political science. And this being a novice tournament, most were freshmen.

"Practice helps make perfect," no matter what the class, held true for the negative team. Their performance improved somewhat with added confidence, experience, and additional material gained from the previous debate tournament.

Combining information and moral-support, Miss Beall and Miss Roth won the decision over Ohio University, tied in team ratings with American University, Washington, D. C.; Indiana State University, and were beaten by Duquesne University of Pennsylvania.

Football Schedule Lists Seven Games; G-Men Play Wesleyan in Homecoming

By Keith Smith

Coach Nicholas Murin has released the 1962 Football schedule. As in the past the seven-game schedule opens with West Liberty Sept. 15 at West Liberty. The balance is in favor of the home team as four of the seven games are at home for the Pioneers.

There has been only one change in the schedule this year. Davis and Elkins, who dropped football this past fall, have been replaced by

West Virginia State.

Traditionally the Homecoming game has been with Davis and Elkins and Concord alternately. The 1962 Homecoming game will be played with W. Va. Wesleyan.

The 1960 Homecoming was the last to include the Senators. Davis and Elkins fell to a strong Glenville team 36-0. Last year's 20-4 victory over Concord pulled the string out to six homecoming wins in a row.

Wesleyan has won the past three encounters with the G-Men. One string will be bound to break.

Pioneers will be looking to improve their 5-2 record of the past season. The gridgers have already started preparation in anticipation of this coming fall. With a solid nucleus of returning lettermen, Coach Murin's expectations are high.

The 1962 schedule is:

Sept. 15, West Liberty State College, There.

Sept. 22, Potomac State College, Home.

Sept. 29, Concord State College, There.

Oct. 6, W. Va. State College, Home.

Oct. 13, W. Va. Wesleyan College (Homecoming), Home.

Oct. 20, Salem College, There.

Oct. 27, Fairmont State College, Home.

Home games will be played at 2:00 p.m. at Rohrbough Field.

Lambert is Named To All-Conference

Bob Lambert was recently named to the WVIAC All-Conference Basketball Team. Lambert, the son of Mrs. Agra Lambert, is a graduate of Norman-town High School.

Lambert has been a regular starter for all four years of his college career. In his four years he has scored over 1500 points. This season he averaged 18.6 points per game.

Without a doubt Lamberts has been the most consistent scorer and rebounder on the squad. Although Lambert stands only 6'3" he held his own with the best the conference has to offer. It seems almost impossible that a man no taller than 6'3" and who seldom took shots from more than 10 feet out could score so well. Many have said Lambert had the best touch on a ball that they had ever seen.

Lambert is a physical education and biological science student. He is presently doing directed teaching at Weston High School.

This past year Lambert was named to the second team all-conference. This year Mike Eberbaugh was named to the second squad. Perhaps this is a good indication for Eberbaugh.

High Schools invited to attend are Burnsville, Jane Lew, Sand Fork, Weston, Troy, Glenville, Tanner, Normantown, Wirt County, Calhoun County, and Buckhannon.

Schools will be mixed and divided into 10 teams of six girls each to include all 60 girls invited.

Purpose of Playday is to interest high school seniors in the physical education program of Glenville State College and with the hope of interesting some students in attending the college.

Miss Clarissa Williams and Mrs. Christine Bush are the club advisers and will aid in all the activities scheduled.

It is hoped that Physical Education Week will be an annual event after this year and that the program will be bettered each year of its presentation.

Junior Seniors

avored Seniors found themselves behind 37-31.

Seniors were not to be denied, however as they outscored the Sophomores 19-9 in the third quarter and 25-19 in the final quarter. Sophomores contained W. Va. Conference choice Bob Lambert to only 9 points.

Outstanding player in the game was Kent Shock who kept the Sophomores in the game with his outstanding offensive and defensive play. Fred Smith scored 17 for the Seniors, Larry Gandee, 12; Carney, 11; Shepherd, 10; Dutton and Grose 8 each in addition to Lambert's 9.

Sophomore scoring was led by Shock with 16; Reed, 12; Gunnoe, 11; Pottmeyer, 10; Kitzmiller 7; and Huffman and Chalfant 2, each.

Juniors controlled the board against the Freshmen, but they were guilty of several turnovers which made the game much closer than expected. Juniors boast two of the best rebounders in the tournament in Mike Eberbaugh and Dick Bickel.

Freshmen caught the Juniors off guard and outscored them 17-10 in the first quarter. Freshmen depended on Allen Chenoweth and Clyde Brewer who collected 8 and 7 points respectively during the first quarter.

However the Juniors' overall height and scoring ability were too much for the Freshmen. Brewer led the Freshman scoring for the evening with 18 followed by Legg, Morgan, Graham, Chenoweth, 8 each; Bob Maxwell, 4; Fuller and Blake 2 each.

Bickel led Junior scoring with 17; Eberbaugh had 12; Bill Maxwell 11; Keith Smith, Bell and Vandee 6 each; Nichols 5; Booth and Rodgers 2 each.

Finals of the tournament were played Monday night, April 2, after the MERCURY went to press.

Annual KKK Ball Is Set for Apr; 14

Kappa Sigma Kappa will hold its Annual Ball on Saturday, April 14, from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. The Satellites of Charleston will be held for the dance which will be held in the Student Union.

A coronation party will be held prior to the dance for the brothers, their dates, the chapter sweetheart and her escort.

GSC Defeats

In debate, the negative must completely tear apart the affirmative case or lose. In case of a tie, the decision goes to the affirmative. So, in decisions, American University and Indiana State won the debates.

Affirmative team, Rhodes and Smith, both freshmen, encountered their first debate and came out of it happy and much better prepared for their next debate.

"We were glad to go, and glad we are freshmen. That gives us three more years to improve," stated Smith. He added, "It gives me confidence, because I realized that the rest of the debaters were just as nervous as I was."

Contestants were judged according to analysis, evidence, argument, refutation, and delivery. Judges' instructions were simply "This is a novice tournament, but there are no special standards for rating novice speakers; your quality ratings should correspond with general intercollegiate standards as you have observed them in previous experiences."

3 GSC Professors Judge Science Fair

Dr. Catherine Cole, Mr. Richard Brooke and Mr. Nelson Wells served as judges for the Braxton County Science Fair held at Gassaway High School March 20, 21 and 22. Mr. Robert Williams, Glenville High School, also served as a judge.

Gassaway High School and Sutton High School participated in the Fair. One of the directors, Mr. Lowell K. Knight, is a Glenville State graduate.
