A Desire to Serve

The Mercury Continues

Thirty-three years ago on November 25, the MERCURY was created.

Those first issues were published by a group of students interested in journalism; there was no editor at this time.

The first MERCURY staff in 1929-30 included Mr. Lloyd M. Jones, GSC business manager; and Mr. Linn B. Hickman, editor and publisher of the Glenville Democrat.

Mr. Nelson Wells, GSC associate professor of education, held the first definite position on the staff in 1933-34 when he served as advertising manager.

In 1938 the first editors were appointed. They were Max Ward and John Rogers. Dr. Ward, GSC professor of biology and chairman of the division of science, served as associate editor again in 1939-40.

The MERCURY has served Glenville State College for the past 33 years as the "voice of the students." The paper is planned, and prepared by students with the aid of the faculty adviser.

MERCURY policy has always been simple: we print the news; we do not make it.

The MERCURY will continue to pursue an editorial policy of objectivity and will continue to present a truthful, comprehensive, and intelligent account of campus events. We try to present the facts with no intent of partiality.

There have been instances during the 33 years that the MERCURY may have been wrong; the staff makes no pretense at being infallible. For this reason, the staff urges GSC students to express their opinions through the editorial page of the MERCURY. However, it is also a part of the paper's policy that no anonymous letters will be printed. The editor and the adviser must know the identity of the writer.

As the MERCURY begins its 34th year of publication, we will try to fulfill the intended purpose of this paper—"news media" service to campus, alumni, and friends of the college.

Alumni Secretary White Supervises Fund Drive

Mr. John V. White, alumni secretary, will supervise a telephone campaign through the Alumni Office today, tomorrow and Friday, to raise funds from Glenville State alumni in the Clarksburg and Beckley areas.

Nineteen other state-supported and private institutions of higher learning will be participating in the united effort which is titled CAUSE (College Alumni United in Support of Education).

Each institution will make its own separate campaign and retain all its own contributions. CAUSE is sponsored by the West Virginia Association of College and University Presidents.

The College Alumni Office will get in touch with the alumni at Beckley. Mrs. Lynwood Zinn, President of the Alumni Association, will be in charge of contacting the 94 graduates living in the Clarksburg area.

A kickoff dinner was held Nov. 9 at the Stonewall Jackson Hotel in Clarksburg and campaign procedures were explained to workers. Mr. Frank Toth, assistant professor of science, and Mr. Victor Berry, director of the extension service, represented Glenville State College.

Dinner was presented by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, Hope Natural Gas Company, and Monongahela Power Company.

The annual event was launched last year in the greater Charleston area and proved successful.

The 20 colleges and universities participating are Alderson-Broadus College, Beckley College, Bethany College, Bluefield State College, Concord College, Davis and Elkins College, Fairmont State College, Glenville State College.

Greenbrier College for Women, Marshall College, Morris Harvey College, Potomac State College, Salem College, Shepherd College, West Liberty State College, West Virginia Institute of Technology, West Virginia State College, West Virginia University, West Virginia Wesleyan, and Wheeling College.

Newspaper Staff Sponsors Contest For Fourth Year

The fourth Annual Poetry Contest will again be sponsored by the MERCURY. Winning poems will be published in the Christmas issue of the MERCURY, Dec. 19.

Subject matter for the poems is unlimited and any student is eligible to participate in the contest. MERCURY staff members may also enter the contest, as they will be in no way involved with the judging.

Entries may be placed in the MERCURY box at the Student Union, left in the MERCURY Office, or given to any staff member. Deadline for entries will be 4 p.m., Dec. 7.

Each poem will be numbered before being sent to the judges, and judges will select the winning poems by number. Names of the winners will remain unknown to the judges as well as to GSC students until the three winning poems are published in the MERCURY on Dec. 19.

Winners of the first poetry contest in 1959 were Dorothy Butler, first place; Phyllis Lee Harvey, second place; and Armita Rae Tucker, third place.

Leith Owen Clarke took first place honors in the 1960 contest. Roland Thomas Ferrell was second and Deronda Jones placed third.

Winners in the past year's contest were William Spelbring, first place; Elsie Marie Deal, second place; and Carolyn Berry Meyer, third place.

Judges for the contest are Dr. Espy W. Miller, Mr. Carl A. Kerr and Mrs. Elliott Hill.

THANKSGIVING HOLIDAYS SET NOV. 21 TO 26

The autumn season is almost gone, the football games are over, now, Glenville State College students turn their thoughts to a change of scene for four days as Thanksgiving holidays approach. Thanksgiving recess begins Wednesday, Nov. 21, at 12:15 p.m. and ends Monday, Nov. 26, at 8 a.m.

On the evening of Nov. 20, students, faculty and residents of Glenville, who wish to do so, may dine in the college cafeteria. Dinner will be served from 4:30 to 6 p.m. The price for those who do not eat regularly in the cafeteria is $1.02. Reservations must be made before 10 o'clock Monday morning, Nov. 19.

Mr. Vernon Smith, food service director, has announced the menu.

The Plays Are Cast

Coleman Play and 'Oedipus' Set for Parkersburg Soon

"Rondo," an original play by Mr. William S. E. Coleman, and Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex," have been cast and will play in Parkersburg at the Theatre Guild Playhouse, Dec. 14 and 15. These plays will also be seen on campus approximately one week before the Parkersburg trip.

"Rondo" was written by Mr. Coleman as part of his work for his master's degree at Pennsylvania State University. An earlier version of the play was done at Penn State in 1953, then, after revision, it was given at GSC in 1957 for the speech festival at Jackson's Mill.

After still further revision, the play was awarded third place in the Naugatuck Playwrights Contest in competition with 58 plays from four countries. In this contest, Mr. Coleman was the only playwright to win two prizes as his "Ballad of John Hardy" received honorable mention.

"Rondo," written verse, largely iambic pentameter, is a short (45 minutes), romantic play about a highwayman. The cast for the play includes: Harry Lynch as Alec; Edward Nichols as Tom; Judith Godbey as Pauline; Jack Brown as John; John Napolitano as George, the highwayman; and William Spelbring as Tebbel.

William Spelbring as Tebbel.

In direct contrast to the romantic lilt of "Rondo," the other play to be presented in Parkersburg will be Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex," a Greek tragedy, which Mr. Coleman adapted for the modern stage from six different translations.

"Oedipus Rex" was presented at Jackson's Mill in May of 1961 and was received with what Mr. Coleman termed as "the greatest response we have ever received at the speech festival."

The cast for this play will be: William Spelbring as Oedipus; Margaret Hofmann as Jocasta; Greta James as Ismene; Mary Biel as Antigone; Lanny Petry as the Priest; Keith Smith as Creon; Larry Wolfe as Tiresias; Wayman Johnson as the Messenger; Harry Lynch as the Herdsman; Margy Simmons and James Bush as the choral leaders; and Sherry Curtis, Helen Cunningham and Phillip Ramsey as the Citizens.

Technical supervisors will be Jerry Morgan and Rodnal Skaggs. The score for "Rondo" will be a live, guitar improvisation by Frank Beall.

James Booth will assist Mr. Coleman with the direction of the plays.

Student Teachers Begin Second-Term Assignments

19 seniors are doing directed teaching second term at schools in this area. Dr. Wendell Hardway, director of student teaching, has announced the list of students.

Carolyn Allman and Larry Allman are at Spencer; both are in the fields of music (non-academic). Ruth Justice is also at Spencer teaching mathematics and physical science.

GSC Will Present An Hour Telecast Thursday Morning

Tomorrow morning at 9, GSC will present an hour telecast on Channel 3, Huntington. This program will give GSC the widest coverage it has ever had. The show is called the "Good Morning Show" and is part of a series designed to profile different colleges throughout the Tri-State area. Mr. William Coleman was in Charleston Monday to discuss the program with Channel 3 executives.

The program will consist of still and moving pictures of the campus and campus life, art objects made by GSC's art department, interviews with campus leaders and musical numbers.

People participating in the presentation are Dr. and Mrs. Harry Heflin, Dr. Wendell Hardway, Queen Betty Ann Brown, Harry Lynch, a quartet from the music department, Mr. William Coleman and Miss Bertha Olsen.

On Thursday, Nov. 8, the GSC speech department presented a half-hour television program on Channel 5, Weston. Program consisted of a discussion of "Rondo," an original one-act play by Mr. Coleman.

Participants in the program were Harry Lynch, Edward Nichols, Judith Godbey, John Napolitano, Jack Brown and Mr. Coleman. The students are members of the cast of "Rondo".

Placed at Calhoun County High School are John Boggs and Kenton Harris in mathematics and physical science, and physical science and biological science. Connie Coffindaffer, vocational home economics, is at Clarksburg doing directed teaching at Roosevelt Wilson High School.

Students teaching at Burnsville High School are Roy Cutlip, Carol Ellison, Johnny Joe Evans, Laura Belle Gainer and Harry Smith. Mr. Cutlip and Mr. Evans have fields of study in mathematics and physical science. Miss Ellison is teaching English and social studies.

Miss Gainer is an English teacher and teacher librarian. Mr. Smith has fields of study in physical education and social studies.

Eileen Kapalla has been placed in Buckhannon-Upshur High School to teach physical education and art. David Wall is at Weston High School in the fields of physical education and social studies.

Elementary education student teachers are Patricia Dennis and Sue Ellen Garrett at Burnsville, Alyce Ray Griffith and Judith Busch, Weston; Joyce Jackson and Mary Ann Moss, Glenville.

Supervisors of secondary student teaching are Dr. Hardway and Mr. Nelson Wells.

Miss Julie Matthews and Mr. Joseph Johnson supervise elementary directed teaching.

Students' Thanksgiving

WE ARE THANKFUL, O Lord, in these four years, for the opportunity to learn, to increase our knowledge and our wisdom.

WE ARE THANKFUL, O Lord, for our intellect. Teach us to make our decisions and judgments in accord with our conscience.

WE ARE THANKFUL, O Lord, for words. Let our thoughts find fulfillment in words, and our words in acts.

WE ARE THANKFUL, O Lord, for humility. May we be open-minded and willing to listen to all persons and all opinions.

WE ARE THANKFUL, O Lord, for doubt. Let our doubts be the beginnings of faith and a knowledge of truth.

WE ARE THANKFUL, O Lord, for our faith. Grant that through our faith we may cope with all crises, whether intellectual or spiritual.

WE ARE THANKFUL, O Lord, for our responsibility as students. Help us to deal with the problems and evils that confront us and help us to proclaim our knowledge of truth.

WE ARE THANKFUL, O Lord, to be students. Help us to learn . . . to seek truth . . . to live life.

SC Announces Bulletin Board Uses and Rules

Student Council has announced that the glass enclosed bulletin board will be for the use of students and faculty. Organizations can place announcements on the bulletin board provided that the size of the announcement does not exceed 5" by 7". Also, organizations are not to post announcements of regular meetings.

Announcements, to be placed in the bulletin board, are to be left in the Student Council mailbox in the Dean of Men and Dean of Women's office. One of the Council members is responsible for checking the mailbox daily and keeping the bulletin board up to date.

The three sections of the bulletin board are to be used in the following ways: the first section is for an activity calendar, the Student Council and the 100; second section is for organizations; third section is for administration and miscellaneous announcements.

Sororities Plan New Activities

Phi Mu Gamma

Phi Mu Gamma Sorority will dine together in the Colonial Room on Nov. 17 in honor of Minnie Madden Fiske Day. Through donations by Minnie Madden Fiske, the Fiske Foundation was brought into being. This part of the Phi Mu Gamma Sorority awards scholarships to worthy members.

On Nov. 17 a pizza party will be held in Louis Bennett Lounge for sorority members and their dates and the patronesses.

Xi Beta Tau

Xi Beta Tau members dined together Thursday, Nov. 1, in the Colonial Room.

Current plans include the women faculty—Xi Beta Tau basketball game tomorrow night in the gymnasium. Women instructors and wives of instructors will play and the men will form the cheering section.

Registrar Langford Releases the Names Of New Students

Registrar Beryl Langford has released the names of the eleven new students enrolled for the second nine-weeks term.

Seniors include Louise Rhoades, vocational home economics, Glenville; Judith Busch, elementary education, Brohard; Carolyn Sue Aliman, music, Elizabeth.

Lois Woodyard, elementary education and music, Cairo; and Douglas Osborne, social studies and library science, Clay, enrolled as juniors.

The remaining students enrolling were freshmen. They include Thomas Isenhart, speech and biology, Cedarville; Jerry David Marple, business administration, Heaters; Nelson Ray McKown, Arnoldsburg; Linda Rose Petry, Sutton; John Edward Saul, Montgomery; Barbara Woodford, home economics and physical education, Camden-on-Gauley.

Spaghetti Supper Set for Nov. 27

A spaghetti supper will be held in Louis Bennett Lounge from 5 until 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 27, announces Mr. Walden Roush, director of community research. All profits from the supper will be for the centennial fund.

Italian spaghetti, French bread, salad, dessert and choice of drink will be served. Tickets are $1.25 and $.75.

'Lost Sheep' Show Spirit, Revive Childhood Pastimes

Bunny Hopping? Christmas Caroling?

YES!

While most students on campus participated in the mass exodus of the end-of-term weekend, a few die-hards shunned the glories of the open road and remained on campus to shift for themselves.

This little band of courageous cods and sterling sons-of-pioneers gravitated to the Student Union in groups of twos and threes, where they found the Union to be almost totally devoid of human life, the grand total of human assemblage not exceeding 25.

Pulled together by the lack of activity, these few students, ranging from sophomores to seniors, including a few prominent personalities on campus, organized their own activity, and, uninhibited by scores of mirthless, listless, disdainful eyes, proceeded to play games, dredged up from almost forgotten childhood days.

The games played on the Union floor included such stimulating physical festivities as Musical Chairs (to somewhat dubious piano accompaniment), Red Rover, the Limbo (utilizing Chubby Checker's recording on the Union jukebox), Top of the Pole, and Drop the Handkerchief.

Progressing from strenuous efforts to more intellectual endeavors, the group then sat in a circle and played Rhythm, Gossip, Categories, and Sweepstakes.

Following an unsuccessful attempt to prolong the evening's activities in the Union, students found themselves out in the cold at 10 p.m. Rather than fruitlessly waste their time, these brave souls decided to extend their mirthfulness to other lonely ones on campus.

The means chosen by the "Spirit-eers" as a way of showing others that they were not deserted and alone was Christmas Carols. And, after all, when is there a warmer spirit than that at Christmastime?

So, trudging merrily through the bitter cold, on their mission of good will, the little band sang their way to Verona Maple Hall, where they brought cheer and good will to at least one codd, who had been typing in her lonely room.

Not forgetting "Ma" Fest, the good-will missionaries then took their angelic voices to Coach and Mrs. Lilly, as they sat in lonely, dark deserted Louis Bennett Hall.

After serenading the Lillys, the emissaries of cheer and mirth changed their scene to Kanawha Hall, and their choice of singing material to fraternity songs.

Upon arrival at Kanawha Hall, the group belted out a few lusty ballads, participated in some group dances, such as the "Hokey-Pokey," and the "Bunny Hop." All of the preceding took place before a small group of awe-struck freshmen, who could only stand in amazement and wonder. But then, GSC is still new to them.

In a closing display of good fellowship, the "poor lost sheep" sang "Tell Me Why." At the conclusion of this song, emblematic of companionship everywhere, the "innocents" slowly went their weary way to their respective dorms and apartments, perhaps a little better equipped to face another lifeless term.

The above-mentioned activities appear childish and immature, and, as such, unbefitting to college students. However, in a college where activities are the exception, rather than the rule, they at least prove a long-standing contention: the spirit is here, it only lacks channeling.

Kerr Article Appears in Journal

Mr. Carl A. Kerr, assistant professor of English and French at GSC, is the author of an article appearing in the November issue of the West Virginia SCHOOL JOURNAL.

Mr. Kerr's article, "Communication," deals with the inability of students and composition teachers to speak the same language. He points out that student ignorance of terms used by the teacher is blocking the learning process. In his article, Mr. Kerr states:

"It seems that students can see their deficiencies and eliminate them more readily when the teacher is able to state specifically what causes them and refers definitely to how they can be eliminated. If, on the other hand, the instructor falls into a kind of relativistic jargon about comparative preferability or 'questionable' usage, then it is very possible that the student, unavoidably confused by his lack of experience and unfamiliarity with canons of correctness, will continue to slosh around in uncertainty, his incoherencies dangling, his ideas stillborn in a tortured acknowledgment."

Also appearing in the November issue of the JOURNAL is an article by Mr. Charles D. Patterson, assistant professor of library science at West Virginia University. Mr. Patterson was librarian and assistant professor of library science at GSC from 1958 to 1962.

In his article, "A Library for the School," Mr. Patterson discusses the school library system in West Virginia and its needs. He also discusses the need for a qualified school librarian.

Only six colleges and universities in West Virginia offer programs leading to a degree in library science. (Continued on page 4)

Coconuts Used in Research

The life of a coconut is not an easy one.

After traveling over a thousand miles in a large burlap bag, 14 coconuts arrived here, only to be drilled for their pains.

But not in vain! These coconuts, shipped from the Miami (Florida) Parks Commission, are being utilized by Dr. Max Ward and Technician Barbara Lou Moore in a botanical research program subsidized by a grant from the National Science Foundation.

The coconuts are drilled to collect their milk (liquid endosperm) which provides a rich source of sugars, proteins and many growth factors.

This milk is then added to minerals: Agar, a seaweed extract which looks suspiciously like jello; and other substances which are made into a medium on which is grown plants and tissues, ranging from a single cell to full size plants.

One of the major concerns of Dr. Ward is the cancerous growth of ferns, shipped from Puerto Rico (and expected from Jamaica). The coconut milk added to the medium induces the growth of the ferns. Dr. Ward showed this reporter one instance in which a single cell, invisible to the naked eye, was induced to grow, by the addition of coconut milk, to a readily discernible plant.

Basketball Opens at Weston; Six Lettermen Are on Squad

The 1962-63 edition of the Glenville State College basketball squad is slowly rebounding into shape under the watchful eyes of Coach Leland Byrd began working his squad in preparation for the Weston Invitational Pre-Season Tournament which will be held in the Weston High Gym Nov. 27 and 28. Other teams in the tournament will be West Virginia Wesleyan, Alderson-Broadbudd, and Fairmont. The Pioneers are defending champions of the tournament.

Coach Byrd greeted 34 candidates of which six are lettermen, Mike Eberbaugh, a consistent scorer and rebounder last year, averaged 18.3 points and had a 10.9 rebounding average. Eberbaugh was selected on the second All-Conference team.

Rounding out the lettermen are Bill Maxwell, Bob Maxwell, Chuck Eddy, Dick Bickel and Mike Reed. Bill Maxwell from Dunbar is a first-class playmaker and an excellent outside shot. "Max" has the poise and coolness which are valuable assets to a basketball team.

Bob Maxwell, a six-foot three-inch sophomore from Parkersburg, displayed great promise the past year. He is big and strong and has gained the respect of his teammates around the basket.

Chuck Eddy, also from Parkersburg, sparked the Pioneer defense last year, with his ballhawking and his good outside shooting. Dick Bickel was a great aid in the rebounding department last year. Bickel shoots well around the key and is deadly from the corner.

Mike Reed displayed some good promise last year and could help

WVIAC Tournament — Charleston

Coach Leland Byrd Back As GSC Basketball Mentor

Coach Leland Byrd returns to the helm as basketball coach at Glenville State College after a year's absence. Coach Byrd attended graduate school at West Virginia University the past year in preparation for a doctorate degree in physical education.

LELAND BYRD

Born in Lynch, Ky., Coach Byrd began his basketball career in West Virginia at Matoaka High School where he was graduated in 1944. His father coached him during his high school athletic days.

He enrolled at West Virginia University in the fall of 1944 and soon began basketball practice under the watchful eyes of Coach Johnny Brinkles.

After earning a berth on the starting five early in his freshman year, he played four seasons of first-string ball.

In 1947, during his junior year, Coach Byrd received the honor that every college athlete dreams of—he was named on the All-American basketball squad.

Following his graduation from West Virginia University in 1948, Coach Byrd played ball for the New York Knickerbockers. After a short stay with the Knicks, he entered the Armed Forces where he served as a lieutenant in the Infantry. He was released in 1950, but was recalled six months later to serve in the Korean Conflict.

After his final release from the Army, Coach Byrd returned to West Virginia University where he received his MS degree in 1953. From 1953 to 1955 he served as coach at Hinton High School.

In September 1955, he came to Glenville as head basketball coach, assistant football coach, and instructor in health and physical education. In 1962 he was named associate professor of physical education and Athletic Director.

Coach Douglas Grooms 22 Men For Wrestling

Excitement and enthusiasm best describe the prevailing attitude concerning the outlook for the newly organized sport of wrestling this year.

Wrestling Coach is Mr. William Douglas, instructor in health and physical education. Coach Douglas received his wrestling experience at Morgantown High School and West Virginia University. Mr. Douglas also received his AB and MA degrees from WVU.

Since wrestling is relatively new to West Virginia colleges, the schedule is incomplete at this time. Probable opponents will be Fairmont, West Liberty, Davis and Elkins, Shepherd, and Glenville.

In wrestling, individual weight plays an important part; weight classes are 123, 130, 137, 147, 157, 167, 177, and unlimited.

On Monday, Nov. 5, the following students displayed an interest by attending the first wrestling practice: Tom Gallagher, Ernie Moore, Steve Kee, Bob Marshall, Joe Duncan, Steve Hornbeck, Charles Bosoy, Jack Bosley, Larry Steib, John Hoover, Dike Goff.

Don Cole, Roy Hambric, Randy Daniels, William Williamson, Jesse Welch, John Lustig, Fred Shultz, Mitchell Williams, Ronald Riggs, Randy Dolson, and Jim Rumbaugh.

HIGH SCHOOL LETTERS BANNED

The G-Club has announced that high school letters are not to be worn on campus after Nov. 14. This announcement has been sanctioned by the Student Council and the Administration. Each student should realize that high school letters were for high school and college letters are for college. If any student does not comply, proper action will be taken to see that he does.

HRC Swim Set for Nov. 29

The annual Holy Roller Court swim meet will splash into action Thursday, Nov. 29, at the pool in the Health and Physical Education building. The swim meet is open to any team of four members and a trophy will be awarded to the winning team.

The 1961 meet was highly competitive with the Holy Roller Court barely nosing out the Untouchables and the Kappa Sigma Kappa (now Theta Xi). Competition this year is expected to be keen as several members of those teams are back this year for another try.

The results of the meet last year were: 50 yd. crawl, Dutton (Untouchables) 31.25 secs; 50 yd. back crawl, Eberbaugh (HRC) 37.25 secs; 50 yd. breast stroke, Procter (HRC) 50.50 secs; 50 yd. free style, Gettings (Untouchables) 28.25 secs; 100 yd. individual med. Dutton (Untouchables) 1:20.50 secs; Team relay, Buster, Callahan, Procter, (Continued on page 4)

Kinzer Directs Intramural Play

Men's Athletic Association began the volleyball season in a wild and furious first round, double elimination tournament, Tuesday, Oct. 30.

Winners of the first round were The Spartans, Packers, Richmond, Archerterons, Two-Mile Gang and The Big Six. Placed in the loser's bracket were The Boars, Cobras, Bearcats, Spats, H. R. C., and The Spikers.

Teams which competed in the second round, Thursday, Nov. 8, were Spartans and Packers, Richmond and Two-Mile Gang, Boars and Bearcats, Cobras and H.R.C., Archerterons and Big Six, and The Spikers and The Spats.

Bill Kinzer, student intramural director, would like all intramural basketball rosters submitted to the athletic office before the Thanksgiving recess.

Pioneers Stop Fairmont In 1962 Football Finale

The Pioneers ended the 1962 football season on a winning note, here, Oct. 27, by defeating Fairmont State College 21-20 in a game that was not decided until the last ten seconds.

Tom Gunnoe got things moving in the first minutes of the second quarter, as he caught a pass from Ollie Pottmeyer good for 45 yards, putting the ball on the visitor's 18-yard line. Two plays later, Gunnoe ran wide around to score the first TD. Keith Smith then made his first of three extra points.

Up until this point, the Falcons did not have a first down, but they began their march with 3:07 left in the first half, as Quarterback Ron Miller threw the passes. With 32 seconds remaining, Miller threw the final two yards to Jim Grogan, for the TD. Fairmont carried for the extra point making the score 7-7 at halftime.

The second half was much more exciting as both teams showed a good offensive punch. Glenville took the lead once again with 6:35 left in the third quarter as Pottmeyer connected with end Paul Anderson on a 17-yard scoring play. The White Wave then forced the visitors to punt, taking possession on their own 40.

After Fairmont stopped Glenville on three downs, the Pioneers gambled on fourth and lost control of the ball. On the first play of scrimmage, the Falcons scored on a 37-yard pass play from Miller to half-back John Lipscomb. Lipscomb then ran his second extra point making the score 14-14 with 14:31 left in the final quarter.

After an exchange of punts, the Pioneers started on what proved to be their winning touchdown. Tom Gunnoe returned a punt 33 yards to the Glenville 49. From there the Pioneers drove to the five, where Gunnoe once again, scored on an end run and Smith kicked giving the White Wave what seemed to be a safe margin.

With 4:05 left, the Falcons began to drive, but two 15-yard penalties stopped this drive giving the ball to the White Wave. Glenville was unable to move forward and had to punt giving the Falcons one more chance which they took advantage of by moving 73 yards in 10 plays to score.

Of the yards gained in this drive 72 were passing. On their try for the extra point with eight seconds remaining, the Pioneers stopped Lipscomb one foot short of the goal line making the final score 21-20.

Advanced Clothing Construction, Home Economics 302

brary science. These are Concord College, Glenville State College, Shepherd College, Marshall University, WVU, and West Virginia Wesleyan College.

Mr. Patterson concludes by saying that "the school library touches the life of each individual involved with elementary and secondary education. Let us not fail in our responsibility to give the best library service to our schools that we can."

Williams' Play Presented Here

Tennessee Williams' "Suddenly Last Summer," directed by Mrs. William Coleman, was presented Thursday and Friday, Nov. 8 and 9, in two sell-out performances.

This is the second production of the current year by the GSC speech department. It was also the second time that production was sold out in two days. Mr. William Coleman says that this is the first time in the seven years that he has been here that more than 100 tickets have been sold in one day.

Interest in the productions of the speech department seems to be increasing and it is unfortunate that there are no adequate facilities for these productions. Mr. Coleman estimated that the attendance at the plays could probably be doubled or tripled if the proper facilities were available and a room could be provided that would allow the cast and crews with more time to work with the set.

Glenville Co-eds Enter Pageant

Dianna Kay White, freshman elementary education student, is representing Clendenin in the Kanawha County division of the Centennial Queen Pageant.

Miss White is the daughter of Mrs. James L. White of Clendenin. She was chosen Miss Women's Hall in September. During high school she was a candidate for Miss Kanawha County Majorette, homecoming princess during her sophomore and senior years, Miss Majorette and Miss Cardinal Band.

Also competing in the Centennial Queen Pageant is Joyce Anita McCullough, sophomore home economics student from Mountain. Miss McCullough will compete in the Ritchie County division of the Pageant.

Miss McCullough is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale McCullough of Mountain. She has served as a majorette in the college band for the past two years, serving as co-drum majorette this year.
