English Proficiency Exam:

The English Proficiency Examination has been established at a large number of American universities and colleges in recent years. The exam was established in the interest of students, for no single ability is more universally expected of an educated person than a reasonable command of his native language.

Institutions of higher learning which are graduating students without requiring the students to demonstrate a knowledge of the language are deceiving the students, the school itself, and the world into which these students go with diploma in hand.

The causes of any student's deficiency in language are varied and complex. Many students simply adopt a defeatist attitude, brushing it off with a shrug of the shoulders and an "I never was no good in English." Chances are, however, that the deficiency of most students lies in the simple fact that they do not devote any significant part of their time to serious and careful reading. Non-readers are almost always poor writers.

poor writers.
English Proficiency Exams give the student a chance to demonstrate his knowledge in two forms—an objective exam and an impromptu theme.
Themes are judged on the basis of such questions as:
(1) Does the writer develop a central idea with reasonable order, clearness, and unity?
(2) Does the writer show that he knows what a sentence is?
(3) Does the writer show that he knows what a paragraph is?
(4) Does the writer use words that mean what he wants to express? Does he spell words correctly?
(5) Does the writer practice reasonable accuracy and logic in the fundamentals of capitalization, punctuation, and basic grammatical relationships?

(7) Inadequate or illogical paragraphing.

(8) Gross violation of unity or coherence.

(9) General unintelligibility.

Students, by taking the English Proficiency Exam, will learn if they do possess an adequate knowledge of the English language. Those who are deficient in some areas can then have ample time to correct their deficiencies before the date of their graduation.

Talk, Talk, Talk

A not infrequent criticism of the MERCURY and the editorials contained therein is that, while the editorials voice complaints, we do not do anything about these complaints. Students, wake up!

The MERCURY has only 16 members on its staff. There are over 900 of you. We can do little about campus situations, we can only record them. If you agree with us, and desire action, it is up to you as a student body, to move "en masse" to correct any situations you feel need correcting.

When the students work as a body, concrete evidence of interest results. Witness the unsponsored, unplanned, "unorganized," mix held in the Student Union, Nov. 15. This mix was the result of three girls' planning and a spontaneous outburst of desire from bored students who were looking for anything to do.

outburst of desire from bored students who was for anything to do.

As a result of suggestions offered by the student body, the Student Council is taking action and is putting some of their suggestions into effect.

On the negative side of the ledger, the student body, as a whole, defeated the few interested people by allowing the KANAWHACHEN to wither and die.

Students, do not sit in the Union and harp at us for griping and not doing anything. If you feel you have a grievance, or you feel that certain rules are outmoded, get a group and go to your Student Council or your social deans. At the very least, they will be glad to listen to you.

Those attending from GSC were John Kaltenecker, Don Dooley and Mike McDonough.

Mickey Reeves led the scoring with 34 points.

In the consolation game to decide third place, the Pioneers pulled away in the last four minutes to win a victory over A-B.

The first half appeared to be anyone's ballgame. The half-time score stood tied at 36-36. Glenville pulled away during the second half for a short time; however, the "Battletrs" from A-B battled their way from behind and came within two points of the Pioneers late in the game.

The three "big" men for Glenville, Mike Eberbaugh, Dick Bickel, and Bob Maxwell all hit in double figures. Eberbaugh led the scoring with 27, Bickel had 13 and Maxwell 17. The final score was Glenville 79, A-B 73.

An interesting note during the two games was the good showing of the five Glenville freshmen. Freshmen are Clark Dilley, John Bell, Junior Beall, Larry Gainer, and Butch Thoms. They displayed some good shooting and a lot of hustle. John Bell scored eight points in the A-B game.

All-Tournament Team Chosen For the first time since the start of the tournament, members of the Weston Shrine Club selected eight players to represent the All-Tournament Team. Mike Eberbaugh and Bob Maxwell were selected from Glenville; Tony Aglio from A-B; Bill Grimes, Mickey Reeves, and Fred Suder from Wesleyan; and Ted Darkus and Fielding You for Farmont. LETTER To the Editor

Dear Mercury Editor,

Dear Mercury Editor,

A major criticism of our campus is that there is no activity, but we would like to disagree—we have observed quite a bit of activity lately — mainly "linejumping."

Recently, we were carrying on a conversation with a "fellow sufferer" in lunch line. We were detained a few minutes from the conversation and when we turned around to say something to him again, we found he wasn't there. Instead, there were 13 people where he had once stood. We scanned the line for him and found him number 14 back counting from us. Experiences similar to this one have occurred to us since that time, rather regularly, in fact. We have become incensed and wish to bring the matter to the attention of the offenders.

Is our school infected with "line-jumpingitis"? We would contend that the disease is rampant—es-pecially among the newer mem-bers of our school.

We feel they have conformed to the rules of our school, but evidently many of them are not aware of cafeteria regulations, or the rules careeria regulations, or the rules of common courtesy.

The problem can be remedied only by you, the student body; so if you already haven't developed consideration for your fellow students—do it and cure the plague, "line-jumpingitis".

The "slaves" will make up services they can perform for stu-dents, and bidding will take place in the gymnasium in the Health Building.
