The major purpose of the Conference is to develop an effective and far-reaching educational program of wise use and management of the natural resources for the economic betterment of the people.

The Conference provides an opportunity (1) to evaluate the role that natural resources have played in the state's 100-year history and (2) to lay plans for the future development of an effective and far-reaching program of resource-use education.

President Harry B. Hefflin of GSC is leader of a discussion group at the conference.

GSC Drama Department Participates In Festival

The State Intercollegiate Speech and Drama Festival will be held at Jackson's Mill, April 22-23.

All state colleges are invited to participate. At least 10 colleges usually participate in some phase of the Festival.

This meeting is being arranged by its officers—Mrs. William S. E. Coleman, president; Mr. Ben Hope of Marshall University, vice president; and Mr. L. A. Willman of Fairmont State College, secretary-treasurer.

GSC will participate in all areas as in past years. Last year, John Napclitano won first place in radio, and Larry Wolfe won first place in extemporaneous speaking.

At the Festival the past year Marshall University, Fairmont State and GSC each won two first places. The drama and the prose and poetry interpretation divisions are non-competitive.

Tryouts for the GSC contest play to be presented at the Festival were held recently under the direction of Mr. Coleman.

The play is the first part of the first act of Shaw's "In Good King Charles' Golden Days." Play is a comedy discussion between Isaac Newton, Charles II, James, the Duke of York, Edward Kneller and George Fox. These men were considered the best minds of their time.

The conversation is interrupted at various times by Charles' mistresses. There are five male and five female characters in the cast. Marjorie Roth and James Booth were selected for the all-state cast in 1962.

Attention, Drama Students!

Do you want to have fun this summer on the Centennial's oldtime showboat and get paid for it, too?

That is the attractive prospect that the West Virginia Centennial Commission is offering for performers on the Showboat in its stops at cities along the Ohio, Kanawha and Monongahela Rivers.

Dr. John Marquis, Chairman of the Centennial Showboat Committee in Charleston, said that a notice of dates and places for try-outs will be issued shortly for the productions that will be given on the Showboat. A summer season of three months is planned with the Showboat stopping in all the counties bordering on the Ohio, Kanawha, and Monongahela Rivers.

'I've Heard That Before' Spring Is In The Air...

There's no doubt about it! SPRING is in the air once more.

And in the SPRING, a college student's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of . . . what? To gain the answer to this momentous question, this reporter queried sundry college students, asking them to say the first thing that came to mind when the word "Spring" was mentioned.

The results were revealing and helped us gain an important insight into the workings of the collegiate mind.

Some of the answers gleaned from our excursion into the collegiate mind are listed below:

Bed, Birds, Bees, Beauty, Beer, Boys (this from a girl), Cigarettes, Flowers, Fall, Fresh, Green, Grass, Girls (this from a boy), Mud, Picnic, Pretty, Rain, Sex, Summer, Sunshine, Water, Winter, Wind, and Love.

We asked several faculty members and gained their spontaneous reactions, most of which coincided with those of the students with the exceptions of Cherry Blossoms, Daffodils and Menthol.

However, the classic answer came from an overly suspicious student: "Oh, I've already heard that one."

Many views on Spring were expressed with a general agreement that classes became interminable. A cynic pointed out that Spring was the time of year that "girls who shouldn't wear shorts do; and girls who should, don't." A romanticist insisted that Spring was the season when "heavy winter-coated, cocoons drop away, and the Bermuda-shorted butterfly emerges."

Regardless of your views on Spring, remember: "If Spring comes, can Summer Recess be far behind?"

DR. ROBERT HIGGINS COACHES GOLF TEAM

"Fore!" The weather is warm again, the grass is dry, and if one drives by the Glenville Golf Club, the familiar yell, "Fore!" can be heard on numerous occasions.

COACH HIGGINS

Probably one of the yells will be coming from Dr. Robert Higgins, GSC golf coach. A meticulous and excellent golfer himself, Dr. Higgins has been coaching the team since 1954.

During his undergraduate days at Glenville, Dr. Higgins was a member of the Pioneer golf team. Although Dr. Higgins will not comment, either way, this season could be a good one for the golf team.

Returning lettermen include Preston Browning, Bob Pfaff, Jim Wiant, Larry Wolfe and Ted Hauman. Most of the candidates have begun practicing for their opening match against W. Va. State on April 20. Candidates practice at their own convenience at the golf course and turn in their scores to Coach Higgins.

The five most steady performers will be chosen to represent GSC against the first opponent. Next scheduled match is against D and E on April 27.
