"Send Me No Flowers" Rehearsal

3-ACT COMEDY OPENS OCT. 13 IN AUDITORIUM

Mr. Rodney Busch, director, has announced curtain time and ad-mission prices for the three-act comedy, "Send Me No Flowers." Curtain time will be 8 p.m. and students will be admitted for 50 cents. All off-campus people will be charged 75 cents.

The set for the play is nearing completion. Construction is being done by Frank Holstein and Robert Marshall. The art department is painting the backdrops.

The comedy stars Wayman Johnson and Sharon Bumgarner as Mr. and Mrs. George Kimball. George is a hypochondriac who has the impression that he is dying. He makes plans, puts his af-fairs in order and then discovers fairs in order and then discovers that he is not dying at all.

Johnson is a veteran of the Glenville State stage. His credits include a role in "Hamlet," the lead in the one-act, "Fumed Oak"; his play "Unnatural" was produced on campus the past year.

Construction Continues: New Plans Materialize

By JANET LONG

Glenville State College continues to grow as renovation progresses on campus and as new plans materialize.

The amphitheatre is almost to the top of the hill behind Kanawha Hall and President Harry Heflin has said that it will be completed this fall. Seating capacity will be 1,000. The sound system at the amphitheatre is ready for use and a fiberglas shell has been added to provide for initial acoustical effects, especially needed for musical performances.

The Foreign Film Series will open Oct. 28 with "Forbiden between the first of th

Supervising Conference Set

A conference for teachers who supervise student teaching will be held on the Glenville College campus Oct. 30, beginning at 1:30 p.m. and concluding with a dinner meeting in the Colonial Room of the Student Union that evening.

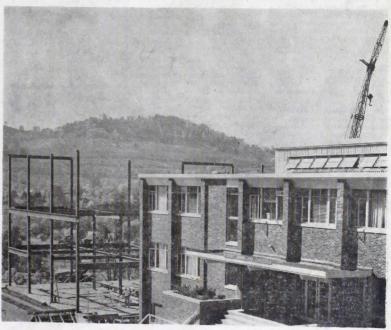

The conference is designed to better acquaint teachers in the public schools who have student teachers from Glenville State Col-lege in their classrooms with the program of student teaching and to discuss some of the problems encountered in the student teaching process.

The main speaker and consultant for the meeting will be Dr. L. O. Andrews, coordinator of student field experience, at Ohio State University. For 12 years, Dr. Andrews served as director of supervised teaching at Indiana University, and assumed his present position at Ohio State in 1948.

MAA Program Gains Support

The intramural program, under the direction of William Kinzer, is going into the second round of a double elimination volleyball tournament with five teams still re-maining undefeated.

Officials are furnished by the officials are furnished by the officiating class to give them some practical field experience. An interesting note is that evaluation sheets are provided to the manager of each team, and he rates each official "exactly" as an official in the WVIAC conference. ficial in the WVIAC conference

Because of the membership drive, there are 20 teams entered and over 130 male students par-ticipating in the program at the present time. This total more than doubles the number that participated the past year.

The handball, ping pong, bad-minton, and shuffleboard equip-ment may be checked out while intramurals are in progress.

tion of a Shop and Maintenance Building have been approved by the State Board of Education. Recently officials were on campus studying and estimating the space and cost of these two construc-tions. At press time the State Board had not met to decide on final plans.

The men's dormitory may no longer be so overcrowded in a few years. Presently there are preliminary sketches for expansion of Louis Bennett Hall, the only men's dorm on campus. If plans progress and materialize, sometime in the future, men can have a lounge of their own in addition to other new features. Louis Bennett Hall was completed in 1937 and was designed to accommodate 132 students.
