Area High Schools Attend Annual Senior Day

Registrar Beryl Langford has announced that the 17th Annual High School Senior Day will be held tomorrow on the GSC campus.

During the day, the high school seniors and their sponsors from approximately 20 high schools in the state are given the opportunity to see what college life is like. Seniors are permitted and urged to visit the various departments in which they are particularly interested.

The 1964 Senior Day program will begin at 9 a.m. in the auditorium with musical selections by the GSC Concert Band and Choir. A general assembly with Dr. Espy W. Miller, Chairman of the language division, presiding will officially open the program at 10 a.m.

Welcome to the visiting high school seniors will be extended by President Harry B. Heflin and by Charles K. Milhoan, president of the GSC Student Council.

Following the welcoming address, Dr. Delmer K. Somerville, Dean, will discuss GSC's academic programs, and William S. Deel, Dean of Men, will discuss freshmen orientation.

Two Glenville State students, Jack Brown, speech and social studies student and Wilma Stanley, English and library science student will discuss the importance of college to the individual.

Beginning at 10:30 a.m. the seniors will see a variety of demonstrations in the Science Building and special tours of Women's Hall, the Home Management House, and Louis Bennett Hall. There will also be general tours consisting of visits to art exhibits and demonstrations.

The students will also tour the Robert F. Kidd Library, Science Hall, Administration Building, Home Economics display, and the Student Union.

Lunch will be served to the seniors from 12 noon to 1 p.m. At 1 p.m. there will be athletic demonstrations under the direction of Coach Leland Byrd, in the Health and Physical Education Building. These demonstrations will consist of swimming, gymnastics, and modern dancing.

At the time the MERCURY went to press, EIGHTEEN schools had indicated that they would attend. All area schools have been invited to attend this annual event in order to help them in deciding whether they will attend college in the fall.

In past years, Senior Day has been well attended by the high schools in the surrounding area. Senior Day is a part of the effort to interest high school students in attending the college or university of their choice.

Senior Day activities are scheduled to end early in the afternoon. Adjournment is set for 2 p.m.

Experiences At Pavilion Are Described By Co-ed

Miss Susie Call Serves As Guide

By RUTH MURPHY

Visitors to the West Virginia Pavilion at the World's Fair this summer will have opportunity to be directed in their tour of the state's exhibit by Susie Call, of Point Pleasant, Glenville State College co-ed.

Miss Call, an elementary major at GSC, is among several West Virginia university and college students to be named as guides at the West Virginia Pavilion at the 1964 World's Fair in New York City.

In a recent letter from the Glenville co-ed, Miss Call described the state exhibit in detail. Prominently displayed at the entrance to the pavilion is an aviary, stocked with several bright red cardinals, official bird of the state.

A "Four Seasons Land Exhibit" displays a scale model of the Greenbrier Hotel, an exclusive resort hotel in White Sulphur Springs. Also, in the "Four Seasons" display is located a large relief map of West Virginia.

In a "Wood Exhibit" area, the World's Fair visitor will see a visual history of the woodworking industry in the mountain state. In this area of the pavilion, the floor is made of simulated tree stumps.

Visitors will then proceed to a simulated West Virginia coal mine, where a guide in a miner's hat will conduct a tour of the coal mine. In the simulated mine are located a series of dioramas depicting the history of coal mining in West Virginia.

In the glass-blowing exhibit, fair visitors will actually see the process and art of glass blowing performed by West Virginia glass blowers.

In the same area of the pavilion as the glass blowing is the industrial arts exhibit.

Poet's Corner

I AWAKE
Judy Criss

I awake from a dead sleep and find myself alone, lost.
The darkness is infinite, and I know not what I search.

I slip on translucent substance of ground and fall abased to the feet of laughing statues.
I hear crying beyond . . . . . but I cannot see.
I search the expressionless faces of the towering forms before me, and find nothing . . . . . for I do not know what I'm seeking.

I walk on toward the crying to find that the sound but now surrounds me . . . . . and again, I am lost.

My voice then screams out to the desolation! . . . .
But an echo is heard, . . . . and so, with a sigh,
I once more ascend my pedestal . . . . .
and resume statuesque form.

Why Glenville College

Tomorrow, several hundred high school students will be visiting the campus for the entire day. What they see here, what impressions they gain will be largely up to the student body. We wish to welcome these high school seniors with the hope that at least a part of them will choose GSC for their own, on the basis of faculty, opportunities, activities, and atmosphere.

Glenville State College is a small college, and this is an advantage. It is possible in a school of this size for satisfactory student-faculty relationships to be achieved.

Glenville State is one of the least expensive and most highly recommended colleges in West Virginia. Payment of fees entitles the student to attend lyceum programs and plays and makes him eligible to receive a copy of the MERCURY each time it is published.

The faculty members at GSC are of high caliber. Many of them hold Ph. D. degrees and other members of the staff continue to do graduate study at recognized universities. Some of the professors are considered to be leaders in their respective fields. All are dedicated to learning.

Glenville College offers many activities. Two sororities, Delta Zeta and Kappa Chi Kappa, and two fraternities, Theta Xi and Tau Kappa Epsilon sponsor regular activities throughout the school year.

More specialized campus organizations include Alpha Psi Omega and the Ohningohow Players, speech and drama groups. MENC is the music organization, and ADE is the business organization.

Students find that the GSC campus is a friendly campus. Students are individuals and personalities. They have the opportunity to be come acquainted with many of their fellow students.

Glenville is a growing college. At the present time all campus buildings are either new or renovated. The Student Union-Cafeteria is being expanded and future plans include library expansion and an extension for Louis Bennett Hall.

It is important that high school seniors keep these things in mind when choosing a college. We hope that college will be GSC.

Prof. Attends May Meeting

Mr. Nelson Wells, associate professor of education, had been selected to serve a three year term on the State Textbook Advisory Committee.

May 11, is the next scheduled committee meeting which will be held at the West Virginia Board of Education Office at Charleston. At that time the final selection of books in the fields of reading and spelling for grades one to eight will be recommended to the State Board of Education.

Mr. Wells is one of two college professors serving on the fifteen-member committee. Mrs. Glennis Cunningham, assistant professor of elementary education at West Virginia University, a GSC graduate, and former instructor at the summer training school, is the other college professor committee member.

According to Mr. Wells, "The purpose of the committee is to prepare a multiple list of textbooks to recommend to the State Boards of Education for adoption."

trial exhibit which portrays West Virginia's growing industrial complex. Educational facilities in the mountain state likewise is displayed in this same area of the pavilion.

An informative rotunda in the pavilion will supply Fair visitors with maps and brochures on West Virginia recreational and tour facilities.

Radio astronomy is prominently featured as one phase of the West Virginia Pavilion. A replica of the radio telescope at Greenbank is on display in the Pavilion.

West Virginia foods will be featured in the refreshment area of the pavilion.

One attraction of the pavilion, according to Miss Call, is the chance for every visitor to win a ten-acre mountain top equipped with a fashionable chalet, all complete, that will be given away.

Fashion conscious, Miss Call points out in her letter to Glenville friends that the West Virginia guides won a fair-wide competition for most attractive uniforms worn by guides.

After the second year of the

Two of the three needed judges have been selected at the time the MERCURY went to press. Judges selected are Miss Mary E. Young and Mr. Carl A. Kerr. The judges will select the winners on the general basis of choice of selection, presentation, and appearance.

All students are urged to invite their families to attend this Mother's Day Sing. Due to the keen interest shown last year, the Mother's Day Sing has now been established as an annual spring event for the Kappa Chi Kappa Sorority.

Members of Theta Xi wish to express their thanks to Miss Edna Jenkins, of Petroleum for her gift to the fraternity.

Following the Mother's Day Sing, the fraternity will sponsor an open house.

When he was asked to do another character, he did Needle, from Junkmen, which he wrote.

GSC Pioneer Baseball Nine Splits First Six Contests

Wesleyan Is Today's Foe

By Bob Smith

Glenville State College Pioneers, after winning three straight baseball games over Morris Harvey and Davis and Elkins, then lost three straight to W. Va. State and Salem.

April 18 M-H (first game)

In the first game of a double header, Noel Blankenship threw a four-hitter against the Golden Eagles. Clyde Brewer helped the Glenville cause with a grand slam homerun in the fourth inning of the contest.

In the fourth inning, ten men went to the plate for the Pioneers and seven runs were scored. The Morris Harvey pitching was also touched for five hits, including Brewer's blast and a double by Clarence Mathess.

In the sixth inning, the Golden Eagles put together a base on balls, a hit batsmen and two singles for their two tallies.

Glenville added another run in the seventh frame, as Blankenship got aboard on an error and was sacrificed home by Paul Taylor.

Creed Pletcher had a perfect day at the plate as he was four for four and scored a run also. Taylor collected two hits in three trips to the plate for the G-men. Blankenship also had a double for Glenville.

April 18 M-H (second game)

Glenville Pioneers made a clean sweep of the afternoon as they took the second game 5-3. Larry Kitzmiller and Ed Wymer combined to keep the Morris Harvey hitters at bay throughout the afternoon.

Glenville pitching was aided by Joe Duncan's grand slam homerun in the third inning. During this third frame nine Glenville batters went to the plate collecting three hits and the four runs.

Then the Eagles countered with two runs in the bottom of the third inning on a single and a homerun by Brady.

The Capitol City team threatened to make a game of it in the fifth as Brady connected for his second homerun of the day. But Ed Wymer got the next three batters to fly out.

Glenville's final tally came on a walk to Kitzmiller, a single by Pat Wilfong and a double by Brewer.

Both Brewer and Duncan had two hits in four chances and scored one run apiece.

April 23 Davis and Elkins

Wymer threw a five hitter at the Davis and Elkins Senators as the Pioneers shut out the Randolph County team 3-0.

The game was close throughout the first seven innings as each team had only three hits at that point.

Then in the top of the eighth frame, the Pioneers went to work. Wilfong got on base on an error, but he was out at second on a fielder's choice on a ball hit by Brewer. Brewer was moved to second by Duncan's single.

These two men scored, after a double steal, on a single by Blankenship. He was in turn driven home by Pletcher's base hit.

Wilfong was three for five at the plate including a double.

April 25 W. Va. State (first game)

Even though Glenville managed to outwit W. Va. State, the Pioneers lost 7-0 as they committed six errors. This was the first time this year that Glenville has been shut out.

The big inning for State was the fifth in which they scored four runs on only one hit but three Pioneer errors.

Duncan had two hits in three trips to the plate. Mike Sampson was the losing pitcher for Glenville.

April 25 W. Va. State (second game)

In the second game, Glenville took an early 3-0 lead but the Yellow Jackets countered with an eight run uprising in the third frame and went on to win 11-6.

One interesting call was observed in this game. Ed Wymer got on base on an error, Lantz walked, then each runner was moved up a base on Pott's infield out. Kitzmiller was at bat and as he swung at a pitch the umpire ruled that the catcher had touched Kitzmiller's bat with his glove. This call scored Wymer from third and allowed Kitzmiller to go to first base.

Lantz then scored on Brewer's single. The Pioneers scored two more runs in the fourth inning and one in the sixth frame.

Ken Wymer and Brewer each collected two hits against State in the second game.

Kitzmiller was the losing pitcher for Glenville.

April 29 Salem

The Pioneers could manage only one run and four hits against the Salem pitching and lost their third in a row 10-1.

Glenville's only run came in the fifth inning as Ed Wymer got on base on a fielder's choice, took second on a wild pitch and came home on Blankenship's single.

Salem scored two runs in the fourth, two runs in the sixth and six runs in the seventh frame.

Potts had two of Glenville's four hits.

Wymer was the losing pitcher for the Pioneers.

Glenville's next game will be this afternoon as they travel to Wesleyan. The next home game is May 14, as the Pioneers host the Davis and Elkins Senators.

Rockets Seeking Gridiron Talent

Charleston Rockets, newly-formed professional football team, are searching for gridiron talent in West Virginia universities and colleges, says Perry Moss, head coach and general manager, for the Rockets.

An "entirely new squad" is needed by the Rockets as they face their first season in the United Football League, beginning in September of 1964.

Three categories of possible professional football players are the object of Coach Moss's search, including (1) players who have flunked out of college and who do not have a chance to return to college football; (2) players who will graduate in June and who have not been signed by professional teams; and players who have been cut the last two years from a professional football team.

Two divisions comprise the United Football League, according to Coach Moss. In the Western Division are Charleston, Joliet, Grand Rapids, and Canton. In the Eastern Division are Wheeling, Montreal, Toledo, and Indianapolis.

In making his announcement to the public concerning his search for gridiron talent, Coach Moss says, "Please don't underestimate the calibre of players in this league. In order to win, we need players of the same physical standards as the NFL and AFL."

Coach Moss says that anyone interested in joining the Charleston Rockets should apply to him in writing or in person.

Literary Society Discusses Gogol

Nikolay Gogol's short story, "The Cloak," will be discussed at the May 17 meeting of the Literary Society.

Gogol, one of the predecessors of the Russian novelist Dostoyevsky, represents the realistic school of writing in Russia.

"The Cloak" is a satire on political bureaucracies. The central figure, Akaky Akayevich, is a minor government worker who aspires to the rank of his betters and who discovers that his bureaucratic superiors are corrupted and without integrity.

Karen Vance is serving as program chairman for the May 17 meeting. Linda Channel will explicate the short story; Shirley Eakins will present a biographical sketch of Gogol; and Judy Musgrave will discuss some of the criticism written concerning "The Cloak."

Thomas Schell, a 1959 graduate of GSC is presently serving as Guidance Counselor at Edison Junior High School in Parkersburg.

as a part of the West Virginia Centennial Celebration. It was so successful that it is being continued again this year.

GSC GOLFERS BLAST SALEM, TIE BOBCATS

Glenville State Golf team won its opening match as it handily defeated Salem College 11-4. Glenville tied its second match with W. Va. Wesleyan 10-10.

In the first match at the Bridgeport Country Club Glenville's Mike Blake took medalist honors with a 78.

Blake repeated this feat in the second match at the Buckhannon Country Club as he shot 75. Two other Pioneer golfers, Dick White and Captain Preston Browning, also had good rounds, shooting 76 and 78 respectively.

GSC golfers making these two trips were Browning, White, M. Blake, Gary Blake and Ernie Haines.

The team traveled to Parkersburg last Monday for a conference invitational match. Results were not available as the MERCURY went to press.

GSC's Miss Alma Leads Busy Life

Life does not necessarily begin, nor does it end, at 40, says Miss Alma Arbuckle, former librarian, now retired to an energetic life. Active church work, community service, and several interesting hobbies are the sources of a busy, industrious life for the former librarian.

An inveterate collector of unusual women's hats, Miss Arbuckle combines hat collecting with acquisition of unique statues of horses. In her youth an equestrian of skill, Miss Arbuckle is today still a lover of fine horses.

Born at Troy, Miss Arbuckle formerly taught in the public schools of the area. She taught her first term at Alum Bridge in a one-room school in 1903. Miss Arbuckle's family moved to Glenville in 1923.

Although she has been retired from Glenville State College librarianship for several years, Miss Arbuckle occasionally still assists as house-mother at Verona Mabel Hall during weekends.

Summer Terms

A health workshop is also offered. It deals with new methods and materials in the teaching of health, physical education and safety in the public schools.

Summer bulletins listing classes may be obtained from Dean Somerville or at the office of the Registrar.

Native Country Of GSC Student Is East Prussia

To those of us living in this country, it would seem strange that in our realm of vast communication there could be people who do not know of America. However, before December 21, 1950, Ursula Helga Hamblin had never heard of the United States of America.

Ursula, a sophomore physical education and social studies student, was born of Polish and German parents at Croppers-Rinaw, a small village in East Prussia.

Her parents were not financially able to keep all the ten children of the family, so Ursula and her sister, Erika Erna, were put up for adoption through the Lutheran Church.

At the time they were being put up for adoption, they lived on the outskirts of Regensburg, Germany. Mrs. Hamblin had cousins living in Regensburg who heard of the children being put up for adoption and notified the Hamblins in America. The Hamblins were especially interested in Ursula and Erika because Mrs. Hamblin was also born in Germany and came to America when she was two.

First Christmas

The girls were allowed to enter the United States for adoption under a non-quota visa and a displaced persons act. Thus, they spent their first Christmas in this country in 1950 with new parents.

Although she was only six when she left Germany, Ursula has many recollections of her childhood. Her father fought in World War II in Austria and Prussia. Later he worked as a farmhand on a dairy.

The twelve family members lived in a two-room upstairs apartment. Two double beds were provided for the ten children to sleep in, and "if you got tired of being crowded, you slept on the floor."

On birthdays it was customary for the child to get two bowls of pea soup instead of one, this being considered somewhat of a delicacy by the family. Erika, it seems, hated pea soup.

Ursula recalls that gypsies roamed around the village quite freely, and that they had to keep a close watch on the goats, chickens, and rabbits, and be sure to keep their doors locked.

Strict Discipline

Family discipline and punishment were very strict. The German schools were also rigid in nature. Erika went to German schools for three years and was ahead of the third grade pupils in the schools in Illinois.

One problem encountered after the girls arrived in their new home was the communication system. Erika spoke high German and Bavarian dialect, while Ursula spoke only Bavarian dialect since she had not attended school in Germany. Mrs. Hamblin spoke only high German, and Mr. Hamblin spoke no German at all.

URSULA HAMBLIN

Mr. Hamblin's work as a consulting geologist has necessitated their moving often. Since coming to the U. S. in 1950, they have lived at Olney, Ill., Dallas, Texas, Denver, Col., Parkersburg, and have resided since Easter at Marietta, Ohio.

Oddly enough, Ursula was awarded a citizenship award in the sixth grade before she was even a U. S. citizen. However, on February 12, 1958, she did become a citizen of the United States.

Plays Accordion

During the years she lived in Illinois, Ursula played an accordion with a group known as the "Accordians," and took part in radio and television competition.

Ursula graduated from Parkersburg High School with the class of 1962. The past two summers she worked as a life guard at the Vienna Pool.

She enjoys almost any type of outdoor activity and was a member of Glenville's first girls field hockey team.

Erika Hamblin will graduate this May from Eastern Illinois University with an A. B. degree in physical education and German.

Plans For Future

Ursula's plans for the future include a trip back to Germany for a visit after finishing school. Then she wants to teach physical education and history on the high school level.

When asked what she thought of this country, Ursula said, "Most people really don't appreciate the United States as much as they should because they just don't realize how much more they have here than they would in some of the more depressed places like where I lived."

INSTALLATION IS MAY 16-17

Installation of the Holy Roller Court, local campus fraternity, into Tau Kappa Epsilon International Fraternity will take place at Glenville State College on May 16 and 17. Mr. William Quallich, Grand Cryptophyllos, of Cleveland will be the chief installing officer. Mr. Quallich will be assisted in the installation ceremonies by members of Tau Kappa Epsilon from Fairmont State College.

Installation weekend will start on Saturday, May 16. This will be a day of lectures, movies and testing. The installation banquet will be held at the Conrad Hotel Saturday evening and the charter will be presented to the members of the Holy Roller Court.

Following the banquet the new TKE members will adjourn to the Student Union for a party in honor of the occasion.

The installation will end on Sunday morning when the members view the final ritual films.

Library Offers Copying Service

Robert F. Kidd Library now has a free copying service available to students and faculty members. Any periodical material not available in our library may be obtained from West Virginia University through submitting the necessary bibliographical information to the librarian. Material is ordinarily available in a few days.

A new book plate has been designed by Mrs. Margaret Osburne, an art student from Spencer, which will be placed on the inside cover of every gift book given to the library identifying the donor and the date of presentation.

All books donated, which need not be new, will be screened by the librarian as to their value as an addition to the library's present collection.

This will provide an inexpensive means by which library patrons may make a significant contribution to the library and toward the education of future Glenville State College students.

All books donated to the library will become the property of GSC and will not be returned.

William Paul Snider, a 1955 Glenville graduate who has been teaching accounting at Parkersburg High School for the past several years, is entering the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Philadelphia.
