Sellers Stars In Foreign Film Monday, Nov. 23

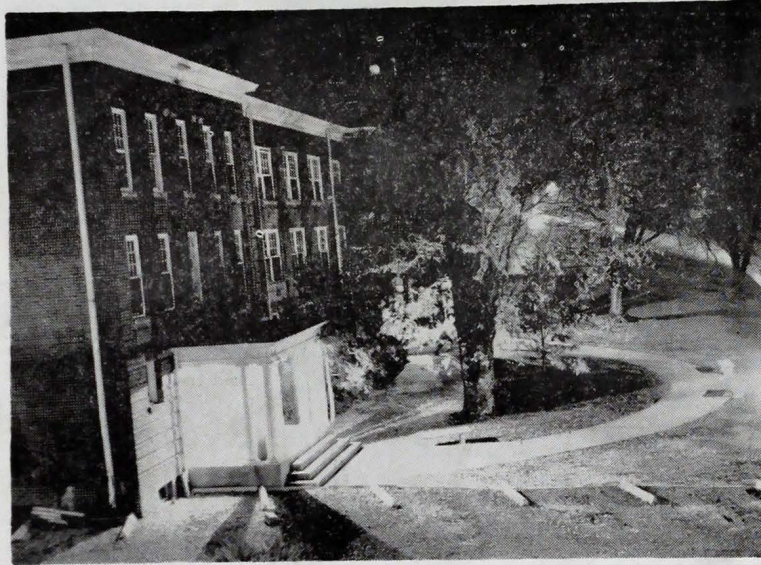

By HELEN CUNNINGHAM

On Monday, Nov. 9, Alpha Psi Omega presented the second of its series of foreign films for this semester. The film was the Russian classic, "Mumu" (see review on page 4). The next program will be presented this coming Monday, Nov. 23, at 3:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. in the little theatre.

The program is a double bill consisting of an English film entitled the "Case of the Mukkinese Battle-Horn" starring Peter Sellers, and a French short-classic entitled "The Red Balloon."

"Case of the Mukkinese Battle-Horn" is a 25-minute long British mystery. Peter Sellers plays an inept and bumbling inspector from Scotland Yard in search of clues to the whereabouts of a notorious gang of international smugglers specializing in Mukkinese Battle Horns ("It sort of looks like a trumpet—but with a bit more plumbing, of course").

The French film, "The Red Balloon," is in color and lasts for 34 minutes. It is the story of the fantasy of the world of childhood. A boy makes friends with a balloon, tames it, and then the balloon begins to live a life of its own. It follows the boy to school, (Continued on page 2)

Kanawha Hall Down Soon; R.F. Kidd Plans Announced

On Nov. 5 and 6 the West Virginia Board of Education approved the demolition of Kanawha Hall, which will be razed within the next three months at an approximate cost of $10,000, including both the tearing down and hauling away of the building. Bids on the demolition will be taken by the W. Va. Division of Purchases.

Erected in 1916 at a cost of $30,000, Kanawha Hall was first used as a dormitory for women. After Verona Maple was constructed in 1926, the building was used to house men. In 1935 Louis Bennett Hall was built, and Kanawha Hall again became a women's dormitory, a function which it performed until Women's Hall was finished in 1960.

Before the student union was completed there was a dining hall on the first floor for the entire campus. GSC Presidents occupied Kanawha Hall from 1916 until 1928 when the president's residence was constructed.

At the present time, kindergarten classes are meeting on half of the first floor of Kanawha Hall; the rest of the building is being used as a storage area by the maintenance department. The destruction of the structure will be the first step in preparation for the building of the new Robert F. Kidd Library which will occupy the present site of Kanawha Hall.

Last year's plans for the new library would have included a new addition added to the present building. However, after extensive research and study of libraries through the country, it was decided that it would be more advantageous to have the new building located at the present site of Kanawha Hall.

The new Robert F. Kidd Library will be very striking, the entire building being in modern rather than in traditional style. It is planned that there be no windows on the front of the brick and stone library. Instead there will be pil-

NCATE Group Visits Glenville For Evaluation

The Visitation Committee members of the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education have been guests on campus Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, a visit which is made approximately once every ten years.

Sunday evening a dinner was given in the Colonial Room of the College Center for the committee members. During their four-day stay on campus, faculty and staff members were interviewed and various classes were observed.

An institution seeking membership in the NCATE must be evaluated according to seven standards which have been set up by the Council: objectives for teacher education, organization and administration of teacher education, student personnel programs, preparations of the faculty in professional education, curricula for teacher education, professional laboratory experiences, and facilities and instructional material available.

One definite advantage of being an accredited college is that Glenville graduates will have no trouble securing positions in the teaching profession in other states that recognize the Council.

Visitation Committee members were selected because of competence in the particular fields that they investigate. Comprising the committee are Dr. Harris L. Dante, Kent State University, Kent, Ohio; Dr. Mary O. Murphy, Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va.; Dr. Roy Pangle, George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. Robert C. Gibson, Radford College, Radford, Va.; Dr. George R. Anderson, Millersville State College, Millersville, Pa.; Dr. Margaret J. Felsing, Ohio University, Athens, (Continued on page 2)

Holiday Concert Will Be Given December 13

Several details regarding the annual Christmas Festival Concert were announced today by Mr. Albert Johnson, Assistant Professor of Music. Under the joint sponsorship of the music, art, and drama departments the program will trace the theme of the anticipation of the fulfillment of the Old Testament promise, culminating in the glorious birth of Christ. The concert will be held in the Auditorium on Sunday evening, Dec. 13 at 8:00 p.m.

Because of the limited number of seats in the auditorium, reservations must be made in advance. Students may get tickets for their own use free-of-charge by presenting their activities tickets to the secretary of the Community Development and Research Center, in room 209 of the Administration Building. The deadline for getting these tickets is Dec. 1, which is the Tuesday following Thanksgiving recess. The following day the remainder of the tickets will go on sale to the general public at the price of $1.00.

Anyone without a students activities ticket wishing to make reservations for the concert before Dec. 2 may do so with the secretary in room 209A. However, these reservations cannot be guaranteed until after the deadline for student reservations.

The Robert F. Kidd Library at night presents a stately and imposing picture. Tentative plans will see the structure converted into classroom space with the construction of a new library. (MER-photo by Wilson)

Alpha Psi Omega Initiates Warren, Dougherty, Fisher

On Tuesday November 10, three new members were initiated into Alpha Psi Omega, a national honorary dramatics fraternity with a local chapter on the GSC campus. They are Carole Warren, Cheryl Fisher, and Harold Dougherty pictured above with other Alpha Psi Omega members.

The Theta Alpha Cast of Alpha Psi Omega was organized on the campus of Glenville State College in September 1940. It was originally founded at Fairmont State College.

This organization is the only national honorary fraternity represented on the campus. It has as its purpose the stimulation of interest in dramatic activities on the campus and the reward of worthy efforts in college dramatics.

In order to qualify for membership in this fraternity, one must have worked in five areas of dramatics. Heading this list, of course, is acting. Prospective members must have acted in major, minor, and supporting roles. However, acting experience is not all that is required. Members must have experience working behind the scenes and must demonstrate the mechanical skills and abilities necessary to complete a production. Therefore, work in four additional areas is required. These areas include lighting, sound, set construction, and costuming. An additional requirement of the GSC chapter is membership in the Ohnimgohow Players for at least one semester, although membership in the speech department is not necessary.

There were fourteen members in the organization at its inception in 1940. It now has eight members, including Jack Brown, Grand Director; Wayman Johnson, Worthy Playwright; Helen Cunningham, Business Manager, and Patricia Britton.

Of the new members Miss Warren's theatrical credits for membership include work in "Send no Flowers," "Dinny and the Witches," and "Angel Street." Cheryl Fisher: "Impromptu," and Harold Dougherty: "Lunnie and the Witches," "The Junkmen," "Angel Street," and 3rd place winner in the state radio announcer's contest at Jackson's Mill in 1964.

Then, suddenly, all of the other captive balloons in Paris come down to the boy and lift him to the sky.

Time magazine states that "moviegoers of all ages will find themselves laughing and sometimes sighing." Arthur Knight of the Saturday Review says of this film that "one is tempted to read all sorts of meaning into this—the world's jealous destruction of fantasy and illusion, the end of childish innocence.

But it can also be taken and enjoyed as simply the lovely image of a child's dream, an image whose special enchantment lies in its superb color shots of the streets, the shops, the crumbling tenement flats of Paris."

GSC DELEGATE ATTENDS MEET

On Nov. 15, Miss Nila Rollins, a junior at Glenville State College, traveled to Parkersburg as the GSC Regional Representative for the state Baptist Student Movement. Here, Miss Rollins met with the other state Baptist Student Movement officers to plan the spring B.S.M. conference for all Baptist college students to be held at the Baptist Camp at Cowen.

This planning session was led by Dr. Elmer Dierks, known as "Daddy D", campus pastor at Marshall University and director of the state Baptist Student Movement conferences. Representatives from West Virginia University, Concord College, Salem College, Fairmont College, Alderson Broaddus College, Glenville State College, Marshall University, and West Virginia Institute of Technology attended this planning meeting which lasted from 10:00 a.m. to approximately 3:00 p.m.

The local Baptist Student Movement is planning a hootenanny and fudge party for all interested students. The party is to be held on Saturday night, Nov. 21, at 6:30, in the social rooms of the Glenville Baptist Church. Everyone is invited!

Judy Woodier, a junior at GSC, and Nila Rollins, were selected recently as the new co-secretaries for the Baptist Sunday School class for college students.

ASA Engaged In Rush, Pledge Plans

Rush and pledge activities dominate the scene for the Gamma Kappa pledge chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority. Following this week's rush activities of a Delta Zeta-Alpha Sigma Alpha Tea, informal and formal rush parties, girls will pick up their bids at the office of the Dean of Women Monday, November 23. That evening the girls will be taken in as pledges of Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority.

Prix Louis Delluc (the French Film Critics Award).

Anyone wishing to attend either of the showings of "The Red Balloon" and "Case of the Mukkinese Battle-Horn" is invited to do so on Monday. The admission for those without a season's ticket is $1.25.

REPLACEMENTS LISTED BY DZ

The Theta Xi Chapter of Delta Zeta Sorority ate together with the Gamma Kappa pledge chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority on Thursday evening, November 12 in the Colonial Room of the student union.

After the regular meeting on Monday evening, the Delta Zeta's held a rush school from 7 p.m. till 10 p.m. with all members participating.

DZ president Cassandra Riggs has appointed three new officers to fill positions left vacant by women doing student teaching this term. Cynthia Bennon will replace Penny Myers as vice-president of membership; Ann Hughes will fill the vacancy left by Patty Cline, who served as pledge chairman. Acting as new historian in the place of Frankie Cutlip will be Diann Truex.

Recess Is Announced

Dr. Delmer K. Somerville announced that the Thanksgiving recess will begin on Wednesday, Nov. 25, at 12:15 a.m., and will end Monday, Nov. 30, at 8 a.m.

For any classes missed on the school day preceding a holiday or on the first day of school following a holiday, the instructor shall make an outside assignment more than ample to make up such work. A day missed counts as a single absence and not as a "double cut."

The completed work shall then be submitted to and evaluated by the instructor within one week after the student's return to class. After evaluation, the work is presented to the Committee on Classification and Credits for the final decision as to the adequacy of the assignment and the quality of the completed work.

Wesley Foundation Plans Communion

A Thanksgiving worship service, concluding with Holy Communion, will be conducted by the Wesley Foundation in the sanctuary of the Trinity Methodist Church, Sunday, Nov. 22, at 6:30 p.m. The student leader will be Helen Cunningham.

Following the Thanksgiving recess, Dec. 6, at 6:30 p.m., Dr. Charles Godwin, Superintendent of Parkersburg District of the Methodist Church, will present the topic "Being a Christian on the College Campus." Charles Morris will act as leader.

"A Religious Journey thru Shakespear Land" by Dr. Espy Miller was the subject of the Nov. 15 program hour at which time Dennis Myers served as leader.

Barbara Hornor, a 1963 graduate, is employed by the Firestone Rubber Company in Akron.

TKE Men Hold Smoker; Guest Speaker

On Monday evening, Nov. 9, the Iota Omega Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon held its first informal smoker of the school year. Featured for this event was Frater Gene Ballard, province supervisor, from Charleston. Mr. Ballard spoke on "Responsibility of the Fraternity System".

Following the talk by Mr. Ballard refreshments were served to all attending. Any man interested in joining TKE, but who was unable to attend this smoker, had a second opportunity to meet with TKE members at a second smoker, had a second opportunity to meet with TKE members at a second smoker held on Monday, Nov. 16.

Edgar L. "Butch" Buster was selected to fill the office, Epitrytanis, in TKE. Buster has been an active member of both the former Holy Roller Court and Tau Kappa Epsilon. He is currently rush chairman, and will continue to hold this position. Frater Buster replaces George Marshall who recently graduated.

Pledge Activities Will Begin Soon

Kappa Eta Chapter of Theta Xi Fraternity began its pledging today. At the time the MERCURY went to press, the names of the pledges were not known.

Pledge activities will be much the same as previous years with a few new additions to the pledge program. As tradition goes, bricks painted blue and white, the fraternity colors, will more than likely be in season.

Starting November 23, members and pledges of Theta Xi will begin their annual toy drive for underprivileged children of the community. These toys will be given to the children at a Christmas party held by the fraternity.

Other activities being planned by the fraternity include various house parties during the Christmas season, a fraternity skiing trip, and Christmas caroling.

On Monday, Nov. 16, Glenville's chapter of the Student Education Association sponsored a tea and coffee hour in Louis Bennett Lounge for the visiting committee. In charge of planning the social hour were the officers William Cottrill, Judy Musgrave, Jerry Stover, Martha Hickman, and Paul Derico, plus faculty advisers Miss Jewell Matthews and Mr. Nelson Wells. Several members acted as hosts at the tea.

GSC Band Plays, Plans

The Glenville State College Band, under the direction of Dr. Jack S. Bemis, made another of its many and varied public appearances when it provided music for the dedication of the new bookmobile service in Glenville on Nov. 4. Shortly after school started this year, band members provided music at the opening of the new roadside park at the top of Town Hill. Miss Sue Eddy was the vocalist for the occasion.

The band has played for the home football games of the Pioneers, and plans are underway to have a small pep band which will play at basketball games this year. Also under way are plans for the music department to institute a brass ensemble. Although plans are incomplete at press time, the brass group will represent Glenville State College with the best music available.

GSC Mentors Finish '64 Season With Win

By BOB MARSHALL

Saturday, Oct. 31, the Glenville State College Pioneers met the Westminster Titans, at Rohrbough Field. Westminster was the number one defensive team, and the number six offensive, small college team in the nation. The Pioneers played heads-up ball but could not contain the Titans who scored in three different quarters and won the tilt 26-0.

Titans began their scoring in the first quarter of play. Halfback Gib Armstrong plunged through the Pioneers' defensive wall and scampered eleven yards for the first touchdown. Richard Ney was good for the conversion, and with 8:18 showing on the clock the Titans had rolled up seven points. Glenville was able to hold the Titans until the second quarter, in which they scored two more quick tallies. This time it was quarterback Smitty Cornell, who passed 23 yards to end John Bailey, who made the play good for 40 yards and six points. Ney's conversion was again good, and with 13:47 left in the second quarter Westminster led 14-0.

Pioneers began having trouble in trying to move the pigskin and thus gave it up on first downs opening the door to another Titan tally. This time it was fullback Dick Heiden fighting through for eleven yards and the third Westminster touchdown of the afternoon. Ney's kick was wide, and with 6:02 playing time in the first half, the Titans led 20-0.

Glenville came back in the second half and played a much improved ball game. The defense held the Titans scoreless through the third quarter while the offense began to take life. The Titan defense had been allowing the opposing teams a total of 36 yards per game. Danny Erlwine helped Glenville break this record by driving through for a 36 yard run. Glenville amassed 80 yards against the number one defense.

Late in the fourth quarter the Titans turned Bob Butkowski loose for their final score. The scoring play was a 15 yard run with 2:47 left in the game. This final tally put Westminster in front 26-0.

TECH

The Pioneers met W. Va. Tech Saturday, Nov. 7, at Martin Field in Montgomery for their final game of the 1964 season. The Pioneers made the best performance of the year, by winning 13-6. Both the offense and the defense made a fine showing in the game.

Glenville played the entire first quarter in Tech's territory. The first Pioneer score came with 45 seconds left in the first period of play. Fullback Roger Roberts took the hand-off from Mays and drove 3 yards for the score. Jon Lucas was good for the extra point and Glenville led 7-0.

Early in the third period Glenville struck pay dirt again in spite of numerous penalties. Joe Duncan passed 15 yards to Gary Blake for the touchdown. Lucas's kick failed and Glenville led 13-0 with 10:43 in the period.

Tech's only score of the game came late in the last quarter on a lucky pass from quarterback Jerry Townson to end Vernon White. The extra point attempt failed, and Glenville led 13-6 with the clock showing 1:10 left in the game.

We, of the MERCURY staff, feel this last game was a fine example of the potential the Pioneers had this year, and in spite of what the scores might have shown, we are very proud of the boys who made up our 1964-65 football squad.

3 Glenville Students Appearing in Telecast

Three Glenville students are appearing today on a half-hour telecast from Channel 12, Clarksburg, at 4:30 p.m., in connection with the West Virginia Educational Television Council. The Council provides central West Virginia with educational programs.

Nila Rollins, Johanna Coleman, and Judy Musgrave are presenting a program dealing with teacher education and specialization in the areas of instructing handicapped and gifted children. Miss Rollins is a junior English and art student from Summersville; Miss Coleman, a junior from Williamstown, is majoring in English and social studies; Miss Musgrave is a junior English and speech student from Parkersburg.

The television production originally started with random programs being presented by various West Virginia colleges and universities. This year, however, a series of programs is being developed around the central theme of "Careers Unlimited in the Teaching Profession."

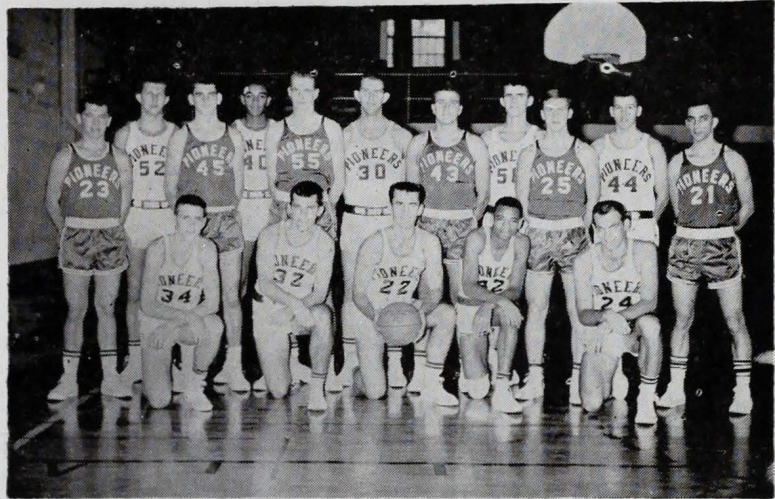

Educational institutions belonging to the Television Council are Alderson-Broadus, Salem College, West Virginia Wesleyan, West Virginia University, Davis and Elkins College, Fairmont State College, and Glenville State College. Each week a different college will present a telecast concerning some phase of the teaching profession.

In the past Glenville has presented television productions dealing with student teaching, folk singing, new concepts in modern mathematics, biological research at GSC, remedial reading, scientific theory of toys, and the GSC choir.

Looking forward to the future, Glenville may present a similar type of telecast on Channel 5, Weston. This program, which is still in the development stage, would be concerned with explaining new teaching methods in mathematics to parents, so that they might understand how and why their children are being instructed as they are.

These television programs being presented in connection with the Council are student-oriented projects. Mr. Milton Kern, assistant professor of speech, is the faculty representative for the Council on our campus.

Barbara Lynn Young, a 1964 graduate of GSC is currently teaching at Ravenswood Grade School.

Hockey Squad Set For Loss

On Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 10, the GSC Hockey Team, sponsored by Mrs. Christine Bush, played West Virginia Wesleyan at Buckhannon. The game was Glenville's first this year as well as their first loss, 2-0.

Wesleyan scored both goals in the first twenty-minute half. Kathy Grebe and Barb Willenbrook scored for the opposing team. Glenville's fine defense was led by captain, Roberta Downs, who played center halfback. The forward line was made up of Patsy Fields at left wing, Ursula Hamblin at left inner, Brenda Shedaker at center forward, Jackie Kafer at right inner, and Connie Tedrick at right wing.

Last year the hockey team played three games, and this year hope to schedule at least two home games. Misses Downs, Fields, Shedaker, Hamblin, Kafer, Priestner, Mick, Pancake, Ward, Johnson, and Tedrick all played on last year's hockey team.

WAA FINISHES CAGEY PLAY

Tuesday, November 10, the second round of the Women's Athletic Association's volleyball tournament was played. Johnson's team defeated Given's. Field's team defeated Tedrick's, and Hamblin's team defeated Mick's. Playing on Johnson's team were Candy Johnson, Margaret Parker, Carolyn Perry, Ann Mullins, Carolyn Hudkins, Carol Knapp, and Donna Collins. Playing for Fields' team were Patsy Fields, Carol Richardson, Cheryl Lee, Frances Weinich, Jackie Kafer, and Dianna Parsons. Ursula Hamblin, Nancy Brady, Karen Brannon, Rebecca James, Joyce Ward, and Dorothy Smith made up Hamblin's team.

Next Tuesday, November 17, Johnson's team will play Hamblin's and the winner will play Fields' team for the championship.

Basketball will be WAA's next activity. Any girls interested in playing should come to WAA next Tuesday. There are plans to organize a girl's intercollegiate basketball team for this year.

Hardwood Men Begin 1964-65 Basketball Play

The 1964-65 basketball team is now hard at work preparing for the coming season. This year Glenville State College will play 23 games. The first competition the Wave will enter is the Weston Invitational at Weston on November 23 and 24.

Last year the Pioneers capped a third place in the tournament by losing to Fairmont 83-68 and then coming back the next night to soundly beat Alderson-Broadus 93-75. In the Fairmont tussle last year Clyde Brewer paced the team with 16 points, and Bob Maxwell led the team in the Alderson-Broadus game with 17 points. Both Maxwell and Brewer are back this year.

The Pioneers will open their regular seasonal play with Marietta on Dec. 1. This is the first time these two teams have met for several years. The Marietta College Pioneers are coached by Don Kelly, who has a 22-man team, five of which are returning lettermen. Two of the returning lettermen, Dick Sower and Jack Marks, were second team choices on the All-Ohio Conference Team last year. Sower led the team in scoring last year with an average of 21.4 points per game, and Marks was close behind with a 19.7 average.

Last year the GSC Pioneers were led in the scoring column by Clark Dilley, who had a total of 550 points and a 20 point game average. Dilley is back this year, and along with him are four other returning lettermen: Brewer, Maxwell, Minnieweather, and Spicer.

President Wilburn Is Guest Speaker

On Friday, November 13 President D. Banks Wilburn spoke at the 16th Annual Conference of the West Virginia Unit of the Association for Student Teaching held at Marshall University on Nov. 12 and 13.

As keynote speaker at Friday's banquet, Dr. Wilburn talked to the members concerning evaluating quality in student teaching.

lars of white steel framing wide glass paneling that will extend from the main floor to the top level.

Tentative plans for the ground floor include facilities for a language laboratory, teaching materials laboratory, large audio-visual center, record collection and listening rooms, a lounge and smoking area.

It is hoped that on the main floor level there will be a current periodical collection, a circulation desk, a reference book collection, a card catalogue, reserve books, a seminar room, staff offices for the librarian and assistant librarian, a technical processing room for use of the staff in making materials ready for circulation, a paperback book collection, and a storage area for the amphitheatre.

Largely comprising the second floor will be the book collection. Areas will be available for a lounge, seminar room, and study areas. Juvenile collection, class room, West Virginia area, rare book area, periodical research section including microfilm readers will make up the third level of the building.

Plans will provide study space for a minimum of three hundred students, either at individual study carrels around the walls on each floor, large or small tables, or in a lounging area. There is an attempt being made to minimize the number of partitions on each floor and use moving curtains or doors to make individual rooms so that changes and expansion can be made easily.

Laying of the foundation will be done so that in the future two more floors may be added to the top of the library for classroom space. Carrying out the new library's modern theme will be low ceilings on each level. In making the interior of the structure more attractive, wall space will be used for displaying art work by GSC students.

Bookmobile Visits Here

A new library service initiated by the West Virginia Library Commission at Charleston is now at the service of GSC students as well as the people of a six-county area which includes Gilmer County. Pictured below is the new mobile book express, which visited Glenville for the first time Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 4 and 5. Although the schedule for the arrival of the library in Glenville has not yet been announced, it is expected that the unit will stop here every three weeks.

The purpose of the first visit was to give Gilmer County citizens a look at the unit, a custom-built tractor-drawn van which is the largest mobile library in the state of West Virginia. Gilmer County residents were also given an opportunity to register for library cards.

On each trip the Flying Book Express will carry a portion of its 12,000 volume collection. In addition book borrowers may request books not in the collection, but which may be obtained for them through the Inter-library loan system of the West Virginia Library Commission. Through this system the Express can make books available from other libraries in the state including the WVU library.

In making plans for the new structure items kept in view were simplicity, economy, floor space, functional layout, and consideration for student needs and comfort.

Russian Film Shows Simplicity, Beauty

By JUDY MUSGRAVE

"Mumu," a Russian film directed by Anatoli Bobrovsky and Yevgeni Teterin, was the most recent presentation of the foreign film committee of Alpha Psi Omega. The film, based on the story by Turgenev, portrays the lives of the simple Russian peasants faced with forces beyond their control.

Gerasim, a giant but gentle deaf-mute Sampson, is the hub around which the three tragedies of the film revolve. He worked with the soil and understood the land and his work. However, his whole life changes when he is snatched out of his environment by a lady of the aristocracy and taken to the city to be her yard-keeper, a position which Gerasim regards as a personal insult.

The second great crisis in the life of the lonely peasant is when his mistress arranges for the marriage of the laundress Tanya, for whom Gerasim had developed a strong attachment, to another servant.

Quite by accident Gerasim finds a small puppy by the river, discarded by any apparent owner. It is natural that the two should become inseparable companions because both are rejects of life, castoffs of their own individual societies. Since "Mumu" is the only syllable utterable by the deaf-mute, this becomes the name bestowed upon the small orphan. Out of a blind unquestioning sense of duty to his crotchety old mistress, who does not like Mumu, Gerasim does away with the last thing he holds dear. Once he had saved Mumu from death at the river's edge, and now the pup returns to the river to meet his fate.

In viewing "Mumu" one may observe two worlds in operation—the world of the aristocracy and the world of the peasant laborer, who counted for nothing. People of wealth and position are portrayed, probably with much accuracy, as unfeeling, compassionless beings. After Gerasim drowns Mumu in obedience to his mistress's will, she remarks, "How cruel these Russian peasants are."

Gerasim conveys more with his eyes and facial expressions than many actors could put across with endless dialogue. This effect is heightened by the impeccable photography in close-up shots.

As was stated in the New York Herald Tribune, "Mumu" is an unburied picture of Russian life back in the days of serfdom. The directors have stayed pretty close to the author's graphic indictment of serfdom and its arbitrary laws, using the lucid narrative style to good advantage."

Opinions have varied concerning the value of "Mumu." My view is that the film is not merely an over-sentimentalized "Lassie Come Home," but rather a simple portrayal of loneliness, blind subservience, and the need for love, tenderly and skillfully maneuvered together by exceptional acting techniques and brilliant directing.

have a possibility of debating with six different colleges and universities. Those participating in the debate must be novice debaters who are in their first year of college debate.

Plans for future debates will possibly include matches with Salem College, Davis and Elkins College, and West Virginia Wesleyan College. Also on the agenda is preparation for the speech and drama festival to be held in June at Jackson's Mill.
