AHE Conference Convenes Today

Wink, Scott 'TRIAL' IS FIRST FOREIGN FILM Win Prizes

The Allied Artist showing at Sunrise in Charleston has awarded prizes to Mr. Don Wink, instructor in art, and Mr. Charles Scott, assistant professor in art at GSC.

Mr. Wink's "Ladderscape" won $75 for first prize in oils and a special $100 purchase award. Purchased by the organization for its own permanent collection, the work will be housed at Sunrise. The artist's drawing, "Worldscape," won first prize, too, adding another $30 to the prize money.

Several works have brought many honors to Mr. Wink. He was accepted in two national shows during this year. From approximately 200 drawings, only 157 were chosen for exhibition. Mr. Wink's was among those to hang in the XXI Annual American Drawing Exhibition at Norfolk, Va. and the XI Annual Drawing and Small Sculpture Show, Muncie, Ind. The artist won honorable mention in the following shows: 180 Exhibition, Huntington; Sunrise Gallery Annual Exhibition (1964), Charleston; Northwest Annual Printmakers Exhibition, Seattle, Wash.; Second Dixie Annual Exhibition, Montgomery, Ala.; and the Texas Fine Arts Association Fall Show.

At the University of Texas Art Students Show, Mr. Wink's work was selected as one of the five outstanding. West Texas Art Association Show awarded Mr. Wink fourth prize.

Jon Don Wink from San Angelo, Texas is interested in painting, drawing, sculpture, and print making. He studied at San Angelo College and the University of Texas where he earned his Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree. He did graduate work at Ohio University and the University of Washington where he finished his Masters of Fine Arts Degree.

Other works accepted in the Allied Artist Exhibit were done by Charles Scott, who won first place in ceramics, Tom Riddle, and Roger Smith.

Franz Kafka's The Trial, directed by Orson Wells, will be the first foreign film of the second semester. Alpha Psi Omega, because of non available dates, had to select new dates. Kafka's psychological and philosophical film will be shown in the GSC auditorium April 12, both at 3:30 and 8 p.m.

The story of The Trial is strange and fascinating. The central character is a young clerk, Joseph K., played by Anthony Perkins, who is arrested and finds himself spending the rest of his life trying to defend himself against an unspecified charge by unidentified accusers.

The dramatic impact of the story is underlined by its psychological and philosophical implications. In trying to disentangle reality from the nightmare engulfing him, Joseph K. becomes a symbol of modern man searching for a way out of his predicament.

The Trial has achieved something of the status of a modern myth and is recognized as one of the classics of twentieth-century symbolic literature.

Frank Kafka's entire literary output consists of three novels and a collection of short stories. None of the novels were published during his lifetime. Nevertheless, he is ranked as one of the most important writers of modern times and one who has exerted a tremendous influence on Western literature and on such authors as W. H. Auden, Samuel Beckett, Albert Camus, and Rex Warner.

Kafka is known for his mysticism, his interest in philosophy and religion, and his broadly expressionistic style. He is a master story-teller whose dramatic situations serve as examples of the universal anxiety that disturbs man in the modern world: isolation, alienation, inability to communicate, inability to understand, inability to love.

Dr. Dana Farnsworth, director of Harvard University Medical Service, will speak at the Association of Higher Education's banquet Thursday night.

Summer Work Now Available

A summer Work-Study Program will be available to any student who will have completed his junior year at the end of this semester. Any student interested in doing remedial and supplemental instruction with elementary and high school pupils during the summer should contact Dr. Hardway or Mr. Brown by April 9.

Students wishing to attend summer classes will be permitted to work fifteen hours per week at the rate of two dollars per hour. Students who plan to work full time may work forty hours a week. The time of employment will be 10 weeks during the summer. All work will be done within the Supplemental Instruction Center which will be operated by the college.

Caldwell Delivers Opening Speech

By GLEN MOWERY

West Virginia Association of Higher Education will hold its 28th annual meeting April 7, 8, and 9 this year. AHE is an affiliate of the West Virginia Education Association and the National Education Association. All colleges and universities are invited to send representatives to the meetings. An estimated two hundred people are expected to attend.

Registration will begin Wednesday, April 7, at 3:00 to 7:30 p.m. in the Administration Building. Opening of the general session will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium with Dr. Delmer K. Somerville, president of the West Virginia Association for Higher Education, presiding. Dr. B. Banks Wilburn, president of Glenville State College, will extend greetings, and Dr. Oliver Caldwell, acting associate commissioner for international understanding from the U.S. office of education, will deliver the opening address.

Thursday, April 8, the second general session will open in the auditorium with Dr. Harrison H. Ferrell, chairman of the permanent program committee of the West Virginia Association for Higher Education, conducting the session. The address will be delivered by Dr. George H. McCune, professor of social studies from the University of Minnesota. Following the address the meeting will break up into discussion groups. They will discuss the following topics: faculty recruitment and load, financing higher education, improvement of instruction, and salaries in higher education.

After lunch there will be a continuation of the discussions until 2:15 p.m. when the third general session begins. Dr. Wilfred T. Packer, president-elect of the West Virginia Association for Higher Education, will preside over this meeting. A summary of the discussions will be given by Dr. Collins W. Burnette, professor of higher education of Ohio State University.

At 3:00 p.m. Thursday the business session will begin in the auditorium with Dr. Delmer K. Somerville presiding. At this session a report by the secretary-treasurer, Zeona E. Haley, will be given and also a report by the various committees. The election of officers will follow.

The same evening at 6:00 p.m. a banquet will be held in the college center. Music will be provided by the GSC choir under the direction of Albert Johnson. Recognition of past presidents and an address by Dr. Dana Farnsworth, director of Harvard University Medical Service, will follow the banquet. At 8:00 p.m. there will be a meeting of the division of privately supported institutions of higher education in the Little Theater and a meeting of the division of public supported institutions of higher learning in Louis Bennett Lounge. A reception by Dr. and Mrs. D. Banks Wilburn is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. in the lounge of Women's Hall.

On Friday, April 9, at 9:00 a.m. meetings of special interest groups are scheduled. The association for student teaching will meet in the Little Theater. The business education group will meet in room 101 of the Administration Building, while the home economics group meets in room 107 of the same building. The library group will meet in the library, and the mathematics group will meet in room 105 of the Science Hall. The humanities group will meet in room 305 in the administration building, the physical education group in room 208 of the Health Building, and the W.Va. association of academic deans will meet in Louis Bennett Lounge.

Lunch will be at 12:00 noon and at 1:30 p.m. the special interest groups will resume their meetings.

Letter to the Editor

Maetelinc's fable "The Bluebird" teaches us that one often seeks far and wide for good things that are to be found right at home. An analogous lesson was pointed up by the extremely sparse attendance at a recent bill of one-act plays presented by the college speech department. We need not go to New York or some other metropolitan center in search of good entertainment and cultural programs, for they are often to be found on our campus.

The plays were obviously student productions but had a freshness and flair rarely encountered in our tired commercial media. They would have been equally worthwhile to the serious student and to the seeker of mere entertainment.

This is merely an especially bad example of a situation that has long been rampant in Glenville. Let's stop bemoaning our geographic isolation and start taking advantage of what the college does have to offer in the way of fine student performances, as well as those by visiting professionals.

View of The Middle East

By SALAH YACOB

Editor's Note: This is a second in a series of articles by Mr. Yacoub, instructor in sociology on the GSC faculty, about the problems of the Middle East. In the last issue of the MERCURY Mr. Yacoub announced his intention of discussing those problems in order to effect a better understanding of the Arab peoples.

The question is usually asked: "What do the Arabs think of America?" I hope you will find the following analysis of interest to you.

Before answering the question, it seems that the question itself needs some analysis. What is meant by "America"? Is it a reference to the American industrial "know-how", freedom of speech and democratic institutions in America, or the United States foreign policy towards one region or another?

Broadly speaking there are two aspects of America with which the question is concerned. First, there is America and its ideology as represented in the Declaration of Independence, the Federal Constitution and the Bill of Rights; and second, there is America as a nation-state with international policies towards the Middle East which affect the lives of the Arabs.

Accordingly, when the question is raised, distinction should be made between Arab attitude towards American ideology, institutions and "way of life" on the one hand, and its foreign policy, on the other.

It is also necessary to explain briefly which Arabs are referred to in the question of what do Arabs think about America. The reference here is not only to the present attitudes of Arab Governments but also to the attitudes of the young Arab intelligentsia, who are the most dynamic force behind the great movements throughout the Arab land. I am not referring here to the masses of the Arab people, who have only recently attained a level of political consciousness yet without much articulate attitude.

The question then becomes: What do the Arab Governments and the young Arab intelligentsia think about American ideology and about American foreign policy towards the Arabs.

Arab nationalism (which refers to the desire of the overwhelming majority of the Arab intelligentsia to be politically free from foreign rule and domestic exploitation, to be politically united under a federal system of government, and to establish democratic institutions and economic reform) has been in large measures influenced by Western ideology. It began when Arab students in Syria and Lebanon came in contact with American missionaries and educators at least as far back as 1820. The influence of Western ideology is so dominant that one could say that Arab nationalism is one of the contributions of the West to the Arabs.

Indeed, the present day Arab endeavors to liberate Arab land, to unify Arab states under a federal system of government, and to establish democratic institutions, correspond to the American experiment with its Revolution to liberate itself from foreign yoke, to federate the thirteen states of the Articles of Confederation, and to develop political parties and expand civil and political rights. The thirteen Arab states which I am referring to here include: Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon, Syria, Algeria, Libya, Morocco, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Sudan, Tunisia, the United Arab Republic, and Yemen. All these are members in the World Organization and have roughly seventy-five million inhabitants.

A partial list of what impresses the Arabs about America includes: The Declaration of Independence; The Federalist Papers, particularly Madison's No. X in which he referred to "factions" and argued in favor of a larger republic as a check upon tyranny; Lincoln's Gettysburg Address with its concept of a government "of the people, by the people, and for the people" which today is the ideal towards which educated Arabs are striving; Wilson's Fourteen Points, especially his condemnation of secret treaties and his enunciation of the principle of self-determination; and above all, the most important contribution of America to human civilization, namely the injunction of the First Amendment that "Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom of speech."

Briefly, the Arabs admire the American ideology and their hope is to establish a "U.S.A."—United States of the Arabs—following the great model of the U.S.A.—United States of America. (Continued next issue)

ASA Slates New Group Heads

Gamma Kappa Chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha has a slate of newly appointed committee heads. They are as follows: Magazines, Anita Gavin; Music, Diana Shinn; Scholarships, Johanna Coleman; Homecoming, Patty Brown and Joan Ward; Social, Cheryl Lee; Autumn Leaves, Anne Stuke; Sweetheart Ball, Cheryl McNeill; Programs, Pat Walcutt; Parliamentarian, Judy Cottrill.

ASA women enjoyed steaks together in the college cafeteria on March 24. It proved to be a pleasant break from the humdrum of studying for finals.

Gilbert Exhibits 26 Pieces of Art

Mr. Kenneth Gale Gilbert of Parkersburg, recently held a one-man exhibition in the hall of the Administration building. This is one of the senior requirements for a graduate in the field of art.

Gilbert is a 1961 graduate of Parkersburg High School. He will graduate from GSC in November, 1965. The 50-hour art major is presently secretary-treasurer of Alpha Rho Tau, the campus art organization.

In the 1963-64 GSC student art exhibition, Gilbert won 1st place in drawings and an honorable mention in ceramic pottery.

Gilbert's exhibition here at Glenville includes water colors, drawings, oils, ceramics, and sculpture. The show contains 26 pieces of his work.

Several of his works are: "Marsinian," an abstract in water color; "Enter the Field," a realistic oil; "Sonya," an abstract figure; "Atom Mist," an abstract drawing; and several pieces of stoneware pottery.

After graduation Gilbert plans to do graduate work at Ohio University in the field of art.

ADE INITIATES 14; PLANS AUCTION

The pledges have started the wheels rolling for the annual Slave Auction. The faculty members have more worth-while and exciting prizes to auction. The following are just a few things to be auctioned off this year: Dean Delmer Summerville has offered to treat a couple to a spaghetti dinner at "Minard's" in Clarksburg. Mr. Loren McCartney has offered a trout fishing trip for two; they will be setting trout lines. Mr. Carl Kerr will offer various detective books.

Come to the Slave Auction on April 22 and discover the many other once-in-a-lifetime opportunities that will be made available to the GSC students.

The perfect finishing touch for the evening will be a Square Dance for everyone to enjoy. We can make the evening one to remember by entering wholeheartedly and giving our support.

ADE announces that the money collected at the Auction will be put into a scholarship fund for an outstanding business student to further his college career.

Students who are seeking NDEA loans for the summer session and for next fall must have their applications in Dean Deel's office by April 15.

a closed party for the Alpha Sigs and their dates to be held sometime in the near future.

ASA held a pizza party in Louis Bennett Lounge on April 4.

Alpha Sigs also attended the assembly of all Greek organizations on April 6. Dr. Wilburn spoke to the group in the college auditorium.

State Day for all Alpha Sigma Alpha's in West Virginia will be held in Huntington on April 24. The Gamma Kappa Chapter is looking forward to meeting all of the other Alpha Sig sisters in West Virginia and becoming acquainted with them.

Jewish View of Israel Given by Rabbi Sundheim

On Tuesday, March 30, Rabbi Frank N. Sundheim presented two lectures to interested members of the GSC student body. At 9:05 in Louis Bennett Lounge, he spoke on the subject of "The Life and Times of Jesus—a Jewish View." The topic which was discussed during his second lecture was "Israel—Its Meaning to Jew and Christian."

In the presentation of his lectures, Sundheim talked about theology, politics, history, and sociology and their effects on Judaism. In his talks he began with the early history and progressed to the situation of the present day. The main idea that Rabbi Sundheim stressed was the fact that Israel is the "Crossroads of the World."

He also stressed the fact that Judaism centered toward the land of Israel, while Christianity became a universal religion only by being taken away from Israel. The purpose of his lectures was to create a better understanding of Jews and Judaism and the Jewish feeling about Christianity.

Rabbi Frank N. Sundheim received his B.A. Degree from the University of Pennsylvania and was ordained rabbi at the Hebrew Union College—Jewish Institute of Religion in 1958, receiving his M.H.L. Degree. While a student at the Hebrew Union College, the rabbi served as organist and associate choir master at the college.

Rabbi Sundheim is spiritual leader of Congregation Ohev Shalom in Huntington. He previously served congregations in Beckley and Marion, Ohio.

Rabbi Sundheim is a member of the Rotary Club and the Marshall University Symphony Orchestra. He serves on the board of the Family Service, Inc., Mental Health Association of Huntington, Huntington Ministerial Association, Federated Jewish Charities of Huntington, and the B'nai B'rith of Huntington.

The rabbi's lectures on college campuses are under the auspices of the Jewish Chautauqua Society, an organization which creates better understanding of Jews and Judaism through education.

Grapplers Meet For Title

The intramural wrestling finals were held Monday evening March 22, with the boys matching skill for the championship. The final matches consisted of three two minute periods, and were governed by NCAA collegiate wrestling rules. Elliott Workman a state champion wrestler from Delaware served as the referee. Workman would have competed in the matches but was hampered by a dislocated shoulder.

The first match saw Larry Richards and David Brown tangle for the 130 pound title. Richards was the victor in the third period pin. In the 140 pound class was Fred Halbert and Bob Chisler. Both of these boys had wrestled on the varsity wrestling team. Chisler managed a third period pin over Halbert.

In the 150 pound class were Sam Gwinn and Bob Marshall. Gwinn had received an eye injury in the preliminary matches and couldn't wrestle, giving Marshall a win by forfeit.

David Meadows and Jim Potts were the winners by another third period pin. John Hoover and Wilber Mathews wrestled in the 170 pound class, with Mathews out pointing Hoover for the win.

Steve Kee and Monk Linthicome were to have wrestled in the 180 pound class but Kee was unable to wrestle due to a flu infection and Linthicome was the victor by forfeit. In the unlimited class were Bill Casto and Barry John. John was the winner by outscoring Casto.

This was the first year for intramural wrestling and the boys seemed to enjoy the back breaking sport.

Ionesco's 'Leader' Visits Parkersburg

"The Leader," co-directed by Harold Dougherty and Ellis Walenburgh in connection with Play Production 224, traveled to Parkersburg April 3 and was presented before the Parkersburg Chapter of the Glenville Alumnae Association.

SORORITY WINS STATE TROPHY

The Theta Xi Chapter of Delta Zeta held a spaghetti dinner for the members and their guests on April 1. The members prepared and served the spaghetti at the dinner in Louis Bennett Lounge.

Delta Zetas won the Press Book Trophy at their annual State Day held in Huntington on March 27 at the Uptowner Inn. Press chairman, Cynthia Summers, and her assistant, Patricia Hall, stated that the winning book was chosen from among six entries. The contest was based on constructive value of news items, quality of copy, coverage, neatness and attractiveness of the book, observance of contest rules and bonus of a radio or a television coverage.

On March 28 the sorority presented a standards program on the League of Women Voters. Alice H. Landingham was the guest speaker for the program.

MISS RICE GETS ASSISTANTSHIP

Miss Lillian Rice, who will graduate from GSC in May of 1965, has received a Graduate Teaching Assistantship in Mathematics at West Virginia University for the academic year 1965-66.

Miss Rice has received the Key Award this year as the outstanding member of Chi Beta Phi, honorary scientific fraternity. She is a charter member of Alpha Iota Chapter where she has served as secretary. She is also a member of the West Virginia Collegiate Academy of Science and has been secretary-treasurer for the past year.

Miss Rice has recently completed the requirements for an A. B. Degree with teaching fields in Mathematics and Library Science and will graduate in May. She is a native of Canaan, Upshur County, and a graduate of Buckhannon-Upshur High School.

Lover, Cheryl Fisher; and Boy Lover, Steve Spicer.

Mr. J. Rodney Busch, instructor of speech and dramatics accompanied the students to Parkersburg.

Two Shows Presented By WVU Artists

The Music Department has announced plans for two musical programs in April by visiting artists from West Virginia University. On Sunday, April 25 a piano recital will be presented by Susan Kidd, a senior music student at the University's Creative Arts Center. Miss Kidd is a resident of Braxton County and will be known to many local residents. Her teachers in piano have been Arno Drucker and Herman Godes. The recital will be at 4:00, following the opening of the Annual Student Art Exhibit.

On Tuesday evening, April 27 at 8:00 the West Virginia University Wind Symphony will be heard in concert. The conductor is Mr. Francis Borkowski, Assistant Professor of Clarinet and Director of Bands at the Creative Arts Center. The thirty-five members of this newly-organized group were recently a featured part of the state Music Educators' Conference in Clarksburg and have performed with success

GLENVILLE GIRLS DOWN SALEM

On Friday, March 19, the GSC girls' basketball team traveled to Salem to play the Salem College team.

The starting line-up for Glenville was Brenda Shedaker, Patsy Fields, Bert Downs and Carol Knapp as forwards; Sandy Given and Garnet Duffy were guards.

At the end of the first quarter, Salem had a lead of 10-7 over the Glenville girls.

In the second quarter the GSC girls bounced back—with outstanding offense and defense—to pull into the lead and finally win a 50-27 victory over Salem.

For Glenville, Brenda Shedaker was high scorer with 20 points; Bert Downs scored 17; Carol Knapp scored 10 points; Patsy Fields scored five. Two points were scored by Lynda Beale and Sandy Given.

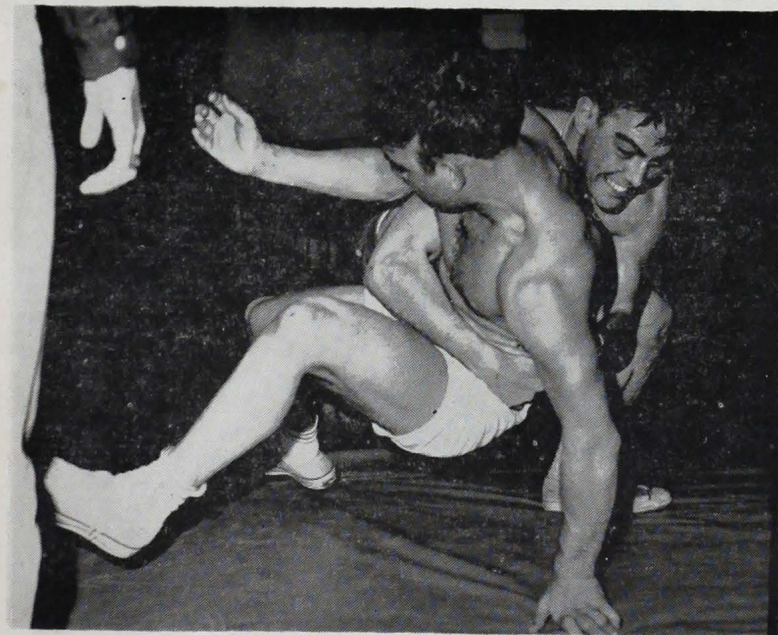

Profs., Students Judge Exhibit

Glenville State College faculty members Willis Gordon, Bernard McKown, Frank Toth, Byron Turner, and science students Russell Kemper, Sue Frederick, Roger Hall were judges of the Lewis County Fair at Weston High School on Friday, Mar. 12. One hundred six exhibits in the areas of chemistry, biology, physics, mathematics, and physical science were on display.

The awards for the best exhibit in the fair was won by Ronnie Stephens Weston High School senior. "He had constructed a 'Respirometer' for measuring the rate at which different organisms use oxygen. He had used a white mouse, a potato, and a green plant to demonstrate the various rates of usage, Ronnie is a brother of Roger Stephens, GSC freshman.

The Science Fair, first for Lewis County, was organized and directed by Joe Evans, a 1962 graduate of GSC. Mr. Evans is presently teaching chemistry and physics at Weston High School. He has been awarded a National Science Foundation Scholarship at Ohio State University for the academic year 1965-66 beginning in September.

Students Teach In Area Schools

The following students have completed the requirements for directed teaching and have been assigned to schools in the Glenville area.

George Powers has been assigned to Burnsville High School and Randolph Daniels to Edison Jr. High in Parkersburg. Also in Parkersburg are Linda Sands teaching at Fairplains Elementary School, Cheryl Fisher and Carole Warren at Park Elementary School, Jack Brown, Raymond Davidson, Terry George, Kenneth Gilbert, Nicholas Murin and Dean Strickland at Parkersburg High School.

Louis Nocida and Joe Fields went to Franklin Junior High and Emerson Elementary. Glenville Elementary School added Barbara Hamilton, Mary Ann Richards, Adith Spencer, Larry Spencer, and Sharon Sponagle. Patricia Britton, Charles Greathouse, Roger Huffman, and Glendon Jones went to Glenville High School.

Two high schools in Clarksburg will have students teachers. David Armentrout, Joseph Duncan, and Sandra Given are teaching at Roosevelt-Wilson High School, while Helen Cunningham and Candace Johnson do their directed teaching at Victory High.

Stanley Bucklew was assigned to Jackson Junior High School in Vienna. Those assigned to Spencer High School were William Ball and Paul Taylor. Michael

INAUGURATION SET FOR APRIL 30

Dr. D. Banks Wilburn will be inaugurated as President of GSC on Friday, April 30. Classes will be dismissed in the afternoon to enable students to attend the event.

An inaugural luncheon for official delegates and invited guests will feature Dr. Paul A. Miller, President of West Virginia University, as guest speaker. After the luncheon, faculty members and representatives of the college will participate in an academic procession at the gymnasium.

Dr. Stuart H. Smith, President of Marshall University, will speak at 2:00 p.m., and the induction of Dr. Wilburn as President of GSC will follow. Mr. Charles H. Brown, President of the West Virginia Board of Education, is in charge of the induction.

The Inaugural Address will then be given by Dr. Wilburn, after which there will be a reception in the lounge of Women's Hall. The day's activities will end with the Inaugural Ball in the College Center at 9:00 p.m.

Dr. Wilburn replaces Dr. Harry B. Heflin as President of GSC. Inaugurated January 15, 1948, Dr. Heflin served until early in the 1964-65 school year. Dr. Wilburn has been performing the duties of President since that time.

Bush, Joyce Gross, Steven Summers, and Kenneth Wymer are all teaching at Weston High School and Weston Junior High School.

Three Attend Meet at Tech

The West Virginia Region of the Ohio Valley Province of the National Newman Club Federation held its spring regional convention at West Virginia Institute of Technology March 26-28. The GSC club had three representatives at this convention. They were Barry John, John Albright and Eleanor Martin.

The convention activities began Saturday morning with an explanation of the national and province organization of the Newman Club and how this organization was established for the purpose of educational, spiritual, and social advancement of the Catholic student on the secular campus.

Following this there was an open discussion of "What Newman means to me." At this time members and officers expressed their ideas on what they expect to attain through Newman.

Following lunch four speakers were heard by the delegates. First, two students from Wheeling College told about some social work they had done in parishes in the Wheeling diocese during the past summer. Then two parish priests spoke, one on the new liturgy and the other on ecumenism.

The last speaker was Dr. Nelson, president of the college, who spoke on "human concern." Saturday evening a social was held. The convention ended with a communion breakfast on Sunday.

Choir To Perform

The GSC choir will perform three numbers for the West Virginia Higher Educational Conference which meets here April 7, 8, and 9.

"It's an honor to be asked to sing," remarked Mr. Albert Johnson, director of the choir. "They are perhaps the most important audience we have ever sung to."

The choir's performance will be at the second general session of the conference, at 9:00, Thursday morning. They will sing "Our Father," by Gretchaninoff; "Deep River," a southern spiritual; and "I Believe," by Drake, Graham, Shirl, and Stilman. The last two numbers will feature solos by Paul Wigal, a senior choir member.

Methodist Students Attend Conference

Fifteen students from Wesley Foundation at GSC attended the spring conference of The Methodist Student Movement of West Virginia at Jackson's Mill, April 2-4. The theme for the conference was "The New Appalachia."

Addresses by guest speakers and group discussions were aimed at examining the present situation in this area and discovering the Church's role in the creation of a New Appalachia.

Students from Glenville who attended are Regina Boggess, Sharla Gladwell, Cheryl Fisher, Helen Cunningham, Joyce Wells, Bar-

Ohningohow Plans Opening Of Underground

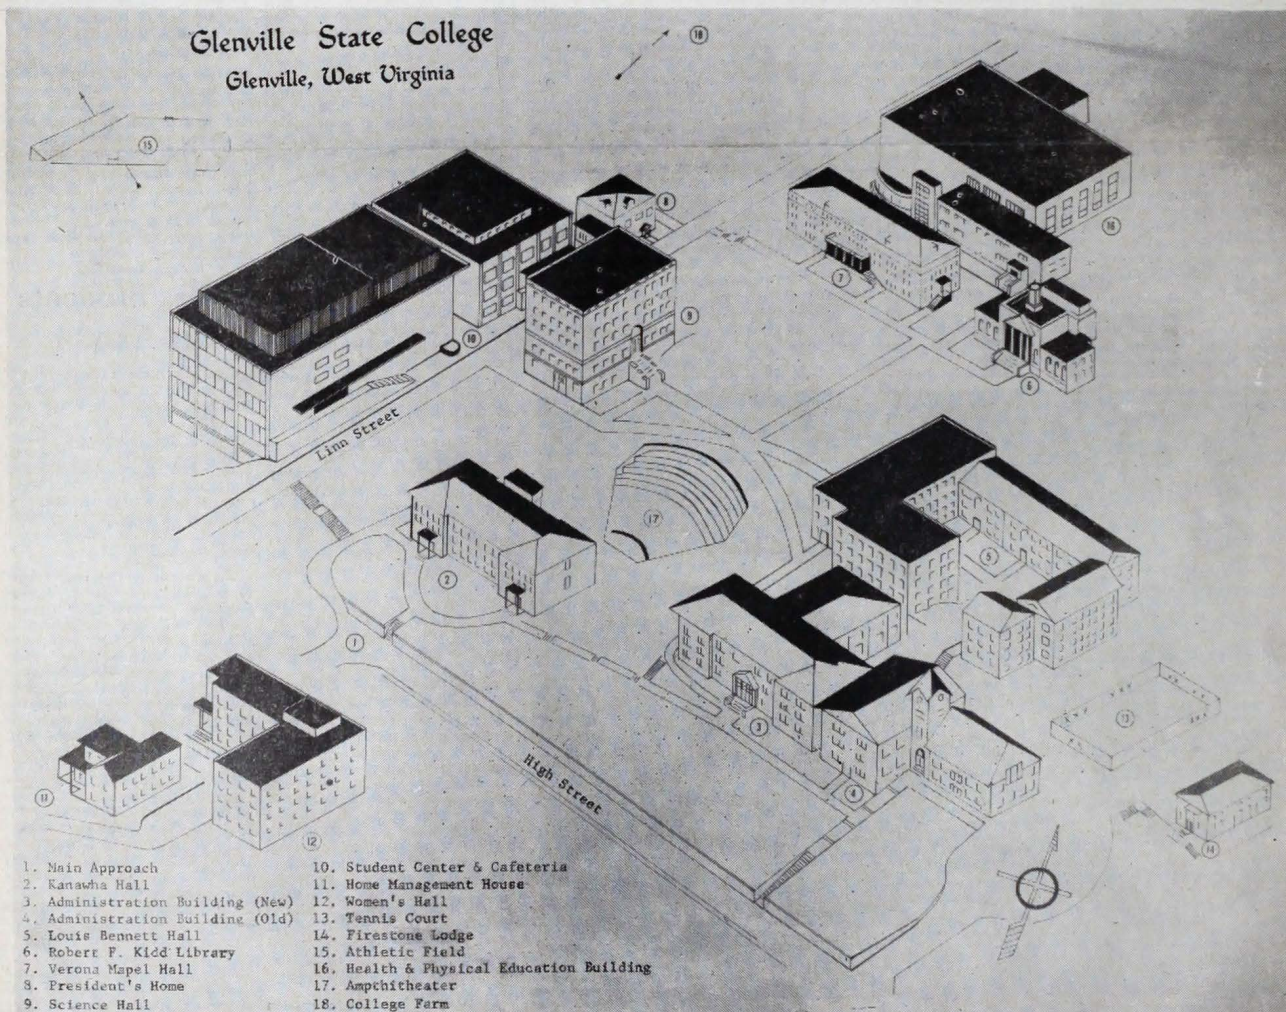

This year will mark the third year that Ohningohow Players have presented Theatre Underground in the basement of the Administration Building. But this series plans to be a different Underground show than seen in the past. President Wayman Johnson, joined by Harold Dougherty, Tom Hodges, Bill Monk, and Gene Nesbitt, will be this year's staff.

Many attractions will lure spectators to the experimental theatre—interpretive reading of popular music will be heard and discussed; a few one-act plays are in the planning; also a type of improvisational play called the Senerio will be given.

Tom Hodges has challenged anyone to debate on any topic taking any side. Tom's first debate will be against a surprise member of the faculty. As in the past years, improvisations, comedy monologues, and pantomimes will round out the show.

Theatre Underground will feature comedy from satire to slapstick. Ohningohow has set the date of opening tentatively after Easter and hopes to run Monday, Wednesday and Friday for about three to four weeks.
