The First Chamber Dance Quartet will appear here Feb. 21 for the Lyceum program.

Lyceum To Feature Dance Group, Artist

Dancing their way across the country in their initial transcontinental tour of the United States and Canada, the First Chamber Dance Quartet will perform on the GSC stage Feb. 21 at 8:00 p.m. This will be the third Lyceum program of the term.

Unlike so many dance groups of recent years, the First Chamber Dance Quartet is not composed of European performers. With members from Illinois, Oklahoma, Connecticut, and Kentucky, this group is truly "Made in the USA."

In 1960, three of the members—

Lois Bewley, Charles Bennett, and William Carter—made a joint appearance at the Casals Festival in Puerto Rico. They received such acclaim that they decided to form a small ensemble. With Nadine Revene as the fourth member of the group, the First Chamber Dance Quartet made its debut in New York the following year.

When Miss Revene accepted an offer of a position with the Bremen Opera Company in Germany, Janice Groman replaced her. Now, after being hailed as "Germany's most promising ballerina" for her performance in the classic ballet, "Swan Lake," Miss Revene has returned to this country and is appearing as guest artist with the group of which she was once a member.

GSC Fees Raised

Prior to the Christmas vacation, President D. Banks Wilburn presented the Student Council with two proposals which, if approved, would increase the student fees for the coming academic year. The Student Council felt that the nature of the proposals was such that the students should react to them. Therefore, a meeting of the student body will be scheduled for Feb. 16, at 10:10 a.m.

The proposals briefly are (1) to establish a yearbook fee which would result in a subscription for each full-time student, and (2) to assess a fee of not more than $2.00 per semester of each full-time student which would be used for matching purposes for the work-study and N. D. E. A. Loan Program.

During the past year, proposals for a yearbook fee have been presented several times to President Wilburn. Possibly, students' expressions on this proposal need to be made in a formal manner

Personal backgrounds of the members of the First Chamber Dance Quartet are quite diversified. For example, Lois Bewley, former member of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, Jerome Robbins' "Ballets USA," and the New York City Ballet companies, spent much of her early childhood on a race horse farm in her native Kentucky.

Charles Bennett used to mow neighbors' lawns back in Wheaton, Ill., to pay for his dancing lessons while William Carter grew up on a cattle ranch in Durant, Okla., but was touring as a dancer by the time he was 14. Janice Groman is the only "Yankee" in the group and she hails from New Britain, Conn., where she began to study dancing at a very early age. She has the distinction of being a member of the first dance troupe to go behind the Iron Curtain.

Miss Revene, the guest artist, was born in New York City, trained in Philadelphia, and has appeared throughout the United States, Europe and Russia. She has received offers of several Hollywood contracts but has refused each one. However, she appeared (Continued from Page 2)

Forty-Nine Students Teach Virtue Defeats Dastardly Attentions From Villain

Forty-nine GSC students are doing their student teaching in area schools this term. Directed teaching is a requirement for graduation with a degree in education, and at present, students are teaching in 15 high and junior high schools and in seven elementary schools.

At Buckhannon-Upshur High School, Sam White is teaching mathematics and art. White is a native of Belington. Sharon Meade from Elizabeth is teaching English and speech at Burnsville High School.

Calhoun County High school has three student teachers in Linda Bush, Rebecca Conley, and Ann Stalnaker. Mrs. Bush, an Elizabeth native, has classes in biology and English, while Mrs. Conley from Glenville teaches biology and home economics. Mrs. Stalnaker, also from Glenville, instructs English and home economics.

Fred Halbert teaches physical education and social studies at Franklin Jr. High School in his native Parkersburg, and Patricia Brown Core is teaching classes in home economics and is a teacher librarian at Gassaway High School. Mrs. Brown is from Summersville.

Four students are getting teaching experience at Glenville High School. Sue Murin from Parkersburg is instructing English and social studies classes, and Darrell Goff teaches physical education and social studies. Goff is from Guyssville, Ohio. James Patrick Lydon III and Mary Osburn Mullins are also at Glenville High School. Lydon, who is from Weston, is teaching mathematics and physical science, and Mrs. Mullins instructs business education.

At Normantown High School Larry Wolfe is teaching mathematics and English classes, and Patsy Brake from Canvas is instructing home economics at Roosevelt-Wilson High School.

With nine student teachers, Parkersburg High School has the greatest number. Loretta Dwell and Judith Musgrave are both natives of Parkersburg and both are teaching English and speech at

Will the dastardly villain, Lawyer Cribbs, purloin the Middleton house from young Edward? Will the marriage of Edward Middleton and Mary Wilson be dashed against the treacherous rocks of Lawyer Cribbs' deceitful lies? Will Lawyer Cribbs succeed in pressing his attentions on the unwilling Mary and win her by fair means or foul?

PHS. Teaching mathematics and biological science is Robert Butler from Normantown. Nila Rollins, who is from Drennen, instructs English and art classes, and Larry Gainer from Stumptown has social studies and mathematics. English and social studies are being taught by Johanna Coleman, and English and speech by Nancy Reed. Diana Camp is teaching mathematics and acting as teacher librarian while Carolyn Beam instructs business education.

Laine Turner from Weston is in physical education and social studies at Troy High School, and Frances Hays and Harold Riffle are at Victory High School. Mrs. Hays is a teacher librarian and has classes in English and Mr. Riffle is in charge of biology and social studies classes.

Social studies and business principles are taught by William Cottrill at Washington Irving High School, and Rose Ann Hoover has English and social studies classes at the same school. Miss Hoover is from Jane Lew, and Weston is the home of Cottrill.

Barbara Powers and Roberta Downs are in charge of physical education and social studies at Weston High School. Mrs. Powers is a native of Munhall, Pa., and Miss Downs is from Denton, Md. Three other teachers—Sharon Cole, Benjamin Henry Jr., and Betty Smith—are also at Weston. Mrs. Cole, who lives in Auburn, has classes in home economics and business occupations, and Henry gives instruction in business principles and social studies. Mrs. (Continued on Page 3) deeper into the foul clutches of demon rum? Will the maniac, Agnes Dowton, finally come to her senses and reveal where the true will is hidden?

Will good triumph over evil? The answers to these and other metaphysical questions will be answered tomorrow night in the GSC auditorium as the renowned Glenville State Players present their grand and gala production of The Drunkard, or The Fallen Saver.

Few will not be the better for having witnessed the uncompromising virtues of the heroine, Mary Wilson. And who will not henceforth eschew the vice of strong drink after seeing the pitiful degradation of our hero, Edward Middleton? And what man is so abject as not to recoil with horror at the evil machinations of the villain, Lawyer Cribbs?

The author of The Drunkard is unknown. The proprietor of the Boston Museum in 1844, ever ready to capitalize on a subject of general interest, decided that a drama to aid of efforts of the temperance movement would prove to be highly successful and would at the same time serve to publicize his establishment.

He engaged a literary gentleman to undertake the task. Unfortunately the result was far from theatrical though unquestionably of literary merit. The manuscript was therefore placed in the hands of Mr. W. H. Smith and was adapted by him for performance. It ran for one hundred forty performances that season.

The resurrection of this nineteenth century melodrama is, of course, not for the purpose of winning support for the temperance movement. Mr. Busch's production might be placed in a class with the current vogue of the "high-camp," of which Batman is a prime example. "Camp" is what The Drunkard is, and students may see the production tomorrow night beginning at 8:00 p.m., or on Friday or Monday night at the same time, by presenting their activity tickets at the door. Admission for others will be $1.00.

Five Remain In Contest

The five finalists for the MERCURY Cover Girl Contest were selected by the student body Feb. 1. Of the 14 candidates, Marilyn Sue Strickling, Judy Kay Newlon, Julia Ann Mackey, Gloria Jean Halbert and Cheryl Ellen Lee were chosen as finalists.

Miss Strickling, an elementary education major from St. Marys' was the sophomore princess in the 32nd annual Homecoming festivities and is a representative of Delta Zeta Sorority.

Miss Newlon, a sophomore representative of the Order of Diana, is an elementary-social studies major from Clarksburg.

Also selected was Miss Julia Mackey. Miss Mackey, a freshman, is a physical education major from Burnsville. She is representing the Majors Club.

Miss Gloria Halbert, the freshman princess at Homecoming is an elementary major sponsored by Verona Maple Hall. Miss Halbert is a freshman from Parkersburg.

Miss Cheryl Lee, a physical education major from Spencer, is a sophomore representing Alpha Sigma Alpha.

These five girls will be photographed for the final judging. The pictures will be presented to an impartial committee who will select the GSC Campus Cover Girl. The winner's photograph will be sent to Pittsburgh for the Pittsburgh Press Contest. She will then compete with girls from colleges in the surrounding states.

The GSC Cover Girl Finalists are Judy Newlon, Susie Strickling, Gloria Halbert, Julia Mackey, and Cheryl Lee. (MER-photo by Dougherty)

Delta Zeta Sorority Exhibits Local Talent

Delta Zeta Sorority presented its annual Extravaganza in the College auditorium. The show, which featured a variety of acts, opened with the Show theme, "Show

Time." Miss Sue Mortan, who served as the mistress of ceremonies, introduced the first act, a pantomime to the song "Happiness Is" which featured a few Delta Zeta pledges.

Miss Lois Burgess, accompanied by Stephanie McCully, sang "Dear Heart," a popular tune made famous by Andy Williams. Suzi Call was featured in a peppy Charleston dance routine to the tune of "Varsity Drag".

Debbie Deitz, another Delta Zeta pledge, demonstrated her baton twirling talents in a fast "rock" routine with a Spanish theme.

Anne Smith entertained the audience by singing two folk songs, "If I Had A Hammer" and "Dona Dona". She was later joined on stage by Lois Burgess and Karen Boston who led the audience in a three-part harmony song, "Whim o Weah."

All of the Delta Zeta actives and pledges assembled on the stage to sing, a capella, two songs from the hit movie, "Mary Poppins" "Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious!" and "Chim Chim Cher-ee."

In the later part of the program,

Mr. Robert "Woody" Wilson sang the story of "The Men in My Little Girl's Life." Shirley McIntyre, Patti Guzzie, Janet Gregory, Cheryl Nichols, and Becky James enacted the different ages of "Woody's daughter and Master Bill Lilly portrayed the grandson.

The grande finale, "Goodnight and Thank You", was performed by all the Delta Zeta's who saluted the audience and bid them a good evening with a bow.

Suzi Call was the director-chairman of the Extravaganza; Penny Sackett and Susie Strickling assisted her with programs and admissions.

THETA XI HAS WIPE-OUT HOP

Alan Stewart and John Sivak of Belle Vernon, Pennsylvania, emerged victorious from the Golden Gloves ring which was held in Charleston on Jan. 31. Both Stewart and Sivak were declared champions of their respective weight classes and Stewart was named as the most outstanding boxer of the four day tournament. Sivak is a member of the Glenville State Student Government Association and serves as president of the sophomore class.

Theta Xi sponsored its first dance of the new semester on Jan. 29 in the college ballroom. Music for "Winter Wipe-out" was furnished by the Monacos, a familiar dance band on the Glenville State Campus.

Although no one dislikes a heavy snow any more than the men in the Theta Xi house, the fraternity

ASA Initiates Twelve Pledges

On Jan. 29, the actives of Alpha Sigma Alpha gave a surprise breakfast in Louis Bennett Lounge for the pledges, Martha Horner, Ruth Conrad, and Sandy LeGrande were in charge of the breakfast. After the breakfast the pledges took their pledge test.

ASA holds its initiation in Louis Bennett Lounge on Jan. 29. Twelve girls were initiated: Diane Cochran, Pat Deal, Pam Gilmore, Carol Hauman, Carolyn Hudkins, Ann Lorentz Murphy, Grace Nocida, Jackie Pitts, Jo Ann Rogers, Ginger Sinnott, Becky Stalnaker, and Celeste White.

Four girls, Diana Fankhauser, Aine Gersner, Jo Ann Gray, and Becky Stephens, will be initiated at a later date. Following the initiation the Glenville Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha served refreshments to the sisters.

On Jan. 30 the older members of Alpha Sigma Alpha gave a tea in Louis Bennett Lounge in honor of the new members. All campus organizations were invited.

An officers' meeting was held on Jan. 31 at the home of Mrs. William Deel, ASA advisor. Plans were made for the Sweetheart Ball and a Friday night mix. The mix will be held in the Pioneer Center from 7:30 to 10:30 on Feb. 11. Jack Caldo from Weston will be the master of ceremonies for the evening. The Sweetheart Ball will be held on Saturday evening, Feb. 12, from 9:00 to 12:00. Dave and the Dynamics will play for the annual dance.

Feb. 4 and 5 the members of Alpha Sigma Alpha held their magazine drive in the downtown and residential districts of Glenville. Anyone wishing to subscribe to a magazine may still do so by contacting any Alpha Sig member.

The girls traveled to the Colon Anderson Center and held a party for their adopted boys on Feb. 6. Miss Williams and Miss Pickens, patronesses of Alpha Sigma Alpha, are giving the girls a Sweetheart Tea on Feb. 13 from 3:00 to 5:00.

The girls of Alpha Sigma Alpha plan to sit together at the last home basketball game and cheer for the Pioneers as a unit.

Second Coffee House In Planning Stage

Wesley Foundation will open its second coffee house Feb. 26. The W. F. social room will be candlelit while the audience is entertained by The Dominions, a skit by Fairmont students, Dave Lough, Jim White and others.

Dress for the informal affair is beatnik style. Admission will be 50c. Due to limited space only 100 tickets will be made available for sale. Tickets may be purchased from any Wesley Foundation member. Tickets should be obtained in advance.

did find a use for the recent snowfall. A sled riding party was held on Saturday, Jan. 29, on the hill bordering the house. The party was open to the public and several GSC students attended.

THIRD LYCEUM

in Broadway productions of "Call Me Madam" and "Music Man," and on one occasion she replaced Bambi Lynn in the New York City Center Light Opera Company's revival of "Carousel."

Choreographic honors are shared by the three original members of the group. Miss Bewley, Bennett, and Carter choreographed their entire repertoire, besides performing in it, and critics have observed that their talents in both capacities are extraordinarily impressive.

As if this were not enough, the Dance Quartet members also design and execute their own costumes. These costumes range from stunning period creations to present-day attire, all of which have been highly praised by press and audience alike.

Whether performing to the classical strains of Johann Sebastian Bach's "Capriccio," music by Dimitri Shostakovich, or to an electronic sound score, the First Chamber Dance Quartet has succeeded in capturing the spirit and imagination of American audiences from coast to coast. For example, John Voorhees of the Seattle Times declared: "Their program was a thoroughly engaging one, designed to show how many things you can do with contemporary dance. There was humor and there was drama and, above all, there was the pleasure of seeing four disciplined, well-trained human bodies dancing to a variety of music purveying a variety of moods. It added up to a dance program that was far more memorable than many of those by far larger companies."

Lyceum programs at GSC are open to the public, but students are admitted free of charge by presenting their activity tickets. Four such programs are presented each year, and this is the third in this year's series. The last of the Lyceum programs for the current year will feature the American Arts Trio, a string trio from West Virginia University, in April.

G.S.C. Falls Into Slump; Boys Win One, Lose Five

By BOB MARSHALL

The Glenville State College Pioneers seemed to have slipped into a slump in recent conference play. The Wave has played six games since the last publication of the Mercury winning one and losing five.

CONCORD

Friday evening, Jan. 14, the Pioneers traveled to Athens to meet the Concord Mountain Lions. The Wave jumped to an early lead and held it throughout the entire first half. At the end of the first quarter the Wave had a 22-12 lead and they progressively moved to a fine 50-35 lead. Bob Minnieweather was high point man for Glenville in the first half with 15 points.

The second half saw the Pioneers increase their lead 48 more points and take the tilt with a 98-84 decision. Bob Minnieweather was high point man with 28 points. Carlton Spicer and Eddie Johnston had 21 and 20 points respectively. Don Van Duesen was high point man for Concord with 17 points. Old Blue shot a fine 76% from the free throw line while the Mountain Lions shot 63%.

WEST VIRGINIA TECH

The following Saturday evening the Pioneers went north to Montgomery to meet the West Virginia Tech, Golden Bears. This was the second time these teams had met this season and both tilts proved fatal to GSC's record. The first quarter saw both teams matching shot for shot and the score stood 14-13 in favor of Tech. The second quarter saw GSC pull ahead and grab a 34-33 half time lead. Bob Minnieweather led the Wave's second quarter comeback by scoring 12 points in eight minutes.

The third quarter saw both teams trying to build a lead but neither could seem to do so as the third quarter ended 50-50. Tech turned on the steam in the fourth quarter and thus managed their 78-69 victory. Bob Minnieweather was again high pointer for the Wave with 23 points. Steve Spicer and Gary Blake turned in 13 and 10 points respectively. Herbert Carpenter was high point man for Tech with 29 points. GSC shot a fine 77% from the free throw line while the Golden Bears shot 68%.

W. VA. WESLEYAN

Monday evening Jan. 24, the Pioneers traveled to Buckhannon to meet the West Virginia Wesleyan Bobcats. This was the third time these two teams met this year and in both previous engagements the Pioneers had emerged victorious. This time the Bobcats were fired up and determined not to be beaten.

The first quarter saw GSC jump to a quick lead under the fine shooting of Bob Minnieweather who fired for 13 points in the first quarter. At the end of the first quarter of play the Wave led 18-13. The second quarter saw the Bobcats make a real come-back as they grabbed a 41-38 half time lead. The second half saw Wesleyan building their lead still further and taking the 91-71 conference victory. Bob Minnieweather and Jim Archer were high point men for Glenville with 27 and 10 points respectively. Mickey Reeves was high for Wesleyan with 29 points.

FAIRMONT

Thursday evening Jan. 27 the Fairmont Falcons invaded the health building for an eight o'clock contest with the Pioneers. Fairmont at this time was ranked second in the conference ratings, next to Morris Harvey, the number one team.

The first quarter of play saw neither team able to build a substantial lead as the score stood 24-22 in favor of Fairmont. In the second quarter of play Falcon "hot shot" Bill Moody found the rim and Fairmont began building a lead. Moody made good for 19 points in the first half and thus greatly helped the Falcon's grab their 47-39 half time advantage.

In the second half Bill Miller, another Falcon "hardwood ace" began to take life. He found daylight and dropped in 16 big points in the second half. The second half also saw GSC hampered as freshman guard Jim Archer took a bad fall and dislocated his shoulder. The Falcons proved they weren't to be stopped as they flew to a 107-80 victory. Miller and Moody massed a total of 75 points as Moody had 41 and Miller 34 points. Glenville's ace for the evening was Bob Minnieweather who had 21 points. Carlton and Steve Spicer teamed up and shot for 14 and 13 points respectively.

WEST LIBERTY

Friday afternoon Jan. 28, the Pioneers headed north for a full weekend of action. Friday evening they met the West Liberty Hilltoppers and Saturday evening

4-H Chooses Foster Country

At a recent meeting, the Glenville Collegiate 4-H Club adopted a country. After hearing reports on several different countries where Peace Corps workers are stationed, the group chose Pakistan as their foster nation.

Club members will write to Peace Corps workers in Pakistan and ask them for suggestions as to what the group can do to help some of the people of the country.

The idea for this action was presented by Sharla Gladwell, secretary of the club. Miss Gladwell attended National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago recently.

Another project of the Glenville Collegiate 4-H Club is an attempt to organize the junior leaders of Gilmer County into an organization much like the Pinwearers.

FORTY-NINE STUDENTS

Smith, a Richwood native, teaches biology and English.

Hamilton Junior High School is where Betty Mathes teaches physical education and English, and Edward Coon has art classes at Jackson Junior High School.

In elementary schools, Linda Mahan and Kristine Fulmer have third and fourth grades at Criss Elementary School, and Joyce Ward and Lois Stukeley are teaching first and sixth grades at Fairplanes Elementary.

At Glenville Elementary School Patricia Cavendish and Joyce Edens are teaching first and fifth grades while Orville Harper has third and sixth. Christina Pancake and Kathleen Gibson are in charge of second and a combination of fourth and sixth grades.

Loretta Dwellle is teaching first grade at McKinley School and Edward Coon is teaching art at the Vienna Elementary. Both Miss Dwellle and Coon are also teaching on the secondary level in order to receive a public schools certificate valid for grades one through 12.

At Weston Central Elementary School, Hermiz Wanema and Regina Boggess have charge of grades two and five. Riley Thompson teaches fourth grade there, while Mike Seckman has third and sixth.

they were in Wheeling for a game with Wheeling College. The Pioneers had trouble in getting their offense rolling against the Hilltoppers as West Liberty took a 20-14 lead in the first quarter of play. The second quarter saw the same type of play as West Liberty headed by Ray Barnhart built a 41-30 half time lead. Barnhart picked up 14 points in the first half.

The Wave got their offense in second gear in the third quarter as they matched West Liberty's point for the period 19-19. The final stanza saw "old Blue" out score the Hilltoppers 27-20 and made a bid for a fourth quarter win but time ran out and left the score against the Pioneers 80-74. Once again it was Bob Minnieweather leading Glenville's scoring column with 24 points. Behind Bob were Carlton Spicer with 15 points and Steve Spicer with 11.

WHEELING

The next evening Saturday, Jan. 29, the Wave met Wheeling College for the first time this season. Wheeling struck fast with a well balanced attack and grabbed a 22-17 advantage in the first quarter of play. The second quarter saw Glenville recover fast and outscore Wheeling 22-14 in the second quarter. With the eight point advantage in the second quarter the Wave was able to take a 41-36 half time lead. The third quarter of play was much like the first quarter as Wheeling outscored the Pioneers 25-18. Wheeling became even more determined not to drop this conference game as they outscored the Wave again in the final stanza 19-13 and thus took the 81-72 win. Bob Minnieweather led the Pioneers with 24 points. Freshman Ralph Dunkle played his last game of the season, and made good for 15 points. Close behind Dunkle, was Steve Spicer, who has been doing a fine job this year, with 14 points. Ron Gage was high pointer for Wheeling with 26 points.

Tuesday evening, February 1, the Pioneers were to have played Alderson-Broaddus for the second time this season, but the game was postponed due to bad weather conditions. Friday evening, Feb. 4, the Wave met Wheeling College at Glenville, but results of the game were not available as the Mercury went to press.

Marshall Attacks High School Jackets

In recent weeks much concern has been expressed to me, as sports editor, about the number of college men wearing high school jackets on campus. The wearing of these jackets is a sign of these men still trying to live in high school dreams, customs, and traditions.

Glenville State College has its own well established customs and traditions as well as these various high schools. One of our traditions here has been that if any man wishes a varsity sports jacket he should participate in one of the numerous athletic events offered here. If the man is good enough in his particular sport to earn his letter for two consecutive years, he will then be awarded one of our own Varsity "G" Club jackets. These are the only varsity sports jackets that hold any meaning on our campus.

Men, let's stop living in a high school dream world, and start proving ourselves as representative college men.

Stewart, Sivak Win; Team Scores 15-3

Among the athletic events of recent weeks was the Kanawha-Boone's Sheriffs Associations Golden Gloves boxing tournament. The event was held January 28-31 at the Charleston Civic Center. Several men from Glenville formed a team, practiced and went to the tournament under the name of Glenville State College. GSC's self made team compiled a 15-3 record in four days and received a tremendous amount of praise and publicity from the boxing authorities in the Charleston area.

The team and their managers were as follows: Alan Stewart, John Sivak, Emil Hoffman, Harold J. Price, Dave Meadows, Jim Keister, David Back, and Mike Murphy. Bill Casto and Steve Kee were the team managers. Back and Murphy are not GSC students but they were asked by the boxing commission to fight on the GSC team.

These boys financed their trip and boxing expenses entirely on their own. Estimated costs for the four day tournament was 50 dollars per man. Alan Stewart was the only open fighter. An open fighter is one who has competed in five or more fights. Stewart fought in two matches winning both. He won the first match by decision and the championship bout by a technical knock out. Stewart was feather-weight open champion and also was awarded the most outstanding boxer.

John Sivak fought three matches, winning the first by decision, the second by a TKO and the championship bout by a TKO in 1:37 in the second round. Emil Hoffman participated in two bouts. Hoffman won the first match by default but dropped the second by decision. Harold Price fought in one bout and lost by decision. Dave Meadows competed in two fights winning the first by default, and losing the second by split decision.

Jim Keister had only one bout and he won it by decision. Keister was unable to continue on when he caught a punch after the closing bell that broke his nose. Dave Back a native of Charleston and a student at Morris Harvey had four bouts winning all four. The first two wins were on T. K. O.'s the third by default and the championship bout was won by decision. Mike Murphy a student from West Virginia University had three bouts winning all three. Murphy won all three bouts by decision.

We of the Mercury extend our congratulations to these boys for a fine job, and for a fine representation of the school.

RHODES, MICK JOIN FACULTY

The Majors Club has announced that they are planning a sports day. West Liberty and other colleges will be invited to participate in intramural sports.

The physical education dept. is now in a period of adjustment over the loss of two vital personnel. Roberta Downs has left to do her student teaching at Weston High School. Brenda Shedaker was recently married and has recently withdrawn from the college.

The physical education dept. has two new members this semester. Miss Sandra Mick and Mrs. Alicia Lu Rhodes are replacing Mrs. Christian Bush. She has resigned to continue studying for an M. A. degree.

Miss Mick, a 1965 graduate is teaching several phy. ed. classes as well as coaching the basketball team.

Mrs. Lu Rhodes, an alumna of G.S.C. also, has specialized in physical education and social studies. Although she is a busy wife and mother of two children, she is also secretary for the Alumnae Sorority of A.S.A.

Civil Service Interviews Are Held

V. T. Handley, manager of the Social Security Administration's district office in Clarksburg, will visit our campus today. The purpose of Mr. Handley's visit is to interview seniors who may be interested in federal employment.

On this visit Mr. Handley will represent the Civil Service Commission and its continuing interest in recruiting qualified seniors to take the Federal Service Entrance Examination.

Interviews will be held on a "drop in" basis in Room 202 of the student center beginning at 10:00 a.m. today. Federal Service Examination given this past Jan. 15 is not required for this interview.

Representatives of the West Virginia Civil Service System are also on campus today to interview and examine graduating seniors who are interested in state employment in social work, welfare, and related fields. Work experience is not necessary for qualification. Interviews will be held in the morning and examinations given during the afternoon beginning at 1:00 p.m. Special arrangements may be made for students with class conflicts.

Superintendents Hold Interviews

During the latter part of February and March there will be six county school superintendents on campus to interview seniors interested in teaching positions in their counties. Students interested in an appointment for an interview should contact Mrs. Surgeon in Dean Somerville's office.

Visits of these representatives are scheduled as follows: Mr. T. A. Lowery, Jefferson County Schools, Feb. 21, 9:00 a.m.—2:00 p.m.; Mr. Sherrill Wilson, Marshall County Schools, Feb. 22, 9:30 a.m.

Sixteen Students Receive Degrees

Sixteen students are scheduled to complete the course requirements for a degree at Glenville State College on Jan. 21, 1966, according to an announcement made by Dr. Delmer K. Somerville, Dean.

Those who will complete requirements for an A.B. degree in Education are: Miss Mary Catherine Benson, Weston, commerce (occupational and principles); Thomas Wesley Braun, St. Marys, social studies and physical education; Miss Connie Sue Chapman, Parkersburg, mathematics and physical science; Miss Judith Ann Cottrell, Parkersburg, elementary; Mrs. Shirley Eakins Davis, Mineral Wells, English and social studies.

John Francis Dolan, Orlando, physical education and social studies; Mrs. Mary Brannon Greenleaf, Glenville, elementary; Mrs. Joyce Ann McCarty Law, Jane Lew, music—grades 1-12; Miss Sandra Mick, Walkersville, mathematics and physical education; Miss Victoria Kay Reale, Glenville, library science and social studies.

James Earl Rogers, Flatwoods, social studies and physical education; Roger Lee Smith, Burnsville, art and biological science; Mrs. Roanna McKee Stump, Grantsville, elementary; Mrs. Joan Ward Hunt, Nettie, English and social studies; and Miss Loreta Sue Wray, Apple Grove, vocational home economics, art 7-9.

Edwin M. Bond, Roanoke, will complete the requirements for a Bachelor of Arts degree in business administration.

—4:00 p.m.; Mr. George M. Wood, Jr., Wetzel County Schools, Feb. 22, 9:30 a.m.—4:30 p.m.; Mr. Maurice A. Dunkle, Calvert County Schools, Prince Frederick, Md., March 1, 9:00—11:50 a.m.; Mr. John H. Bloom, Charles County Schools, Laplata Md.; March 2, 9:00—11:30 a.m.; and Mr. Emerson B. Lindamood, Lorain Public Schools, Lorain, Ohio, March 2, 2.

Fogus Added to Staff

Dr. D. Banks Wilburn, president of Glenville State College, announces that Donald L. Fogus has been appointed as director of Wood Utilization Training Programs and instructor in adult education. Mr. Fogus, who is a native of White Sulphur Springs in Greenbrier County, will be working cooperatively with the state department of vocational-technical and adult education and Glenville State College.

Fogus will be cooperating with Mr. Walden Roush in community development in wood industry and related programs. He will be responsible for developing a program to upgrade the wood industry through adult education training programs.

Already in session are lumber grading courses in the Elkins area. Anticipated in this program will be assistance in log grading, planing mill operations, dimension mill production, chain saw clinics, and other training programs which will assist the wood industry.

For the past five years Mr. Fogus has been employed by the Cooperative Extension Service as extension forester prior to his appointment at Glenville College.

In his former position as extension forester, he worked with wood industry training programs and other promotional and education programs in the Elkins area.

During the time Fogus was employed as extension forester, he served on the sub-committee of education of the governor's wood utilization conference, executive secretary of the West Virginia Sawmill Operators Association for one year, chairman of the forest activities committee of the Forest Festival, member of the exhibits committee of the Forest Festival, member of a six-county area advisory committee on Forestry, member of a sub-committee of the Elkins Industrial Development Association, and acting editor of the West Virginia Forest Production News.

Fogus' work experience includes: forest management recommendations, tree planting, logging equipment demonstrations, promotion of tree farm program, rural area and industrial development, working with 4-H camps and fish hatcheries.

Mr. Fogus is well educated in his field. He earned a Master of Science degree in Extension Education, a certificate of completion of course in hardwood lumber grading, and a Bachelor of Science degree in Forest Management.

Mr. Fogus is married to the former Nellie Hamrick, also of White Sulphur Springs, and has three daughters.

He served two years with the United States Army during the Korean War.

Mr. Fogus was formerly employed as superintendent at Cedar Creek State Park near Glenville. He also worked as field forester for the A. S. C. S.

Mr. Fogus states that working through the Board of Education he hopes to establish seminars or workshops in Glenville for any interested persons. Certificates will be given with each completed course.

The new program director would be delighted to discuss this program with anyone desiring additional information. Interested persons may call or write Glenville State College or visit with Mr. Fogus in Room 103 of the Administration Building.

GSC FEES ARE

before the Student Council takes any action.

The need for matching funds for the loan and work-study programs is becoming greater each year. The total amount of such funds necessarily must become larger as the enrollment increases.

However, the sources of local funds, such as gifts from alumni and friends of the college are not sufficient to maintain the levels of operation which are needed. A modest fee, in which all full-time students would participate, may be one means of providing the funds which aid many students who could not otherwise attend our college.

GSC Students, Ward Enjoy Deep Snowfall

By DENNIS MYERS
At the time of this writing snow is still falling in West Virginia and has been on and off—mostly on—for the past two weeks.

The snow cover began on January 22. The weekend seemed ruined. Theta Xi's skiing party at Black Water Falls had been cancelled. The reason: lack of snow. Those few students who stayed on campus after finals were bored by the let-down of non-activity. There was absolutely nothing to do.

Then conditions began to change. The cloud cover began to move in, putting an end to the crisp and cold sunshine that had marked the last day of finals. The snow followed in large amounts.

Suddenly there was activity everywhere. By 7:30 p.m. over eleven inches had accumulated and winter sports began to thrive. Verona Maple lawn was the center for much of the activity. Skinny Minnie weather was elected the "high authority" for a band of faithful snow-worshipping students. He selected about three smaller men and began to increase his following by demanding that all his flock must believe that the "high authority" regulates all activity in the snow. And so it was.

Girl after girl fell face-first into the snow (more often than not with some assistance) to demonstrate their "belief." After two hours of these follies the cult was abandoned in favor of sleigh riding. Of course, sleds were scarce—few students being able to afford to keep one on campus—and plastic, borrowed from a nearby construction site, was substituted.

Out of plastic, the next raid was made on the cafeteria, which, without the vaguest idea of why, loaned their trays to the students. About thirty students slid down the hill and ran up again like yo-yos. As many as seventeen at a time piled on a large sheet of plastic for the ride, though those at the outer edges were sliding without benefit of plastic by the time they reached the bottom of the hill.

On Sunday everything went as before except that the girls of Firestone Lodge made up a kettle of hot chocolate and a pan of brownies to serve to those who would come to the lodge for them.

It has also been rumored—though by a very reliable source—that Dr. Max Ward was seen sliding with a group of students down the hill by Women's Hall. Be that as it may, our erstwhile photographer did catch the biologist in the company of his sled. This was, however, before grades came out and Dr. Ward's relative safety still assured. When confronted by an envious onlooker, Dr. Ward answered her by saying, "I'm only trying to act my age."

Mrs. Pest reports being besieged day and night by students with injuries and colds, but the morale seems to be running high. If the snow continues much longer, Glenville may never be found again until the Spring thaw.
