Women's Hall Open House Slated Dec. 11

Women's Hall will be ringing with festive greetings on Sunday, Dec. 11 at an open house from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend this annual event where they will be able to see the new fifth and sixth floors and the recently furnished penthouse lounge. This will be the first open house since the new addition.

A large tree for which each woman is asked to donate one Christmas tree bulb will be in the first floor lounge, and members of the Women's Hall Choir will entertain visitors by caroling.

The girls on each of the six floors will decorate that floor, carrying out one main theme. A prize will be awarded for the most original. Each room is also responsible for a decoration for their individual doors which also carries out the floor theme. A prize will also be given to the women whose door is decorated best.

Dramatists Entertain

Christmas is in the air. Streets are ringing with the excitement of the approaching holiday season. J. Rodney Busch, as a special treat for the children, will direct "The Smallest One" to add a bit of spice to the faculty's children's Christmas party.

The cast consists of several members of Ohnimgohow Players and interested students in the play production class. The cast is as follows: Narrator, Larry Hall; Old Woman, Paula Cottle; Pablo, Dennis Myers; Father, Dick Dawson; his son, Dave Bennett; Auctioneer, Thomas Carter; Joseph, Jim Williams; Mary, Karen Frame; the guard, Gary Farnsworth; and a crowd, Mrs. Margaret Douglas, Sharon Yoak, Bob Marshall, and Linda Lester.

The Dec. 15 presentation will be done in the round with the audience viewing from all sides.

As the play opens, Pablo, a small boy of 10 years, is upset with his stubborn donkey. An old woman, awakened by the boy's screams of anger, begins to explain the importance of this "fine animal." The story of an old, unhappy donkey who was to be sold to the tanner is related in the rest of the action. The love of a small boy for his unfortunate beast sends the donkey on a most important journey—the journey with Mary and Joseph to Bethlehem.

The donkey will exist in imagination only, but the audience will be filled with very imaginative children as "visions of sugarplums dance through their heads."

Notice to all faculty and college personnel:

Bowling lanes will soon be open and anyone interested in forming a bowling team for league competition should contact Coach William Douglas.

Rev. David Kidd

THANKSGIVING ASSEMBLY FEATURES REV. DAVID KIDD

In an all-campus Thanksgiving assembly yesterday at 10:10, Rev. David L. Kidd spoke on "Thankful for What?" using Psalm 19 as his text. Rev. Kidd, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Glenville, attended Alderson-Broadus College and graduated from Marshall University in 1963. In 1966 he graduated from Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, Pa. with a B. D. degree. He was ordained by the Baptist Temple in Parkersburg in May of this year, and became minister of First Baptist Church of Glenville in September.

The assembly began with a performance given by the GSC Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Mr. Robert Ellis. They sang three numbers: Old Hundred, Psalm Tune, by Vaughn-Williams; No Man Is An Island arranged by Pingwald; and Roots and Leaves by Williams. This was followed by the singing of "We Gather Together" and "Now Thank We All Our God" by the entire assembly. Paula Cottle, a speech major from Spencer delivered a Thanksgiving monologue. The scripture was then read by Dr. Delmer K. Somerville, who introduced the speaker for the morning's program.

The Campus Religious Council, recently reorganized, was in charge of this year's assembly. The CRC is a coordination organization of all religious groups on campus. The officers are as follows: president, Carol Kessler; vice-president, Dennis Myers; secretary, Grace Nocida; treasurer, Bonnie Smith; and publicity chairman, Vera Hatcher. Mr. John James is the advisor of the organization.

New Weekend Hours Observed For Union, Game Room Opening

Mr. Silas Hicks, Student Union Director, announces to members of the faculty and all students that the Student Union is now observing new weekend hours. The Union now opens at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Game Room hours have also been clarified by Mr. Hicks. The Game Room is open from 2:30 - 10:00 p.m. on Monday through Thursday, 2:30 - 11:00 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and 2:30 - 5:30 p.m. on Sunday and re-opens at 7:00 to 10:00 p.m.

Centrex Is Given Negative Nod

The decision was made in the College Council on Nov. 7 not to have telephones put in the dormitory rooms.

One of the factors involved was the students' vote. The cost was also considered as the fees would be raised to include the cost and this would not be good.

The Council which is comprised of administrative personnel considered two possibilities. One is to put Centrex in the faculty and administrative offices. The other is to expand the present telephone system. The C & P Telephone Co. gave the council an estimate of putting Centrex in the offices.

'ESSENCE OF THANKSGIVING IS UNDERSTANDING, WORTH OF DAILY LIVING EXPERIENCE'

Thanksgiving is a quality of living which should be a daily experience. During every moment of each day, there are happenings for which we should give thanks, but unfortunately too frequently we do not attach the proper significance to them. Often we take for granted the wondrous beauty of nature, the warm greetings of acquaintances and friends, the concern for our welfare which those who love us have. The ability to learn, to perceive, to solve problems in every area of human knowledge is a wondrous gift that each of us has, though the capacity varies widely among persons.

To relate further that for which there should be much thanksgiving seems unnecessary. So as we pause formally to give thanks this Thanksgiving Day, let it be a time of recognizing more clearly and surely that the essence of thanksgiving is to be found in the understanding and the worth that we attach to the experiences of daily living.

Cordially yours,
D. Banks Wilburn
President

Time For Thanks Thanksgiving Day

"Whew! Thank heavens for that," is the expression being heard all over campus concerning term grades. Many students are thankful for the grades they received, feeling that they got a break.

The term seemed to end right at the correct time for being thankful, for this is the time of year to be grateful for so many blessings.

Thanksgiving comes this time each year and many of the students are thankful because this is the first time since Sept. 6 that they have had an opportunity to go home for a few days. Thanks should not be given for the fact that we are going home from college, but for the fact that we are college students and that we do have a home to go to.

The first Thanksgiving seems too far in the past to remember. We all know the story of the Indians and Pilgrims giving their thanks to the Lord at Plymouth Rock. Ever since that day, we have been celebrating the last Thursday of each November to offer our thanks to God.

November 24, 1966, is not enough time for us Americans to offer our thanks to the Lord for all of our blessings. There have been many changes in America since that first Thanksgiving for us to be thankful for. America has received her independence, survived two world wars, made continuous progress in science until now we are shooting for the moon, and America has continued to grow more intelligent through education in our school system. These, however, are only a few of the many things for which we Americans should be thankful. The most important blessing we have is the fact that we are free to worship, express our opinions, and live as we wish.

Let us all strive to really count our blessings at Thanksgiving and make this Thanksgiving the most happy of all.

All of us at the MERCURY office would like to extend to all of our readers best wishes for a really happy and thankful Thanksgiving.

Lit. Society Discusses 3 Short Stories

On November 20 three short stories selected from Best Short Stories of the Modern Age edited by Douglas Angus, were discussed at the Literary Society meeting. "A Rose for Emily" by Faulkner, "The Metamorphosis" by Kafka, and "The Wall" by Sartre were analyzed and criticized, each by a different leader.

Literary Society is not only for English majors. The attendance has greatly increased at the recent meetings. New members are always welcomed at the meetings on the third Sunday of every month in the old Louis Bennett lounge at 3:00 p.m.

Tom Jones by Henry Fielding will be discussed at the December meeting. Ralph H. Singleton in his introduction to the Washington Square Press edition said, "Tom Jones is the warmly human tale of one man's search for happiness." Copies of the English novel are available in the bookstore for ninety cents.

DELTA ZETA'S HOLD PARTIES, TEAS FOR RUSH

As a friendly campus gesture, the Theta Xi Chapter of Delta Zeta Sorority delivered Halloween pumpkins to President D. Banks Wilburn, Theta Xi Fraternity; Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity and Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority on Oct. 31.

The women have made several improvements in the sorority house. Recently, over the term break some members of the Theta Xi Fraternity "pitched in" and helped paint the hallways.

The initial event of Rush Week was a Joint Sorority Tea which was held in the ballroom on Sunday, Nov. 13, from 2 until 4 p.m. The Delta Zeta's were in charge of the refreshments. The interested girls attended this tea in order to receive invitations to the informal and formal parties.

The Delta Zeta informal parties were held Nov. 16. The first party was at 6:15 and the second was at 8:15 p.m. The formal parties were held Nov. 17 at the sorority house. The girls attended by invitation only. They also held a ribbon ceremony and coke party on Nov. 18 for the new pledges.

Williams, is teaching at Sutton High School.

A total of 15 students are enrolled in directed teaching this term. Mr. Nelson Wells, associate professor of education, and Mr. James R. Brown, assistant professor of education, will be supervising those students working in secondary fields. Those in elementary education will be supervised by Mrs. Jean Adams, assistant professor of education, and Mr. John E. James, assistant professor of education.

TKE Smoker Attracts 75; 2 Members Attend Confab

Iota Omega Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity held its informal smoker, Nov. 11 in the old Louis Bennett Hall lounge. The affair was attended by 75 young men who expressed an interest in pledging TKE. Talks were given by Prytanis Page Shanklin and advisers, Mr. George Lucas and Mr. Larry Smith. The theme of the talks was the expansion and purposes of the overall Greek system. Afterwards the men adjourned to the TKE fraternity house where refreshments were served and discussions were held on the various phases of fraternity life.

A party for the members of the Order of Diana will tentatively be held on Dec. 9, and the TKE closed party is being planned for Dec. 10.

John Pease and Bill McMillan, members of Iota Omega chapter of TKE, attended the annual Ohio Valley Leadership Conference held on Nov. 11-12 at the Ohio University Inn in Athens.

More than 150 undergraduate members of TKE, representing 25 TKE chapters in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, gathered for discussions, lectures, and conferences on important phases of the organization's operations.

Seminars and discussion groups were staged on pledge education, public relations and community service, housing, membership selection, alumni programs, and chapter management.

Featured guests for the occasion included Bruce B. Melchert of Indianapolis, Executive Secretary of the national organization; William Quallich of Cleveland, national treasurer; Dr. William V. Muse of Athens, province supervisor of Northern Ohio; and D. Gene Ballard of Charleston, province supervisor for West Virginia.

COFFEE HOUSE ON WF AGENDA

Plans are underway for a second Coffee House to be held on Dec. 3 by the Wesley Foundation. Candlelight, peanuts, and burlap-covered tables will once again provide the atmosphere for varied entertainment of folksingers, dramatic presentations, bands, and comedy monologues.

Wesley Foundation began the second term with a program entitled "An Inside View of the Peace Corps" by Miss Ann Kellerman. Miss Kellerman taught in the Philippine Islands for two years shortly after the Peace Corps was organized.

A Thanksgiving worship service led by Vera Hatcher was presented on Nov. 20.

MAJORS' CLUB NAMES PLEDGES

Women, can you imagine not speaking to males from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.? This was one of the requirements for pledges of Major's Club during informal initiation week, Nov. 14-17.

Each of the 14 pledges were required to carry some sort of sports equipment each day and to wear unmatched shoes, except to the evening meal at which time they were required to wear heels. All the pledges wore name tags saying they were candidates for membership in Major's Club. A half hour of exercises was conducted on Verona Mapel Lawn by the chairman for initiation, Carla Davis.

Each pledge had to obtain the name of all standing members and carry food trays and water to all established members.

On Thursday evening the pledges presented a skit for the established members. Connie Deem was in charge.

Formal initiation will be the first part of the fourth term.

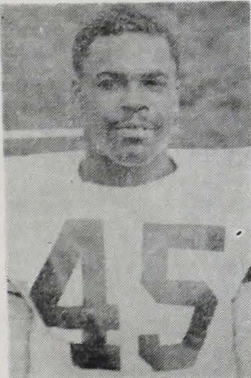

All pledges who complete the requirements are considered pledge members.

Pioneers Defeat Tech, Lose to Westminster

By SAM HALSTEAD

Glenville gave the Westminster eleven-strong opposition right down to the final gun.

Early in the first quarter Glenville's Marcus McPhail flipped a flare pass to tailback Tom Haught for a score that covered 80 yards.

Then Westminster bounced back with a 19-yard scoring pass from Smitty Cornell to Charles Kurz. The second quarter belonged to Westminster as they scored two touchdowns. Paul Smargiasso scored both times from distances of two and five yards. At half time the score was 21-7 in favor of Westminster.

Starting the second half, Westminster was on defense and stayed on defensive the remainder of the game. Glenville scored a T.D. in the third quarter with McPhail throwing four yards to Haught. The fourth quarter was scoreless and Westminster won 21-14. Bill Frost kicked two extra points for Glenville while Westminster's Ryan Wheeler kicked three extra points.

Members of the two teams are as follows: Team I—Karen Brown, Captain, Kathy Roten, Julia Mackey, Ellie Taylor, Janet Cochran, Jane Brown, Becky Miles, Barbara Whiting, Kay Huff, Phyllis Lamm, Anne Gerstner. W. Va. Tech Game

The Golden Bears of W. Va. Tech were dropped in their tracks (very muddy tracks) by the sharpshooting Pioneers of Glenville to the score of 14-9.

In the first quarter, Glenville scored on a quick sweep by John Noland around the left end of Glenville's line. The score covered 28 yards with Bill Frost kicking the extra point to make the score 7-0. During the second quarter, an alert defensive play by Steve Seals gained the Pioneers a second T.D. Seals picked up a Tech fumble and returned it to the Tech goal 85 yards away with Frost adding the extra point. At half-time, the score

A. Rauch Reviews 'Fantasticks' Musical

By MR. ALBERT RAUCH

The fantastic world of "The Fantasticks" appeared on the Glenville State College campus, Nov. 9, 10, 11, and 14, but the tunes and the situations of the play linger on. J. Rodney Busch and the entire cast and crew of the production are to be commended for adding a "touch of spice" to college life.

When songs like "Try to Remember," "Much More," "I Can See It," and "Plant a Radish" are sung by people with an interest and quite a lot of experience in dramatics, a show cannot go too far wrong.

Woody Wilson as El Gallo entered the auditorium and set the tone and mood for an evening of dream-like reverie with the song "Try to Remember." Woody also performed his role as bandit and narrator with the needed finesse.

The sometimes innocent Louisa, Ella Maxwell, presented the almost typical female approach to growing up by combining voice and expression into the song "Much More" and many other melodies throughout the play.

Matt, played by Dave Bennett, expressed the male point of view toward life well in "I Can See It." To Matt's disappointment the world was not quite as exciting as he thought it would be, for "the world happened" to him.

While the love affair between Matt and Louisa took a temporary turn for the worse, the fathers—Bellomy, Jim White, and Hucklebee, Pat Kerr—were able to join forces in an appreciation of their gardens in the rousing tune "Plant a Radish." These two monarchs of skulduggery frequently combined song and dance to enliven the action of the play, and were competent in both aspects of their roles.

Two spicy characters Henry, Larry Hall, and Mortimer, Gary Farnsworth, were just that—spicy. Shakespeare must be doing flips in his grave that Mortimer performed while dying "for the man," particularly since Henry merely attempted to quote the Bard. One cannot help wondering if Mortimer will ever recover from the wounds sustained after he fell from the stage for days and weeks preceding the actual presentation.

A character who had nothing to say or to sing the entire evening, the Mute, Dave Lough, cannot be underestimated in importance to the play, because he was always present when a necklace, a wall, or a sword was needed.

Under the direction of Robert Ellis, Carlene Morris and Rosemary Idleman at the pianos, and Charles Nichols, and Mike McIntyre on the drums and bass, supplied the essential background music for the entire production, and performed their tasks well.

Last, but by no means least in importance to this production, the setting and costuming was completely unique in that the Victorian costumes and set added to the timelessness of the fantasy world of the musical.

The efforts of such people as Diana Fankhauser, production stage manager, and Paula Cottle, Dennis Myers, Larry Reed, Kathleen Warden, and Richard Shurtz were commendable. All of these worked on various aspects of the drama and also performed to help J. Rodney Busch's ideas materialize into an enjoyable evening of musical comedy.

On Dec. 6, the Touring Choir will present a Christmas Concert in Jane Lew. On Dec. 13, the choir plans a state-wide tour.

Band Uniforms Arrive; Santa Visits Performance Lauded

The long-awaited and greatly-anticipated band uniforms arrived at the Charleston airport on Oct. 28. They were made by Ostwald Mfg. Co. of Staten Island, N. Y. The next day the uniforms were worn proudly by the GSC band at the Westminster game.

Two chartered buses took the band to Montgomery for the GSC-W. Va. Tech game. The rain stopped long enough for the band to perform, undaunted by mud and other adverse conditions. President Leonard Nelson of W. Va. Tech wrote a letter to Dr. Wilburn commending the band for their endeavor under such circumstances.

Nov. 16 was "Music Department Press Day," during which time photographs were taken of marching and concert bands in various poses. These will be used for the Mercury, yearbook and also for a publicity brochure of the music department.

The concert band began practice on Nov. 14. There are 70 members in the band, and the number is increasing daily.

Future appearances of the concert band include a Christmas concert on Dec. 11 at 8 p.m. with the choir. A patriotic concert is being planned for early March, in which Aaron Copland's "Lincoln Portrait" will be a featured number. Another pop concert, to follow last year's success, is being planned for May.

ALPHA SIGMA RUSH WEEK HELD; JOINT TEA FEATURED

The big news with Alpha Sigma Alpha in the last few weeks has been rush. The rush activities for Gamma Kappa Chapter began Sunday, Nov. 13, with a Joint Tea in the Pioneer Ballroom, co-sponsored with the Delta Zeta Sorority. This year the Alpha Sigs were responsible for the entertainment, with the Delta Zetas in charge of refreshments.

Entertainment was varied with a vocal number, a poetry interpretation, and a comedy routine. Jo Ann Rogers, Mary Ann Crissman, and Becky Stephens were first on the agenda with their vocalization of the song "Today."

Diana Fankhauser followed with her interpretation of the poem "The Highwayman." The afternoon's entertainment was conducted with two "lip sing" numbers by a group of Alpha Sigs called "The Motley Crew." The girls comprising this group were Jo Ann Rogers, Donna Mills, Becky Stephens, Sandy Whiston, and Donna Pittman.

The purpose of the Joint Tea was to determine which girls were interested in joining a sorority, and to acquaint these girls with the members of both sororities. The tea was held from 2:00 till 4:00 p.m. with 67 girls as guests.

Monday, Nov. 15, Gamma Kappa Chapter held its informal parties at the Conrad Hotel ballroom. The theme of the party was "Alphalot," and the atmosphere was that of King Arthur's era. The room was decorated to resemble a castle complete with stone walls, a draw-bridge, wooden banquet tables, and a forest scene. The members were dressed as knights and squires, with the guests costumed as fair maidens.

Entertainment consisted of a skit concerning Alphalot and a judo demonstration presented by Donna Mills and Donna Pittman. Also during the party the members and guests got acquainted, and guests learned something of sorority life.

The formal parties of Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority were given Thursday, Nov. 17, in the Pioneer Ballroom. The theme of the parties was "Unchained Melody." The color scheme carried out in the decorations was blue and silver. The first party began at 6:30 and the second one ended at 9:00.

Friday, Nov. 18, Mrs. Wilburn held the ribboning ceremony for the members and pledges in her home. The event began at 4:00 with members, pledges, alumnae and patronesses attending.
