600 FRESHMEN ARRIVE FOR FRESHMAN WEEK

Registrar Offers Enrollment Hints

Registration Day has long been regarded as the most hectic of all those confusing periods of time in a student's first days at college. Although one may have enrolled before, at other institutions, he will find each registration unique. Therefore, Registrar Beryl Langford offers these suggestions and regulations to all students, freshmen and upperclassmen:

Freshmen will register tomorrow, Tuesday, September 12, according to the pink registration schedule which has been distributed.

Sophomores, juniors, seniors, transfer students and all others will register according to the white registration schedule.

All students must have their social security numbers in order to be admitted to registration. Social security numbers will be used here as the student's number. This number and one's zip code must be recorded in the space provided on the registration blank. Ballpoint pens must be used to fill out registration forms. All classes which are to be audited should be marked as such and approved by the Dean. Department and course numbers will be used when registering for classes, and hours of credit will be totaled for the semester. Lines should be drawn on schedule cards to separate first term, semester, and second term courses. Advisers' names must

New Students Face Busy Days At GSC

A busy week lies ahead for first year students at Glenville State College. Today's activities for freshmen include a general assembly at 8:00 a.m. in the auditorium. Administrative officers will be introduced and faculty advisers will be assigned at this meeting. College catalogs will be distributed and Dr. Delmer K. Somerville will discuss the academic programs.

French placement test will be given in Room 307A at 10 a.m.

From 10-12 noon and from 1-4 p.m., students meet with advisers to prepare schedules.

Another general assembly is scheduled for 4 p.m., with the President's Meeting at 6:30 p.m. and the President's Reception at 7:45 p.m.

Tuesday will include registration from 8-4 p.m., a Capping ceremony at the amphitheater at 7 p.m., and a mix at 8 p.m.

Upperclassmen register on Wednesday, but freshmen will be tested from 10-12 and 1-2:30 p.m. At 2:30 p.m. and at 8 p.m., general freshmen orientation sessions will be held in the auditorium. Attendance is required.

A Wesley Foundation party will be held in the new building from 3:30-5 p.m. All freshmen are invited to attend.

Thursday brings two orientation sessions, one from 9-11 a.m., a campus dress show; and a split session concerning campus organizations at 7 p.m. for those in the A-L alphabetical bracket, and at 2:45 for M-Z.

The day's activities end with a square dance at 7 p.m. in the Ballroom.

Classes begin on Friday with a mix in the Ballroom that evening, sponsored by the Greek Council.

Saturday offers a home football game, the season's opener for the Pioneers.

President Wilburn Addresses Parents

Enrollment at Glenville State College is expected to reach approximately 1,600 with the arrival of some 600 freshmen on campus today, according to Registrar Beryl Langford. This would set a record for the College, as last year's total enrollment for fall semester was 1,489, as compared with 1955's 1,313.

More than 400 parents were on campus to attend the Parents' Convocation Sunday as Dr. D. Banks Wilburn, College President, greeted the freshmen in the Ballroom of the Pioneer Center. Following the serving of refreshments, the following members of the administration were introduced: Dr. Delmer K. Somerville, Dean of the College; Dr. Alfred T. Billups, Jr., Dean of Student Affairs; Mrs. Jean Wright, Dean of Women; Mr. Kermit Kinder, Director of Guidance and Counseling; Mr. Beryl Langford, Registrar and Director of Admissions; Mr. William J. Osborne, Business Manager; Mr. Robert K. Gainer, Alumni Director and Assistant Director of Admissions; Mrs. Yvonne King, Director of News Service and Publications; and Mr. Albert P. Carlson, Librarian.

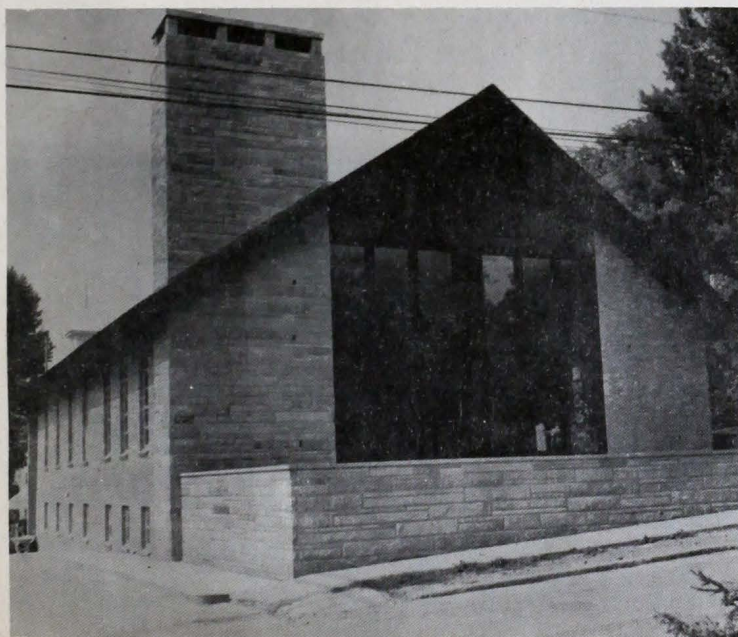

Dr. Wilburn, in his address to the parents, termed education "difficult to identify or define." He said, further:

"Whatever that education is, it is something that each person must acquire for himself. It cannot be purchased, borrowed, or conferred. It cannot be imposed on a student. He cannot acquire it by some mysterious process resulting by merely living on a college campus for four years in contact with professors, classrooms, and books.

Glenville State College will offer to your sons and daughters the opportunity to achieve an education; but each student must, through individual effort, acquire that combination of knowledge and maturity of thought, wisdom, tolerance, curiosity, ambition, integrity, character, and attitude which distinguish the truly educated."

In speaking of the next few weeks ahead President Wilburn remarked, "Experience has taught us that the early months of college are a time of crisis for parents and students alike. Until now, most of you have been closely associated with the education of your sons and daughters. You have provided much of their instruction in your homes. Most of you have encouraged them to receive religious training. You have known your children's teachers and the members of the school board; you have participated in PTA activities and school events; you have had the chief responsibility for discipline, supervision of study, and

Best Wishes, Class Of 1971

It is with much enthusiasm and high expectations of your future that I greet you as the Class of 1971. You, undoubtedly, are beginning what possibly will be the most rewarding four years of your lives. As you progress through each of these years, your experiences will be many and varied. I hope that most of what happens to you will have a most positive effect upon what you will become and what you will believe in terms of values which will guide you in relating yourselves to others.

Glenville State College must quickly become, in every sense, truly your Alma Mater. If this is to be, it must necessarily include the arriving at a degree of maturity which is exhibited in a sincere personal loyalty to yourselves, to your fellow students, to those who cause you to want to be creative, imaginative and objective in all areas of daily living. Only when you measure what you do in terms of values which make actions positive, and only when you measure loyalty to yourselves as being identical with your loyalty to others will Glenville State College have the meaning that it should have as your Alma Mater.

With best wishes,

D. Banks Wilburn
President

Larry Parsons Is '67 SGA President

On hand to greet incoming freshmen this week will be the Student Government officers chosen in an all-campus election last spring. President Larry Parsons is assisted by William Frost as vice president; William Hairston, secretary; David Adams, treasurer; and Dale Sheets, sergeant-at-arms.

A physical education and social studies major, Sheets is a member of the G-Club, the football team, the athletics committee, and was vice-president of the dormitory. He is also from Charleston.

Adviser for the Student Government Association is Mr. Stanley R. Hall, Chairman of the Division of Social Science and an associate professor of economics and sociology.

Both the program and the coke hour are open to all students, and freshman attendance is urged. The coke party is to be geared toward those who are interested in working on the newspaper staff, news bureau, or other publications.

William R. Lewis, sophomore staff reporter and columnist, will be in charge of the program which will be held in the auditorium and the coke party will be hosted in Louis Bennett Lounge with Barbara Davis, editor, in charge.

Mrs. Mary L. Morrow Assumes Duties Sept. 1

Mrs. Mary L. Morrow, R. N., has been appointed College Health Nurse for this year, replacing Mrs. Mary Fest, R. N., who retired in June, 1967 and is residing in Glenville.

Mrs. Mary L. Morrow
Health Nurse

A graduate of the Lillian S. Kaufman School of Nursing in Pittsburgh, Mrs. Morrow is the wife of William H. Morrow, instructor in history. They are the parents of a son, Keith, who is a second grader at Glenville Public School.

Nurse Morrow has spent one year of her nursing career in Pittsburgh and four years at Clarion Hospital in Montefiore.

Although the infirmary with space for four men and four women is still available for intensive care, the nurse's apartment has been renovated to provide offices for the women physical education instructors. Mrs. Morrow will keep the same office hours, 9 a. m. - 4 p. m., with only emergency cases in the evenings. The nurse urges students to seek medical services when they begin to feel ill, not after they have become seriously ill. She also reminds students to see her for referral to Dr. J. C. Bartram, D. O., College Physician.

Homecoming Plans Made

Tentative plans for Glenville State College's 34th Homecoming have been formulated, according to Robert K. Gainer, Alumni Director.

Featured along with the usual Homecoming activities on Saturday, Oct. 14, will be the dedication of the new Robert F. Kidd Library, a million-dollar structure erected on the campus earlier this year.

Other activities include: the annual Homecoming football game at 2 p.m., this year with the West Virginia Wesleyan Bobcats; a morning street parade, coronation of the Homecoming Queen, open houses, Alumni dinner, and the annual Homecoming Dance, with Ned Guthrie's Orchestra providing the music.

GSC Pioneers Prepare, Practice for 'Hilltoppers'

Football Season Opens Saturday

Glenville State's Pioneers will open their 1967 season Saturday in a home attraction with West Liberty's Hilltoppers. This is the third opener with West Liberty in as many years, with the 1965 game, a win 20-19, and last year's 26-0 loss.

The coaching staff of Glenville State approaches the season with much optimism following a strenuous winter and spring practice, plus the previous two weeks of football camp. They have this to say of the prospects:

"A total of twenty-one lettermen will be returning. This will be composed of five seniors, nine juniors, and seven sophomores. As you can well see, we will still be a young ball club. We are quite pleased that we did not lose a boy due to academic deficiencies. This in itself indicates a deeper sense of individual pride on the part of our entire squad.

We feel that a truly fine group of talented students and athletes were recruited from the high school ranks. Many of these incoming freshmen should play for us immediately. Those that do not have the potential to develop into fine college football players. Some of these freshmen are quite capable of beating some of our lettermen out of their jobs. It should make for an interesting season.

Despite our still youthfulness, we are looking forward to the 1967 season with optimism and the continuation of the building of a sound football program at Glenville State College."

The team will be coached by Head Coach, Bill Hanlin and Earl control of non-academic activities outside of school. And now, you are turning your sons and daughters over to Glenville State College. It is understandable if you have some misgivings and apprehensions."

Parents were given information concerning the size, location, service and regulations of the College, the manner of treatment of their sons and daughters, qualifications of the instructional staff and pertinent information about Glenville State College, in particular. They were also given an opportunity to speak individually with present staff members concerning student welfare and College policy.

Dr. Wilburn pledged the cooperation of all of his staff and personnel with these final words:

"As parents of our entering freshmen class, you are naturally favorably inclined toward higher education. You are hopeful of its value and are convinced that it is well worth the sacrifice many are making to send your sons and daughters to Glenville State . . .

Finally, on the part of Glenville State College, I pledge to you that all who serve here will do their best to encourage your sons and daughters to become better men and women by reason of having studied here and by having associated with us. We appreciate your confidence in this College and in giving us, for a time, your most precious possessions — your sons and daughters. We accept this trust with sincere responsibility."

be on the enrollment card and enrollment forms must be stamped paid and checked by the instructor of each class.

All student's will be given a trial schedule form which is to be completed by the student with his adviser's assistance. This schedule must be approved by the appropriate instructors. Students will then transfer the information to regular registration forms, return them to the adviser for his signature, and seek the approval of the Registrar.

Class attendance follows registration; however, Registrar Langford believes attendance is the bigger problem. He urges all students to attend all classes for which they have enrolled. "In this manner," he says, "proper credit can be assured for all work attempted."
