Nixon, Moore Elected

By James Bull

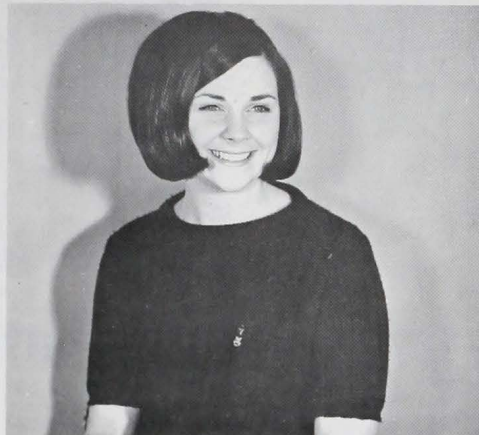

A larger majority of Glenville State College students are Democrats, but many of them prefer the Republican candidates this year, according to a poll conducted recently on the GSC campus.

Of the 509 students voting in the recent poll, 184 were Democrats, 156 were Republicans and 84 were Independents with the remaining students failing to make a choice.

Richard Nixon was the presidential choice of the student body polling 120 votes. He was followed closely by Senator Robert Kennedy who polled 104 votes. President Johnson failed to obtain commanding support from the student body receiving a mere 67 votes. The only other candidates to receive significant support were Gov. Nelson Rockefeller who polled 56 votes and Gov. Ronald Reagan with 45 votes. George Wallace, the "state's rights" candidate received 38 votes as compared to George Romney's "brainwash" vote of 31. The peace candidate, Senator Eugene McCarthy, received 24 votes. Write-in votes were received for Barry Goldwater, Joseph Lightbourn and Harold Stassen.

Congressman Arch A. Moore, Jr. was the favorite choice of the entire student body by polling 51 per cent of the total votes cast for governor. He polled 242 votes as compared to the 103 votes polled by Underwood. The Republican gubernatorial candidates received 75% of the total votes cast. C. Donald Robertson was the favorite democratic candidate polling 73 votes which was far less than the support received by Moore and Underwood. The Getting into the organization wasn't easy. After all, a divisional chairman is a conspicuous individual, to say the least.

One method of establishing myself as "one of them" was to gain their confidence. Since nothing unites a group as does a common cause, my goal became synonymous with their desires. We wanted to prepare a concert of superb quality. Once I had established myself in this way, I was "in" without being suspect. As a trumpeter, I could sit unnoticed behind my instrument, and, after becoming accustomed to the general atmosphere of the organization, I attracted little attention with an occasional wrong note or two.

My purposes in doing this were to get the inside information on just what it takes to prepare a polished performance of which GSC students and faculty could be proud, and to witness, firsthand, the thrill of pleasing a large, enthusiastic audience.

The task of preparing for the concert was incomprehensible to any except those who made the effort. The theme seemed to be, "Let's give the audience something to remember. They will recognize our efforts and appreciate them." After football season the preparation began. Tryouts were held, and forty-two musicians were chosen from the sixty-five piece concert band to function as the GSC Wind Ensemble, a name used to denote a highly select band. Choosing music which was of superior quality and which was also appealing to the public was necessary too. Several hours each week of conscientious work became the routine, and painstaking attention was given to every minute detail of every selection by directors and students alike.

As the rehearsals progressed week after week, it became apparent that many of the musicians were involved in a finesse in performance they had never before experienced. The band, at times, actually sounded like one gigantic pipe organ. The thrill of being a part of such a medium of expression became more rewarding than the anticipated fulfillment of pleasing the audience on the night of the concert.

Needless to say, from my vantage point on stage, the concert was a tremendous success. We were quite blinded, however, by the stage lights and never really got a good look at the content or size of the audience, but we can vouch for its enthusiasm. In my assumed role, I would have gone unnoticed and could have considered my bit of undercover work an unqualified success also had not the conductor pointed me out as an impostor at the close of the program.

Albert, Starcher Honored

By Kathy Casto

Two members of the student body of Glenville State College have recently been named to the West Virginia Commission on Youth, according to President D. Banks Wilburn.

Jack Hufford Albert and Shirley Jean Starcher are those nominated to participate. They were nominated by Dr. Alfred Billips, dean of student affairs, and Mrs. Jean Wright, dean of women.

The commission, which involves at least 140 of the State's young people, was formed by Governor Hulett C. Smith, and was announced during his "State of the State" message before the Legislature.

Mr. Paul Crabtree will serve as the General Project Coordinator, but the Commission itself is composed of young people not over 25 years old.

The conference participants, composed of 34 high school students, 55 college students, 25-30 young people who have completed their formal education, but have not yet reached their 26th birthdays, and 25-30 young people who have been directly involved with educational, social, cultural, geographic or ethnic disadvantage within the state, will attend a

Sue Sullivan Selected WHAR DJ's Choose Campus Cover Girl

Miss Sue Ellen Sullivan, a 19-year-old junior majoring in library science and minoring in business, has been chosen to represent GSC in the Mercury Campus Cover Girl Contest. This is the fifteenth annual contest which is sponsored by the Roto Magazine of The Pittsburgh Press.

Miss Sullivan is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Sullivan of Richwood who is now a senior at GSC. She, her mother and her sister Pam who is a freshman are living in Vera Lee Apartments.

Miss Sullivan graduated from Richwood High School in 1966 and represented Nicholas County as its princess in the 26th annual West Virginia Strawberry Festival last year.

While at Glenville State, Miss Sullivan has been active in the Order of Diana and is now pledging Delta Zeta Sorority.

Miss Sullivan was sponsored by the Greek Council and was selected along with Sherry Hersey, Marjorie Craddock, Betty Keen, Rita Jones and Anne Knapp as finalist in the all campus election which was held on Feb. 9.

The WHAR "Fun-Loving Five" of Clarksburg, consisting of Al Newton, Bobby Douglas, Bob Fulton, Bill Hart and Mike Simons chose Miss Sullivan and selected the better photo of two which has been sent to the Pittsburgh Press.

Last year, Pattie Guzzie represented Delta Zeta Sorority as Cover Girl. Judy Newlow Lowther was 1966 Cover Girl and was sponsored by the Order of Diana.

LETTERS

Do You Care? For the past year and a half I have often asked this question of the student populace of Glenville State College.

Many times criticism runs rampant because of the lack of activities on campus. When an organization offers an outlet for student interest they are faced with monetary loss and dingy results.

Students will discuss, cuss, and protest an increase in photo setting fees, but rarely voice concern for money lost on Student Government Activities. These include $145 on a dance, nearly $500 on the recent concert. The student government assoc. works for the students' interest with the only means they have — Do You Care?

Are you aware that organization dances are losing money — Or Do You Care? The Wind Ensemble is the best instrumental group in the history of this institution, Do You Care or were you concerned enough to support them in their recent concert? Were you interested enough to encourage the group whose members unselfishly form the PEP BAND to encourage your basketball team.

Are you interested in your Drama Department whose members work long hours and sacrifice their whole being to bring some sparks of life to the stage — or Do You Care?

Do you care if the Art Department offers an art show or if some "Clod" steals a painting from the administration building wall.

Do you care if someone walks across the table in your library or steals a book or rips out a magazine article or breaks a micro-film machine?

Are you concerned when some "leader" hustles your tax dollar your teachers get raises and your state standing in teacher salaries is still 48th or Do You Care?

Does it bother you when you've got a friend who gets killed and you might go next and you're not sure why? — or Do You Care?

Wake up Glenville — there's a world beyond the mountains and it certainly isn't slowing down. You can never prepare for life; you've got to live it.

You've got grow up Glenville! There's a world snarling at your door and if you don't become involved and interested, it will chase and thwart you into an abyss of apathy.

We don't need inactive critics. Do not become a stagnant puddle of nothingness — Stand up and work for a better college community and accept Time magazine's 1966 challenge when they named our generation Man of the Year. The opportunities given to this generation are unlimited. The base for concern is this very college community.

What ever happened to the "college known to thousands as the lighthouse on the hill — or Do You Care?

Respectfully,
Jack H. Albert

Dear Fellow Students,

The Student Government of Glenville State College came up with a fine idea last year when a Campus Spirit Contest was started. It was fine idea then, but it has since degenerated into a purely economic mutation of the original idea.

The Spirit program as originally set forth was to promote student enthusiasm and following in our athletic teams and to let the teams know that the students were behind their endeavours. But this has been lost due to the economic mutation that has developed.

This mutation that has developed is a sheet or I should say several sheets of poster paper or other type of paper on which can be drawn or written anything pertaining to GSC's winning. The Campus has been flooded by them in such quantities that their value has been lost and also the ideology behind them.

Speaking purely from the standpoint of my fraternity, Tau Kappa Epsilon, we have the resources to flood the campus with these so-called "spirit" signs. Yet, there is no sense in this, because, where the real spirit comes forth is at the game or in a rally before the team goes on a road trip. It is in this aspect that a school's spirit is slow. And it is from this aspect that we plan to slow our spirit, a "true school team spirit."

Respectfully yours,
David Keefer

Leap Year Has Long History

By Robert S. Cribbs

Tomorrow, Feb. 29, is the one day out of each four years which may prove to be disastrous for some men but prosperous for women. How many of the Americans who will marry this year were bachelors whose fiancées took advantage of the women's special privilege of proposing in leap year is a question no one will ever know. But it is interesting to trace the origin of this folklore.

In a book called Days and Customs of all Faiths, Rev. Howard V. Harper says that this custom can be traced back to an old story about St. Patrick and St. Bridget.

It seems that in the days before celibacy became mandatory for priests and nuns, Bridget came to Patrick with tears in her eyes. She said that there was much unrest and anxiety among her women because of the unfair tradition that prohibited women from taking the initiative in marriage proposals.

Patrick, who was a confirmed old bachelor of 52, granted the ladies the right to propose one full year out of seven. Bridget, however, was unsatisfied and talked him into given ladies one full year out of four — and the longest one at that.

Since the agreement went into effect immediately, Bridget proposed to Patrick. He refused her by saying that he had taken the vow of celibacy, but gave her a kiss and a silk gown to soften his refusal.

St. Patrick lived between 389 and 461 and the next historical year of women's special privileges does not occur until 1288 when a law was enacted in Scotland in which the term "leap year" was used.

A few years later a similar law was passed in France, and in the 15th century the custom was legalized in Genoa and Florence, Italy.

This law persisted in the British Isles in an unwritten form that men had to buy a lady a silk dress if he refused to marry her.

Leap year awes its origin to the astronomers of Julius Caesar, who in 46 b.c. settled the solar year at 365 days, six hours. These extra hours were stored up until the fourth year when they composed an extra day. It is this extra day when women are supposedly free to end the freedom of the man of her choice.

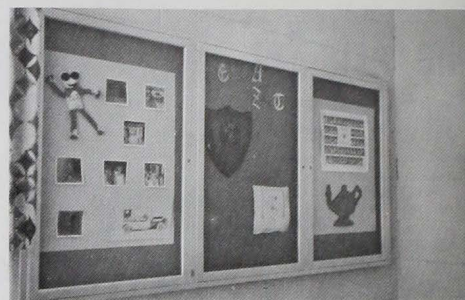

Mr. Stewart Beach, speech instructor, is the proud father of a son, Ian Stuart Beach, as of Feb. 21.

Greek Constitution Revised

A poll was taken Friday, Feb. 23, to determine the students' interest in having an additional sorority and/or fraternity on this campus. The poll was conducted by Greek Council.

Greek Council has submitted a revised constitution to the sororities and fraternities for their approval. The final approval of the constitution will be made by the council after the four organizations belonging to the council have improved it and made suggestions. The revisions were made to accompany the semester system for next year. Sandra Davis and Thomas Parker were added to the committee which is planning Greek Week.

ASA Pledges End Fun Week

If you noticed anyone carrying an alarm clock last Tuesday, you weren't seeing (or hearing) things. The ASA pledges were observing Fun Week. On Monday of Fun Week, each pledge presented an apple to her favorite teacher. Tuesday, each pledge carried an alarm clock and rang it upon the request of any ASA member. A "goody bag" was the pledges' assignment of Wednesday with each pledge carrying a bag of candy.

Thursday and Friday were the days set aside for not speaking to men. Also on Friday, each pledge carried a raw egg for each member to sign. Five new Alpha Sigs were surprised with a luncheon Saturday following initiation. The rest of the day was spent having yearbook pictures taken and working on decorations for the upcoming Mud Ball.

Monday, Feb. 19, the pledges presented a skit for the members. The skit was based on the idea of a current television program and the pledges' big sisters were asked to participate.

Pledges and other members of Alpha Sigma Alpha helped with the Heart Fund Drive Sunday, Feb. 25.

Judy Greenlee, a member of the sorority was elected vice-president of Women's Hall.

Attire for the Mud Ball will be mod. Price of the tickets is $3 per couple and the dance will last from 9-12. The Charleston Esquires will be playing for the dance.

Deadline for applying for financial aid for next year is March 1, according to Mr. Lamb, Financial aid officer.

Cecil Lee Butcher, Jr., rush, Larry Woods; Court Ball, Thomas Cox; discipline, Thomas Dent; trees, Willis Perry Jr.; and scholarship, Joseph Davis.

Open rush period will begin on March 18th; therefore, all members of TKE are expected to talk with their prospective rushees. TKE smokers are planned for March 21 and 28.

Theta Xi's Remodel Fraternity House

Lately, much attention has been given toward the improvement of the Theta Xi Fraternity House. Most of the attention has been channeled toward the living quarters. Wall closets have replaced many of the metal lockers that were formerly used. However, all the bedrooms do not have closets, but they are in the planning stages. Rugs were purchased for some of the rooms and along with this, new mattresses are being ordered.

Along with the living quarters, improvements are also being made for other parts of the house. One of these areas is the kitchen. In the planning stages for it, are a new tile floor, cabinets and a new refrigerator. Downstairs, a new front door has been purchased. It is made of oak and is colonial in style. This door will replace the one that was damaged in the robbery. Also, the bathroom will be newly equipped and remodeled.

Unfortunately, due to the lack of funds, all these improvements will not be made at one time. However, they will be finished in the near future.

TKE Committees Named

David Keefer, Prytanis of the Iota Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, has announced fraternity committees and their chairmen. Each committee is placed under an officer which in turn is under Eppirytanis Thomas Dent who is responsible to the Prytanis.

These committees and their chairman are: finance committee, Larry Gryzb; spirit, Dennis Hicks; activities, Thomas Haught; social, Paul Wells; alumni, Gary Hill; variety show, David Bennett; fraternal, Walter Turner; Mother's Day Sing, Morris Harvey defeated regular season champions Fairmont Saturday night 76-65 to earn the right to meet Fairmont again in a best two of three series with the first game being played at Fairmont. The winner of the series earns the right to go to Kansas City for the WIAA Championship.

Fairmont took an early lead and increased it to 11 points at 21-10 before Morris Harvey hit for 14 straight to take a 24-21 lead. Fairmont came back to take a 36-32 lead at halftime. The second half was strictly Morris Harvey and the Golden Eagles walked away with the tournament title. Regardless of the outcome of the series between Fairmont and Morris Harvey it is hoped the WVIAC will be well represented in Kansas City.

The basketball team at GSC has finished its 67-68 season after dropping the opening game of the tournament of Tech. The disappointing loss was the seventh in a row the opening round for Glenville who hasn't won a WVIAC Tournament game since 1961.

Two senior guards Steve Spicer and Jerry Wolfe finished their college basketball careers at Charleston, but the remainder of the squad will be returning. This leaves a great deal of talent with the squad for next season and possibly they could break the opening game spell when this same event rolls around next year. The Pioneers have the talent to improve on this year's record.

Wolfe has played a dual role during basketball season, first as a graduating senior member of the squad and then as trainer for the basketball team. He plans to become a physical therapist after graduation.

Spicer, who plans to be a physical education and social studies teacher, scored more total points this year than ever before in his career. He scored a high of 22 points in one game, to surpass both his high school and college basketball careers.

Heart Disease Affects All Students, County Residents

One way to promote physical fitness is to choose an activity in which the entire family can participate—bowling, golfing, bike-riding, hiking, etc.

Why is exercise important? Not only does it build muscle tone and burn off excess calories, but also it seems to be an important factor in reducing the risk of heart attack. Studies show that men who lead sedentary lives run a far higher risk than those who are physically active.

Explain to your children, with the hope of giving them longer and happier lives, the facts about cigarette smoking.

Young people are less likely to start the habit if their parents don't smoke and if they realize the fact that death rates from heart attacks in men range from 50 to 200 per cent higher among cigarette smokers than among non-smokers, depending on the amount smoked.

It has been shown that in the majority of families where parents don't smoke, neither do the youngsters.

The earlier a person begins to smoke, the greater the risk to his health in future years.

Parents should acquaint children with the fact that heart and circulatory disease is the weight. Diet changes should never be drastic. A balanced diet is necessary for good health, and harm can result in cutting out essential foods. Your doctor can help you with diet planning.

Literature available at your Heart Association will be most helpful in giving your children a realistic appreciation of the vital role of the heart and circulation in sustaining health and life.

Encourage periodic physical check-ups by your family physician.

Explain to your children just how important it is, after they become adults, to have the doctor keep careful watch on health, including one's blood pressure. If this disorder is found, the doctor can almost always treat it successfully, further helping to guard against the risk of heart attack.

Finally, parents should support their Heart Association through their gifts of time and money to the Heart Fund. It is their one opportunity to have an active part in the fight against heart and blood vessel disease. The Heart Fund is being conducted nationally throughout February.

GSC Drops Tourney Bid

Glenville ran into the patented "slow-down" offense of Tech in the opening round of the WVIAC Tournament and fell 38-33 in the duel of the ball control.

The first half was virtually scoreless with little action at all as Tech went to the dress-room with a slim 12-9 lead.

The second half began the same way until the referee stopped the game to order Glenville to go after the ball as Tech guard Tom Russell stood alone at mid court holding the ball.

The game then began to pick up but the Pioneers had difficulty on the outside shots and missed some late foul shots, giving Tech the victory.

Tech guard Jim Walker was high man for the game with 13 points while high scoring Tim Floyd was held to seven.

Jack Robinson paced Glenville with 12 while Steve Spicer had six.

Dr. Berliner Speaks at RCIE Meeting

The RCIE's topic on Friday, Feb. 23, was, "The Search For Effective Management of Development." Guest speaker was Dr. Joseph S. Berliner.

Having graduated from Harvard with a B.A. degree in economics in 1947 and a Ph.D. in economics in 1954, Dr. Berliner taught at Syracuse University for two years and is currently a professor of economics at Brandis University.

The discussion held concerned how the leaders of the Soviet economy are presently engaged in a search for ways of improving the performance of the economic system. To cope with such problems of quality as technological innovation and economic efficiency, Dr. Berliner felt a series of reforms should be introduced dealing less with economic policy as with economic structure for both the U.S.S.R. and the United States.

The play makes a slow, fascinating transition from reality to absurdity and has an unforgettable climax. Rehearsals are closed to public, and will begin tomorrow. Epiphany is to be presented here during the night of one-act plays, March 27.

These one-act plays are directed by members of the play production class, with the exception of Epiphany, which is directed by William Monk.
