G. Fitzgerald Stars In Play

The Honourable Estate a witty dramatic commentary on love and marriage, produced and directed by John Houseman, will play here Monday, April 1, at 8:00 p.m. under the auspices of the Lyceum Committee.

It is divided into two parts. The first part features selections from Shakespeare (The Taming of the Shrew); Congreve (The Way of the World); Ibsen (Doll's House); Shaw's (Getting Married) and Pfeiffer (The Unexpected Memoirs of Bernard Mergendeiler); all comments on love and marriage by the world's greatest playwrights, from the 17th century to the present day. Included also are selections from the letters of Queen Victoria.

Miss Fitzgerald has made several films in England before coming to the United States. Her first New York appearance was with Orson Welles and John Houseman. Soon after, she went to Hollywood and made her debut in motion pictures. She has appeared with such actors as Lawrence Oliver, Merle Oberon, and Bette Davis. Miss Fitzgerald has made several Broadway appearances, and is currently at work on an adaptation for the New York Stage of Edna O'Brien's The Country Girls.

The second part of the program consists of Samuel Beckett's masterpiece, Happy Days.

Starring in the performance of The Honourable Estate are Geraldine Fitzgerald, Barbara Barrie, William Hickey, Betty Hartford and Dennis Helfend.

Barbara Barrie is a resident member of the American Shakespeare Festival Theatre where she has appeared in several leading plays. She has also acted in Broadway productions and starred in many recent network dramatic shows.

Betty Hartford is a daughter of a well-known English actor. She has appeared in several TV roles in some dramatic shows, and has appeared in motion pictures.

William Hickey has also appeared in various motion pictures and has acted in Broadway productions. He is a member of Herbert Berghof Studio in New York and has participated in the American Shakespeare Theatre.

Dennis Helfend has appeared in recent productions at the Charles Playhouse in Boston. He was a member of the Theatre Group of Los Angeles and has created leading roles in the West Coast premieres of Candide and P.S. 193.

With this background and under the direction of John Houseman, The Honourable Estate promises to be an exciting and entertaining evening.

Admission is by student identification card or $1 per person.

Concert Choir

Choir Will Perform During Arts Festival

One of the highlights of the Fine Arts Festival will be the spring concert by the Glenville State College Choir. The concert will be presented at 8:00 p.m., April 2, in the GSC auditorium.

Among the first selections will be "Ave Verum Corpus," by William Byrd; "Ave Verum Corpus" by Mozart; "Crucifixus," by Bach; "Hosanna" and "Alleluia," by Miklos Rozsa; "How Excellent Thy Name," by Hanson; and "Reconciliation," by Pfausch. "Five Mystical Songs," by Vaughn-Williams including Easter, I Got me flowers, Love Bade me welcome, The call, and Antipon featuring Larry George, baritone, will follow.

Following a brief intermission the Madrigal Singers will present "Reincarnations" by Samuel Barber; "The Road Not Taken (Frostiana)," by Thompson; "Magazine Madrigals," by Haugland and "Music to Watch Girls By."

Bache Talks Slated

Glenville State College in cooperation with Bache and Company will offer an investment course on the evenings of April 9, 16 and 23.

Bache and Company has prepared these professional lectures to broaden one's understanding of stocks, bonds and mutual funds. Current market situations will be discussed based on up-to-date information provided by the Bache Research Department. Time will also be provided for a question and answer period following each lecture.

The investment course will be conducted by Mr. Fred Dunham and Mr. John Forbes, Jr. of the Bache Parkersburg Office. All the lectures will begin at 8:00 p.m. and will be held in the Pioneer Center at Glenville State College.

Attendance is limited so it is necessary to register in advance. To register for this series of lectures, write or call the Community Development and Research Center, Glenville State College. There is no charge for the course.

Student Directors Present One-Acts

One-act plays chosen and directed by GSC students will be presented in the auditorium tonight as part of the Fine Arts Festival. The first show starts at 8:00 p.m.

In "Epiphany," Mary Stone plays a managing wife who, through continually reminding her ornithologist husband (Mr. Al Rauch) of his failures and his homosexual tendencies, drives him out of his mind. He constructs a secret roost in the bedroom, practices rooster crows, raises his body temperature through Yogi to that of a rooster and dons a beak, but fails in his attempt to dominate his wife. "Epiphany," directed by William Monk, is to be entered in the inter-collegiate speech festival at Jackson's Mill April 21, 22 and 23.

"From the Top of the Flagpole," is William Lewis' uninhibited satire on human absurdity. It deals with such broad themes as communication between people, hypocrisy, religion and local campus problems, according to Lewis the author and director of the satire. Lewis' cast consists of Mary Stone, Mary Anne Wolfe, Gary Hollandsworth and Mr. Al Rauch.

Mr. Ronald Gaskill's creation, "The Trouble with People Is..." presents two young men (James Williams and Michael Ireland) who discuss and demonstrate just what is wrong with people. The real problem with people, though never captured in the discussion, is shown over and over in the interchange between the two, Susan Wolford, in the role of a little girl playing jacks, summarizes the scene without ever saying a word. James Williams is the director of this one-act.

"The Last Word" concerns the question of What is worth saying just before the end of the world. James Williams and Mary Anne Wolfe star as a married couple who at first are terrified by their impending annihilation, but their inability to formulate a worthwhile meaning to their lives finally causes them to look forward to the end. Betsy McCoy is the director of this verse play.

WVU Ensemble Gives Concert

The West Virginia University Baroque Ensemble will present a program of instrumental and vocal music on March 29, at 8 p.m., in the college auditorium.

The Baroque Ensemble, formed two years ago at WVU, is already achieving a reputation of being one of the finest performing groups of baroque music in the United States. The performers will appear in the type of costumes popular during the seventeenth century.

The Baroque Ensemble is composed of Dr. Scott Stringham, harpsichord; Mary Stringham, violin; Mary Crusestjerna, flute; William Winstead, bassoon; June Swartout, soprano; and Joan Witman, soprano. All are faculty members at West Virginia University. Dr. Stringham, who is director of the University Singers, built the harpsichord that he will be using during the concert.

The selections to be presented include sonatas by George Philipps Telemann and Antonio Vivaldi, a sonata for flute and harpsichord by J.S. Bach, and soprano arias from baroque operas. June Sivartout, assisted by graduate student Joan Witman will present duets for two sopranos and a bassoon sonata.

The Baroque Ensemble is part of the 1968 Fine Arts Festival which features various cultural programs for the student body and general public as well.

CANDIDATES MUST SUBMIT PLATFORMS

All candidates for Student Council offices must submit copies of their platforms to the Student Government Association by April 1. Candidates for president must be in the junior class and have a 2.5 academic average.

Vice-presidential candidates must be a member of the sophomore or junior class and have a 2.5 academic average.

Candidates for secretary, treasurer and sergeant-at-arms must have a scholastic average of 2.0 at the time of election. The election will be held during the latter part of April after platforms are posted for a two-week period. No SGA officer can succeed himself in office.

Missions School Held

Mr. Neilson L. Wells of the education department will be leader of the discussion on Sunday, March 31, on the subject, "Christian Community Begins at Home."

Classed will be held from 7-8:30 p.m. for primary children in grades three and four; juniors (grades five and six); youth and adults.

All college students and church members are invited to attend all sessions.

Forestry Program Announced

A two-year curriculum in Forest Technology will be initiated this September at Glenville State College. This curriculum will provide instruction at the technician level with emphasis on field work and practical training. The purpose of this program is to prepare technicians to fill the employment "gap" between the high school student and the four-year college student.

Many employment opportunities are now available in both public and private industry firms. Some of the types of jobs include: forestry aides, engineer aides, county fire rangers, conservation officers, woodyard managers, wood procurement assistants, woods foreman and various jobs in the sawmill industry.

Students enrolling in this curriculum will be admitted to Glenville State College and subject to policies and regulations as other students.

The Forest Technology curriculum will consist of the following courses: Communications, Technical Math, Social Science, Dendrology, Forestry Orientation, Forest Mensuration, Surveying, Technical Writing, Mechanical Drawing and Drafting, Economics, Forest Management, Forest Recreation and Wildlife Management, Forest Protection, Business Law, Aerial Photography, Forest Products, Marketing and Utilization, Timber Harvesting Techniques, and Machine Maintenance.

Anyone desiring additional information should contact the Registrar, Glenville State College.

Rosemary Idleman and Shirley McIntyre, who will give their senior recital on March 31.

McIntyre Idleman Hold Senior Recital

The senior recital which is to be held on Sunday, March 31, at 8:00 p.m. in the Glenville State College auditorium, will be presented by Miss Rosemary Idleman and Miss Shirley McIntyre.

Miss Idleman, is a piano major at GSC. Her piano instruction has been with Miss Bertha Olsen and Mr. Ronald Ross. She is a member of the Concert Choir, Choral Union, Madrigal Singers and is active in the MENC Chapter on campus. Piano selections which she will present are: "Prelude and fugue in C from W.T.C. by Bach," "Sonata No. 18 Op 31st, Move" by Beethoven, "Sarabande from Pour le Piano" by Debussy and "Prelude #1 and 4" by Chopin.

Miss McIntyre who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McIntyre of Ripley, W. Va. is a claimant major. Her instruction has been with Mr. Ronald Ross and Mr. Edward Vineyard. She is also a member of the Concert Choir, Choral Union and is in the Wind Ensemble and Concert Band. For her selection in the recital, Miss McIntyre has chosen the Mozart Concerto for clarinet, K 622.

Following the recital, a reception sponsored by MENC will be held in the Louis Bennett Lounge. Students and staff members of GSC are invited to attend both the recital and the reception.

S. Beach Schedules Tryouts For Early May Productions

Mr. Stewart Beach, instructor of speech at GSC, has announced that tryouts for the dramatic recitations of the poems in Spoon River Anthology by Edgar Lee Masters will be held tomorrow, March 28, in room 105 A at 3:30 p.m.

The poems concern the tales of residents of a fictitious town in southern Illinois at the turn of the century.

The production, scheduled for May 9, 10 and 11, includes parts for four men, four women, one male and one female folk singer. The presentation will consist of oral interpretations of poetry, mingled with the songs of the folk singers.

Heart Drive Sets Record

Gilmer County's Heart Fund Drive has been quite a success this year. The goal, being $900, was surpassed and now stands at $993, which exceeds last year's collection of $840. Three records have been set according to the State office in Charleston as Gilmer County also ranks third in West Virginia in the drive.

Dr. Miller Donates Vols

By Kathy Casto

"Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested."

If Bacon's statement is true, Dr. Espy W. Miller, chairman of the division of language at GSC, has dedicated quite a banquet to the Robert F. Kidd Library. Dr. Miller has donated 90 volumes of literary masterpieces to the library, including a 50-volume set of the Harvard Classics, the Complete Works of Sir Walter Scott, the Complete Works of George Eliot, the Complete Works of William Makepeace Thackeray and a set of reference books in literature.

The former business manager of Glenville State College and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd M. Jones, saw an auction sale advertised in a local Morgantown paper, went to the sale, and purchased the books for Dr. Miller.

Upon investigation, it was found that the old books were owned by a former president of West Virginia University. After his retirement and death, his property, including his library, fell into the hands of a distant relative; and they decided to sell his library.

Now they rest in the Robert F. Kidd Library, where they can be tasted, swallowed, chewed and digested by the GSC student body.

Intramural Crown

Sixteen teams started last Monday night in quest of this year's intramural basketball crown. Heading the sixteen teams are the Theta Xi Animals and the G-Club. Both teams are 5-0, carrying the only perfect record into the tournament. They are tied for first in the regular season standings.

Leading the Theta Xi Animals are Robert Bence and John Sivak. Carrying a majority of the load for the G-Club is Michael Deem.

Tied for second are eight teams that are capable of winning the tournament. Theta Xi Unicorns and TKE I lost their only games by a margin of one point (The Unicorns in an overtime) and should be considered top contenders. The Unicorns Michael Roscoe while TKE I boasts Marcus McPhail and Thomas Haught (sounds like a football game).

Then there are the Hustlers led by James Heaton and Robert Lord. Eddie Liscomb leads the Pink Panthers while the Red Devils boast Gary Norris and Steven Joy.

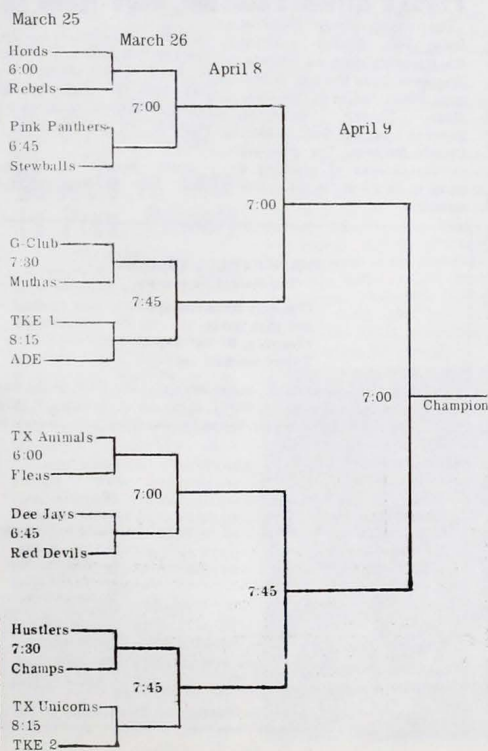

The remaining teams include the Dee Jays (4-1), the Stewballs (4-1), TKE II (4-1), the Champs (4-1), the Muthas, the Rebels, ADE, Globe Jumpers, Hords, the Crusaders, and the Fleas, all (3-2).

Although this season showed some fine smaller individuals in action, it seemed the big boys took the scoring honors. They are Robert Bence (TX Animals), Marcus McPhail (TKE I), Edward Dawson (TX Unicorns), James Heaton (Hustlers), Michael Deem and Eddie Liscomb (Pink Panthers).

According to Dale Sheets, a member of the intramural board, this should be one of the finest tournaments in a while and would be well worth seeing.

Dear Editor,

My thanks to Mr. Beach, the Cast and production staff, for an excellent production and performance of Look Back In Anger.

Using the play as a cue, I look back in anger on a large number of G.S. students. It must have been terribly difficult to perform so challenging a play to such an immature audience. The reaction was truly juvenile.

This may come as a surprise, perhaps a shock but John Osborne did not write a play about sex. The audience gave me the impression that this was their understanding of the play. Further, the reaction implied that sex is something either "dirty" or "merely titillating."

It was apparent that many missed the depth of anguish in the angry young man, so well portrayed by Dave Lough. I doubt if many could feel, as the program suggests, empathy. It seemed beyond the capacity of many to relate to this man in his felt need. There is a demand for a more mature outlook on life and the problems of life. You are no longer in junior high.

By way of positive suggestion you might think of contacting Miss Pat Dillon (of course, secretly, or by anonymous note) to ask if the CRC could sponsor some discussions on sex to put this part of your life into perspective.

Fraternally,
Brother Joe

Are They Gods?

Are Teachers Gods?

Many students put teachers and instructors on a pedestal. Instructors are put so far up that they no longer seem human. As far as students are concerned, instructors must be perfect and are not permitted to make mistakes.

It is fine to respect our instructors. Students should look at them with respect. After all, they have already made it through college and have their degrees. In most cases, on a college level, the instructors have more than one degree.

But are they Gods? So many of us forget that they are human beings. We actually think that they are superhuman. They are expected to know everything. It is impossible, even for instructors, to know and understand everything. At times it seems as though we really do think that they are Gods.

Perhaps this is why students are unable to accept their human actions. If an instructor is different, or does not fit into our stereotyped idea of an instructor, then we condemn him. Let's face it, by the factors of science they are homosapiens just as we are. They are human beings. It is about time for us to consider the question - are they Gods? Those poor unfortunate humans called instructors.

"We Want Journalism . . ."

Hear ye! Hear ye! Administration of Glenville State College. Why have you been in operation for so many years and are so much behind time? Why is the world moving forward and you are receding backward so much? Why do you not have a journalism department?

Aw, you say, why are you suggesting a journalism department at GSC?

Have you ever stopped to think what journalism has done for the world?

How far would John F. Kennedy have gotten without television? How many cars have been sold through commercial announcements? How can a person in the East hear about a robbery in San Francisco? Where do people get their opinions on the Viet Nam conflict? And how do you publicize GSC to prospective students? The answer to these questions lies in one broad term, JOURNALISM.

Oh, but you say, we do have a language arts program that includes journalism. Wow! For a major in language arts a student only needs to have two journalism classes.

Granted, English is essential to journalism. A student must have a working knowledge of the language to omit grammatical errors, punctuation, etc. So why do you not have a journalism department with a few required English courses?

English students write, oh so beautifully. They are constantly creating poetry and trying to write above the instructor's head. When the finished product comes out, however, sometimes the article is so confusing that no one understands it.

Could you imagine what a news story would look like if an English student wrote it? "Beneath the balmy skies of a clear March day two automobiles failed to meet the requirements of the road. Soon the cars were towed away and everyone was able to enjoy an afternoon picnic." How would you like to read that in the newspaper? First of all, the mishap could have happened anywhere in the world. Second, how many were injured or killed and who are they?

But then, you will probably just sit back and use the old familiar Glenville cliché, "If he wants journalism why does he not go to a school which offers it?" That might be easier, but what happens to those of us who have grown rather fond of GSC.

TX Holds Smoker

On Tuesday, March 19, Theta Xi Fraternity held its first smoker of the second semester. The smoker was held in the Old Louis Bennett Lounge from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m.

Speakers for the smoker included Garry Ramsey, who spoke on "What it Means to be a Theta Xi;" David Nelson, on the financial aspect; Richard Landwehr, on living in the fraternity house; Ronald Nichols, on pledgeship; John Hays, on the pledge period; Keith Smith, fraternity advisor, who spoke on fraternism; and Robert Bence, also fraternity advisor, who spoke on fraternity policies and organization. Refreshments were served to active members and all prospective pledges upon completion of the speakers. Another smoker was held last night at the Fraternity House.

Also, Theta Xi held a house party on Thursday, March 21. The get-together was in the form of a lawn party. Therefore, all the furniture was moved onto the lawn and the activities, which consisted of games and dancing, took place within the house.

Pledge Officers Elected, Rose Week Set

The spring pledge class of Delta Zeta Sorority selected the following girls as officers: President, Lynn McKown; Secretary, Diana Duffield; Treasurer, Mona Harvey; Standards, Rebecca Law, and Song Leader, Pamela Sullivan. The girls are in the process of planning a party to be given for the active members.

Omega Kappa Phi Formed On Campus

Omega Kappa Phi was formed March 19, 1968 as the third social fraternal organization on Glenville State College's Campus. The new fraternity has been in the planning stages since spring of 1967.

Leading the new fraternity as president is Jack Albert. Jack, a social studies major from Belle, W. Va., helped organize Omega Kappa Phi and wrote its constitution.

William Gallagher, a sophomore majoring in social studies, is the vice president. Gallagher is from Paden City.

Acting as recording secretary is Ralph Lee Paugh. Paugh is a junior majoring in elementary education. He is from Georgetown, Dela.

Lawrence Ball, a sophomore majoring in music, is the corresponding-secretary. Ball is from Grantsville.

David Bodkin, a sophomore from South Charleston, is the fraternity's treasurer. Bodkin is majoring in physical education and social studies.

The sergeant-at-arms for Omega Kappa Phi is Larry Schoonover, a junior from Clay majoring in elementary education.

Gary Farnsworth, a junior majoring in business administration and speech, is the historian. Farnsworth is from Parkersburg, W. Va.

The purpose of the new fraternity is as stated in the constitution of Omega Kappa Phi by Jack Albert: "In order to provide for this campus an outlet for academic, cultural, social and service-orientated interests, we the undersigned wish to be reorganized on Glenville State College's campus, Glenville, W. Va., March 19, 1968, as Omega Kappa Phi Fraternity."

The purpose of this organization will be to serve the college community in all phases of mature, adult growth. Omega Kappa Phi will offer the college man a channel for the development of knowledge, create an atmosphere for fraternal loyalty, honorable character and dynamic leadership.

Omega Kappa Phi will serve as a nucleus for the growth, and subsequent foundation of another fraternal organization on this campus.

Advisors for the new fraternity are: Dr. A. T. Billips, dean of student affairs at GSC and Mr. Jerry Morris, instructor of art. Dr. Billips is a graduate of the University of Tennessee and a member of Lambda Chi Alpha National Fraternity. Mr. Morris is a graduate of Marshall University and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon National Fraternity.

The new local fraternity has 18 members.

Suggestions for the 1968-69 homecoming theme are now being accepted by the Student Government Association. Any student or campus organization wishing to submit a suggestion must do so within the next two weeks.
