Anne Arthur Knapp Selected 'Roto' Campus Cover Girl '69

Miss Anne Arthur Knapp, a nineteen year old sophomore from Charleston, is GSC's winner in the annual Campus Cover Girl Contest. A 1967 graduate of Charleston Catholic High School, she is an art and English major.

Last year, Miss Knapp was elected the freshman class princess and was a runner-up in the Cover Girl Contest. She was recently elected assistant rush chairman of Nu Lambda Psi sorority.

Nominated by Gamma Beta Phi, she was selected as a finalist in an all-campus election held on Wednesday, Jan. 23. Her picture, along with the other three finalists' Juanita Cain, Cynthia Day, and Barbara McLaughlin, was sent to the Davis Studio in Weston where Robert Davis and his staff declared her the winner.

This year's Campus Cover Girl Contest is the sixteenth annual one held by the "Roto" Magazine of "The Pittsburgh Press." Miss Knapp's picture, along with those of other finalists from colleges and universities from surrounding states, will appear in a March issue of the "Roto" Magazine from which the winner and two runners-up will be selected.

Last year's Cover Girl was Sue Ellen Sullivan sponsored by the Greek Council. Patricia Guzzie represented Delta Zeta sorority as the 1967 Cover Girl.

GSC COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATIONS ARE DEAD !

On Feb. 19 the faculty of Glenville State College voted to discontinue comprehensive examinations. The proposal to abolish comprehensives was put before the group by the Teacher Education Committee.

After the vote, it was proposed that a study be conducted to find a substitute for comprehensives. Three specific proposals were offered. It was suggested that students should have to have a 2.5 average to be exempt or that everyone should be required to take a seminar. A third suggestion offered for study was that extra classes be substituted for comprehensives.

Comprehensives had been a part of GSC for 19 years. Instituted in 1950, they were for the purpose of detecting deficiencies in a student's preparation and helping the student and his adviser to select courses which would correct the weakness.

GSC Student Dies In Auto Accident

The "Mercury" staff, on behalf of the student body, would like to express sympathy to the Wiant family in the death of their son Pat Duane Wiant of Richwood. The nineteen year old GSC student was killed early Tuesday morning after the car in which he was riding hit an electric pole at West Second St., Weston. Injured in the accident was David Howell Nelson, 21, from Belpre, Ohio, Gary Rodney Ramsey, 21, from Belpre, Ohio and Carl Williamson, 18, of Webster Springs.

Class Meeting Thurs.

The unlisted class of Mr. Barnes and Mr. Bence will meet again Thursday, Feb. 27. The meeting will be held in the third floor classroom of R. F. Kidd Library and a movie on social probation will be shown. The class will begin at 8:45 p.m.

Folk Singers to appear in Lyceum Program

Folk-Singing Team Appears In Lyceum Series Feb. 27-28

The young folk-singing team of Joe and Penny Aronson will be appearing at Glenville State College on Thursday evening, Feb. 27, at 8:00 p.m., and Friday morning, Feb. 28, at 9:30 a.m. This young husband and wife team will be appearing under the sponsorship of the Association of American Colleges Arts Program, a non-profit concert and lecture agency which has been serving higher education for more than 30 years. Out-of-the-ordinary folksongs gathered from many parts of the world will be contrasted with songs satirizing our Age of Anxiety in this musical-dramatic program.

This famous team combines acting, mime, dialogue, body and dance movement, and, with the use of pictures and props, project beyond the melodies and lyrics into the meaning, humor and drama of their songs. Their presentations, in which each song evokes a mood and becomes a dramatic vignette, are similar in effect to the "Kleine Kunst," or short subjects so popular in the pre-War cabarets of Berlin and Vienna.

Joe Aronson has had cartoons published in "Look," "Sports Illustrated" and other popular magazines, and at one time was theatrical caricaturist for the "Philadelphia Sunday Bulletin."

Lighter numbers include "Jazz Suite," by Hunsberger; "Serenata," by Leroy Anderson and "Drumbeat Jamboree" by Paul Yoder, featuring two drum soloists. In addition, several solos with band accompaniment will be available to add variety to the concert program.

The concerts are free and are presented jointly by host high schools and the Glenville State College Division of Fine Arts.

Members of the Glenville State College Symphonic Concert Band include Lawrence Ball, Arthur Boggs, Patricia Brown, Jean Burggraff, J. B. Butcher, Deborah Campbell, Judith Counts, John Collins, Joseph Cumbledge, Shirley Cunningham, Nelson Elliot, Mary Getty, Shirley Hardman,

Mass Media Day Sponsored Mar. 3

March 3 is Media Day for Glenville State College. This event will be sponsored by the Kappa Delta Phi, a national educational society, and will be coordinated by Mr. Don Phillips, college director of Learning Materials.

Va., will set the stage for the day from 9:00 to 10:30 in the auditorium with his topic, "Rationale for Media in Education." Progress will then move to the Pioneer Center ballroom where four workshops will rotate throughout the day until 3:45 p.m.; this portion of the day, along with the discussion topics, will be presented with the GSC faculty and student teachers in mind. These four workshops are to include "Portable TV" and "Diazo Transparencies" with representatives from Latta's in Huntington; "Tape-recording" presented by Prycl of Charleston and finally "Thermo and Photo Copiers" given by the Three-M Company.

'What's The Catch?'

Alas! Alas! Finally after 19 years of existence comprehensive examinations are dead. But are they really?

Through the efforts of Thomas Dent and Mr. Stewart Beach, along with many other students and faculty members, the Teacher Education Committee voted to recommend to the Faculty Administration Organization to vote against continuing Comprehensive Examinations. The FAO did this in a recent meeting by a vote of 60 to 20. Then a proposal came from the floor to disband any other type of stipulation for the Comps. This amendment failed.

Now the faculty is talking about placing a student with a 2.5 average or better out of the Comprehensive Exam schedule and students below this in the "must take Comps bracket." This is completely unrealistic and ridiculous.

It would seem to me that a college which is at present time on probation would channel their efforts toward improving the academic affairs, and not student harassment. A 2.0 average is required to graduate, so why should we place a 2.5 on Comps? If this were to be the case, why not stipulate in the catalog that an A.B. degree requires a 2.5 average in your field and a 2.0 over-all average?

But then this would not work, mainly because college students of this era are somewhat nonconformists and most upper division class instructors at GSC are of the traditional conformist type. In too many of the classrooms, students are not allowed to express their views or opinions. Why? Primarily because instructors say they must cover the text and time does not permit discussion. That is ridiculous! What good does covering the text do a student if he does not understand it? And, even if he does understand it, why should he listen to one man's views? If a student cannot think for himself then he should not be a student. Is GSC oriented toward a thinking-learning process or a dictation-feedback method?

Perhaps a seminar discussion review is the answer for the replacement of Comprehensive Exams. At least a student will be able to be heard for the first time in his four year efforts to be a college graduate.

As far as the 2.5 stipulation is concerned, it would never work. Are examinations any measure of the intelligence of the student? We should relieve pressures and initiate a learning process instead of increasing tensions and inflicting an harassment period.

Editor's Note:

Now is the time for faculty, students, and administrative officials to express their views and opinions on the stipulation for comprehensives. Send your rebuttals or agreements to the editor and I shall gladly print them. Students should remember that this is not the end, but merely the beginning for it is our education and our lives that are being considered.

Thank you,
R. Scott Cribbs

Ignorance, Bliss?

Dear Editor:

Twenty-eight GSC freshmen proved recently that "Thinking As A Hobby" is not their hobby. After a discussion of the William Golding essay, the students were asked some general questions.

Only one in the class named five American writers and one work by each and five English writers and one work by each. Another succeeded in naming the Americans and a work by each and four English writers and a work. Two others could name the Americans but not the English. The other 24 fell short of complete answers; two students did not list any.

Twenty-seven could identify Robert Frost and Johnny Carson.

Eighteen did not know the approximate dates of the American Revolution; ten did not know the approximate dates of the life of Christ.

Eighteen could not identify Dustin Hoffman nor Sigmund Freud. Twenty students knew that O.J. Simpson plays football, but only four knew that Melvin R. Laird is Secretary of Defense.

Only two knew that nepotism means patronage bestowed in consideration of family relationship, and only four knew that Phi Beta Kappa membership is based on scholarship. The Phi Beta Kappa response is not surprising.

Sincerely,
An English Pedagogue

Theta Xi's Mourn Death

Theta Xi fraternity staged a 105 mile dribble from Normantown to Charleston during WVIAC tournaments last Wednesday. Nineteen men and four cars were involved in the memorial to Patrick Wiant, member of the fraternity who was killed in an automobile accident last week.

The trip, covered by WCHS and WSAZ television and Charleston radio, began at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 18, and was terminated at 2 a.m. the next morning. Two men dribbled at a time—one dribbled while one ran, and dribblers were changed at half-mile intervals.

Introduced prior to the Glenville-Wesleyan ballgame at the Civic Center, the fraternity dunked the basketball under the GSC basket and dedicated the first shot to Pat Wiant whose funeral the men attended on Thursday in Richwood.

GSC Wins 1st Tourney Tilt

The Glenville State College Pioneers won their opening game in the WVIAC Tournament by defeating the W. Va. Wesleyan Bobcats, 97-70. This marked the first victory for Glenville in their opening round in seven years. The Pioneers were led by Jack Robinson, who accounted for 26 points. Senior Jim Archer was next with 21, followed by Bill Perry with 17.

The Pioneers next played the Golden Eagles of Morris Harvey but lost by the score of 78-62, thus eliminating them from the tournament. Jack Robinson again led Glenville with 22 points while Jim Archer had 12.

Glenville's lone representative on the All-Tournament team was Jack Robinson. Jack won this honor because of his tremendous play during Glenville's two games. He scored 48 points, pulled down 21 rebounds and had two assists.

Book Given To Library

An autographed copy of a new book "Sea & Air" has been presented to the Robert F. Kidd Library by one of the authors, Lieutenant Commander John Davis Rohrbough, USN. The book is an integrated approach to the study of oceanography and meteorology which the authors have subtitled "The Naval Environment." The authors, all of whom have been associated with the U. S. Naval Academy, include Assoc. Prof. Jerome Williams and Lt. Comm. John J. Higginson in addition to Rohrbough.

Mr. Rohrbough is well known to many people in Glenville. He was born here while his father, "Nate" Rohrbough, was coach and athletic director at Glenville State College. Following graduation from Glenville High School he attended Glenville State College for two years, 1952-54, and then was appointed to the U. S. Naval Academy.

He was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in June, 1958, and for the next two years served aboard destroyers deployed in the North Atlantic and Mediterranean. Mr. Rohrbough was graduated from the United States Naval Post Graduate School at Monterey, Calif., with a Master of Science Degree in Air-Ocean Environment in 1964. From 1964 to 1966 he was Commanding Officer of the coastal minesweeper USS Woodpecker, and participated in Market Time operations in the Vietnamese coastal waters of the South China Sea. He has last served at the United States Naval Academy as an instructor of oceanography and is now on the staff of the Superintendent of the Academy.

The book is "unusual" and "represents a new approach, since the authors treat the atmosphere and the seas as a single fluid environment." The authors, in their preface, state: "It is our hope that the reader will acquire an awareness of the myriad ways the environment affects our day-to-day human endeavor. Some activities are dependent upon the weather."

Community Theater Set

"The Ransom of Red Chief," will be presented as the first production of the Children's Theater. A project of the Faculty Wives Club, the Children's Theater is composed of adults who will take the productions into the elementary schools in the county.

The first production consisting of the O. Henry play and some examples of oral interpretation, will be presented in March or April. Mr. James White will direct the spring production.

According to Mrs. Stanley Hayward, head of the Children's Theater, the group is still looking for people who are interested in acting, building sets or writing scripts. The group will write its own scripts based on works of children's literature. Any faculty member, faculty wife, college student or adult member of the community may join the Children's Theater.

The purpose of the Children's Theater is to provide entertaining and worthwhile examples of the theater art to the students in the county since there is little opportunity for them to gain such an experience in any other way.
