Spy Author Is Speaker

A spy will visit Glenville State College March 13 to speak on "Dairy of a Double Agent." John Huminik, who for six years worked as a counterespionage for the FBI, will talk about his adventures during that period.

Mr. Huminik was a scientist and engineer when he was approached by the Russians in 1961. Reporting the Russian offer to the FBI, he was asked to become a counterespionage to tell them he would become a Russian spy and really report their activities to the FBI.

To aid him in his role as a double agent, he was given falsified documents concerning the United States defense and space programs. Mr. Huminik's work resulted in the expulsion of a member of the Russian Embassy in 1966 for spying. Soon after the expulsion, his work became known to the American people.

Mr. Huminik, who is married and has four children, is the author of the book "Double Agent." In addition to his lectures on many college campuses, he has been interviewed on several television programs.

NTE Test Set Apr. 12

On April 12, seniors planning to graduate in June will be required to take the National Teachers Examination.

Nine states including West Virginia, Virginia, Delaware, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Vermont, New Hampshire and Colorado require NTE scores for the certification of teachers or related purposes. The uses derived from this test vary in each state. They include: validating credits earned at non-credited institutions and toward sixth-year certificate. Favorable results can add teaching fields to certificates previously issued by the state. It determines the grade of certificates to be issued and the awarding of regular certificates. Grants-in-aid for summer school attendance to complete fifth and sixth year programs can be awarded. Objective data as a basis for research on quality of teacher education can be obtained. Four of these specified states accept NTE scores in lieu of certain courses required for certification in some fields. Lastly, the exam serves as the evaluation of credentials of applicants with typical patterns of education.

The test is generally used as an evaluation of the performance of a student in his particular field or profession. It can determine a student's general level of achievement—his knowledge on many subjects.

An outstanding example of a proficiency examination for teachers, the National Teacher's Examination is published by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N. J.

Judges for the exhibit will be members of the Glenville State College Art Department, Mr. Charles Scott, Mr. Jerry Morris, and Mr. James W. Rogers. Awards judge for the Ninth Annual Exhibition will be Mrs. Mary M. Black, Director of the Charleston Art Gallery, in Charleston.

Mrs. Black has been very active in various fields related to art since coming to West Virginia. She has been the director of the Charleston Art Gallery at Sunrise since 1963. Housing Units Approved

On Feb. 24, the West Virginia Board of Education met. During the meeting the board approved the making of application to the Housing and Urban Development Department of West Virginia for the allocation of funds for housing here at Glenville State College.

A six-floor wing addition for 300 co-eds at the cost of $1,600,000 was approved. Also, plans and specifications for housing unit for 200 men was discussed. The cost of this structure is estimated at approximately $1,200,000. This amount also includes the construction of ten 3-bedroom homes for faculty members.

Plans are now underway for the starting of construction in the spring of this year.

works have also been exhibited in Virginia, Ohio, Oklahoma, Washington, D. C., and Florida. She has won many awards for her water-colors and her works are included in a great number of private collections. One work entitled "Morning Light" is hung in the embassy of Warsaw, Poland for Ambassador and Mrs. John A. Gronowski.

Mrs. Black has served as judge for shows at Huntington Art Galleries (Tri-Arts Association), Parkersburg Art Show, Beckley Art Exhibit, Arts and Crafts Exhibition, Artists of Tomorrow Competition, and Scholastic Arts Magazine State Competition.

We Salute You

Glenville State College's Custodial and Maintenance Department has been quite busy beautifying the campus all year. They should all be commended for their individual efforts which contribute to improving the grounds, buildings, and over-all campus.

Custodians and the Maintenance Department began their efforts long before students arrived on campus in September by cutting and trimming the lawns, cleaning rooms, waxing floors, moving furniture, and performing many other duties to get ready for the first semester.

During the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and semester recesses, these departments again continued to keep the floors waxed, hang draperies in windows, wash windows, and make repairs and improvements.

However, their work is not limited to vacations. Each day of the school week workers sweep floors, empty trash cans, deliver supplies, act on emergencies (such as shoveling snow, adding chairs to classrooms, making immediate repairs, etc.), and check buildings and locks each night.

No one can stress the importance of the Custodial and Maintenance Department enough. Without their help and duties, GSC could not operate efficiently. For these efforts, these duties, these needs, all done by friendly, intelligent, down-to-earth people, I salute you all.

Gals of GSC, Unite!

Dear Editor:

"Order in the court! This court will now come to order! Miss Bailiff, what are the cases coming before the judge tonight?"

"Well, your honor, first we have a DZ who forgot to tell the worthy house mothers of the establishment in which bed she was sleeping at the DZ house last weekend. Next we have the young lady who was forced to sleep in the hall because her host forgot to 'sign her in' before 9:00 p.m. Next, we have to consider what to do with the girl who didn't even know that she wanted to take her '1:00' by Thursday at noon. Imagine such a thing!"

"Bailiff, in order to save time, I am going to sentence all those accused to solitary confinement for three days. I feel generous tonight! Next time, I may take away their bathroom privileges!"

So might go a typical meeting of Women's Hall dormitory board, the all powerful body which rules approximately 1000 of our students. Girls, now is the time for change! Now is the opportunity to do something about the ridiculous—yes ridiculous—rules which you are forced to live by.

At neighboring state colleges, these changes have already been made. How were they made? Simply by girls "sticking together" and making their wants and demands known. They are now free of the shackles of rules which are designed to antagonize your college life. No longer do they have to bear the "sign-out" drudgery and carry the pink, white, orange, and var-colored cards around. Their hours have been liberalized to the point that they have at least become sensible to a point. A university I know, which is not far from here, sets the women's hours at 2:00 a.m. They are working on no hours at all for women! At one of our sister state colleges, the women are to be in the dormitory at 11:15 p.m., Sunday through Thursday and 1 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays. At large campus events, such as formal dances, etc., the women have "4:00's." They have also instigated the "Honor dorm" system where the women are free to judge what their hours should be.

First, the women of this campus should acquaint themselves with what the rules really are. Then, decide what you want to see changed. Third, take your case to the administration. Whether you realize it or not, you have the support of your administration. Go to them; talk to them; they are willing to listen to any of your ideas for progress. Women of this campus are so close to receiving more liberal hours, specifically 11:15's during the week and 1:00's on the weekends, that little action can put this thing through this year. Sororities, take a stand! WOGS, take a stand! Only by showing the administration that they have your support will they act for you. Women of GSC, unite!

The Regatta consists of racing manually-propelled oil drum rafts over a nine mile course of the Kanawha River between Glen Ferris and Montgomery. The course includes rapids, white water, and large slow pools. The river's conditions govern the maneuverability of the rafts.

The Regatta, which is perhaps the largest intercollegiate activity during the year, will be held this year on Saturday, April 12. The Regatta is sponsored by Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity of W. Va. Institute of Technology.

'Black Orpheus' Seen As Third Foreign Film

Another in the series of foreign films shown at Glenville State College during the remainder of the 1968-69 school year was "Black Orpheus," which retells, in a modern setting, the legend of Orpheus and Eurydice. The film was shown at 7:00 p.m. March 4 in the Auditorium of the Administration Building. In the film, Orpheus becomes a street-car conductor in the Negro section of Rio de Janeiro, while Eurydice, a country girl, is fleeing from a man sworn to kill her.

According to the "New York Times," "Black Orpheus" "...fills the ears and eyes... it is the music, the movement, the storm of color."

Proclaimed "Cue" of "Black Orpheus," "A dazzling combination... color tapestry of carnival and of blood pulsating music."

To be shown at GSC on Friday, March 21, is producer Niko Koundouros' "Young Aphrodites," a mood piece based upon ancient Greek legends and classical art about a group of Nomadic shepherds who live in a world of innocence and savage passion. The film centers primarily around two children who experience a sensational awakening.

Among other films to be shown in the near future are "Hallelujah the Hills" on April 1, "Shoot the Piano Player" on May 1, and "The Bridge" on May 12.

Although some difficulty with the audio portion of the program of "The Caretakers" was experienced when it was shown, the trouble has now been corrected.

Davis To Lecture On GSC Campus

Mr. George Davis, currently on the teaching staff at Ball State University in Muncie, Ind., will be at Glenville State College on March 10-11 lecturing on a variety of subjects to different classes, including social studies educational methods and disadvantaged youth.

Last year, Mr. Davis served on the staff of the high school geography project as consultant to disadvantaged youth in Boulder, Colo. This project served to develop new, innovative geography curriculum.

Placement Service Announces Changes

Dr. Paul E. Nagy, Director of Placement at Glenville State College, has announced some improvements now being made in the interviewing process for students at GSC.

The present office of Dr. Nagy, adjacent to the old cafeteria, is being renovated to provide four separate interviewing rooms to be used when prospective employers are on campus to interview students, and his new office will be in the room directly beside the stairs leading to the Student Union. In it will be all career and job opportunity criteria now posted on bulletin boards in the Administration Building, and also student grades, letters of recommendation, and other important information. The new office will be open for students to come in and browse through the pamphlets and brochures in their leisure time.

Dr. Nagy believes that, since the placement service is for the benefit of the students, the improvements being made will be much more beneficial now because interviews can be conducted on a much larger and deeper scale than before. Also, specific questions concerning employment and placement can be answered immediately.

DZ Selected As Princess

Betsy Jane Wingfield, a member of Delta Zeta sorority from St. Albans, has been selected by Kanawha County as its Strawberry Festival Princess. Miss Wingfield is a sophomore majoring in physical education and art.

This committee will assist the pledge trainer in her preparation of the pledges for their entrance into the sisterhood of Delta Zeta. Selected to be chairman of this committee was Sharon Burkhammer, who is assistant vice president of pledging. The committee is composed of the following members: Penny Atkinson, Sherry Christian, Diane Davis, Sandy Lucas, Jeannie Rockhold, and Ellida Van Allen.

On Feb. 24, Sandy Poling, standards chairman, presented the sorority with its first program of the semester, entitled "Personality Development." Speaker for the evening was Miss Jane Powell, Collegiate Chapter Director.

Representatives of the sorority were recently asked to attend the smokers of Theta Xi and Omega Kappa Phi fraternities. At the Theta Xi smoker, the girls presented a skit.

A spaghetti dinner is planned for March 11 at the chapter house. Tickets for the dinner are now on sale and may be purchased from any DZ. The cost of the tickets is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12 years of age.

There will also be a rummage sale, to be held on March 28 and 29 in Parkersburg. Preparations are now under way for both events.

Alumni Association Builds Student Fund

In order to build a substantial student loan fund, the Glenville State College Alumni Association will begin a fund drive around April 1. The drive will begin with the publication of the spring issue of the alumni Newsletter which will be sent to 6,000 GSC alumni.

In the past, the alumni fund drive has been to raise money for several memorial funds as well as the NDEA fund. According to Mr. Robert Gainer, director of the Alumni Association, the funds from this year's drive will be contributed only to the NDEA fund.

Any money contributed to this fund will be matched by federal funds at the ratio of 9 to 1. This means that for every dollar which the Alumni Association donates, the federal government will contribute $9. Mr. Gainer reported that in last year's drive about 250 alumni contributed approximately $3000.

WOGS Choose Theme

Final plans have been formulated for the WOGS formal dance to be held on March 14 in the ballroom. The band providing music will be the Seven Seas from Charleston. This group has provided background accompaniment for the vocal group, The Temptations.

It is again announced by the president, Judith Greenlee, that all members of WOGS who have paid their dues will be admitted without charge to the dance, along with their dates.

The theme chosen for the dance is "Through the Looking Glass." Decorations will be based on the story of Alice in Wonderland.

Female Views Differ

by Susan Wolford

Have you ever walked through the college campus, gone past a boy who is approaching you and suddenly realized that you should have spoken? Being unaware of a familiar face has recently stemmed from the presence of that extra added feature on the male's face—lots of hair.

Whether you have decided what your opinion is concerning this new looking breed of males several women on GSC's campus have given their viewpoint. A junior girl when asked what her opinion of side-burns, beards and moustaches was, replied, "Side-burns and moustaches are sticky and dirty looking but beards—I love them!"

One completely negative viewpoint of any of them was, "Clean shaven guys are neater—beards and moustaches look unsanitary." Here's a girl who "likes them all for they are distinguished and masculine." Guys do not feel slighted for there are still women who "Don't like them" but, "Wouldn't let a moustache stand in the way of dating a guy!" With comments like, "disgusting," "forget it," "love

'em" and "somewhat masculine," we find one individual who strongly decided that she did not like anyone's but Santa's "for his is light, white and fluffy." Santa's style has not been the most popular in this region, however.

Geometric shapes of various styles are being sported by GSC males. Take your pick of two sideburns traveling down the face to meet the beard at a distinct right angle at the cheekbone or the more curved sideburn that fades into a fluffy beard hooked to a curled-tipped moustache. Another added attraction is the Dutch boy length of hairstyle worn either completely straight or in tight curls.

Apparently the fashion world is being bombarded by males as well as females and probably will be as free about changing their minds concerning fads as quickly as women. So if you have decided in favor of or against our changing breed of males you may walk down the street and see that "ole familiar face again, perhaps this time sporting a clean-shaven face and a feathered haircut. Oh well, in this age of rapid change, the saying is, 'Hair today and gone tomorrow.'

County, College Development Boosted By Gilmer Station

Gilmer County and Glenville State College owe much of their development to Gilmer Station which served the first and only railroad in the county.

For many years the residents had worked for construction of a railroad, and finally in 1905, the Coal and Coke Railroad was completed. On Jan. 21, 1906, the first passenger train made a run and on Sept. 6, of the same year the passenger station was opened at Gilmer.

Senator Henry Gassaway Davis was instrumental in the building of the railroad in Gilmer County and was one of the directors of the Coal and Coke Railroad until they sold out to the B&O in 1916. His private car, the "Graceland" was often seen touring the line.

The opening of Gilmer Station created changes in transportation. From about 1818 the area had been served by gasoline boats on the Little Kanawha River which averaged 15 m.p.h. downstream and 2-3 m.p.h. upstream.

These boats had picturesque names such as the "Bonnie Bee," the "Oriole," and the "Robin." They were usually about 60 feet long and 20 feet wide.

After completion of the railroad, trains and gasoline boats provided the chief means of transportation for teachers and students of Glenville Normal School and the rest of the county. Fare by boat from Gilmer Station to Glenville was 75 cents. The boats carried passengers, mail, freight and most of the merchandise of the stores from the railroad. After the road from Glenville to Weston was completed in 1928, gasoline boats began to disappear from the river.

From 1923-1926 the northbound train had a pullman car and a diner. It stopped at Gilmer Station at 7:00 p.m. en route to Pittsburgh. There were five other passenger trains running through Gilmer Station at the time.

The progress of the railroad can be seen in the ticket sales. In 1923 before the improvement of the Glenville-Burnsville highway, 10,022 passenger tickets were sold and Gilmer Station received 22,500,000 pounds of freight.

By 1926 ticket sales had dropped to $750 per month. In 1943, the total number of tickets sold was 1,819 and in 1950, 350 tickets.

The day of the railroad was coming to a close. On June 30, 1951, passenger train No. 35 made its last run from Gilmer Station.

While coal traffic out of Gilmer County to Baltimore, Norfolk, Philadelphia and other seaports still continues, continues by rail, today cars and buses carry the passengers. Gilmer Station is no longer a bustline railroad station.

Faculty Indicates Desire To Serve

Preparing for a social event at any school includes many things—among them, locating chaperones for the event. The difficulty here seems to be that of finding enough interested faculty members to give their time and effort to the student body.

After some informal discussion concerning activities, it was decided that a poll be taken to indicate those faculty members who might volunteer some time for chaperoning student organization-sponsored dances on campus. The poll was taken by Dean of Student Affairs, Dr. Alfred T. Billips. The results received included the following information: Out of 84 faculty members, 48 responded to the questionnaire. Thirty-seven members said they were willing to serve as chaperones, leaving only 11 others unwilling or uninterested. Forty per cent of those answering the questionnaire made no specified amount of time for serving as a chaperone.

It should be noted that while a student may feel that he has contacted every person he feels might do the job, there are still others who have never been asked to chaperone.

Before the cry of despair is heard in planning a social event, Dr. Billips suggests contacting people who have not been given the opportunity to chaperone.
