GSC Alumni Day May 17 Play, Film, Dance On Tap

The Glenville State College Alumni Day will begin at 10 a.m. on May 17. At this time registration and a social gathering will be held in the ballroom.

The program for the day includes the Faculty Wives Children's Theater production of "Ransom of Red Chief," which will begin at 2 p.m. in the college auditorium. This production has been presented in the County elementary schools. This will be the group's final performance.

The second half of the program is being prepared by Donald Phillips and the audio-visual aid students. Their presentation is a film review of Glenville State College, "Now and Then."

A banquet will be held at 6 p.m. in the Pioneer Center Dining Room and will feature an address by Dr. Dana L. Farnsworth. Dr. Farnsworth was graduated from Glenville in 1923 and was selected as alumnus-of-the-year for 1969. Also on the agenda for the banquet is recognition of guests, alumni and the senior class representatives. The 1923, 1924 and 1959 graduating classes will be honored.

There will be a presentation of the Fifty-Year Class by Fred Wilson, president of the Alumni Association. Decorations for the banquet will center around the colors of the Fifty-Year Class, which were blue and gold.

In the past, classes were named for their sponsor. The Fifty-Year Class was called the Whiting Class of 1919. Hunter Whiting was the class sponsor and was associated with Glenville State College for 54 years. In 1955, he was chosen as the alumnus-of-the-year.

At the social hour from 5:30 to 6 p.m., there will be an hors d'oeuvre table. Miss Pearl Pickens is in charge of the table.

Progress Toward Completion Of Medical Center Continues

Since Aug. 15, 1967, when the Gilmer County Medical Center was incorporated, significant progress has been made toward their ultimate goal—the construction of a medical center building. Initiated by the Gilmer County Jaycees, the organization has several committees presently active in securing the various intermediate goals of the corporation.

The Construction Committee, with Dr. Charles Gilbert as Chairman, is responsible for having construction done on the center. Excavation of the land and the filling is now going on. The filling is being donated, transported and deposited free of charge by a construction company operating in the vicinity. Also, Mr. Robert J. Bennett, an architect from Morgantown has designed the proposed Medical Center building. The $500,000 structure will be approximately 130 feet by 84 feet in area. It will be a fire-proof, masonry structure, consisting of two levels. On the lower level, there will be offices for two doctors and one dentist. The upper level will be devoted to X-ray equipment, a diagnostic lab, and emergency-treatment rooms. Also in the building will be four rooms to accommodate over-night patients for short lengths of time.

Other committees of the Gilmer County Medical Center, Inc. are: Executive Committee, Mr. Bill E. Burke, President; and the Constitution and By-Law Committee, Dr. Byron Turner, Chairman.

Nu Lambda Psi Sorority, winner of the 1969 Mother's Day Sing.

Nu Lambda Psi's First In Mother's Day Sing

by Carol Hauman

Nu Lambda Psi sorority was awarded first place trophy in the Seventh Annual Mother's Day Sing. Sponsored by Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, the theme selected for this year was "The Ideal Mother."

The two selections sung by the 42 members of the newest sorority on campus, competing for the first year, were "There's Nothing Like a Mom" and "Edelweiss." Julia Murin, vice president of the sorority, re-wrote the words to "There's Nothing Like a Dame," and Nu Lambda Psi director, Jayne Beer, composed and presented an impressive introduction to the Swiss National Anthem, "Edelweiss." The girls were attired in powder blue baby-doll dresses with daisy trim.

Capturing second place honors in the Sing were the fraters of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity. Woodrow Wilson and Michael McCartney re-wrote the first selection entitled "To My Mom" from the tune of "Kumbayah." The second number, "Medley to Mother," written by two members of the fraternity, Tom Dooley and Frank Mellon, completely captured the hearts of the audience and received rousing applause as the boys broke into strains of "Mammy." The Tekes ended their performance with their "Sweetheart Song" re-written as "Mother of a TKE." The fraters wore cut-off blue jeans and T-shirts with straw hats and bare feet and carried baseball bats and gloves to present to their mothers the image of their childhood.

Third place winners, Theta Xi fraternity, directed by Richard Cump sang "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" and "That Wonderful Mother of Mine," dedicating their presentation to their house mother, Mrs. Turner. The Theta Xi's wore bermudas with white shirts and large improvised black bow ties and blue GSC beanies.

Serving for the second consecutive year as Master of Ceremonies for the Mother's Day Sing was Jack H. Albert, president of Omega Kappa Phi fraternity. Judging the competition were Dr. Billy E. Ross, Dean Stanley Hayward, Mr. Mark Aamot, Mrs. Robert Bence and Mrs. Lawrence Platt.

Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority welcomed the mothers with the opening selection entitled "Consider Yourself." Dr. D. Banks Wilburn, president of the college, delivered an impressive welcoming address praising the student body of Glenville State College. Other competing organizations were Delta Zeta sorority, the brothers of Omega Kappa Phi, and Verona Maple Hall. Alpha Sigma Alpha concluded the singing with "Mom" while the judges tallied their votes.

The judging was based on the percentage of the organization participating, the appearance of the group, originality of the selections pertaining to the theme, and the presentation.

Dean Revises Load Policy

The limitation on the course load carried by students while on academic probation has been removed. They may now enroll for a maximum amount of 16-17 hours during a semester and 8-9 hours during a summer session. A student on academic probation must enroll as a full-time student (12 hours or more during a semester and 6 hours or more during summer session) unless permitted to carry less by the Academic Affairs Committee.

Students having a "C" average or better may enroll for as much as 18 semester hours each semester without having the special permission of the Dean of the College. "This is a temporary relaxation of the policy on a trial basis." Should it not prove to be effective, the regular policy will again be put into effect.

Students May Pre-Register

Advising and pre-registration for the Fall Semester of 1969-70 will take place on May 19, 20 and 21. Important changes have been made in the procedure so students should pay close attention to the new regulations. Seniors only will register on May 19, juniors on May 20, and sophomores on May 21.

Students should note that for the purposes of pre-registration, the following definitions should be used:

Seniors—a student who will have completed a minimum of 90 hours or more of college work at the end of the semester.

Junior—a student who will have completed at least 58 semester hours.

Sophomore—a student who will have completed 28 semester hours.

Students should see their advisers in advance of the day they are scheduled to register to select classes and fill out pre-registration cards. The adviser's signature must be on the card, when the student goes to register.

On the day indicated, students should report to the Multi-Purpose Room of the Pioneer Center between either 8 a.m. and 12 or 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. At that time the Registrar will check cards and record the student's name on the class roll.

When a class or a section of a class is closed, the Registrar will notify the Divisional Chairman, who will notify the advisers in the division. Students who wish to pay their fees prior to Aug. 15 should make arrangements through the Office of the Registrar.

Alumnus Will Speak

On Friday, May 16, there will be an all campus assembly at 1 p.m. in the auditorium. Guest speaker will be Dr. Dana L. Farnsworth who was recently chosen the 1969 Glenville State College Alumnus of the Year.

Dr. Farnsworth's topic will be "Problems of Drug Distribution." Dr. Farnsworth has worked with Dr. Timothy Leary in experimentation of LSD. During this time, Dr. Farnsworth had to issue components of the drugs for the experiments. Both Dr. Farnsworth and Dr. Leary have worked together on books about drugs and health services. This year Dr. Farnsworth contributed all these books to Robert F. Kidd Library and can be found at the West Virginia Authors Collection.

Dr. Farnsworth attended Glenville Normal School and West Virginia University where he received his A.B. degree. Later he entered Harvard Medical School and was graduated in 1933.

Added to his credits is presidency of the American College Health Association. He has been awarded the honorary degrees of Doctor of Science, Doctor of Humane Letters, and Doctor of Laws.

Is GSC Disturbed?

I wonder if anyone on campus has bothered to read the newspapers in the last week or two.

Stories about campus violence appear almost daily. Riots, outbreaks and demonstrations have been occurring at Dartmouth, Cornell, Purdue, the University of Southern California, and San Francisco State University.

Case studies have proven that many of these riots started as peaceful demonstrations. Because of police brutality, however, these demonstrators found that violence has been the only escape route. Not only demonstrators but also press men and innocent by-standers were harassed and beaten by "America's respected policemen."

Why, oh why, then, must we employ another campus policeman at Glenville?

Presently we have two campus policemen, two town policemen and one state trooper who reside in Glenville.

I wish that someone would tell me the duties of our campus policemen. Through observation, one would get the idea that the daylight policeman's duties are writing out parking tickets and acting as a communicator. The evening security officers' duties would, I imagine, be that of a watchman, which would seem useless since GSC does employ night watchmen. However, they may be spelled out in the form of just plain sitting in the maintenance office and resting. Where, then, would a third policeman fit into the picture?

Maybe he could hold the pad for the daytime security officer while he writes out parking tickets or make coffee for the evening police officer.

Not only does employing another policeman seem ridiculous in terms of practicality but also in terms of money.

No wonder GSC is going to lose several good faculty members they now employ. A three per cent raise does not sound very impressive to a professional who realizes that money is being squandered on security officers or put into funds for positions that will not be filled or added to the administration.

Perhaps Glenville did not learn a lesson this year with the North Central Accreditation team because academic affairs obviously do not come first at Glenville. If it did then we would retain some of the faculty members who help the college by paying them for their contributions instead of neglecting them for unreasonable positions.

Again, however, I missed the entire meaning of a new policeman. If it were not for those six men the approximately 1500 militant students in Glenville, W. Va., may capture America.

What's That You Say, Kid?

Dear Editor:

Recently, in a discussion on student rights, one of my colleagues on the faculty remarked that "when we start taking orders from kids, we're in trouble." The implication being, of course, that "kids" are too callow and immature to really know what is best for them. It is statements like this that slam the door shut on dialogue, eradicate any ray of hope for understanding, and reduce the student to the level of a pawn to be manipulated and exploited without even the decency of personal consent. The result can only be one of resentment—and like all resentment, it festers and finds other modes of expression, some of them violent.

It was these same "kids" who, though not "mature" enough to formulate campus policy, who have stirred the moral conscience of this nation with regards to the millions of black Americans who were deprived of their rights, forced to keep their place, and were expected to live off the crumbs that fell from the tables of the whites. It was these same "kids" who questioned and forced the "adults" to consider the morality of the Viet Nam war and the insanity of killing. It is these same "kids" who spend their vacation time to work among the poor in the ghetto, or travel the roads of Appalachia in order to touch the less fortunate with hope and demonstrate their concern. It is these same "kids" who are asking to be heard—for their college administrators to listen to their problems and share their concerns. And how else, may I ask, can an administrator truly lead if he refuses to listen, if he refuses to take students seriously, if he refuses to see them as anything other than "just kids"? Like Bob Dylan said, the older generation "should be made to wear earphones."

Ex-Student Writes Article

Dr. Max Ward, Chairman of the Division of Science and Mathematics holds the March 21 issue of 'Science,' which has as its front cover an electron micrograph made by Sue Ellen Frederick, B.S. '66, now a third-year graduate student in botany at the University of Wisconsin. The diamond-shaped object indicated in the photograph is a complex crystalline protein aggregating near chloroplasts in green plants described in an accompanying article.

The weekly magazine has a circulation of over 150,000 among scientists the world over. The article is the second published by Miss Frederick on work done in graduate school. Two other papers have been published in collaboration with Dr. Ward on botanical research done at Glenville while Miss Frederick was an undergraduate. She is currently preparing a fifth paper at the University of Wisconsin.

Taft Encourages Student Research

Ohio Congressman Robert Taft, Jr., Chairman of the House Republican Research Committee, encourages college students to tackle pressing national and international issues through intensive research work and to forward their findings to the Research Committee. He explained, "Too often good research work ends up in some dusty file with a grade tacked on it and is never seen or used again."

"The young people of today are deeply concerned about these problems and have ideas which would greatly benefit policy makers," Taft said. "They are a great untapped reservoir of constructive and creative talent that we on the Research Committee are interested in utilizing."

Taft said that the committee has just set up a number of task forces that will be exploring various issues deserving high priority attention. These include task forces on earth resources and population control; labor law reform; agriculture and rural affairs; social security and human needs; urban affairs; transportation; education and training; international trade, and nuclear affairs.

Taft noted that the House Republican Conference has already signed on twenty young scholars to work with the Research Task Forces this summer.

Initiates Join Drama Group

Members of Alpha Psi Omega have announced their selection of new members for this year. The initiation of these new cast members will be held May 24 in the Underground at 1:30 p.m.

Those receiving invitations were: Julia Murin, sophomore majoring in English; Trava Tiann Vogel, sophomore majoring in English and speech; Patsy Herojd, senior majoring in physical education; Ruth Terry, a junior majoring in speech; and Charles Gene Harris, a freshman majoring in art.

Alpha Psi Omega was organized as an honorary dramatic fraternity for those doing a high standard of work in drama and technical jobs. The expansion of Alpha Psi Omega among the colleges of the United States and Canada provides a wider fellowship for those interested in the college theater. The fraternity is not intended to take the place of the regular dramatic club or other producing clubs, but as students qualify, they are rewarded by election to membership in this society.

The purpose of the Theta Alpha Cast of Alpha Psi Omega at Glenville is to stimulate interest in dramatic activities at Glenville State College, to secure for the college all the advantages and mutual helpfulness provided by a large national honorary fraternity, and by the means of electing students to membership, serve as a reward for their efforts in participating in the plays staged by the dramatic organizations of the college.

Alpha Psi Omega was founded August 12, 1925 at Fairmont State College in West Virginia. Since that time the membership has grown to include over 400 active chapters in the United States and Canada. It is the largest dramatic fraternity in the world. The election to membership is the highest honor one can receive in the collegiate theater. Also, Alpha Psi Omega is the oldest national organization on the GSC campus.

Summer Art Classes Offered At Galleries

Different class programs will be offered to the public this summer at the Huntington Art Galleries. These classes offer study in many different arts, for both children and adults. The adult classes begin June 16 and classes for the children begin July 7.

The Kansas City painter and teacher, Matthew Monks, comes to the galleries as a visiting artist this summer and will conduct an adult drawing and watercolor workshop. The workshop is open to beginning students as well as advanced and professional artists.

Adult classes in ceramics and pottery will be conducted Monday through Friday by William Meadows of the gallery staff.

All of these adult summer classes are scheduled for a two-week period, from June 16 to June 27.

Seminar Will Strengthen Academic Background

"The modern world is made up of many different cultures - some of them radically different from our own. It is also a world of accelerated change in which these cultures are combined and transmuted with astonishing speed. Because the modern educated person must be aware of these developments, the liberal education of today must provide a knowledge and understanding of these cultures and changes. The interrelatedness of all liberal disciplines, the interdependence of peoples, the demands of emerging nations, the dominant position of the United States—all these require that the modern educator know something of the world beyond his national borders and his academic discipline."

In order to provide this knowledge of different cultures, the Faculty Institute for International Studies, which is sponsored by the Regional Council for International Education, was established in 1964, starting with Asia and followed by Africa, Latin America, Eastern Europe, Soviet Union, and the Middle East. Under this program, the 22 participating colleges are divided into four regions and a particular college in each region is chosen as the site for eleven scheduled meetings. The meetings in this area were held at Fairmont this year. The last meeting of the year will be Friday, May 9 and will be an all-day conference at the University of Pittsburgh.

"The concept of the Faculty Institute is based on the assumption that every course taught and every seminar involving students has been, or ought to be, affected in some measure by people, ideas and cultures from outside sources. The Faculty Institute Program seeks to broaden horizons and to offer insights into ways in which teaching can become increasingly effective and liberal learning progressively enriched."

The Faculty Institute for International Studies has been established in two stages. Through the first stage, the winter interdisciplinary seminars, it is hoped that the participants gain a breadth of sensitivity to different cultures and an understanding of the international component of the liberal disciplines. The second stage, the summer program, will allow selected participants to develop a depth of competence in the international aspects of their own disciplines.

"It is not the purpose of the Faculty Institute for International Studies to develop Middle Eastern experts. Rather, the immediate aim is to enable the participants, normally teaching faculty members, to strengthen their academic backgrounds in an area of the world frequently neglected and little understood."

Teachers representing Glenville State College in this program are: Mr. Kenneth Sewell, Col. Loren McCartney, Mr. Robert Bence, and Mr. John Morrow.

Farewell Dinner Honors Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Smith

A farewell dinner will be held in the new cafeteria at 5:30 p.m. on May 27 in honor of Mrs. Eva Taylor, Resident Director of Women's Hall, and Mrs. Mabel Smith Butler, Resident Director of Verona Mapel Hall, who are retiring at the end of this year.

Students Visit Morgantown

On April 18 the Forestry students traveled to Morgantown to attend the WVU, Penn State and Syracuse University forestry meet. They also visited Cooper's Rock State Forest, the U.S. Forest Service Experiment Station and toured WVU's forestry department.

The Glenville students heard lectures on what the forestry service experiment station does and what career opportunities are available with the Forestry Service.

Recently the Forestry Club volunteered its services to the Glenville community for the purpose of clearing the future site of the Gilmer County Medical center.
