Grandstaff Speaks To GSC Students At CRC Program

Reverend John Grandstaff of the St. Mark's United Methodist Church in Charleston was the featured speaker at the annual Thanksgiving Program presented by the Campus Religious Council this morning in the auditorium.

Mr. Ralph Gay gave the invocation. Also, in addition to the speech given by Rev. Grandstaff, the GSC Concert Choir, under the direction of Mr. Mark Aamot, presented two selections pertaining to the Thanksgiving theme. The selections were: "Psalm 37" by Bruckner and "All Breathing Life Sing" and "Praise the Lord" by Bach.

The Thanksgiving holidays begin on the GSC campus tomorrow, Nov. 26, at 12 noon and last until 8 a.m. Monday, Dec. 1.

Two Volumes Delivered To Office Of Placement

The Robert F. Kidd Library delivered to the Office of Career Planning and Placement two volumes of the "Annual Guides to Graduate Study" which delineates and sets forth all of the graduate schools and graduate programs within the United States.

All interested students are welcome to stop in the Office of Career Planning and Placement and look through them.

Seniors should make every effort to get their folders of completed forms in to the Placement Office before the Christmas Recess.

Grades To Be Considered By Testing Programmers

At the end of the fall semester, freshmen grades will be studied and computed for comparison with ACT test scores throughout the United States. These facts are presented to the North Central Association of Colleges and the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. This study is done primarily to see how Glenville State College freshmen compare with previous classes.

The study is initiated in the summer when prospective students send in the ACT Test scores. Fall semester grades are sent in to the American College Testing research center in Iowa City, Iowa. There the statistics are run through computer tape and analyzed. This process will indicate a student's chances for making a "C" grade.

According to Dr. Alfred T. Billips, Dean of Student Affairs, teachers and other faculty members are able to predict with a high percentage of accuracy the probability of the student making a "C" or better in all courses before he comes, on the basis of high school grades and results of the ACT Test.

Early Childhood Education Started For Elem. Teachers

Not many students realize that GSC has an academic program which is a bit out of the ordinary. The program which concerns early childhood education was initiated on the Glenville campus during the 1968-69 school year. The college had long before applied for certification in the field but the State Board did not give their approval until the spring of 1969. Glenville is one of the few colleges in W.Va. which is certified to train teachers for early childhood education.

This program provides training for college students who are interested in working with nursery and kindergarten, which is held in the Pioneer Center, was started with hopes that some GSC students would be able to do some of their directed teaching there. Until this year, those hopes were not fulfilled. There is also a nursery school, which is maintained in the Home Management House of Court Street. Through these two laboratory situations, students in the early childhood program are given experience in getting to know young children, dealing with their problems and learning how they react to various influences.

The early childhood education program at Glenville is based partially on a program from Columbia University. Miss Jewell Matthews, advisor of the program and one of the founders, has studied early childhood education at Columbia under the direction of Dr. Roman Gans.

In order to be certified as a kindergarten or nursery school teacher, a student at GSC must follow the regular curriculum provided for elementary education majors. In addition to these classes 18 credit hours must be spent in classes designed for the teacher of preschool children. These classes include: library science 330, child care and guidance 301, art 315, speech correction 336, and child psychology 350. Part of these courses were created especially for the early childhood program while others were chosen for their provision of material basic to the preschool teacher.

In addition to these classes, the early childhood education student is provided with a special methods class during the professional block. Since the program provides for certification through sixth grade the student teacher must complete 5½ weeks of directed teaching in the kindergarten and 5½ weeks in elementary school. The GSC kindergarten will be the home base for the first group of preschool teachers who will begin their directed teaching next semester. These students include Sue Ellen Foreback, Judy Law, Carol McWhorter, and Mary Ann Osborne.

Present facts and figures prove that preschool instructors are in great demand. Presently there are less than 100 certified early childhood education instructors in W.Va.

Miss Matthews feels more students would be interested in the program if they knew more about it. She urges all interested students, especially freshmen and sophomores, to contact her concerning the program.

GSC Coed To Compete For Alpine Queen Title

President D. Banks Wilburn received a letter from the Tucker County Alpine Festival inviting GSC to send a representative to the Alpine Festival held at Davis, Feb. 5, 6, and 7, 1970. Colleges and Universities in West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia, and Pennsylvania are invited to sponsor a princess to represent their respective schools. From these princesses, a queen will be selected. The queen will be chosen on the basis of personality, poise, scholastic achievement, appearance, and talent.

22 Seniors Will Represent College In Who's Who Book

Twenty-two seniors have been chosen to represent Glenville State College in the 1970 Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Those chosen are Jack H. Albert, Jr., Penny Sue Atkinson, Rita Darlene Barnes, Nicolynn Kaye Boso, Kathryn Elizabeth Casto, Jerome Cohen, Roger Lee Cutright, Diane Davis, Thomas Arthur Dent, Sharon Louise Dutton, Judy Darlene Greenlee, Beverly Ann Hurst, Larry Dean Jackson, Elyn Marie Meadows, Ronald Keith Nichols, Catherine Elaine Nocida, Ronald Dean Riggs, Kathryn Lea Ruten, Roger Wesley Simon, Marilyn Ann Smith, Marshall Dell Stanley and Pamela Walker Tyree.

Jack Albert, a social studies major from Belle, has served in the SGA in the capacity of secretary and sophomore class president. He was president of Omega Kappa Phi fraternity, president and vice-president of Louis Bennett Hall, and president of Wesley Foundation. He was chosen to be on the Governor's Committee on Youth, Loans and Scholarship Committee, Constitution Revision Committee, and is a reporter for the Mercury.

A social studies major from Parkersburg, Penny Atkinson is recording secretary of Kappa Delta Pi, a member of the Ladies of the White Rose, and has served two years on the Women's Hall Governing Board. A member of Delta Zeta sorority, Penny has held the offices of parliamentarian, historian, house manager, and is on the Executive Council, and House Corporation Board.

'Operation Entertainment,' Constitution Concern SGA

The Student Government Association held its weekly meeting Nov. 20. Among the points of discussion was the postponement of the all-campus election concerning "Operation Entertainment."

The Greek Council proposal concerning "Operation Entertainment" reads: "We, the Greek Council, do hereby petition the Student Government Association of Glenville State College that the members of the student body be assessed a fee of five dollars per semester to be allocated to the Student Government Association for the expressed purpose of acquiring entertainment in the form of dances and/or concerts."

The all-campus election scheduled to decide if this proposal will become an amendment to the SGA Constitution has been postponed from its Dec. 2 date to Dec. 11. Dr. D. Banks Wilburn, President of the College, spoke before the Council concerning this all-campus election: "If this proposal is passed, it will not be presented to the Board of Regents until a later date, and will not go into effect before that date, it would have to be considered an emergency, and Darlene Barnes is a math major from Parkersburg and is treasurer of the senior class and current treasurer of Delta Zeta sorority. Other sorority offices she has held are scholarship chairman, philanthropic chairman, Executive Council Collegiate Advisory Board, Evaluating Committee for Actives, and the House Corporation Board. She has also been a member of the Student Education Association, Convocation and Lyceum Committee, and Auditing Committee.

An elementary education major from Parkersburg, Nicky Boso is the current president of the Student Government Association and of Delta Zeta sorority. She has also served as vice-president of her freshman class and a member of the Publications Committee.

Kathy Casto, a language arts major from Ravenswood, is editor-in-chief of the Mercury. Previously she has served as the News Bureau Director and IBM operator, and is now a member of the Publications Committee. During her freshman year, she was a member of the Student Education Association. She is a member of the Ohnimgohow Players and played the lead role in the GSC 1967-68 production of "Madwoman of Chailot."

Jerry Cohen is an elementary education major from Lindenhurst, N. Y. In his freshman year, Jerry served on the Louis Bennett Hall governing board and was a member of Wesley Foundation. For two years he was a member of the Collegiate Marching Band and Concert Band. He has been (Continued on page four) this is not an emergency. The fees have been expressed in the College catalog, and this catalog is a legal contract for the student." Dr. Wilburn has also sent a letter to all Student Council members stating that this will be a valid election if 50.1 per cent of all students vote. The money, if the proposal is passed, will be handled by the Student Council.

The Constitution Committee met and submitted a rough draft to the Council concerning a revised Constitution for the SGA. A meeting was scheduled for Nov. 21 at 1 p.m. with Dr. Paul Nagy in the Placement Office. The major change, as presented in the rough draft, would be membership. The name would be changed to the Student Congress of Glenville State College. The Congress would consist of a President, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and parliamentarian to be elected in an all-campus election. Three Independents will also be chosen as well as three Greek representatives. Also elected will be: one member from Verona Maple Resident Hall; two members from Women's Hall; two members from Louis Bennett Hall; and one member from each of the four classes.

A+ For Effort?

I realize that the Mercury is not perfect, but apparently many of you expect us to be.

I have received several complaints this week that the staff of this newspaper has not been reporting club news fairly, that we favor certain organizations over others, and that we purposely omit news of certain other organizations. This is not true, and I believe that any rumors regarding these accusations should be corrected at once. Read these next few paragraphs and listen to our side.

We print four pages every week, on the average, and often, these four pages are not enough to contain all of the news on campus. We (the staff and I) have to print what we consider as most important and interesting to the majority of the student body. That is precisely why we may, for example, run a story concerning a new ruling on campus policy and leave out a story about a club bake sale.

The staff and I would also like to make it clear that we, as a group, favor no organization, whether it be Greek, Independent, religious, cultural, vocational, honorary or social. Granted, individually, we may have our own preferences, but we endeavor to present the news fairly and accurately.

Often, we are also limited by time. We distribute the Mercury on Wednesday mornings and on that very Wednesday evening, we begin work on the next issue. Deadline is Thursday noon and all news which may be submitted after that time will, in most cases, be held until the next week. Some of our news is dated, admittedly, but with our strict schedule, we have no other choice.

If you feel that the Mercury is not presenting the news of your club or organization fairly, we would like for you to let us know. We will do our best to follow any worthwhile, constructive and feasible suggestions for the improvement of your campus newspaper.

At least give us an A+ for effort.

Student Criticizes Ruling

My first encounter at Glenville State College pertaining to a poorly-worded statement was rather disheartening. I noticed a rule in the student handbook regarding the registration of automobiles. Herein follows the rule in its entirety:

1. Freshmen and sophomores will be allowed to bring automobiles on campus if they are commuting from outside the city or are permanently disabled.

As you can see, this is rule one. I supposed, incorrectly, I fear, that this rule pertained to me due to the fact that I am permanently disabled.

Upon inquiring of the Dean, who shall here remain nameless, I found that "permanently disabled" was a state of being wherein one is unable to negotiate the steps and steep hills that abound in the area of our beloved campus.

At the utterance of these synonyms this particular purveyor of wisdom fell in my estimation of his scholarly attributes. He virtually catapulted himself from the crumbling pedestal upon which I had placed him, not to mention the consternation I endured trying to rid myself of an unwanted automobile.

To my way of thinking the statement of the rule was clear and concise, albeit misleading. Of course, I protested in writing but as of this writing there has been no dispensation of my case. The Dean's office has assured me that a decision is pending.

Mass Exemplifies Silent Majority

Mr. Nixon in his Viet Nam policy speech expressed faith in the silent majority within America, and at the same time condoned the militant minority. Recently at Washington D. C. a few demonstrators marched in favor of the President's policies bearing signs stating: "We are the silent majority." Is not this again a minority of people speaking for the whole group.

In either case it can be ascertained that only the reactionaries of both extremes are expressing their views. Where is John Q. Public, who works his eight hours a day and then retires to his serene family surroundings? What is the reason for the silence of the so called silent majority?

Political scientists tell us the reason for the silence can be explained by the mass man theory. That is, most people feel alienated to the situations in the United States because they consider their one vote or opinion will make no difference. Perhaps this explains the 25 per cent turnout of eligible voters at our quadrennial rituals. But again, what about the stay-at-home Americans? What are their feelings, if any are present?

Herein lies the cause for greatest concern today. Not the militant minority that makes the news daily, but the silent Americans whom I believe are actually apathetic. As long as these individuals lives are not seriously effected, they will remain in a state of apathy.

This is very evident on college campuses. While a few hundred "concerned" students at either extremity take action for their beliefs thousands of students only stand back and observe instead of participating. We live under a government by the people, not a government of the few. Everyone must do his part in order to make government function for the people.

Although I am not advocating the moratoriums and such demonstrations as good or bad, the fact cannot be overlooked that the mass of American people were touched in some manner by the demonstrations. Perhaps more involvement like this by the people will stir our lethargic tendencies.

Whatever the solution may be, we as responsible adults must take a stand. Become known as an individual who can think for himself, not a member of the apathetic silent majority.

Is The SGA Necessary?

Dear Sirs:

We have some grave doubts about the authority of the Student Government Association as the representative of the student body. The proportion of fraternity and sorority members to independents compared to the same proportion in the entire student body indicates how unfair the representation is. And we would not like to ascribe to the typical student the kind of thinking behind some SGA actions.

The War Moratorium was supported by many Glenville State College students, and opposed by some. But the SGA didn't give a damn one way or the other.

They voted against the proposed increase in student fees to improve the library, but voted to award a cash prize for a jazz-rock festival of high school bands—a modern version of "bread and circuses."

They planned to create a student senate, which never materialized. Was the Administration afraid for too many students to get together in one group?

Do we really need an SGA at all?

Active Presidency Favored

by John Teets

Traditionally liberals have always favored an active Presidency, but in the light of Vietnam many have begun to have some reservations. In the May 3 issue of Saturday Review, Authru Schlesinger Jr., tries to accomodate liberal philosophy to these new reservations by proposing a less activist role for the President in foreign policy and a stronger hand for the President in domestic matters. Yet, Schlesinger does not propose that the domestic powers of the President be increased per se, but rather he suggests that Congress be made a less effective obstacle to Presidentially-sponsored legislation. Specifically, he proposes that important Presidential proposals should go directly to the floor for debate and vote, that the President be given the item veto, and that the seniority system be done away with.

On international matters however, Schlesinger has no such concrete proposals. Indeed he admits that any further restriction on the President would hopelessly hobble our foreign policy, and concedes "the futility of trying to solve substantive problems by structural means."

This is very commendable reasoning, but it gives an odd perspective on Schlesinger's domestic thinking. The changes Schlesinger would make in Congress are all designed to eliminate certain structural devices which have been used to frustrate liberal legislation. But since the use of these devices, rather than the devices themselves, have killed legislation, the problem is one of substance. If these legislative devices are abolished, political minorities are unable to affect their political environment they become disgusted with the entire process.

The activist view of the Presidency, and of the government as a whole is too narrow, because to regard government primarily in terms of an instrument for social improvement is to lessen its worth as an agent of civilized reconciliation.

Albert Commended

My sincere congratulations go to Jack Albert on his marvelous column in Nov. 12, 1969 issue of the Mercury. It was about time that someone challenged our SGA or Student Council or whatever they are.

It seems to me that in this age of protest, the majority of students ("the great silent majority" as President Nixon terms them) should have the right to decide issues for themselves. This right was refused to them by their student leaders, whom the freshmen, who compose a great number of our student body, did not even help select.

I would really like to know what these leaders are for and against. Suddenly as I turned to page four of the same issue, I read a box which said there would be an all-campus assembly to discuss increasing the activity fees. It is my understanding that this would support the Greek Council's idea of having a big name band appear on campus. That is fine but why then did the majority of the students not come to hear the big name bands during the last three years? All of a sudden, every student is going to be asked to support with their money the wishes of a few students on campus.

The library proposal was not to take from the many to give to the few. Everyone associated with GSC's educational goals is also associated with the library. I know how frustrating it is to have access to only a limited number of references for additional class work. I also know how many students visit the library each day. I wonder how this number will compare to the ones who attend a one or two night show.

Last year in late spring, many students were interested in increasing our educational system. I heard cries of new buildings, supplies, curriculum changes, etc. I also heard five members of our "whatever it is" say "we are with you" and watched them tell a group of three or four hundred students they could not call for a vote because the "MAJORITY" was not represented. How many student elections have seen the majority of students vote? Perhaps many of our student leaders were illegal! This is only one issue where our students have been cheated this year. What happened to the Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities idea? Why do the students not plan Homecoming? Why would the SGA not take a stand on the War Moratorium?

Who knows what is really happening at GSC? Apparently no one cares. Someday many of you will want to use our library for thorough work in your field. (Everyone in the professional semester does and should.) What will you say when your resources are limited? You can always look back and say so what, I saw the teen-e-bopper special one night. Those groups appear on television but how many books and knowledgeable materials do you see there?

Will you sit and watch yourself be cheated? I hope not.

Ray Swisher Sets New Sports Record For GSC Pioneers

by George Springer
WVIAC Commissioner

Ray Swisher's feat of 30 straight extra point conversion kicks for Glenville State College, a new Pioneer record as well as a Conference mark for most conversion kicks in a single season, sent Commissioner George Springer scurrying to the record books.

"As far as I can find out, this is easily a record," the commissioner said. "Doug Dean had 17 in a row in two games for Concord in 1966, and may have had one or two in games before and immediately after, but the statistic sheets do not show these things up. But Dean did have misses."

Springer added that John Huff could be close to it. "He missed one against Glenville, and there again I don't know which one of the nine attempts he had. He has kicked 14 in a row since, and if he had the last eight against Glenville, it would only be 22 compared to Swisher's 30."

While delving into extra point conversions by the kick, the WVIAC commissioner also found out a few things about field goals. For one thing, 16 of the three pointners have been booted in the conference this year—a record. Previous high was nine kicked last year. Swisher has a record of four in 1969, but Huff is credited with six in the scoring records, but they are absent from official statistical sheets, the Commissioner noted.

Longest field goal attempt in the Conference was Terry Kidder's 47-yarder for West Liberty against W. Va. State this year. The previous high distance was 45. Kocsis of Salem kicked one of this length against Bluefield State in 1963 and Fairmont's Huff tied that this year against West Liberty. Swisher had a 44 yarder in Glenville's game with Bluefield State this year.

"The kick is really here to stay," the conference commissioner has decided, as he noted that over the years since 1947 there have been 58 field goals and 37 of these from 1966 on. Shepherd has the most, 11. West Liberty kickers have booted 10.

Bevelander Performs In December 2 Recital

Mr. Brian Bevelander will perform in a faculty recital on Tuesday, Dec. 2, at 8 p.m. in the GSC auditorium. Mr. Bevelander, is new in the music department this year and teaches piano, theory and music history.

His undergraduate study was done at the New England Conservatory and the University of Hartford where he received his Bachelor of Music degree. The Master of Music was awarded to him at Boston University.

While at Boston, Mr. Bevelander served as a research assistant to Professor Asher Zlonik and assistant to Dr. Hugo Norden, Professor of Composition and Theoretical Subjects.

Training Held By Music Specialist

The Regions IV-VI Music In-Service Day, sponsored by the Field Service and Extension division, was held on Nov. 18 in the Pioneer Center. Consultants for the workshops were Dr. Robert Wolff, music educator at Marshall University; Mr. Thomas O'Connell, woodwind instructor at Marshall University; and Mr. James Andrews, music specialist from the State Department of Education.

Mr. O'Connell conducted a workshop on the "Techniques of Woodwind Instruments" and "Solos and Ensembles for Woodwind Study." The workshop introduced literature for young performers on woodwind instruments. A clinic for students was included in the workshop.

Dr. Wolff conducted a session on "Singing in the Junior High" and "New Units for General Music." The workshops of Dr. Wolff included literature for junior high voices. An introduction into new music units for general music classes in the junior high was also included.

The workshop of Mr. Andrews was held in the front of the ballroom for elementary teachers and elementary music specialists. The topic was "Rhymes, Rhythms, and Melody." The workshop involved the concepts of the Orff studies with demonstrations of rhythm and melodic instruments in this approach.

15 GSC Records Smashed; Haight, McDermitt Claim 12

by George Springer
WVIAC Commissioner

Tom Haight, Pete McDermitt, and Ray Swisher of New Marysville, Point Pleasant and Glenville, respectively, practically rewrote the Glenville State football record book this year. The season closed last Saturday with the Pioneers' come-from-behind win over Shepherd, 21-17.

Haight smashed six records, McDermitt did likewise, Swisher added two, while Mike Roscoe of Hundred added another and tied one, as did Jackie Robinson of White Sulphur Springs.

One of Haight's school records set a new conference standard, 38 ball carries in a game, while McDermitt grabbed a league mark with his 1,403 yards of pass completions. Haight erased Roy Jackson's ball carrying mark. The Fairmont player had 35 carries against Tech in 1964. Haight ran 38 times against Concord. McDermitt's passing yardage wiped out the 1,382 yards thrown by Ralph Townsend of Tech in 1965.

Haight's new school records (old record in parenthesis) follow: most points season 72 (60), touchdowns season 12 (10), yards rushing season 913 (601), yards rushing game 252 (174), ball carries season 184 (130).

McDermitt's new Pioneer marks include: yards passing season 1,403 (915), passes attempted season 181 (147), passes completed season 94 (75), touchdown passes season 10 (7), touchdown passes game 3 (2), total offense season 1415 (931).

Swisher's marks are: most conversions season 30 (15), best conversion kicking percentage 100 on 30 for 30 (83.3 on 15 of 18).

Roscoe's team record was most passes received, 455 (412), and he and Robinson tied most touchdown passes caught in a game, two. Spadaro had done the same twice in 1952 against Potomac and Salem.

Art Department Announces Packaging Design Contest

The Art Department of Glenville State College has announced it will participate in the Annual St. Regis Collegiate Packaging Design Contest.

Mr. Charles Scott, director of the department, said he expects about five students will participate in the competition, which is being sponsored for the 11th consecutive year by the St. Regis Paper Company. A total of $12,250 in prize money will be awarded to students and schools.

Entrants in the contest, which closes March 15, 1970, will be asked to create a design for one of five types of packages—a multiwall bag for an industrial food product; a corrugated container for fresh vegetables; a flexible film wrap for a loaf of bread; a folding carton for toys; and a no-holds-barred package using any of all six new materials for any type of product.

The contest entries are judged by a panel composed of important packaging purchasers, design authorities or editors of leading publications covering the packaging field.

Winners will receive their awards in the cities where their schools are located. The awards will be made in the spring of 1970.

Prizes go to both the winning students as well as to their schools. Last year a total of $6,500 was presented. This year the amount has been doubled.

Last year's competition drew 1,554 entries from 126 schools in 47 states. According to contest director Fred B. Hohenhorst, Jr., a total of 3,700 schools, 200 more than last year, have been invited to participate in the 1969-70 competition. Receiving Honorable Mention in this contest last year was Steve Wolfe.

The Major's Club will sponsor a sandwich sale in each of the women's dormitories on Dec. 3. The sale will begin at 10:00 p.m. Proceeds will be used to help purchase new uniforms.

IRC Reveals Officers; Davis Elected President

The newly-organized Inner Residence Council of Glenville State College elected officers at a recent meeting.

Elected president was Kenneth Davis, a sophomore social studies major from Aurora, Ohio.

Ruth Snyder, a 19-year-old sophomore art major from Harrisville, was selected to serve as vice president.

Secretary of the IRC is Melody Johnson. A junior English major, Miss Johnson is from Parkersburg.

A freshman from Caldwell, Ohio, Emily Warren, was selected to be treasurer. Miss Warren is an English major.

As we pause for the Harvest Holiday, and the campi* is calm, let us lift our eyes to the smog filled skies and ponder. And as we sit at our tables to fill our stomachs after watching the Macy's Miracle on 34th Street that heralds the advent of the Christmas Season by introducing Santa Clause in all his blissful eloquence, to thousands of children who somehow never equate Dec. 25 and the birth of Christ as one and the same, let us be thankful?

As we doze through the half-time of the gridiron galas, knowing that we have delivered the gift-baskets to the needy, and all is well until next year, let us be thankful?

Looking up at the Harvest Moon (now belonging to the United States) wonder why and what for, you are thankful?

Watching reflections in a polluted stream, you see that first Thanksgiving Those stalwart souls, you remember, the dissident few who sought a new world, sitting with "friends" and sharing their prosperity. As you think of the long-haired Pilgrims and their voyage in the Mayflower (that according to Captain John Smith certainly didn't smell like one.) and of the ignorant Indians who taught them survival in the newer world only to be shoved farther west, be ye thankful?

And we abhor violence, and we are thankful, and violence is rats eating babies, or a hungry woman, an unloved child in a vacuum of time, the lonely face in the crowd, and violence is, and the band plays on.

Of course, we are thankful for a war to win peace, because after all, it's the only war we have.

God Bless us merry gentlemen, we certainly need it.

The moon is ours, and so is poverty; it's called priorities folks!

According to a national publication, entitled West Virginia Colleges and Universities, Glenville State College is now offering religion.
