Dr. David Smith

Dr. David Smith To Speak On Psychedelic Syndrome

Dr. David E. Smith, the Medical Director of the Haight-Ashbury Medical Clinic in San Francisco, the hippie capital of the world, has been rescheduled to speak on Tuesday, April 28, at 10:00 a.m. in the Ballroom of the Pioneer Center. His speech will concern "LSD and the Psychedelic Syndrome."

In addition to controlling therapeutic policy at the non-profit clinic, Dr. Smith is Consultant on Drug Abuse for the Department of Psychiatry, San Francisco General Hospital, as well as Assistant Clinical Professor of Toxicology at the University of California Medical Center and Lecturer in Criminology at the University of California at Berkeley.

His writings have appeared in leading medical journals, and he has two books underway for forthcoming publication, "Current Marijuana Issues" and "The Haight-Ashbury Clinic."

Dr. Smith is the Editor of the Journal of Psychedelic Drugs. He has a professional knowledge of drugs and sickness. Look and other magazines have made Dr. Smith and his work known throughout the country.

Dr. Smith, who personally observed Charles Manson, accused conspirator of the Sharon Tate murders, and his "family" while they regularly visited the Clinic, sees the hippie movement as a product of the communications gap. He believes this gap can be bridged only when constructive educational and medical programs are established.

His dedication to the young and his awareness of the entire scene have made his contributions to our society increasingly valuable and important.

The Republic

Our Constitutional fathers, familiar with the strength and weakness of both autocracy and democracy, with fixed principles definitely in mind, established a representative republican form of government. They "made a very marked distinction between a republic and a democracy . . . and said repeatedly and emphatically that they had founded a republic." They knew full well the dangers of a democracy, and never intended that we should have a democracy. Our pledge of allegiance refers to the flag "and to the Republic for which it stands."

Professor Alexander Fraser Tytler, writing nearly two centuries ago, about the decline and fall of the Athenian Republic, while our thirteen original states were still colonies of Great Britain, said this:

"A Democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of Government. It can only exist until the voters discover they can vote themselves largess out of the public treasury. From that moment on the majority always votes for the candidate promising the most benefits from the public treasury with the result that Democracy always collapses over a loose fiscal policy, always to be followed by a Dictatorship."

Are we being misled by this age-old fallacy in government, and allowing ourselves to deteriorate into a democracy with the inevitable doom that that form of government envisages? Our record in recent years, and the writing and speaking of many people these days, indicate that we are.

When the New Deal came into power, it withdrew from Army posts and the Government Printing Office a "Citizenship" training manual which had been in use. This manual, which has never been restored, defined clearly and concisely the difference between a democracy and a republic. Here's what it said:

DEMOCRACY:

- A government of the masses.
- Authority derived through mass meeting or any other form of "direct" expression.
- Results in mobocracy.
- Attitude toward property is communistic—negating property rights.
- Attitude toward law is that the will of the majority shall regulate, whether it be based upon deliberation or governed by passion, prejudice, and impulse, without restraint or regard to consequences.
- Results in demagogism, license, agitation, discontent, anarchy.

REPUBLIC:

- Authority is derived through the election by the people of public officials best fitted to represent them.
- Attitude toward property is respect for laws and individual rights, and a sensible economic procedure.
- Attitude toward law is the administration of justice in accord with fixed principles and established evidence, with a strict regard to consequences.
- A great number of citizens and extent of territory may be brought within its compass.
- Avoids the dangerous extreme of either tyranny or mobocracy.
- Results in statesmanship, liberty, reason, justice, contentment, and progress.

Why was this citizenship training manual withdrawn from use? Why are our present day political leaders so often referring to our government as a democracy? Are they conditioning the minds of the people? Is it because that only under a democracy, and not under a republic, they can gain control of the affairs of the people?

When Benjamin Franklin came out of the Constitutional Convention on September 17, 1787, he was asked, "Well Mr. Franklin, what have we got?" His answer was, "You have a Republic, if you can keep it." Have we now reached the point where we make this decision? It would seem that we have.

As citizens of the Republic of the United States of America, we could set ourselves no better task these days than to take a refresher course in the founding of our nation and the establishment of its government.

Nuzum Chosen Corman Hailed 'Outstanding' As New Dir.

By Jayne Beer and Keith Boyles

According to Pres. D. Banks Wilburn, on April 15, the West Virginia State Board of Regents approved the employment of Dr. Lawrence Nuzum, present Director of Student Teaching at Marshall University, as Director of Student Teaching at Glenville State College effective September 1, 1970.

The Board of Regents also approved the discontinuation of the farming and dairy facilities at the College Farm. Furthermore, the pre-agriculture program has been approved to be discontinued at the end of this academic year. The reason for discontinuation is that enrollment has continued to decrease in recent years. There were 25 pre-agriculture students enrolled in the 1965-66 academic year and the number had dropped to 12 students in the 1969-70 school year.

It has also been announced by Pres. Wilburn that the following teachers have been granted tenure effective September, 1970: Mr. John E. James, Mrs. Goldine Hickman, Dr. Robert J. Dollinger, and Mr. Howard E. Warren.

Dr. John A. Chisler and Dr. Robert J. Dollinger have been promoted to professor status from that of associate professor.

These faculty members have been promoted from instructors to the rank of associate professor: Mr. Earl Adolfsen, Mr. Ralph Bame, Mrs. Kay Chico, Mr. Billy Hanlin, Miss Edith Isner, and Mr. Howard Warren.

Pres. Wilburn further announces the resignations of Mr. James L. Peterson who plans to continue his graduate work and Mrs. Eileen H. Wolfe.

1970 I. D. Card Photos Will Be Taken Monday

An advanced identification-photo shooting of All students planning to be at GSC next year will be taken on Monday, April 27 from 1:00-6:00 p.m. from 7:00-8:00 p.m. The process will resume on Tuesday, April 28 from 8:00-12:00. Pictures will be taken in the student council room in the Pioneer Center.

It has been requested by Dr. A. T. Billips that as many as possible should report during the designated schedule; this will make it possible for each to obtain his identification card on the day he arrives next year. These new embossed identifications are significant in that they will be used for borrowing books from the library.

CORRECTION:

The poem, by Joyce Petry Sangkasaba, which was published in last week's Mercury and entitled 'In Memorium' did not, as mistakenly believed, refer to the recently deceased physics instructor, Mr. Toth. The author stated this week, that it should have been entitled 'When Jack Jumped Up and Never Came Down.' This intent, according to Mrs. Sangkasaba, was to refer to a former, living teacher.

Modern Dry Cleaners

PERFORM

"Alterations of all Kinds."

The April 16 Lyceum Program featured the outstanding showmanship of the Corman. The first half of the program was a music of a more serious vein. Though it was well done, the section seemed to lack the spark of Renaissance and Contemporary life which it might have depicted. In this section two songs from Randall Thompson's "Frostiana" were performed. These songs are contemporary settings for the poetry of Robert Frost, whose fame was in his rural house dealing with rural New England life. The Corman displayed the simple, clear poetry of Frost, just as the poet himself would have sung the joys of nature. Of the seven songs contained in "Frostiana," the Corman performed "Stopping By The Woods," and "The Pasture."

The comic songs by Lloyd Pfamtsch, "Songs Mein Grossmama Sung," were a comic parody of well-known nursery rhymes.

The outstanding showmanship of the Corman was admirably demonstrated in the second half of the concert. The group of traditional songs for men were a gay and whimsical display which allowed each member of the group to display his own personality. The audience evidenced tremendous appeal with the performance of these raucous and fun-filled songs. This set the stage for the final section of the program, presenting the Corman at their best. Their interpretation of a new arrangement of "Maria," from the Musical Paint Your Wagon was very well done. The soloist, Richard Sparks, presented a forceful, dramatic interpretation of the song, portraying his individual talent through this selection. Sparks again reached the audience through his interpretation of "The Impossible Dream." His outstanding number invited a standing ovation from the appreciative audience. "Raindrops Falling On My Head," "Aquarius/Let the Sun Shine In," and "Mame," were among other songs from Broadway musicals which created favorable response from the audience. The end of the concert prompted another standing ovation from the audience. The Corman presented three encore numbers. The first encore, a medley of "Walk Right In," and "King of the Road." The second was a powerful performance of "Trouble in River City" by Wayne Collier. The last encore was a resounding rendition of the gospel song "Didn't It Rain."

The most prominent feature of the Corman's performance was their magnetic charm that evidenced itself in their outstanding musical ability.

AV Librarian Leaves GSC

Mr. William L. Beck, audiovisual librarian and instructor of library science at the Robert F. Kidd Library has turned in his resignation to assume another position. Mr. Beck is leaving Glenville State College to accept a position as Spanish and audiovisual librarian at California State College, Pa., starting in the fall of 1970.

Mr. Beck was graduated from Indiana University, Pa. in 1965 with a B.S. degree in Spanish and in 1969 received his master's degree in library science from the University of Pittsburgh. He taught Spanish for four years at Fox Chapel High School in suburban Pittsburgh.

As audiovisual librarian, Mr. Beck is in charge of acquiring, cataloging, and processing all audiovisual material in the collection of the learning materials center, located in the basement of the Robert F. Kidd Library. When time permits Mr. Beck also helps students coordinate audiovisual media with course studies. Along with his full time job in the library, he teaches two classes in library science.

Since Mr. Beck came to Glenville State College, the Learning Materials Center now has one uniform classification system for all audiovisual material. Before the library had a separate system for each type of media. The library now has a separate card catalog for audiovisual material in the Learning Material Center. It is a divided catalog and is used in the same manner as the main card catalog. Another of his duties is to facilitate student use of sound filmstrips by putting records and filmstrips into one box. The sound filmstrips is classified as a kit and housed as one unit.

Mr. Beck's duties as audiovisual librarian at California State College will be similar to those at Glenville State College, plus he will be working with different types at micro-forms. His duties as Spanish Librarian will be to acquire material to build up the Spanish section at the California State campus's library.

Last November Mr. Beck was asked to become a member of Beta Phi Mu, International Honorary Library Science fraternity. Membership in this organization is by request only and is based on high quality performance in graduate school. Since at Glenville State, Mr. Beck says of the Glenville campus, "My association at Glenville State has been a most worthwhile and beneficial experience." Glenville State has benefited much from Mr. Beck's short stay at the Robert F. Kidd Library, and he will be quite difficult to replace.

During his years as a Glenville student, Mr. Berkhouse helped to organize the first football team at Glenville State Normal School and was a member of the team. He earned five letters in football, three in basketball and two in track.

Mr. Berkhouse was graduated from Glenville State Normal School in 1914, and immediately entered the West Virginia University School of Pharmacy where he graduated about 1916.

After receiving his degree in pharmacy, Mr. Berkhouse returned to Glenville and served as a pharmacist at the Turney Drug Store, and following the death of Mr. Turney, he bought the business and operated the store until his retirement. Sigma Raft Wins Oil Drum Trophy

"Row, girls, row," spectators from the shore shouted as the six Sigmas from Glenville State College propelled their purple raft, Moby Grape, down the Kanawha River in the Oil Drum Regatta at West Virginia Tech, Saturday, April 18.

The race for manually operated oil drum rafts covered a nine mile course from Glen Ferris to Montgomery, West Virginia. Thirty rafts took part in the competition.

The Sigma raft, after some difficulty getting into position at the starting line, got off to a good start. But the Moby Grape was besieged by troubles like broken oar locks, and an ill crew member. The rowers were further handicapped by having the largest raft in the race. But determination and enthusiasm overcame the difficulties and the Sigmas finished third in the powder puff competition, bringing home a trophy and a lot of sore muscles and sunburn. Their time was four hours.

First place in the Powder Puff went to the Ladybug IV who ran the course in two hours, 51 minutes, and 7 seconds. Overall winners were an independent team of W. Va. Tech students called "Pioneers". They completed the race in one hour, 45 minutes and 52 seconds.

Powder Horn

By Butch Hays

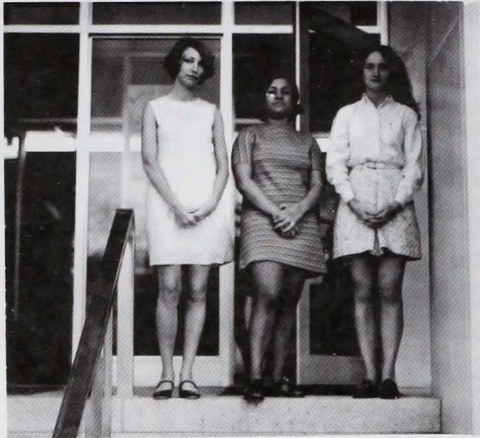

What is the mania pervading the GSC campus? Is it the lovers in the amphitheater, the leaves coming out on the trees, or maybe the girls on the Women's Hall sundeck? It's all a part of the scene but the mania we refer to is baseball, weather permitting.

That's right, we said baseball, that slow moving national pastime where everybody but the pitcher and catcher stand around until the batter hits the ball. Then the action starts. Shades of Tinker to Evers to Chance fairly dance to the tune of "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" as another long ball flies off a Pioneer bat into home run country.

The guys meander down to Rohrbough Field to watch the game. The girls watch the guys and sun themselves while the Columbia blue clad team plays ball.

The opponents whether they are Bears, Eagles, or Battlers live a rough few hours in Pioneer country for Big Blue Fans are known throughout the conference for their jovial animosity and hostility to opponents. Some members of the opposition have been known to turn a little red from the verbal harassment coming from the GSC student body.

The school spirit exhibited by the few baseball fans in attendance is something that cannot be described. While some of the comments are a little rough at times, the overall atmosphere is one of fair play and good sportsmanship. We hope that this attitude carries over into all areas of the Glenville State College community. CAP & BALL DEPT. Sports Misfires-Taking a called third strike. Missing a foul shot. Fumbling the ball. Defaulting on your serve. Rolling a gutter ball. Missing a two foot birdie putt.

Vying for representative from Women's Hall are: row 1, Fay Wendt and Marlene Parsons; row 2, Catherine Soloman and Sandy Pletcher.
