Tolkien, a record of Negro spirituals, and a record called "The Sounds of a Tropical Rain Forest," recorded in South America.

Reid Buckley Visits GSC, Criticizes Youth Of Today

by Lonnie Brewster

GSC was visited Oct. 28 by Mr. Reid Buckley, distinguished author and critic, and also a staunch conservative. Mr. Buckley spoke on "Aristotle Didn't Swing: The Idiocy of Being Under 30." Having heard Mr. Buckley speak, some may wonder, "Just what was the point he was trying to make?" He claimed that conservatives are sympathetic to today's youth; yet, he was sharply critical of the younger generation. Mr. Buckley claimed that conservatives want state and local governments to regain power that has been taken by the federal government, but isn't this rather idealistic? Perhaps some consideration should be given to these points.

First of all, what is a conservative? Webster defines a conservative as one "tending or disposed to maintain existing institutions or views; opposed to change or innovation." In light of this definition, consider some of Mr. Buckley's remarks. He stated that today's youth is the most ignorant and most deprived lot of any generation and further stated that few college graduates of today's generation have the foggiest idea of what civilization is about. He also stated that lack of prudence and judgment makes young persons undesirable as voters.

Mr. Buckley claims to be sympathetic towards those who are turning to drugs and mysticism in an attempt to fill voids in their lives and to drop out of a world without meaning. Could it not be that today's youth do have some notion of what clean rivers and streams is showing a worthwhile desire for change for the benefit of all. Mr. Buckley quoted Aristotle as saying that youth "have exalted notions because they have not yet been humbled by life." If they allow things to continue as they are, what is there to look forward to? Mr. Buckley blames liberals for creating the society of which today's generation is a victim. Liberals blame conservatives. Who is to be believed? When asked whether he thought today's trend toward immorality will continue, Mr. Buckley replied affirmatively. Who is to judge what is moral or immoral? History has shown civilization is about and that they are trying to escape its harshness and cruelty? Could it not be that they see politicians as men who want to gain power and wealth for themselves? Few have a genuine interest in the well-being of mankind. Mr. Buckley criticizes youth for clamoring for pollution control and driving automobiles at the same time. Who made the auto successful, today's generation? Haven't autos been around quite a while? At least the interest in having clean air to breathe and

'Dancing Company' Will Come To GSC

Coming to Glenville State College, Nov. 10, at 8 p.m. is the Brockport Resident Dance Company, presenting "SAGA." This full-length dance-theatre piece is based on themes of twentieth century America.

Utilizing a stage with no wings nor curtains, the work is a serio-comic look at the United States during the past seventy years. Written and narrated by Jon Knudson and James Payton, artistic director of the company, the program includes selections from James Agee, F. Scott Fitzgerald, Alan Ginsburg and Joseph Heller.

Mr. Payton began his independent choreographic career in 1963 after having been a soloist with the Jose Limon Company in New York for six years. 1964 brought Payton and his wife Susannah to Ohio State University, he as a faculty member and his wife as a student. During this time the Paytons toured as a duet in concerts, building a reputation for sensitive, artistic performances. In the summer of 1969, the Paytons came to Brockport from OSU and brought Nancy Deckard with them. She graduated from OSU with a performing major in Dance. She received training from Payton, but also was taught by Jose Limon, Martha Graham, and Betty Jones.

Dianne Woodruff, also from Ohio State joined the Paytons that fall. She received her B.A. and M.A. degrees in dance from Ohio State. Mrs. Woodruff has the distinction of being a specialist in historical dance reconstruction and has presented a paper on it at a recent Court Conference.

Finally in January, Santo Giglio, at that time an instructor at the University of Rochester, became a member of the Brockport company. He taught dance at the University of Rochester before he was invited to join the company. Giglio received his M.A. in dance from UCLA and has made his professional debut in the Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival under the auspices of Ted "Papa" Shawn.

Admission will be by I.D. cards.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We, the undersigned, do hereby award the 1970 Kanawhachen Staff the Noble Prize—for an outlandish (not outstanding) yearbook, which will long remain in the fond and proud memories of G.S.C. students and faculty.

First of all, we wish to commend the magnificent photography. It was truly a work of art, especially the full color picture of the construction workers and their bright red truck. All the other snapshots held such significance, such depth, such meaning—all the empty rooms with empty chairs, the window washing scenes, the pretty blue bottles, the parking signs. So true—a picture is worth a thousand words! All the faceless instructors truly make classes interesting as they made the yearbook. We were also glad to see that the Kanawhachen made absolutely no discrimination. We are all merely members of Glenville State College majoring in the same field. It makes no difference if you have worked for four years to be specially acknowledged as a Senior, you are only as important as an underclassman. All equality! As in the case of the Seniors, the band, majorettes, and cheerleaders received no special recognition. As a matter of fact, they are not recognized at all. But, we would not want anyone who is not a member of these activities to feel inferior. That must be avoided at all cost. Similarly, we would never want pictures of the Homecoming Queen and her court, or the coronation, or of Sadie Hawkins. These are only minor events. But—the 4-H Club, the Ohningohow Players, the officers of Louis Bennett, and all the other groups should certainly have received one or more pages of commendation.

The fact of which the staff should be most proud, however, is that they publish no untruths. We all know that Glenville State College has no basketball team, and much to the contrary of all the rumors, we were not W.V.I.A.C. champions. The trophy was given to Coach Lilly out of mere sympathy for a college with no team. There is no such award as "Most Valuable Player;" Jackie Jo Robinson was merely another Senior. The G.S.C. Bowling team did not rank fourth in the nation. That was only another figment of our imagination. But, we were helped to realize this by the yearbook's not publicizing such falsity. Our football team consists of only seven members sitting on a bench, and a few others running through a paper. The really important sports figures are the Majors Club and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. So, again we say—Congratulations for a job superbly done?? The extra wait was well worth it?????

Dear Editor:

I think more people should know about the Wesley Foundation Coffeehouse. The year's first coffeehouse, Friday, Oct. 23, provided its guests with a kind of pleasure that just can not be found in a television set.

The entertainment, provided entirely by students and faculty, included poetry reading, humorous talk, and a wide variety of music. There were no weak spots on the program. It was obvious that the gathering of fifty people enjoyed taking advantage of a Friday night to forget about school work and to enjoy the talents of their friends. They were genuine talents, too.

The audience was close enough that no microphone was needed. Although the group was small, it included many prominent students—Greek officers, Student Congress members, some of the social leaders on campus and several of the most talented performers. It looks like this is going to be the place to go on Friday nights this winter; I understand the Wesley Foundation people are planning to hold a Coffeehouse every month, if they can. I certainly will attend.

Sincerely,
Michael Ireland

Lambda Chi

This semester on campus, the Glenville State College Colony of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity has instituted the Fraternity Education Program into its pledging system. This program is being used by all chapters of Lambda Chi Alpha to supercede the Pledge Education Program formerly followed.

Under this new program, a man who pledges the fraternity is not considered a "pledge" or second class citizen but instead his title is that of an associate member. His privileges include all of those of a brother except he cannot vote in the meetings, wear the badge or coat-of-arms, or attend ritual.

The program itself consists of a series of weekly lectures on the mechanics of the fraternity to enable the associate member to be a better, more capable person upon activation as a brother. Various activities are also included in the program, such as participation in fraternity projects, parties, organizational hikes, and the associate member class project. Each man is also placed upon the roster of a standing committee for the purpose of on-the-job training.

Pledges of Tau Kappa Epsilon

Delta Zeta

The DZ's are proud to announce that one of their sisters, who was active at Glenville a year ago and is a student now at Marshall University represented Delta Zeta as "Miss Marshall, 1970." The queen was Pam Sullivan, from Richwood, who is a senior this year and is a chapter member of Delta Zeta on campus.

Those who love spaghetti will be glad to hear that the DZ's will be having a spaghetti dinner Nov. 12 in the Multi-Purpose room. Everyone is welcome to come and bring a hearty appetite. Tickets will be on sale this week and next.

Keeping with their annual tradition at Halloween, Delta Zeta baked pumpkin cookies and gave them to all the fraternities and sororities on campus.

On Thursday evening, Oct. 27, Delta Zeta held its first formal rush party at the chapter house. The southern theme for the party was "Under the Magnolias." Each active girl was decked out in a long, southern style dress and wore big-brimmed hats. Decorations were very attractive and quite appropriate in keeping with the theme. Candlelight, walls of ivy, southern music and a wishing fountain set off the atmosphere of the typical southern mansion. Chauffeurs drove the guests to the party and butlers were on hand to serve refreshments and check coats. These were men from each of the fraternities.

Long-stemmed red roses were given to each of the guests and southern belle dollies were provided as favors. Entertainment for the party consisted of music and a skit entitled "Susanah's Dream." The party was attended by 23 upperclass women.

TKE

Iota Omega chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon held its weekly meeting Tuesday, Oct. 27. The formal meeting was held at the fraternity house from 6 to 7 p.m. Prytanis Michael McCartney presided over the meeting.

During the meeting plans were formulated for the 36th annual Court Ball to be held sometime in May.

The pledges planned shoe shine days for Mondays and Thursdays. They will be staged in front of the old cafeteria during the evening meal.

The fraters of Salem sponsored a dance Saturday evening at the Conrad Motel Ballroom. The music was provided by "Airport," a group from Parkersburg.

The fraters of Iota Omega chapter also plan more social functions along with the many public service weekends. The pledges have also planned a few money making projects to benefit the chapter.

Chi Beta Phi Fraternity Aids Math And Science

Last Tuesday Chi Beta Phi, a scientific honorary fraternity, held its first meeting of the year. President, Albert Fleming, and faculty advisor, Mr. Gene Bailey, discussed some of the requirements for becoming a member of the organization and some projects which the fraternity may undertake.

Chi Beta Phi offers a variety of opportunities to science and mathematics students. Field trips to research centers and lectures by visiting scientists will help fraternity members to keep abreast of new developments in all branches of science. Through close work with high schools, members of Chi Beta Phi hope to be able to encourage high school students with an interest in science to pursue a career in their chosen fields.

Chi Beta Phi is an honorary organization for science and mathematics majors. Its program will be designed for those who have shown interest and ability in science or mathematics.

Any student who is interested in joining the honorary scientific fraternity should contact Mr. Bailey, Albert Fleming or Auden Walters.

Office Of Career Planning, Placement Is A Service To Graduating Seniors

The Office of Career Planning and Placement is a service on campus to the graduating seniors seeking employment. It helps with the preparation of credential files on each graduating senior. The credential files consist of: permission to transmit the files to employers, a general information sheet, a list of all college courses taken, a biographical brief of the student, and a student teaching recommendation, made by the student's supervising teacher. It also contains three recommendation forms to be filled out by people the student selects. Free copies of this credential file are zeroxed by the Placement Office personnel and sent to all interested employers. A list of all available students who are seeking jobs in teaching is sent to every superintendent in West Virginia.

At certain times of the year recruiters appear on campus for scheduled interviews with the students.

Since 80 to 85 percent of the students who graduate from Glenville State College are in education, the major job of the Placement Office is to place teachers. However, 10 to 14 percent graduate with a four year degree in business. The Placement Office helps these students seek employment.

After the student graduates, a follow-up is made. Information on where he is, where he is working, and how he is succeeding is obtained by the Placement Office. Last year only 6 of 285 students could not be found.

Dr. Nagy, Director of the Office of Career Planning and Placement, talks with the student about job opportunities, where they want to go, and graduate school programs. Dr. Nagy also counsels and assists in the writing of resumes and application letters. The Wide Area Telephone Service (WATS line) allows him to call anywhere in West Virginia to get information about an available position. The Placement Office puts one into a position where he can have the opportunity for a job. Dr. Nagy urges everyone "When you want help, come in and see me or my secretary, Mrs. Brenda Swisher."

Dr. Nagy said, "The cooperation of faculty and various academic departments on campus has been the major factor that really makes the Placement Office function properly." The Placement Office is one of the best in the state and an immense asset to the GSC graduates.

Activities Committee Changes Procedures

A restatement in writing of the procedures for approving an activity has been released by the Office of Student Affairs.

The Activities Committee has recently formulated and restated its procedures for the approval of activities on campus. This will also appear in next year's handbook. It is as follows: The Activities Committee meets at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday in the Office of Student Affairs. Application cards for filing for activities may be obtained from Mrs. Rose Turner, Office of Student Affairs. Off-campus applications may be obtained from Mrs. Jean Wright, Office of Student Affairs; activities are scheduled during the regular meetings so applications must be filed prior to the meeting hours, otherwise they will be held until the next meeting.

Posters will be stamped after the activity has been scheduled on the social calendar; applications are to be signed by the organization's advisor. If the application is signed by a person other than the advisor it must be so indicated on the card; any event involving a charge for either entertainment or a tangible item for sale must obtain a tax form at the Business Office; all social events necessitate the attendance of at least four chaperones. It is requested that five be selected in order that the organization be protected in meeting its quota.

It is further stated by the Office of Student Affairs that use of facilities on campus will be limited to individuals sponsored by an academic division of the college, such as an art show by the art department or a music recital sponsored by the music department. Therefore, all facilities should be scheduled by an approval organization on campus.

However, any interested group wishing to use college facilities must follow the regulations listed in the Student Handbook on page 23, appendix c. Applications can be picked up at the Student Congress office and later resubmitted there.

Only eight English and American scholars who had distinguished themselves as authorities in modern Irish literature were asked to write articles. Dr. Rollins' article is entitled "Clerical Blackness in the Green Garden: Heroine as Scapegoat in Sean O'Casey's Cock-A-Doyle Dandy." The article describes Ireland as a green Eden dominated by harsh clerics who drive the vital, young people into exile. As a special feature, one of the 21 letters that Dr. Rollins received from O'Casey will be used on the cover of the issue.

While a student at GSC, Dr. Rollins served on the Mercury staff, was vice-president of the student council, member of the Ohningohow Players, and a charter member of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity. Dr. Rollins is presently a professor of English at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Eighteen Women Serve As Monitors For Two Women's Dorms On Campus

On campus there are eighteen young women who are either monitors in Women's Hall or Verona Mapel Hall. Each of these girls attend counseling sessions for six weeks on Thursday nights from 6-7 p.m. After this training period is over, women who attend the sessions receive a certificate in counseling from Dr. Wilburn.

Being a counselor to the girls in the dorm is only one of the monitor's major duties. They also must control the noise in the dorm at all times and they are responsible for taking room check at 10 p.m. on weekdays and at 1 a.m. on weekends. These are just the major duties of the monitor.

Of the eighteen monitors, twelve reside in Women's Hall. Debra McKee is the head monitor of Women's Hall and is a junior elementary major from Clendenin. She worked two years previously as monitor before becoming head monitor.

The other monitors in Women's Hall include Cynthia Brown who is a physical education major from Parkersburg. This is her first year as monitor. Melody Johnson is a senior English major from Parkersburg and this is her third year as monitor.

Paulette Jackson is a sophomore elementary education major from West Union and is working as monitor for her first year. Donna Newberry, a sophomore physical education major from Parkersburg, is working as monitor for her first year. Rebecca Riffe is a sophomore elementary major from Raleigh and is working as monitor for her first year.

LBH Governing Board Plans Marble Tourney

The Louis Bennett Hall Governing Board met for its weekly meeting Oct. 26. Ken Davis, president of LBH, presided over the meeting.

Larry Silcott, vice-president, discussed the up-coming marble tournament. He announced that each unit of the dormitory will conduct its own tournament and that a champion from each section will vie for the dormitory championship. The tournaments will be held in the hallways of each section with the dorm championship to be played in a neutral ring. A trophy, donated by the Governing Board, will be presented to the victor.

A Safety Council Committee was recently set up with Ronald Robinson and Cofer Walls as co-chairmen. The committee was appointed as a result of the recent fire in LBH. The committee's main duties will be those of seeing that the fire extinguishers are in working order and also of seeing that the men are out of the dorm. Basketball Season Begins Practicing Coaches Jesse Lilly and Tim Carney have started steady practices with the 1970-71 basketball team.

Head basketball coach Jesse Lilly is a 1941 graduate of Woodrow Wilson High School in Beckley. Coach Lilly came to Glenville State and, after some years in the service, he graduated in 1948. After graduation he coached at Elkview High School for 13 years, then returned to Glenville State College in 1961 to coach basketball for one year. Due to an illness of one of the coaching staff, the next four years were devoted to coaching football and then in 1966 he returned to coaching basketball for the last five years.

One of Coach Lilly's finest years was last year when his team posted a 20-10 record card, was champion of the WVAC tournament and played Morris Harvey for a representative to the NAIA National Tournament. Lilly's over-all record while at Glenville is 71 wins and 63 losses. While a student at Glenville State, Coach Lilly participated in football, basketball and baseball. In the 1946-47 season, he was leading starter in basketball with 373 points and again in 1947-48 with 420 total points.

Coach Tim Carney is a 1962 graduate of Glenville State College. Coach Carney played four years of basketball at GSC.

Coach Carney is a product of Dunbar High School, graduating in 1958. After attending Glenville State, he received his M.S. degree from West Virginia University in 1966.

Carney started his coaching career in Maryland and coached there for six years. While in Maryland, his 1968 Guenymen Park High School team took the state championship in basketball. While at Glenville, his experiences and knowledge of the game has helped considerably. In his two years as assistant coach, the Pioneers have posted a 33-22 record card.

Miss Mary Ellen Blair

Miss Blair Is Advisor To GSC Cheerleaders

The GSC cheerleaders are proud to announce that Miss Mary Ellen Blair, instructor in Social Science at Glenville, will be serving as their advisor this year. Miss Blair attended Appalachian State Teachers College and Appalachian State University and obtained a B.S. and M.A. degree.

Miss Blair was born in Hickory, N.C., but her home is presently in Mecklenburg. She enjoys reading and cooking, and her new job as advisor to the cheerleaders keeps her free time occupied, but she enjoys that too because she was once a cheerleader.

The Pioneers played in a Mud Bowl Saturday afternoon as this picture is witness.

Down On The Corner

by Mike Smith

The Agony of defeat...

The Pioneers lost their third straight game Saturday, this one to the Yellow Jackets of W.Va. State with a score of 21-19. The Pioneers, who led until the final period, made a gallant effort in the closing minutes but the try for the two point conversion was no good. Freshman fullback John Pratt had a good afternoon as he rushed for 84 yards in 14 carries. This included his 55-yard run for a touchdown. Pete McDermitt had perhaps his best game of the season. McDermitt passed well and called his plays with good variety. The Blue Bandits had a fairly good game, but they were unable to contain hard running fullback Malcolm Calhoun. Calhoun ran in the mud as if it were made for him. At any rate this loss drops the Pioneers to the number six spot in the WVAC. Quit Breaking My Heart...

To the seniors who will be playing their final game in a GSC football uniform we can only say, "it has been a pleasure." Richard Cairns, Ron Duncan, Gary Ray, Mike Roscoe, Mike Devol, Virgil Lacey, and Jerry Rea have made a valuable contribution to Glenville State College over the past four years, not only in athletics, but in every walk of life. Men, good luck and may God be with you.

Trainer's Habits... Steve Ash has been a trainer on the Glenville State football team for four years. His jokes and pranks have always been an important part in the success of the season. In addition to this—Steve may have been the most important Pioneer as he kept the injured players ready for each contest. Long after the football team leaves the field, he can be seen at the side of the whirlpool taking care of a 230-pound tackle, or giving an ice massage to a 150-pound quarterback. To Steve all we can say is "Thanks." Mountain Lions Roar...

Glenville's final game of the 1970 season will be Saturday when they travel to Concord to face the highly spirited Mountain Lions. Concord defeated Salem 27-20 in their Homecoming game this past Saturday. It was a group of young men who wanted to win badly that mauled the Salem Tigers. They are led by their freshman quarterback, Tom Parker, who can throw with either hand and by defensive end Steve Annie and hard hitting linebacker Mike Deal. The Pioneers will have to get a lot of pride in order to defeat the aroused Concord.

In action of Oct. 28, TKE I roared by previously-undefeated Lambda Chi 4 to 0, Theta Xi Animals defeated the Sigmas 3 to 1, Theta Xi Barrels rolled over Delta Zeta 3½ to ½, and TKE II drew a bye.

GSC Drops Home Finale To W. Va. State 21-19

Glenville State College was defeated by visiting West Virginia State 21-19. Glenville came close to tying the game when quarterback Pete McDermitt threw a touchdown pass to Mike Roscoe with one second left in the game. McDermitt's pass to Roscoe for the two point conversion was high, giving State the victory.

Glenville got on the board first in the first quarter when McDermitt hit Roscoe with a 15 yard pass. State came back and tied the game 6-6 when Denny Puct sneaked in from the one yard line. The Pioneers took a 13-6 lead at halftime when John Pratt ramblled 55 yards for a touchdown through the middle of the State defense. Raymond Swisher kicked the extra point.

Malcolm Calhoun opened the fourth period with a one-yard touchdown and Puct's two point conversion pass to Allie Hunting put the Yellow Jackets ahead 14-13. Calhoun's record scare of the quarter, a four yard run, came with three minutes left to play and Tusnai Mounghangtharn kicked the extra point. This made the score 21-13.

With one second left, McDermitt found Roscoe alone and hit him for a 10 yard touchdown making the score 21-19. McDermitt's pass to Roscoe for the two point attempt was high and the score remained 21-19, the game going to the Yellow Jackets.

Pratt was the Pioneers leading ground gainer with 88 yards in 14 carries. McDermitt's passes were good for 81 yards and two touchdowns.

Athletic Director Reflects On Season

As the 1970 football season is beginning to draw to a close, one reflects happenings of the season. As Athletic Director, my thought is of people—people such as the band who have spent hours of time practicing and making sacrifices timewise to present the halftime entertainment. I think of people like our cheerleaders, majorettes, ground crew, audio-visual assistants, game management crew, announcer, timer, and scorer, who also have sacrificed time and given loyal support to this sport season. I think of the fans who come to home and away games regardless of climatic conditions, lack of parking space and other difficulties.

Also at a time like this, we pause to pay special tribute to the graduating seniors. I apologize to them that we were unable to introduce them at the beginning of the ballgame Saturday in order that they receive a deserved show of appreciation.

As I said in the beginning, when you think back over the past season you think of people. The list of people who contribute to the sports program and who comprise the very heart of this program could go on forever. To all of you, I say thank you for a job well done.

Sincerely,

Robert Dollgener
Athletic Director

POM-POMS ARRIVE FOR CHEERLEADERS

After a long wait, the GSC cheerleaders finally received their new pom-poms which they had ordered earlier in the year. The girls are going to try and raise money to pay for them, therefore they are having a bake sale during Greek week. Baked goods will be sold at the Greek activities and on and around campus.

Delegates Attend Consultation Meet

In the past, Dr. A.T. Billips and Miss Barbara Ocheltree were appointed by Dr. Wilburn to represent Glenville State College at the meetings of the Council of Colleges on Appalachian Youth. At the last council meeting it was decided to have the next consultation meeting at West Virginia Wesleyan College on Nov. 6 and 7 and to have a minimum of six students, plus additional staff members to represent each college.

At this consultation meeting it is hoped to develop a model for action to inform disadvantaged youth of the opportunity to go to college and to bring this action back to the campus.

The model is to be developed from three aspects: first to inform a corps of interested students to work with established agencies in the identification and recruitment of disadvantaged youth; secondly, to utilize and organize student groups to form a corps of tutors to work on a day-by-day basis with the disadvantaged youth; and, thirdly, to get the support of faculty and administrative personnel to undergird this project.

Representatives from this college are: Alfred Billips, Dean of Student Affairs; Kermit Kinder, director of guidance and counseling; Carl Pennington, Dean of Men; Ralph G. Gay, faculty and campus minister; Barbara Ocheltree; Wesley Frame; Patrick Pierson; Erroll Harris; Kathryn Lazier; and Geraldine Gainer.

The representatives will stay at Even-bread Acres.

On Friday, Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. Jim Branscome, Chairman of Council on Religion in Appalachia Task Force on Youth Leadership Development will be the keynote speaker of this consultation meeting. Saturday will be spent with all representatives participating and being exposed to rotating committees to develop the model of action. It is hoped that action rather than talk will be taken in helping these disadvantaged youth.

Other member colleges represented at this meeting will be Alderson-Broadus, Davis and Elkins, Fairmont State College, Salem College, West Virginia University, and West Virginia Wesleyan College.

Coffee House Is Held By Wesley Foundation

On Friday, Oct. 23 a Coffee House, sponsored by the Wesley Foundation, the Baptist Student Movement, and the Campus Christian Coalition, was held from 7:30-10:30 p.m. The Coffee House took on a "coffee house atmosphere" by displaying candles and bottles at each table. Refreshments were served to all those attending.

Many of those attending contributed to the festivities. Mr. James read poetry. Other students and faculty sang folk songs, read poetry, and painted wallhangings on cardboard. A group of girls sang songs they had composed; and Mr. John Spears read poems he had created.

Conflict Shown In Play "A View From The Bridge"

by Ella Will

The conflict in the play "A View From the Bridge" is based upon a dissention of two different worlds, that of the realist and that of the idealist. The setting of the play is located in a tenement along the bay in New York, but this is not for the sake of expressing poverty. Rather, it is used to explain and emphasize the character of 'Eddie.'

Eddie is the personification of his environment. He is the product of a harsh, cruel, and dirty world. Eddie doesn't understand or appreciate the finer aspects of life such as a good play, book, or music. His day consists of getting up, going to work on the docks, and hanging around on the corner with the guys. There is but one thing Eddie prizes above all else: his beautiful niece Catherine.

Eddie has reared Catherine since her mother died and left her as a child. He has sheltered her from the harshness and cruelty of the environment in which they live. To him, Catherine is a "Madonna" and he worships her as such.

When Catherine meets Rudolpho and falls in love, Eddie is beside himself. He doesn't want any man putting his "dirty hands" on her. Following his failure to change Catherine's mind, Eddie begins ridiculing Rudolpho's masculinity.

Rudolpho is an idealist. He is an Italian immigrant who entered the country illegally with his friend Marco. He loves to listen to good music and to sing. He loves to cook and sew, but he is not a homosexual. Realizing he cannot destroy Catherine's love for Rudolpho, Eddie reports his illegal entry into the country.

Finally, Eddie is killed by Marco, who lives by a code of justice and believes Eddie to be wrong in his actions.

Behind all of the action is Eddie's wife Ilsa. She alone is totally aware of her husband's love for Catherine, although she does not understand it. She is a kind hearted woman who loves Eddie and is hurt by his rejection.

Arthur Miller attempted to follow the pattern of the Greek Tragedy in writing "A View from the Bridge." However, he chose to base his tragedy around the common man as opposed to the nobility or upper-class. This was the first successful American attempt at writing a play of this sort.

Miller also followed the Greek pattern in the use of a "Chorus" in the character of Alfieri. Alfieri tells the audience all that is occurring, paints the scenery, gives advice, tells what can be expected, and summarizes what has happened.

The play was originally written as a one act in 1955 entitled "From Under the Sea," but after being so well accepted, Miller further expanded the idea in 1957 into the full-length play, now being presented. The following year, Arthur Miller received the Pulitzer Prize for his work.

The Mercury, on Oct. 28, 1970, erroneously printed that the current Speech dept. production, "A View From the Bridge," had as its basic theme, the struggle of a low income family with the action centering around an uncle's attempt to prevent his niece from marrying a homosexual. For the correct information see the story in this issue.

Buckley Critizes The Youth Of Today

that values and mores are also changing. If free men are responsible beings able to govern their freedom; then, logically, each generation should be capable of judging what is best for those who are a part of it.

Mr. Buckley stated, "We are constitutionalists. We want a human government responsible to local situations." He further stated, "we are being suffocated by liberals and big government." If conservatives could get government back down to the local and state levels, then what would happen? Likely, there would be even more fraud and embezzlement occurring than is going on even now. Why has the federal government assumed some of the powers not delegated to it in the constitution? Why were the Articles of Confederation a failure? Again history has shown that state and local welfare have difficulty agreeing because each is more interested in its own welfare than that of the nation, and "a nation divided cannot stand."

Reviewing Mr. Buckley's speech, it is difficult to summarize just what he said. His speech was very idealistic, and, assuredly, politically oriented. How much of what he said is true? That is a matter of conjecture. For a conservative, he seemed rather liberal. Mr. Buckley may not feel that the younger generation can make prudent judgments for themselves; but, like it or not, there always has been and always will be people under 30; and these people will want to decide, themselves, what is best for them.
