Music Instructor James P. Baldwin Is Pleased With Musical Environment

By Delores Betler

"I am pleased with the musical environment of the department, the enthusiastic turnout of auditions, and the cordial acceptance of my wife and me into the college community," says Mr. James P. Baldwin the newest member of the music faculty at Glenville State. He teaches 14 applied voice students, instructs classes in instrumental and choral conducting, and directs the Concert Choir, Chamber Singers, and Women's Chorus.

Mr. Baldwin was born in Urbana, Ill., but has lived in Binghamton, N.Y. since early childhood. He obtained a Bachelor of Arts degree in humanities from Harper College in Binghamton, a part of the State University of New York. He majored in conduction and piano as an undergraduate and attended graduate school at the University of Cincinnati College Conservatory of Music in Cincinnati, Ohio. He has since been accepted as a doctoral candidate and has obtained hours toward a Doctor of Musical Arts degree.

His wife, Jeanne, is a graduate of the State University of New York in Buffalo and is presently teaching third grade at Grantsville.

Mr. Baldwin's musical experience has been obtained in a number of ways. As an undergraduate he was the musical director and conductor of the Colonial Players, who performed two musicals under his direction, and a member of the band and choir. During his post-graduate work he sang in the Cincinnati College Conservatory Choral and was the assistant conductor of the Choral Union (consisting of 150 mixed voices) and the Men's Glee Club.

Mr. Baldwin has studied choral conduction with Margaret Hillis, director of the Chicago Symphony Chorus; David Buttolph, director of the American Symphonic Orchestra League and a faculty member of Harbur College; and Lewis Whykehart of the University of Cincinnati who is the conductor of the Whykehart Choral. In orchestral conducting, Mr. Baldwin has studied with Eric Kunzel, assistant conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony; and Otto-Werner Mueller, opera director and faculty member at the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. Baldwin

Mr. Baldwin taught one year at Mechanicville High School near Albany, N.Y. where he directed three choirs and taught music history and theory. He is a member of the College Music Society, the Association of Choral Directors, and an honorary member of a music fraternity. He plays classical guitar, trombone and enjoys sports, particularly basketball.

Lil Abner, Daisy Mae To Host Annual Dogpatch Weekend

By Rebecca Whipkey

The Theta Xi 23rd Annual Sadie Hawkins is gonna be commencing for the whole dog gone weekend of Nov. 13-14. This annual doin's began in 1947. The idea for this came from Al Capp's strip 'Lil' Abner.' Since then it has been a must in outstanding programs on campus.

It is open season Nov. 13 on all available and unavailable men startin' at 3:30 p.m. on Verona Mapel lawn. Ole' Marrin' Sam will be there on the spot to hitch up some poor fools tricked into matrimony.

There is goin' to be more blamed excitement up at Verona Mapel than GSC Dogpatchers have seen in a coon's age. Some of the excitement will be a sack race, an egg tro, a three laiged race, a cigar smokin' contest, a tobacco spittin' contest, a turnip eatin' contest, a greased pole climb, an apple bobbin' contest, a wheel barre race, a chance totho a pie at a Theta Xi, and many other events.

Lil' Abner 'n Daisy May 'n the whole durned gang are goin' to be groovin' to the Dogpatch music of 'The Fog' on Nov. 13 and 14. The time of the shindig is bein' from 9-12 p.m. Dogpatch time with the place bein' in the ballroom. All of the Dogpatchers will be whoopin' it up includin' Marrin' Sam, Robert Fetty; Mayor Tom Carper; Pappy Yokum, Lonnie Nicely; Mammy Yokum, Judi Arnold; Dirty Scragg Boys, Mr. Ernest Smith, Mr. Ralph Korneyag, and Gary Ray; Eddie Rickenbacker, James Law; Hope Full, Helen Horton; Wolf Gal, Janet Posey; Hairless Joe, Michael Rust; Moon Bean, Deborah Woods; Lonesome Pole Cat, David Whaley; Tiny Tim, Ronald Duncan;

Dr. Flack, Hilgenberg To Attend Ohio Seminar

Dr. Bruce Flack, chairman of the social studies departments and Mr. James Hilgenberg, social studies instructor, will be at Punderson Lake, Ohio, which is outside Cleveland, Nov. 19-21 for a second seminar of Regional Council for International Education. There will also be other professors attending this seminar from West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

The subject for these seminars is "Experiences in the Black World." The topic chosen for this seminar is "African Heritage."

Main consultants for this seminar are K.O. Onwulsa Dilse, from Harvard, and Babatunde Olatunji, from the Center for African Culture.

General Bullmoose, Gary Jones; Honest Abe, Randy Noble; Eagle Eye Fleagle, John Mace; and Skunk Hollar Boys, Marvin Morris, Gary Moore, Tom Woods, and William Thomas. Of course Daisy Mae 'n Lil' Abner will be announced at the hoedown on Friday nite. Competition for these two famous Dogpatchers will be held all week for five cents a nomination and one cent a vote. So put on your best Dogpatch Sunday go-to-meetin' duds 'n cum to this whoop-em-up time.

The mix will be Friday nite startin' at 9 p.m. The main dance will be held Saturday 'nite starting at the same time, same place. Activities start at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Wilkes Will Speak For CCC Program

Dr. John J. Wilkes, senior minister of the Baptist Temple in Charleston, will be the speaker for the Thanksgiving Program. The assembly will be held Tuesday, Nov. 24 at 9:45 a.m. in the auditorium. Dr. Wilkes is an extremely competent person interested in youth and young adults.

The Campus Christian Coalition, formerly the Campus Religious Council, is co-ordinator for the assembly. This non-profit organization endeavors to provide assembly programs on vital issues that are appealing to students.

The CCC has been active since the beginning of this semester. Not only have they gained a new name but a constitution as well. Members were rewarded for their team work on the new constitution by its acceptance and passage by the Student Congress. They assisted the Baptist Student Movement and Wesley Foundation in sponsoring the recent coffeehouse. Plans are now being made to have another coffeehouse and it is hoped more students will become involved.

The officers for the 1970-71 term are: Melody Bingham, president; Mike Boggs, vice-president; Deneen Schillig, secretary; Lorraine Seckman, treasurer; Mary Joseph, publicity; Patrick Pierson, parliamentarian; Mrs. Genevieve McDaniel, advisor. The Coalition holds its meetings the first Thursday of each month at 9:30 a.m. in the Presbyterian Church. Students who are interested and have any ideas or comments are urged to attend the meetings. If this organization is to be effective they need student help and backing.

Campus Christian Coalition announces its newly-elected officers.

Cheerleaders vying for Miss GSC Cheerleader are Linda Felton, Patricia Clayman, Rebecca Law, Candy Cass, and Linda Fox.

'A Free Press' Emphasized As Objective Of 'Mercury'

It has been brought to our attention that perhaps the students of Glenville State are not totally aware of their right to a free press. We would like to clarify any misunderstanding by quoting the following provisions of the Glenville Mercury objectives:

All letters and cartoons, if submitted, will be printed at the discretion of the editor and advisor; however, all letters will be printed if they are signed and are free from libelous statements, untruth and personal attacks.

Under the category of letters, we include guest editorials of substantive quality. We would be very pleased to add to our staff some one who might present a column of significant benefit to the students.

Letters To The Editor

"Supplements" Are Here

Dear Editor:

The supplement to the 1970 Kanawhachen has arrived . . . when do we get our yearbooks?

B.W.

James Praises Coffeehouse Sponsors

Dear Editor:

I felt somewhat embarrassed after reading the article on the Wesley Foundation—BSM Coffeehouse in the November 4 issue of the Mercury. The faculty performances were nothing compared to outstanding music and readings given by the students; yet Mr. Spears and I are the only names given. I should like very much for you to publish the names of the following for their talents and enthusiasm made one Friday evening a great joy for many.

Buddy Griffin is expert on the auto harp, banjo and guitar, especially when accompanied by his buddy, George Ward. The boys learned many folk melodies this summer and composed several of their own. Donna Newberry and Glenna Gainer blended voices and guitar harmonies for some beautiful melodies. They concluded the evening with "He's Everything To Me." Becky Cutlip recited some original poetry which was appreciated. Marlene Parsons accompanied her songs with banjo. The art displayed around the room was from the resourceful imaginations of Ruth Snyder, Becky Williams, Becky Cutlip, Bleu Lazier and Judy Davison arranged the room for a most appropriate coffeehouse atmosphere. It was a great success and all these students deserve praise.

Sincerely,
John James

Pledges of Sigma Sigma Sigma.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

On Sunday, Nov. 1, the Delta Alpha Chapter of the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority had its fall pledge initiation. These girls are the first pledge class of Delta Alpha. During their ten weeks of pledge period they must fulfill both local and national requirements. The ten pledges are Deborah Ann Buchannon, a sophomore business education major from Vienna; Vicki Lynn Dillon, a sophomore home economics major from Cottle; Beth Ann Dunham, a sophomore elementary education major from Jane Lew; Sandra Dale Hall, a sophomore elementary education major from Vienna; Debra Ann Hardman, a sophomore math major from Glenville; Darlene Hart, a junior elementary education major from Lindenhurst, New York; Beverly Bosworth Moore, a sophomore art major from Charles Town; Jacqueline Lucille Morton, a sophomore business education major from Weirton; Brenda Lou Rose, a sophomore business education major from Tesla; and Diane Carol White, a sophomore early childhood education major from Weston.

The pledge class officers were elected as following: president, Darlene Hart; vice president, Brenda Rose; secretary, Deborah Buchannon; and treasurer, Debra Hardman. They are preparing projects in which all the Tri Sigmas will earn money for the Brenda Sandy Fund.

The pledges have been assigned Big Sisters but will not be told who they are until next week. In the meantime, the Big Sisters are giving their little sisters daily gifts as a reminder that there is a Sigma behind them.

The girls eat weekly together and have jam session in the Sigma lounge to welcome the pledges and make them feel a part of the Tri-Sigma bond.

Alpha Sig

Alpha Sigma Alpha has taken two new pledges, Beverly Kibbee and Roberta Martin.

Miss Kibbee is a sophomore physical education major from Parkersburg. Miss Martin is also a sophomore and she is an elementary education major from Sutton.

Appointed to a new office is Susan Marra who is the new membership director.

Lambda Chi

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity has sponsored its annual UNICEF drive. UNICEF is an organization which aids children in need all over the world. This was done as a public service.

Lambda Chi is also participating in the "Brenda Sandy Week," which is being sponsored by the Greek Council. Brenda Sandy, from Williams-town, needs a kidney transplant; all money raised will go to her.

Mrs. Nettie Turner, house mother, has been admitted to the Union Protestant Hospital in Clarksburg where her room number is 417. She would appreciate any cards or letters.

Kappa Eta chapter has accepted a woman's auxiliary which will be called Theta Girls. This organization is to help the fraternity in any of their endeavors throughout the year. Meeting of this organization is each first and third Tuesday of every month. Girls who are interested, contact any of the Theta Xi's or girls who are members of the Theta Girls.

All students and faculty members are invited to attend Sadie Hawkins this weekend. The fraternity has spent a lot of time and energy toward making this a great success.

TKE

Iota Omega chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon held its weekly meeting at the fraternity house Monday evening at 6 p.m. Prytanis Michael McCartney presided over the meeting.

After committee reports were presented, plans were formulated for several public service and money making projects.

An entertainment party has been compiled for a service to Colin Anderson Center, St. Marys to enlighten the lives of the retarded children residing there.

Plans also have been made to put the second annual Christmas tree in front of Robert F. Kidd Library. Last year a 42-foot scotch pine occupied the site.

The fraternal committee plans to sell Christmas Seals to help the cause. There are also plans for some house renovations prior to the first of the year.

The Order of Diana will prepare and serve a Thanksgiving dinner at the fraternity house on Tuesday, Nov. 24.

Delta Zeta

Along with their pledge education these girls will be engaged in several service, community, and money-making projects. Their first activity as official Delta Zeta pledges will be the annual spaghetti dinner to be held tomorrow night in the Multi-Purpose room.

Dave Barnes was the winner of gasoline raffled by Delta Zeta last week.

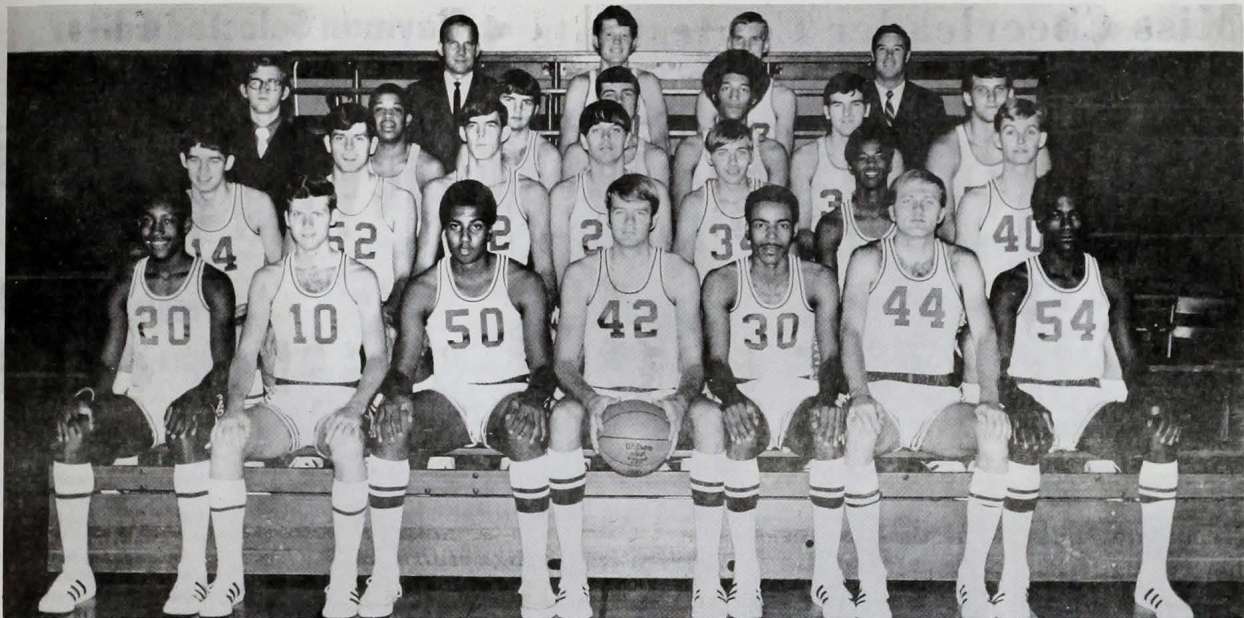

All Delta Zeta actives and pledges ate dinner together last Thursday in the cafeteria.

Several DZ's helped organize and conduct games and contest events at the Lions' Club annual Halloween party Oct. 30.

As a service in The Philanthropies endeavor, Delta Zetas are now collecting Clark gum packages. The Phillip-Morris Company will reimburse each package with milk, medical supplies, and educational facilities for underprivileged overseas nations.

1970 BASKETBALL PIONEERS

Down On The Corner

By Mike Smith

Time capsule...

Sept. 12, 1970...Mars Hill's Lions came to town and edged the Pioneers in the 1970 home opener 15-13. It was a sluggish affair for both teams.

Sept. 19, 1970...The Shepherd Rams journeyed into G-land and were upended by the Pioneers 21-0 in an outstanding defensive performance.

Sept. 26, 1970...Night game in Clarksburg. The Pioneers came roaring from behind to beat the Salem Tigers 9-7. The highlight of the game was "Pee Wee" Lacey's nine yard touchdown reception of a Pete McDermitt pass.

Oct. 3, 1970...The conference leading Pioneers hosted Fairmont's Falcons and again pulled off a last minute victory 22-21. The Pioneer defensive unit, dubbed the Blue Bandits, scored two touchdowns, the winning points came on a two point conversion pass from McDermitt to Mike Roscoe. It was Coach Bill Hanlin's 100th coaching victory.

Oct. 10, 1970...Night game at W.Va. Wesleyan. Believe it or not, the Pioneers pulled another one out of the five in the closing minutes to win 19-14. The Blue Bandits were again outstanding.

Oct. 17, 1970...The Pioneers, ranked 15th in NAIA polls and 1st in WVIAC ratings welcomed the Big Blues of Bluefield State in the Homecoming game. At the end of the festivities the Blues walked away with a 28-12 victory over the Pioneers.

Oct. 24, 1970...Made the long journey to West Liberty. Still in the thick of the conference race, however, lost 29-20 in what the players termed, "a bad effort."

Oct. 31, 1970...out of the conference race. Played W.Va. State's Yellow Jackets in the mud bowl and found Malcom Calhoun and Jack Summers too tough. Lost close decision 21-19 in the final home game for seven seniors.

Nov. 7, 1970...Trying to achieve winning record, but failed in 44-19 loss to the very aroused, and much improved Concord Mt. Lions. When the roll is called up yonder, I'll be there...

The Pioneers will have returning next year a host of talent. Guard Harland Spencer and tackle Craig Lipscomb will be back to anchor the line.

Both will be seniors and much will depend on them. Bill Reynolds will be back and should be the center. Split end Randy Modesitt will return as a junior and will no doubt be on the receiving end of many passes. Backs returning will be Carl Alloway, Clyde Stepp, Pete McDermitt, Randy Jeffries, John Pratt, and Jim Carter. These players saw a lot of action and will be looked to next season for leadership. Defensively the Pioneers will have back Randy Dillon, Carl Williams, Steve Stoffel, Steve Clendenin, Richard Richmond, Mike Spears, Vic Watson, Larry Chapman, and Billy Pierce. Freshman who did not see much action this season, but will fill important shoes, are Joe Stora, Les Cummings, Ken Morrison, Mark Leger, Phil Drane, Mike Robinson, Howie Hoetzel, Mike Smith, Okey Byrd, Dale Adkins and Tom Harvey. My awards will be as follows:

Most consistent defensively—end Randy Dillon, junior from Milton.

Most competitive defensively—defensive back Scotty Hamilton, junior from Marietta.

Most consistent offensively—Harland (Tarzan) Spencer, the junior guard from Richwood.

Most competitive offensively, Carl Alloway, sophomore halfback of Belpre, Ohio.

Mr. Clutch—Mike Roscoe, senior from Hundred.

Three freshmen who deserve awards are Mike Spears, a very tough line-backer from Parkersburg. John Pratt, who ran very well for the injured Clyde Stepp, and Billy Pierce, the southern gentleman, linebacker from Andrews, South Carolina.

Pete McDermitt, sophomore quarterback, is to be congratulated, as he once again led the league in passing. McDermitt also led in interceptions. Bits and Pieces...

Football will all but be forgotten now, as the sports page will be filled with stories and pictures of Coach Lilly's basketball team, and Coach Adolfson's wrestlers. We feel that Glenville State College will be very well represented by both of these squads.

Concord Mountain Lions Thwart GSC

As Pioneers Lose Season's Final Tilt

Concord's Mountain Lions rolled over the Pioneers 44-19 behind a fourth quarter burst of 24 points. The Mountain Lions were led by their brilliant freshman quarterback, Marshall Parker. Parker was the straw that broke the camel's back as he passed for five touchdowns and ran for another. All in all, Concord rolled to 419 total yards with 326 of them through the air.

Concord controlled the game from the outset, when midway through the first period, they got the initial touchdown on a 17 yard pass from Parker to Bill Kuykendall. Tom Dickerson's extra point try was good as the Mt. Lions went ahead 7-0. Moments later the Lions struck again. Parker dropped back and threw 20 yards to halfback Mike Callin for another score. Dickerson's extra point was perfect and the Pioneers were behind 14-0. Glenville struck in the second quarter when Carl Alloway climaxed the drive with a three yard run.

Ray Swisher's try for the extra point was good and the Pioneers were back in the game 14-7. Glenville hit again as soon as John Pratt took a hand-off burst through the line on Harland (Tarzan) Spencer's trap block and raced 55 yards for the second Pioneer touchdown. The try for the extra point was no good and the Pioneers went in at halftime trailing 14-13. Parker, however, was not to be outdone as he came back early in the third quarter, engineered a drive that ended when he rolled around end for a 5 yard score. The extra point try failed, but the Lions were out in front 21-13. Then the dam broke. In the fourth period Jack Rudider took a pass from Parker and raced 58 yards for another Lion score. The extra point was again no good, 27-13. Marshall Parker teamed up with Rudider for a 19 yard scoring strike. The extra point try failed but the Lions held a commanding 33-13 lead. Still Rudider and Parker were not through as they combined skills for another score, this one coming on an eight yard scoring strike.

Kuykendall then took the Parker pass for the two point conversion as the Lions went on to a 41-13 lead. To add insult to injury, Dickerson came in and booted a 27 yard field goal to give the Lions 44 points. Glenville made the score a little more respectable when they got a touchdown on a pass from Pete McDermitt. The pass covered 17 yards, but the two point conversion was no good. The game ended two minutes later with the score 44-19.

The loss was the fourth in a row for the Pioneers, and dropped their season record to four wins, five losses.

Forest Tech. Building Nearing Finish, Will Offer Many New, Useful Facilities

In the near future Glenville State College students will be able to appreciate the new forest technology building. Its location is on Mineral Road near the site of the former college farm. The two story rustic-finished building will hold many new facilities not now offered. For example, the main floor will consist of two reception desks, four main offices and a study library consisting of forestry periodicals furnished by Robert Kidd Library. There will be two large teaching laboratories. One will be for photography and one for management. Also featured will be two lecture rooms which will accommodate 35 students easily.

The basement or first floor will have five large garage doors which will allow for easy storage and shelter for trucks and equipment. Also there will be two large classrooms with a seating capacity of 50 and locker room facilities.

Another example of the forestry technology program is their saw mill. It consists of an all electric mill which is a Frick semi-portable mill with a 60-inch circular inverted tooth headsaw. The mill's foundation materials were donated by forestry industries throughout the state. Also the forestry men of GSC should be commended for their work on the mill because 70 per cent of the work that is now done, these men built. The area behind the mill will be used for regeneration and forest management. This is due to the fact that a natural water shed lies in this area.

Last weekend 28 forestry men took a field trip to the Dept. of Natural Resources Center at Milton. Their purpose was to get an overall insight of the organization of forestry, fire protection for the district, methods and procedures for fire fighting, reporting and monitoring progress and the entire communications setup. They also visited the Georgia Pacific operations near Logan to compare fire damage with time. Finally, the main reason the forestry men traveled was to get them ready for an on-the-job experience for fire suppressions.

Clayman Selected Editor Of 1971 Kanawhachen

The staff members responsible for producing and editing the 1971 edition of the Kanawhachen have been announced by Mr. Steve Nichols, art instructor at Glenville State College and advisor of the 1971 Kanawhachen.

Patricia Clayman, a sophomore physical education major from Brandywine, Md. is the yearbook's editor. She has the responsibilities of coordinating the efforts of the entire staff for a prompt production of the yearbook. She prepares the budget, supervises editorial assistants, plans the book in advance so everyone will know what to do, and performs various other duties.

The position of photographer is held by Thomas Pickens of Glenville. He is a senior majoring in art. His duties are to see that all important events are covered and that all necessary pictures are taken.

Sports events for the Kanawhachen will be covered by the sports editor, David Pethal, a sophomore physical education major from Hundred. He will work with the editor in laying out the sports section and also schedule with the photographer sports events to be photographed.

Jennifer Pitzer, a sophomore art major from Charleston is the art director. She and her staff, Rebecca Post, a sophomore elementary education major from Parkersburg, Beverly Moore, a sophomore art major from Charles Town, and Barbara Walker, a sophomore physical education major from Washington, will perform duties of preparing layouts, preparing India ink drawings for production, and performing other forms of art work.

The duties of business manager will be conducted by Sue Riffe, a sophomore business major from Beckley, and her staff, Sandra Suran, a sophomore English major from Kittanning, Pa., Rosanna Corathers, a sophomore elementary education major from Weston, and Anne Whitman, a sophomore library science major from Charleston. Their major duties are to prepare an advertising budget, sell advertising, supervise bookkeeping and business records, and collect yearbook money.

The typist for the yearbook is Dixie Sleeth. She is a sophomore business major from Alum Bridge.

The yearbook staff will be sponsoring fund-raising drives throughout the year to raise money for use on the 1971 yearbook.

Election results:

Gary Edward Lewis, junior English major from Parkersburg, was elected Independent representative to the Student Congress in the election held yesterday.

All students registered for both semesters of 1970-71 will receive their yearbooks without further payment next fall. Any other interested persons can purchase a yearbook from the editor or business manager for $6.00. Organization's pictures will be taken at a later date.

Federal Jobs Now Open For Summer

The Office of Career Planning and Placement has received booklets listing available summer jobs in federal agencies. Any college student is eligible for a position with these federal agencies. Any interested student should obtain a booklet from the Placement Office.

The job opportunities with these agencies are limited and anyone interested should apply for the position he desires as early as possible to receive maximum consideration. There are application blanks for the written test in the booklet and also a list of locations where testing will be conducted. Other application blanks may be obtained from the Placement Office or from post offices in towns and cities where the tests are given.

Test dates are scheduled according to the time applications received. Those students applying by Dec. 4 will be tested Jan. 9. Students whose applications are received by Jan. 8 will be tested Feb. 13, and students applying by Feb. 3 will be tested Mar. 13. Any applications received after Feb. 3 will not be accepted.
