Party Given By President

President of Glenville State College, Dr. D. Banks Wilburn honored the faculty, staff and their families with his annual Christmas party in the ballroom of the Pioneer Center, Sunday Dec. 13 from 3-5 p.m.

Officers of the Inter-Residence Council and volunteers of the student body decorated a lovely Christmas tree to add to the spirit of the yule season.

Mr. Gerald Ratliff, speech instructor at GSC and students presented a short program with Mr. James Baldwin, of the music dept., leading a musical group in selections of Christmas music.

Refreshments were served and enjoyed by everyone thanks to the services of Miss Brenda Adkins, GSC dietician and Mrs. William J. Osborne, who presided at the punch bowl.

The height of the afternoon was the arrival of Santa Claus. The jolly old gentleman presented the children with stockings filled with candy and apples. Prior to the arrival of Santa, the guests enjoyed the singing of Christmas Carols.

Kindergarten Will Give Christmas Party Friday

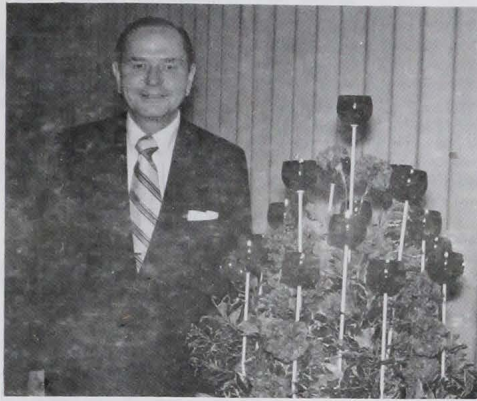

The tiny tots at the kindergarten will be celebrating Christmas by having a party on Friday, Dec. 18 at 10 a.m. They are planning for it by making decorations for their tree and preparing a recitation in which they spell out "Merry Christmas." In their circle they are learning Christmas songs and poems, and during rest periods they listen to Christmas music. They also have been making cards and gifts for their parents and plan to go caroling around campus.

Dr. Wilburn and the parents have been invited to attend the affair, and refreshments are to be served by the children's mothers.

"A Peek at Santa" was the winning door in Women's Hall.

Women's Hall will go Christmas caroling Thursday night at 10 p.m. Any girl living in Women's Hall is invited to go caroling.

Dr. Wilburn extends Christmas greetings to those attending his party.

BAH HUMBUG! Christmas Season Dictates Peace, Goodwill Toward Men

The Christmas season is upon us with all its gaiety and holiday cheer. But today's world just doesn't lend itself to the frivolity of the celebration. Instead our hearts are more directed toward peace and goodwill. Our desires are for a better life and not mere existence.

Glenville is not without its problems and it is purely juvenile to hide behind holiday spirits. Instead we should focus on the prospects of the new year determined to cure our ills. As Mr. Cribbs has noted, we must earn our liberties. We cannot give up but must have perseverance and determination to obtain our goals.

In a society which tolerates starvation, pollution, and crime to such an extent as ours, we find it hard to feel the spirit of celebration. We must, therefore, use this holiday and the custom of New Year's resolutions to combat hunger, environmental disasters and crime. Here at GSC we, too, must make resolutions. We must strive to make our college a good one. We must make it a comfortable, reasonable environment in which to live and grow in knowledge and maturity.

Spirit Of Christmas Renews Memories

Dear Editor:

Christmas is in the air, and the holiday spirit prevails for most people! The familiar stars and Santa Claus are hanging on Glenville's Main Street, and multi-colored electric bulbs shine through the night. Shining decorations around town and on campus remind shoppers that the Yuletide Season is here. The door to the business office is adorned with a colorful Christmas tree against a background of red while a unique toothpick tree greets the eye at the dean's office. Mrs. Barnett has tastefully decorated the switchboard office, and Mrs. Barker has shown remarkably good taste and creativeness in making an atmosphere of Christmas in Dr. Wilburn's office. Such decorations certainly aid in inspiring the spirit of Christmas, but for some, Christmas is just another troublesome day. Then of course, there are the "Bah-Humbug!" people.

Scrooge apparently visited Walnut Street on the night of Dec. 9. Here, in the yard of Mr. Clark Ellis stood a beautiful tree decorated with 100 bulbs. Such a lovely sight was more than Mr. Scrooge could endure, so he took it upon himself to destroy the pretty decorations. The destruction seems to have been done by attaching one end of the solid string of lights to the bumper of a car and driving away. Christmas should be a tree of thanksgiving, but most importantly, a time of good will towards others. Is Christmas to be a thing of the past? What does Christmas mean?

Christmas brings to mind the thoughts of a big turkey dinner with all trimmings (a typically selfish American thought). But what about the people throughout the world who are starving? Some think of Christmas as a time for reunions with friends and family. What about the thousands of soldiers in Viet Nam who are separated from friends and family? Christmas is at least supposed to be, a time of giving. Think of the unfortunate young men giving their lives in an unjustifiable war! Christmas presents bring memories of Christmases past and thoughts of future happiness and blessings. However, to many people, especially those facing the draft, the future looks dark, foreboding, and uncertain rather than bright and promising.

In spite of shiny decoration and yuletide greetings, the hearts of some are not cheered. Is Christmas a mockery? Is society trying to cover over the dread and disgust of the world in which man must live? The time blackens and becomes ugly in time. Christmas passes, and then what is there to show for it? A few meaningless gifts? A pound or two gained from gorging a Christmas dinner? There should be something else, something more lasting. The spirit of Christmas should be a feeling that lasts the year around. The world is in turmoil, but if each person will think about what the real meaning of Christmas is and then abide by that feeling, perhaps the world would be a better place for all mankind.

Cummings, Duvall Win Acting Contest

Dennis Duvall and Jacqueline Cummings were presented the Best Actor and Actress awards following the Impromptu Acting Contest presented by the Ohningohow Players in the Little Theatre on Dec. 1. Mr. Duvall is a sophomore music major from New Castle, Pa. and Miss Cummings is a sophomore early childhood major from Poca.

Mrs. Judy Curtis and Mr. Gerald Ratliff were critic-judges of the contest which involved approximately 35 participants.

The contestants were required to perform a scene involving a particular situation after only five minutes' preparation. Then after being divided into groups of three, one individual was instructed to think and then pantomime and to attempt to guess what the situation was.

Acting exercises were also given to the students in which they had to express certain psychological and physical phases to pantomime such as anger, fear, and happiness.

Ratliff Will Present Studies On Speech

Mr. Gerald Ratliff of the English and Speech Department will attend the national conference of the Speech Communication Association to be held in New Orleans December 27-31. He will participate in several panel discussions and forums representing the dramatic criticism area of the Speech Association. In addition, he will present a paper to the General Assembly entitled "The Polemics of Effective Public Speaking Witnessed by the Implementation of Pantomime and Music in Initial Communication Courses." This concept of employing music to regulate the speed of the voice and of pantomime to create more effective gestures was initially developed at Texas Tech, where Mr. Ratliff served on the faculty and staff for one year, and was developed in depth in the Speech 101, Principles of Speech, course here at Glenville State College.

"Congratulations" In Order; Alumnus Displays Interest

Dear Editor:

I wish to extend my hardest congratulations to David Scott for his marvelous letter in the Dec. 9, 1970 edition of the Mercury.

It was called to my attention several weeks ago that a communication gap was formed between the fraters of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity and the GSC administration. Although such news was not startling, it was certainly saddening, saddening because an annual Christmas party held by said fraternity would be cancelled this year. Other social functions by the fraternity are apparently restricted because of a party held by another TKE chapter in the town of Glenville and attended by GSC TEKES.

During my college days at GSC, I attempted to begin an awakening of the seemingly "outdated campus among the maples." When I graduated, I knew I had failed in that quest.

Failure was not due to the administration's refusing to discuss programs with the interest of the students at mind. I can recall the happy day when comprehensive examinations were eliminated from the curriculum. I can also recall the jubilant hour when women received later hours.

Failure was due to the Student Government (or Congress) wasting time criticizing The Mercury, worrying over a glamour contest, or spending weeks deciding which band should play for the next dance. Failure was due to the Associated Women Students organization selling eggs. Failure was due to Greek organizations putting up Christmas trees and singing carols.

Why do these organizations not work together for the reforms they are seeking? Why does the Student Congress insist upon discussing trivial items and accept restrictions? If the women want longer hours, why do they not work to attain them? Can the administration be blamed for becoming apathetic when the students are doing that very thing?

Committees should be formed to seek reforms for questionable rules. If social events for the Tekes were cancelled, they should have dropped the Christmas tree idea. If women want longer hours they could have dropped the open house Christmas decorations.

Since the sports and political columnist of the Mercury amuse themselves by presenting petty awards each week, I would like to present the "Wake Up Award" to the students of GSC. Responsibility will not be handed to immature students who cannot accept it.

Congratulations frater Dave, once again. You made us proud to be an alumni of Tau Kappa Epsilon as I was to be an active member of the Iota Omega Chapter. Keep the faith and someday our quest will become GSC's reality.

President Extends Holiday Greetings

Dear Students:

As you are now about to leave the campus for the Christmas vacation, I wish you much happiness and joy at this Christmas season, and extend to your families and friends at home and abroad my best wishes.

It seems that the spirit of Christmas should cause us to reflect much upon the many aspects of life in our world today. There are the problems of peace in the world. There is the need to make certain that people everywhere have the privilege of governing themselves as they see fit, and of rearing their families in an environment which will be conducive to an ever-increasing grasp of recognizable standards of worthwhile living. Here at home there must be greater concern expressed in positive action for the poor, for those often afflicted by disease, for the plight of the elderly who too often must live in humiliating circumstances, and for those for whom it seems there are too few opportunities to participate fully in the cultural, educational, and social self-sustaining endeavors that are aspects of the personal aspirations of all persons.

All of these problems should challenge you to be a part of the great positive force of mankind which is required in order to solve these and many more unrecognized problems of the present and the future. Your best chance of being able to accept the challenge is to make certain that you secure now the best possible preparation during the years that you are at Glenville State College. This must be your first concern. It must be revealed through your eagerness to learn, to question your own ideas, those of your fellow students, and of the faculty. You must be willing to accept new ideas about your worth and that of those around you. You must learn to test that which seems new in order to gain security in recently acquired ideas. This must be if your educational endeavors are to cause you to become the kind of men and women who can accept the challenge of today and tomorrow in the spirit of Christmas.

You often say, "What can we do now to make the spirit of Christmas become a reality?" The community Christmas tree on the campus, the party for underprivileged children, and other expressions of generosity and love are most commendable and are efforts in a positive direction. But why not seek now, the remainder of this year and next year, to make the spirit of love become a reality everyday? This, you are able to do if you just look around. Why not find a child or youth who needs tutoring in order to succeed in school?

Scores of students here in College are not succeeding with their studies. They, however, wish to succeed very much. If they do not receive assistance, they may be denied the opportunity which you have. Why, then, not find a fellow student who may have a better chance to succeed because you are giving assistance?

Why not find groups of children and youth in the community who need a planned recreational program, and provide it? Why not find elderly persons who may, because of some assistance which you may be able to give them, have brighter days throughout the year? These are only several among many actions which you may take to make the spirit of Christmas live everyday in your life and the lives of others.

Just a personal remark in conclusion. May you, this Christmas season, give more than a casual thought to those friends, relatives, and thousands with whom you have had no acquaintance who are in your midst and in far distant places performing many kinds of tasks, the objectives of which are to bring a better way of life, including human dignity, to more and more people.

Best Wishes for the Christmas Season.

Cordially yours,
D. Banks Wilburn
President

Muckraking

by Ken Davis

We the American people, living in the richest country on the earth, will celebrate this Christmas season with joy in our hearts. Yet when we go home please do not forget that many people around us will not be as fortunate as us this holiday.

When you get up on Christmas morning and begin to open your gifts, take time out to think about those who are not receiving any gift that day. When you see that Christmas dinner being placed on the table for your enjoyment, think of the millions of starving people in the world, who will be lucky to find a scrap of bread to devour.

Yes, we the American people are fortunate to live in a prosperous country, but some people are not as fortunate. I ask that each student here at Glenville State College make an effort over this holiday period to make someone else happy on this joyous occasion. Whether you give a 59¢ toy to a child of a poverty stricken family, or a Christmas dinner to someone who would have had none, it will be remembered. Keep in mind it is not the gift, but the thought behind it. So I not only say to you "Merry Christmas," but I also say, "Give a Merry Christmas."

AWARDS OF THE WEEK:

Is it ballet? No, it's only a Shepherd player guarding Pioneer Jim Spicer in last week's home game.

Down On The Corner

Hustle, Desire, and Determination...

These were the key words as the Pioneers defeated Shepherd here 99-72. Senior co-captain, Dave Barnes came off the bench in place of Steve Datcher. Barnes immediately scored with one of his high arching jump shots from the corner. Barnes was instrumental in the win as he strongly defended Shepherd's high scoring Mike Green. Barnes seemed to be everywhere, diving for loose balls, getting rebounds, and throwing nice looking passes. Barnes was not the only hustler however, Dale Tawney again showed his all out drive. When Tawney misses a lay-up he goes right back up and puts it in for the score. Dale played very good defensively and got the ball when it was needed. Ken Ledbetter gave Tawney a few rest periods and in the Pioneers late scoring spurge Ledbetter was tremendous. He made some outstanding passes and got the important rebounds and scores. Jim Garnett was still the cog that made the machine move. Garnett led the fast break that broke the game open. He would either pass off or shoot a short jumper. No matter what he did it resulted in a score. Jim also made a couple of key steals late in the game. Remember these words...

Freshman Earl Hawkins scored 30 points in the Shepherd win and is causing fans to talk. He is being compared to the great Jackie Joe Robinson. Indeed, some people are calling him "Jackie Joe" Hawkins. This comparison is fine except that Hawkins is not Jackie Robinson, he is Earl Hawkins. Having this year and three more seasons left, Hawkins appears a cinch to be one of Glenville's all time greats, but by then you may hear of an "Earl" Robinson! Pioneer Spirit, let's hear it...

We certainly heard it in the Shepherd game. The student spirit was tremendous as they followed the cheerleaders and their chants. It is the kind of cheering you expect around tournament time, but not this early in the year. It was very gratifying and I know Coaches Lilly and Carney and the Pioneers appreciated it. Students keep it up and the Falcons won't win down here.

The Big Leagues...

Now that we have talked about amateur basketball, let's turn to the professional basketball. In the intramural games Thursday night, one team caught this writer's attention. That being the high scoring Lambda Chi Lards. The Lards were led by Ron Sirk with 6 points and Steve Brown with five. The rest of the team did not score but that made little difference. Bill "Bo" Gallagher put on a dribbling exhibition, pounding the ball between his legs and he also led the Lards in rebounds, with two. Another team to be reckoned with is the Boogerhold All-stars who got a last second win when Benny Connor took a pass from Steve Clendinning and put in a lay-up. The Lards allowed only 46 points in the game. Army leads the nations defense allowing 47 a game, so this gives an idea of the toughness of the Lards.

Merry Christmas...

Until Jan. 4, 1971 have a most wonderful holiday.

GSC Wins Fourth Conference Game As Pioneers Defeat Shepherd's Rams

Shepherd's Rams came to town Friday night and were sent home with a 99-72 defeat. It was a hard fought win for Jesse Lilly's Pioneers. They had to fight for their lives throughout most of the game. Shepherd's Mike Greene was bombing in long shots while Steve Datcher and Dale Tawney were getting in foul trouble trying to stop him. The Pioneers were behind much of the first half but they rallied and went in at half-time with a 35-34 lead. The first ten minutes of the second half was pretty much a replay of the first. With the score at 61-61 and only 10 minutes remaining the GSC cagers went on a scoring rampage. They had gotten bad breaks in the first half but they decided to make their breaks in the end. The Rams could score only two points while the Pioneers were scoring 17. With Datcher on the bench the Pioneers looked to Hawkins, Tawney, and Garnett to provide the scoring. That they did. Hawkins poured in 30, while Tawney and Garnett had 15 each. Ken Ledbetter had 12 points in an outstanding substitute role. At any rate the Pioneers came up with a 99-72 victory and are eagerly awaiting a Tuesday night home clash with Alderson-Broadus.

The fraternity has also voted to accept the new house constitution which has been in the process of completion for the past few weeks. This constitution will rule all house operations and procedures governing all person therein.

The Theta Xi pledges are also doing a great deal of work to the fraternity house and the property. The pledges have been spending most of their time in fund raising activities for their pledge class fund. The fraternity also helped with the Brenda Sandy week sponsored by the Greek Council which netted $130.

Jayne Beer And Keith Boyles Discuss Story Poems At Literary Society Meet

The Literary Society met on Dec. 13 at 3 p.m. in the old LBH Lounge to discuss Story Poems, a collection of poems edited by Louis Untermeyer. The poems in the collection span several centuries and include the "glories of English literature."

In his introduction to the collection, Untermeyer states that the emphasis is on the poem, not the poet; the emphasis is on the power and persuasion of the tale, not the reputation of the writer. The collection mingles the classic and the contemporary, the popular and the not-yet-familiar. It was compiled for readers who respond to romance, humor, and adventure. The book is "a collection of verse that tells stories of the dreams and aspirations of men, of memorable events and mythical exploits, of heartbreak and mystery, of laughter and triumph."

Some of the better-known favorites included in the selection are Kipling's "Gunga Din" and Longfellow's "Excelsior;" ballads such as "Fair Margaret and Sweet William," "Lord Randall," and "Get Up and Bar the Door;" and poems about people, including Yeats' "Father Gilligan" and Frost's "The Death of the Hired Man."

Discussion of Untermeyer's collection of poems was led by Keith Boyles and Jayne Beer. Mr. Boyles provided refreshments.
