President Receives Education Honors

Recently, Dr. D. Banks Wilburn received two honors in the field of higher education. He will be representing the educators of West Virginia in both positions.

On October 27, Dr. Wilburn was notified by Dr. Harold E. Morris, Deputy Director of Education Activities Staff of the Appalachian Regional Commission, that he is to serve as a West Virginia representative on a task force on higher education. The task force will meet in Washington, D.C. on Tuesday, Dec. 7 in order to consider the critique of the Mathematics Study on the needs of higher education in Appalachia. Not only will they consider the problems which the study uncovered, but they also decide on a course of action to correct the deficiencies.

On Tuesday, Nov. 23, Dr. Wilburn was advised that he has been elected to serve as the president of the West Virginia Association of Colleges and Universities for the ensuing year. This organization is composed of representatives from all of the West Virginia state colleges, the two universities and all private colleges in the state. From these members various councils are established for the purpose of considering problems of the college administrations.

Thanksgiving Accident Claims Charles Herndon

Charles E. Herndon, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Herndon of Barboursville Rt. 1, a Glenville State College student, drowned in the Ohio River last Friday morning.

The accident occurred on a house boat which was moored east of Huntington. Apparently the youth fell from the deck of the house boat and was overcome by the icy water. Dr. Gerald Vanston, Cabell County Coroner, ruled accidental death by drowning.

Mercury Birthday Party Celebrates Early Years

The Glenville State College Newspaper, The Glenville Mercury, held its 42nd birthday celebration on Nov. 23. The paper was organized and first published on Nov. 25, 1929, and has served incessantly since that time.

An afternoon tea was held in the Mercury office by the present Mercury staff to celebrate the occasion. All former and present members of the staff and friends were invited. Of special interest were the five advisors who were able to attend the celebration. They were, along with their years of service: Linn B. Hickman, '35-'45; Opal V. Starcher, '45-'46; Espy W. Miller, '46-'49; Virginia West, '55-'64; and Yvonne H. King, '66-'71.

There have been a total of eight advisors for the Mercury since its beginning; however, the following did not attend the party: Everett Withers, '29-'35 (deceased); E.B. Elder, '49-'55; and Thomas Larson, '64-'66.

Refreshments were served by the present Mercury staff. A total of 63 people signed the guest register.

Mr. G. Ratliff Lectures At New Orleans Meet

Mr. Gerald Ratliff, instructor of speech and English, attended the fifth National Maskers conclave held Nov. 21-28 at the LSU campus in New Orleans, La.

Mr. Ratliff was a guest lecturer at the conclave where he presented a paper entitled "Constantine Stanislavski: Method in His Madness" and recreated his Shakespeare program which he staged at GSC last April.

Mr. Ratliff met with students and faculty on the LSU campus and demonstrated the Stanislavski method of action as well as in a pantomime program.

Tax Credit Amendment Is Approved by Senate

Senator Jennings Randolph informs us that, as of November 15, the Senate has approved an amendment to the Revenue Act which provides a maximum tax credit of $325 for college expenses.

This amendment will enable parents of college students to deduct up to $325 on their income taxes in addition to claiming that child as a dependent.

The Senate approved the amendment by a vote of 96 to 27, and Senator Randolph adds, "It was my privilege to support and speak in behalf of this measure which is a necessary supplement of financial aid for parents and students."

MARIONETTE SHOW FEATURED AT PARTY

Dr. and Mrs. D. Banks Wilburn cordially invite the faculty and staff families to their annual Christmas party. This year's party will be held in the ballroom on Sunday, Dec. 12 from 3-5 p.m. with the feature entertainment being a marionette performance by Michael Edwon "Jim" Busch, a 1965 graduate of GSC. Refreshments will be served.

Student pictures are in! They may be picked up from Linda Potanski, Women's Hall, room 315 A the week of Dec. 6. The cost of the packet is $2.

Christmas Concert Scheduled Dec. 9

As part of the Christmas convocation to be held on Dec. 9 at 8 p.m. the Glenville State College Choir will present a concert of Christmas music. The choir, which is under the direction of Mr. James Baldwin will be singing traditional Christmas carols in English such as "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," "Silent Night," and "While By Our Sleeping Flocks We Lay." Modern Christmas music will also be heard in the selection, "The Christ Child." During the first part of the program, the choir will also be singing carols in the different languages such as "Es Ist Ein Ros Entsprungen" (Lo, How a Rose E're Blooming) in German and "Le Sommeil de l'enfant Jesus" (The Sleep of the Child Jesus) in French.

The second half of the program will feature the performance of "Gloria" by Antonio Vivaldi. This large work, which will be sung entirely in Latin is comprised of twelve pieces. Singing Solos in this prelude to the Mass will be sung by sopranos: Jane Price and Patricia Stanley and altos: Jane Turner and Mary Helen Baldwin.

Section leaders which were appointed by Mr. Baldwin are Patricia Stanley, soprano; Jane Turner, alto; Jack Riddle, tenor; and John McKinney, bass. Also serving the choir this year are the following officers: John McKinney, president; Danny Taylor, vice-president; Peggy Jo McDonald, and Patricia Stanley who is in charge of robes.

Future activities for the choir include singing at the Trinity United Methodist Church during the service on Dec. 5. The concert choir will be traveling to Wirt County High School to Elizabeth to give a concert to the student body on Dec. 6. A tour is also being planned for second semester.

Silent Movie Is Postponed

Mr. Bob Verbeck, originally scheduled to show "An Evening at the Silent Movies" to GSC students and faculty on Dec. 10, has been postponed indefinitely. Mr. Verbeck is currently in the hospital. Rescheduling for this program will be in the spring or next fall.

Mr. Verbeck possesses an unusual and rare collection of some 1200 silent films. "An Evening at the Silent Movies" included such classics as "The Perils of Pauline," the "Key-stone Cops," and the early "westerns," an assortment of the comedy and drama of more than 50 years ago.

A "silent film buff" for many years, Mr. Verbeck has among his collection some films which date back as far as the last few years to this presentation hopefully may view "An Evening at the Silent Movies" in the spring.

Education 201 Activity Should Be Chosen Now

Students enrolled in Education 201 for the spring semester 1971-72 are encouraged to apply for the accompanying activity. This should be done before the end of the current semester. Students may do this by contacting Mr. Joseph Hickman at his office, M2-1 in Clark Hall.

This activity gives the students an opportunity with youngsters. For many it will be their first experience at teaching. The education students will work with youngsters in various organizations. These include church groups, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H clubs, and other worthwhile organizations.

This is a lead-up to the Education 301 activity where Glenville's students perform in either their major or minor field of instruction.

The concert choir, under the direction of Mr. James Baldwin, prepares for its upcoming concert.

Ecological Battle Begins With Local Environment

Every Wednesday night from 7 to 9 p.m. several college students and faculty members spend these hours worrying about, discussing, and cussing problems of environment in Biology 380 better known as the "Ecology Class."

This class is sponsored by the college to help inform the College community of the problems and possible solutions concerning the crimes we Americans commit against our environment.

This may appear to be a plug for the ecology class but actually it is just to point up a rather paradoxical situation the college has placed itself in.

On Mineral Road the College has a trailer park for faculty and married students. Behind this park the College has started a new "construction" project—the construction of a trash dump.

Instead of having this trash from the college collected by the town facilities or disposing of it properly, the college has the maintenance crew take a college truck and gather the trash and then dump the untreated mess behind the park.

Also, at the site of our newly acquired and expensive saw mill, the college has dumped an abandoned vehicle along with other useless "crap."

So herein lies the paradox. While the college is trying to teach good ecological practices it is at the same time violating these practices.

Does "Do as I say, not as I do" apply here? Isn't it time we see just where the values lie?

1800 View Tobacco Road As Realistic Setting Unfolds

"Great day in the morning! I never seen such beating one of the other as I seen here today." The statement, though one of Jeeter Lester's could easily have been made by one of the many viewers of the successful production of Kirkland's Tobacco Road by the Glenville State College drama department.

All the elements which combine to make a good production were witnessed by those attending. The actors and actresses "painfully" exhibited true professionalism and dedication. As in all productions, however, there are those characters which appear stronger than others. One of the strongest among the cast was Phil Duncan who played the part of Dude, the youngest son of Jeeter Lester. Duncan, though only a freshman, proved to be excellent in his role. He remained in his wonderfully humorous character throughout the play even when unexpected events happened on stage.

Due to his good acting, one would have thought he had been born Dude Lester. His actions and accent along with his apparent joy of acting have placed him well on his way of attaining his goal of becoming a professional actor.

Others whose acting definitely ranks with that of Duncan's performance are David Grapes, as Jeeter Lester and Kathy Fluharty, as Sister Bessie. They were dynamic in their roles and enabled the production to be a successful one. Also, Sharon Anderson, as Ada, and Harry Van Meter, as Lov, did very commendable roles in their respective roles. This is not to say that the play depended solely upon these people, but each member of the cast did a good job in portraying to the public the realistic situation of a family which had become a victim of poverty.

The stage setting was superb. The worn-out house edged with trees, the corn crib, and the leaves on the ground provided just the right atmosphere for Tobacco Road. The action which involved the beating of others, the actual eating of turnips, and the presence of a motorcycle on stage enhanced the meaning and reality of the play. Occasionally, however, the action would become so dominant as to drown out the dialogue, consequently, the audience was left confused.

The costumes soaked in mud water were excellent. The rips and tears portrayed to the audience the realistic truth of the Lester family's situation to such a degree that neat costumes never could have accomplished. The make-up varied from actor to actor. In some cases, it was definitely good; whereas, in others, the use of color or a prominent line proved to be distracting.

Many shortcomings seen opening night were rapidly improved for later performances. These slight changes, especially concerning the death of Ada, greatly improved the audience's comprehension of the play.

The successful production of Tobacco Road, which was viewed by approximately 1800 people, was an excellent debut for Gerald Ratliff, drama instructor, as director of the major production at Glenville. The play proved to be one of the most superb witnessed by Glenville State College students. Not only did it offer humor and tragedy, it left each viewer with a different conception of how life can be to those who must live surrounded by the conditions which face many families like the Lesters. Conditions present caused apathy to reign and death and cruelty to be mere unemotional events. Life for them was just existing—not really living.

Greek News

The last few weeks of the first semester will be filled with various activities for the sororities and fraternities on campus:

The brothers of Lambda Chi Alpha officially initiated its 14 associate members on November 19 and 20. The brothers will also have a paint project on Saturday, Dec. 4, which will consist of painting the hall and rooms of third floor of Verona Maple.

On Friday Nov. 19, Delta Zeta's fall pledge class gave a party for the chapter, with the theme of "Party in the Sky." On Saturday, the four pledges were initiated into the bonds of Delta Zeta.

At an informal meeting on Mon. Nov. 29, the plans were made concerning the DZ state day at Pipestem State Park.

Tau Kappa Epsilon recently elected new officers for the second semester. They are: Phillip Reale, president; Rick Miller, treasurer; Mike McCartney, vice president; Phil Drane, secretary, and Charles Boswell, pledge trainer.

The TKE's are also holding a Christmas party and dance this Saturday, Dec. 4 at the Caravan Supper Club in Weston.

Gamma Kappa chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha will hold initiation for their pledges on Tuesday, Dec. 7 in the Wesley Foundation. The girls to be initiated have completed nine weeks of pledging with all requirements met and passed. This past week has been "Fun Week" for the pledges which included various activities such as the party the pledges held on Nov. 30 with the theme of "Winter Wonderland."

On Friday, Dec. 10 the girls will serve refreshments at the amateur boxing match to be held in the gymnasium starting at 8 p.m. There will also be a rummage sale on Saturday, Dec. 4 in the downtown area. Toys and clothing will be the main articles sold at this sale.

The girls of ASA are also planning to give a Christmas party for the special education class at Troy sometime before Christmas. Gifts for the children are being prepared which include coloring books and puff balls.

Scholarships are also being made available by the sorority's National Office for anyone, Greek or non-Greek, that has a major or minor in special education. Anyone wanting to apply for these scholarships is asked to get in touch with Nancy France or Janet Posey on the ASA wing.

The Delta Alpha Chapter of Sigma Sigma will hold their annual Christmas "Boutique Sale" on Dec. 8 and 9. Wednesday, Dec. 8, from 8-11 p.m., the sisters will hold their sale in the Sigma Lounge, room 209 B Women's Hall, and Dec. 9 the girls will be selling their assortment of Christmas gifts all day in front of the old cafeteria. Each year the girls hold this activity and sell knitted and crocheted articles and a wide assortment of Christmas knick-knacks which make good gifts or stocking stuffers. Traditional Christmas baked goods and candies will also be sold.

Saturday, Dec. 4 will be the initiation date for the 17 members of the fall pledge class which has passing scores on their National Sorority Exam, investigation of the National Executive Council and the vote of the local chapter. The coming weekend will be filled with initiation activities for the new and old sisters of Tri-Sigma.

Viewers Reproved

On Tuesday, Nov. 9, the Vanguard Theater Company gave an excellent performance of Eugene O'Neill's "A Long Day's Journey into Night." However, it was at times difficult to hear the performance because members of the audience decided to give one of their own. The prologue to this spontaneous but extensive display was most excellently conceived and executed by a certain group who demonstrated their skill at tossing popcorn into the air and catching it in their mouths; this was followed by three hours of almost incessant chattering among those who apparently were either lost, bored or felt they were above listening to what they must have considered the cheap ranting of the poor players.

We might point out that this was not a movie. The actors on the stage were real people with real feelings. The members of the audience who were rude and insensitive enough to carry on conversations and make wisecracks displayed nothing but disrespect for the actors and for the rest of the audience. Therefore, if you were either one of the bored or one of those who felt you were condescending to watch the play, you should have kept quiet until intermission; then you should have left. Or if you did not understand the play, you should have kept still about it: you would be surprised what you can learn if you pay attention.

We realize that many people in the audience that night were there to watch a tragedy and acted accordingly; we realize that some did not know "A Long Day's Journey" is a tragedy, and to those we should perhaps apologize for not offering adequate preparation; however, we also realize that some were there demanding simply an evening's entertainment, an event which would afford them a chance to let off steam. To those we offer this editorial. After all, if you wanted a circus (Roman style) you had your chance: there were professional wrestling matches at the high school auditorium on the evening of November 9.

Barnhart Featured In Art, Craft Exhibit

The art department announces the Senior Arts and Crafts Exhibition of Susan Barnhart of Chester. Her exhibit will open Monday, Dec. 6 at 2 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of the Pioneer Center. A variety of arts and crafts will be displayed including numerous paintings, sketches, prints, ceramics, cornhusk dolls, several handwoven pieces and some macramé creations.

Miss Barnhart had done extensive study in the field of arts and crafts. She studied oil painting for six years under Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Triguba of East Liverpool, Ohio. Both attended Alfred University.

In 1965 Miss Barnhart was chosen as an apprentice to the Annual Mountain State Art and Craft Fair in Ripley. She completed a five-year white oak basketry apprenticeship under Mrs. William A. Laird of Elkins. During the same summer, Miss Barnhart took a course of other traditional mountain basketry. She also served a short weaving apprenticeship under Miss Lucy Quarrier of Charleston, one of W.Va.'s finest weavers.

Miss Barnhart was a student under Charles Counts, a nationally known potter of Rising Fawn, Ga., during the summer of 1970. Under his direction she learned the techniques of throwing pottery on a wheel. During this time, Miss Barnhart also took a course of vegetable dying, spinning, and weaving from Mrs. Edna Blackburn of Caledon East, Ont., Canada.

This past summer Miss Barnhart demonstrated spinning at the Frontier Trail at the Cedar Point Amusement Park in Sandusky, Ohio. This was the first year for a craft program at the amusement park and craftsmen from the eastern part of the United States and Ecuador demonstrated their skill in a Strubridge Village setting.

A member of the W.Va. Artists and Craftsman's Guild, Miss Barnhart has entered several shows. She has exhibited at the annual Knights of Columbus Exhibition in Midland, Pa., the Pottery Festival East in Liverpool, Ohio, and the Hoyt Institute Ceramics and Crafts Exhibition in New Castle, Pa. She also had a one-man show for the opening of the WOHI radio station building in East Liverpool.

Muckraking

Year after year, it appears as though Christmas comes sooner and sooner. This is especially true in large cities where the stores are concerned with making an ultimate fortune off the consumers. Commercialization of the Christmas Holiday has become a case of idiocy. Manufacturers of toys often advertise their new products in June and July, while area stores tell of how cheaply these can be laid away 'til Christmas.

Did you realize that while you sit here and read this, there are only 22 shopping days left till Christmas, including Sunday's which are big days for shopping during this holiday.

Just recently, our government made many holidays fall on Monday to give working people the extra day off work on the weekend. Maybe if we are lucky, they will use their almighty power and make Thanksgiving and Christmas occur on the same day, even though it is a Thanksgiving Day parade. Who knows, with an earlier Christmas, manufacturers may begin advertising their new products on New Year's Day.

On Thanksgiving day, I watched the big parade on television. Partially through the festivities, I was forced to turn the TV off as the band started playing traditional Christmas music. How thoroughly disgusting it is to watch a Thanksgiving parade and hear the music of Christmas.

Amateur Boxing Scheduled Here

The Glenville State College Veterans' Club will undertake another first for its organization. They will sponsor an amateur boxing show at the College gymnasium Friday, Dec. 10 at 8 p.m.

Three boxing clubs from around the and local talent will perform in the twelve scheduled bouts. GSC's own Jeff Wynne, the Section I Middleweight Champion, is scheduled to participate.

The Veterans' Club plans to make this an annual affair with the promise of pro-bouts in the future.

Admissions: ring side $2, general admission $1.50 and students $1.

The Glenville State College Veterans Club is just over a year old, yet it is one of the most active organizations on campus.

The club was organized to help all veterans attending GSC secure their entitlements under the GI Bill, but it did not stop there.

The club members thought that they should try to enrich life on campus for themselves and the student body. They decided movies were needed, and after meeting with administration heads for approval, showed "A Man Called Horse" to a sell-out audience. When a $5 door prize was awarded following the first movie, students thought they were dreaming.

The club proclaimed itself non-profit and decided to turn all its profits back to the College in some type of entertainment.

A second movie was shown starring Jim Brown. The club has now secured permission to sell refreshments at future movies.

Some movies scheduled for the future are "Mash," "Patton," and "The Fox."

Early in November, the club started "Operation We Remember" to send Christmas greetings to servicemen overseas. Although disappointed at the small number of names received, they feel one is a success over past efforts. Cards depicting scenes of West Virginia were sent.

One of the biggest undertakings of any student organization on campus is the Veterans' Club Amateur boxing show scheduled for Dec. 10.

Some 70 veterans attend Glenville State College but the club has a meager membership of 20. The benefits range from free movies attendance to a feeling of accomplishment in a worthwhile organization.

All campus organizations should do more to enrich the College atmosphere. Everyone admits that things need to be done, but only a few are willing to do them. Roger Brady

Down On The Corner

Football Banquet . . .

The Pioneer senior football players met together for their last time formally while in college. The event was a banquet style affair which had as guests such people as Mr. Nick Murin, President D. Banks; Wilburn, and Dr. Robert Dollinger, Athletic Director. Senior Harland (Tarzan) Spencer was the toastmaster and did a remarkable job. There were serious talks and many jokes and the event will be a lasting memory.

Co-Captains . . .

Steve Datcher a 6'3" junior forward and Dale Tawney, a 6'7" senior forward, have been selected as co-captains for the Pioneer roundball squad. Both men are strong rebounders and strong scorers.

Awards . . .

The football awards have been announced. Defensive players of the year are Gary Deacon Jones and Randy (Bruiser) Dillon. Both players are seniors. The offensive awards went to senior tackle Craig (Dirty Delbert) Lipscomb and running back Carl (the Flea) Alloway.

The Boxing Scene . . .

Jeff Wynne, a GSC student has been doing extremely well in the Golden Glove events at Seth. "Dynamite" Jeff will soon be fighting again and fan support would certainly be welcome. Congratulations, Jeff and good luck!

Heavyweight champion will soon be going against unranked challenger Terry Daniels whom Floyd Patterson decisively decided a year ago. Muhammad Ali will fight little known George Blinn, the German heavyweight champion. Looks like Ali and Frazier are slowly working their way towards a rematch.

Literary Society Holds November 21 Meeting

The Literary Society met Sunday, Nov. 21 at 3 p.m. in the Old Louis Bennett Lounge. The book "New Negro Poets: USA" was the selection for the month. Selections were by such authors as Mari Evans, Andre Lorde, Oliver La Grove and Julian Bond were given and discussed by the members.

Those chosen to lead the discussions on these selections were Deborah Perry, Linda Mayfield, Linda Scott, Julia Acree.

Selection for January is Dos- toyevsky's "Crime and Punishment." Dr. Espy Miller is advisor for the Literary Society.

Who Will Be Number One . . .

Nebraska defeated Oklahoma and whipped Auburn while Penn State remained undefeated. I guess no one will know until after the Bowl games but by looking through my muddy ball, I see Alabama's Crimson Tide defeating the Cornhuskers of Nebraska and taking claims to it all. I also see Tennessee whipping Penn State. It looks like me and Bear Bryant against the world.

Lower, Whitey, Lower . . . Keep that good attitude!

GSC Swim Team Defeated By A-B

Alderson Broadus College handed the Glenville State College Swimming team its second defeat of the year at Alderson-Broadus last week. Although the Glenville swimmers lost by a 73-37 score, there were some bright spots for the GSC team.

The Glenville team took second place in the 400 yd. freestyle relay. Ed Williams finished first in the 200 yd. freestyle with second place finishes going to Terry McCartney in the 50 yd. freestyle, John Howell in the required dive, Gary Fields in the 200 yd. butterfly, Rick Canterelli in the 100 yd. freestyle and Hercy Given in the 200 yd. backstroke. The team also had seven third place finishes.

This was a very impressive effort by GSC's swimming team.

Pioneers Defeat A-B, W.Va. Wesleyan, Win Lewis County Shrine Tournament

The Glenville Pioneers, behind the shooting of Steve Datcher, the ball handling of Jim Garnett and the rebounding of Earl Hawkins, defeated the Battlers of A-B and the Bobcats of W. Va. Wesleyan on consecutive nights to win the annual Lewis County Shrine tournament.

On Monday night the Pioneers swept A-B off the floor 126-80. Glenville displayed a running attack which is unusual for them and the smaller Battlers just could not keep pace.

On Tuesday night the Pioneers defeated Wesleyan 79-69. The Pioneers did not run against the Bobcats and went back to their more disciplined offense. Jim Garnett was 'Mr. Clutch' for the Pioneers in the championship game as he kept the Pioneers in the lead when scoring ace, Steve Datcher, got into early second half foul trouble.

Steve Datcher was selected for the all-tournament team. Datcher scored 33 points in the first game and 27 in the championship tilt. Datcher looks very much improved this season as his jump shot is next to impossible to stop. Datcher's rebounding and defense are also tremendous.

Jim Garnett also made the all-tournament team. Garnett, while not scoring a lot, scored when it was needed.

In the opening game, Garnett scored seven markers while he garnered 15 big ones in the final game. Garnett's floor game makes the Pioneers offense tick and his ball hawking desire defense makes the Pioneers move.

The other two starters are Dale Tawney, senior co-captain, and Ron Jones. Tawney scored nine points and six points in the two games while Jones collected seventeen and two in the tourney. Tawney will improve as his timing comes around and should be back to his old form after a few games. Jones played well despite having a cold shooting hand in the second game.

The other all-tournament selection was Earl Hawkins. Hawkins clipped the nets for 18 points in the first canto and also scored well in the second game. The 6'3" sophomore dominates the boards and his defense is outstanding.

Jim Spicer played well in a reserve role as did Ken Ledbetter, Gene King, Ralph Cook, and Bill Sellards. Spicer opened up the Wesleyan zone with his tenacious outside shooting. Cook scored 13 points against Wesleyan while Sellards managed 12.

All in all, the Shrine tournament was a good experience for Coach Lilly and squad.

Deferments Are Altered

It was announced by the Selective Service System that young men who wish to drop draft deferments in favor of I-A classifications may still do so. Local boards will continue to grant these requests even though the young men continue to meet the conditions for which the deferments were granted. Six categories are included: 1-S, high school students; 2-A, occupational deferments or vocational/technical students; 2-C, agricultural deferments; 2-D, divinity students; 2-S, undergraduate college students; and 3-A hardship deferments.

This policy was reaffirmed in a Local Board Memorandum sent this week by Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr to all 4,000 local draft boards. Registrants who desire to take advantage of the policy in 1971 must have been born in 1951 or earlier, have RSNs of 126 or above and not be a member of the extended priority selection group. Moreover, they must submit their request in writing. To be considered as part of the 1971 prime selection group, the requests must be postmarked no later than December 31.

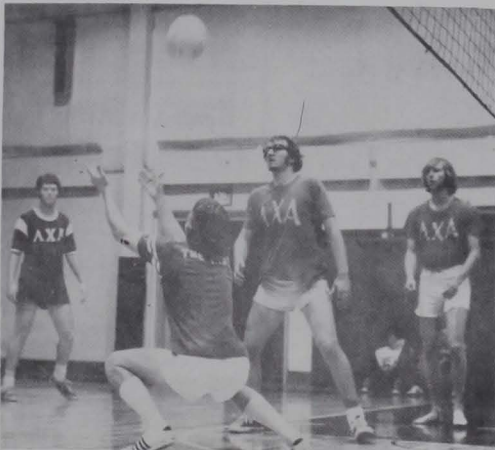

RSN 125 has been set as the year end ceiling for 1971 draft calls. Unlike 1970, when the year end ceiling was not necessarily reached by all local boards the authorization in the 1971 draft amendments of a Uniform National Call insures that all eligible registrants will be considered for induction if they are: (1) are in Class 1-A on Dec. 31, (2) are 20 years of age or older on that date, (3) have RSN's of 125 or below. If young men meet these criteria, but are not inducted during 1971 their liability for induction will be extended into 1972. They will be prime candidates for induction during the first three months of the year along with other men who are now in the extended priority selection group.

Commenting on the continuation of the policy which allows the dropping of deferments, Dr. Tarr said: "Young men holding lottery numbers of RSN 126 and above can effectively limit their vulnerability to the draft by being classified into 1-A by the year's end. Since the law allows young men to apply for deferments, we believe those young men granted deferments should be able to drop them if they desire."

G.S.C. Student Congress Serves Several Functions

By Karen Price

Who, what, when, and why is the Student Congress? The GSC Student Congress is the representative board of students who coordinate and act upon student affairs, interactions between students, and faculty, the administration, and various other phases of campus life. The Congress is composed of the officers, a group of senators, class and dormitory representatives.

The president of the Student Congress is Ed Suddath, a senior business major from Westminster, Md., Karen Kibble, a senior from Parkersburg, is the vice-president. The secretary is Mariann De Rico, a sophomore business major from Buckhannon and serving as treasurer is Ann Starcher, a senior history major from Mt. Vernon, Ohio. Marlene Parsons, a senior home economics major from Evans is parliamentarian for the 1971 Student Congress.

The Greek senators are Debbie Hardman, a junior mathematics major from Glenville; Buddy Thomas, a junior mathematics major from Parkersburg, and Beverly Moore, a junior art major from Charles Town.

There are two groups of dorm representatives. The girls serving Women's Hall are Darling Dye, a senior business major from St Marys; and Mary Margaret White, a junior library science major from Alvon. The Louis Bennett representatives are Mark Smith, a junior physical education major from Hurricane, and Arthur Wilt, a sophomore English major from Parkersburg.

The senior class representative is Dave Wynne, a history major from Summersville. Bill Webb, a junior history major from St. Albans, represents the junior class and Philip Reale, a sophomore from Glenville, represents the sophomores. Robert Hardman, a freshman mathematics major from Glenville, is the freshman representative.

The two independent senatorial positions were filled Thursday, Oct. 28 by Sharon Anderson, a junior social studies major from Parkersburg, and Dan Williams, a physical education major from Sutton.

The Student Congress, as in years past, aided in organizing and presenting another truly successful Homecoming. A committee, headed by Marlene Parsons, coordinated the coronation ceremonies, the semi-formal dance and the judging of downtown window displays. The group also helped in setting up the parade, providing cars for important officials in the parade, and other necessary duties.

In conjunction with the Alumni Office the Congress also recognized all past Homecoming queens, Montrose winners and GSC Pioneers.

Besides Homecoming, the Congress has been working on several other projects. Plans are being made to place a travel board in the union to assist GSC students in finding transportation assistance.

Recently the governing body voted and approved the idea that various campus organizations besides Student Congress could present movies on campus. The Veteran's Club has used this privilege and the Ohmingohow Players plan to do so in the near future.

A new organization on campus, WV-SPiRG was previously a committee under Student Congress, but has now been opened to the campus as whole. All students interested in matters such as improvements in curriculum and even changes in womens hours are welcome to discussion sessions held every Tuesday morning at 9:30 a.m. in the Student Congress office.

The Student Congress meets every Thursday evening at 7 p.m. in the Student Congress office in the Pioneer Center. All students are welcome to attend any of the meetings. Vice-president Karen Kibble expressed the wish that all students would support the Congress and its activities throughout the year.

The who, what, when, where, and why of the Student Congress has been answered. Now it is up to you, the GSC student, to support it!

Home Economics Project Involves Rats' Protein Diet

Mrs. Adkins has done it again! She has introduced a new, interesting and involved project for the Home Economics 100 class. The girls in this Human Nutrition class are using four live infant rats and experimenting with their dietary intake to establish a more basic understanding of nutrient and protein needs for humans. Two of the rats are on a protein deficiency diet and two are on a normal protein diet. From observing the rats' growth and weight changes, the girls are finding out how important protein is in the building and repairing of body cells and tissues. It has become quite noticeable that the two rats on protein deficiency diets are losing their weight has dropped and their nails have stopped growing. However, the rats on normal diets are gaining weight and growing.

There are 19 girls involved in the project and they come in daily at assigned hours and work with the rats. They clean the cages, feed the rats and keep detailed charts on amounts of food eaten, weight of the rats, etc. When the required experiments are over, the girls will have a week to try experiments of their own, such as feeding the rats advertised amounts of cereal for daily nutrient requirements and other related projects.
