Centennial Festival Features Pianist

Mr. Michael Cerveris, pianist will perform at the Centennial Music Festival, Thursday, April 13, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

Mr. Cerveris is associate professor of music and artist-in-residence at Marshall University, Huntington. He is also chairman of the piano division of the department. Mr. Cerveris is a native of Pittsburgh, Pa. As a scholarship student at the Juilliard School of Music, he studied under Edward Steuermann and later worked with Leon Fleisher at the Peabody Conservatory.

The pianist holds a Master of Arts degree from Catholic University and a Doctor of Musical Arts Degree from W.Va. University. Mr. Cerveris has performed in a number of major cities in the east and mid-west both as soloist and chamber performer. For four years he was piano soloist with the U.S. Navy Band-Orchestra in Washington, D.C.

GSC Art Students Win Exhibit Prizes

Six GSC students were awarded prizes in the 10th annual College Art Show which was open to all undergraduate art students enrolled in W.Va. colleges and universities. The works of 15 entrants were judged by Mrs. Della Taylor, chairman of the Department of Art of W.Va. State College.

Richard Delaney, a senior non-teaching art major from Vienna, won the $100 Purchase Award for his watercolor entitled "Still Within My Mind."

The Best-of-Show Award was presented to Gregory Shrader of Fairmont College for his outstanding acrylic entitled "American Meal No. 2."

Judy Bias received a $50 Merit Award for her oil "Past Years." She is a junior GSC art major from Hewett.

Sharon Cochran, a senior from Glenville, also received a $50 Merit Award for a plaster sculpture depicting crossed legs.

Also receiving a $50 Merit Award was Gretchen Small, a post graduate student from Wayland, Mass. Her winning piece was a pierced covered bowl.

Ten dollar Honorable Mentions were awarded to freshman Bruce Brumage of Beech Bottom, and Barbara Keener, a senior from Weston. Brumage won with his unique stone-ware lidded jar, while Miss Keener won with her oil entitled "Happiness."

Running for the office of Vice-president are, from (L-R), Bobbi Shomo, Paulette Jackson and Sharon Anderson.

GSC Regains Accreditation According To North Central

President D. Banks Wilburn announced, on Friday, March 24, that he has been officially informed by the North Central Association on Colleges and Secondary Schools of the return of Glenville State College to the status of a fully accredited undergraduate institution of higher education.

The announcement came from Associate Secretary of the Accreditation Association, Dr. Joseph J.

Semrow. The accreditation was approved on Wednesday, March 22, 1972, at the Commission of Institutions of Higher Education in Chicago, Illinois.

President Wilburn stated that the action of the Commission brings to all who are associated in any manner with Glenville State College alumni, faculty, students and administrative personnel, greater challenges for the future of which foremost will be to direct all efforts to the end that the quality and relevance of the opportunities for post-secondary school education, including baccalaureate degree level programs, of the college be a continuing concern now and in each year ahead.

President Wilburn noted that the Review Committee of the Commission at Chicago, during and after his conference with it, discussed with Dr. Prince D. Woodard, Chancellor of the West Virginia Board of Regents, the question of the level of future financial support for Glenville State College.

W. Va. English Council Meets At Jackson's Mill

Several members of the Language Division of Glenville State College attended the West Virginia Council of Teachers of English meeting held at Jackson's Mill the weekend of March 24-25: Dr. Espy Miller, Dr. William Simmons, Mrs. Dianne Trimmer, Mrs. Genevieve McDaniel, and Mr. Gary Gillespie.

Included in the program were Mrs. Jeanne Kammer who spoke on "Questioning and Self-Knowledge in King Lear," Mr. Hilding Lind, "The Bond: A Paper about Ibsen's Nora and Strindberg's Laura," Mr. William Faulkner's "The Hamlet," and Dr. Felix Paul, "The Recruiting of Black Teachers for West Virginia Colleges."

The concluding presentation, made by Thomas J. Floyd, demonstrated use of technology for instruction in the humanities which was followed by open-forum discussion.

JESSE STUART SLATED TO APPEAR APRIL 17

Jesse Stuart, noted author and lecturer, will be on campus, Monday April 17.

While he is on campus, he will autograph copies of his books which are on sale at the bookstore. Mr. Stuart will present a program at 8 p.m. in the auditorium. This is a part of the Centennial Cultural Affairs Program.

Details of this schedule will be released later.

The deadline for applications requesting exception to College Student Housing must be filed by May 1 for the summer term and August 1 for the fall term.

Application forms may be picked up in the Office of Student Affairs, according to Dean of Men, Carl Pennington.

The Office of Career Planning and Placement will be open for anyone who needs assistance from 9-12 a.m. on March 25, April 8, 15, 22, 29 and May 6. The extra time on Saturdays has primarily been made available for student teachers, however.

S. Congress Candidates Announced For Election

Miss Mona Wilson is the unopposed candidate for the position of presidency of the Student Congress for the year 1972-73. Miss Wilson is currently president of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority.

Miss Wilson is a junior business major from Slab Fork. Her plans for the Student Congress next year include a review of the many problems confronting students at GSC.

Miss Mona Wilson, unopposed candidate for President.

Bob Verbeck Presents Silent Classics Tonight

An evening of the silent movies with Bob Verbeck will be presented tonight at 8 p.m.

Mr. Verbeck possesses an unusual and rare collection of silent film classics.

His presentation will include such classics as "The Perils of Pauline," "The Keystone Cops" the early "Westerns," and the comedy and drama of more than fifty years ago. Now recognized as an art form, these films are a visual history of manners, values and humor of the past.

The program will be held in the auditorium. Admission will be by ID Card.

Pat Carroll Presented Social Science Award

The Annual Glenville State College Social Science Division Honors Award has been presented to Miss Patricia Carroll.

The award has been presented to Miss Carroll, a social studies major from Van, W.Va., who is presently student teaching at Ravenswood High School. The Social Studies Division gives the award annually to the senior with outstanding academic achievement in the Social Studies field.

Dept. Going To Pot?

Dear Editor:

The '71-72 school year has been blessed with activities—wonderful centennial ceremonies, better than usual lyceums, and exciting and rewarding basketball games. In the midst of all the glory of our centennial year it seems distasteful to mention anything contrary to the norm.

However, while we reap the joys of GSC's many birthday celebrations, a dissident faction has been growing on campus and I have been a constituent. The faction has been stifled for several semesters and would have remained hidden and unhampered as a time capsule beneath a cement bench had a discriminatory practice remained unnoticed.

Currently GSC has a special post graduate student (I checked her enrollment card) in ceramics who recently entered the 12th Annual GSC Art Exhibition—and I might add—won a $50 prize. This exhibition was open to all undergraduate art students enrolled in W.Va. colleges and universities. Why did a faculty member encourage this girl's entry when he knew that the entry applications stipulated "undergraduate art student?" Someone thought they could pull the wool over the eyes of the ignorant—but a few were wise enough to realize the discriminatory action.

Also, the entry forms had no classification for ceramics. Why then were some allowed to enter in this category? Were other schools notified of the change that ceramics was considered a part of the sculpture classification? Were other colleges and universities informed that post graduates were eligible for valuable prizes? Surely Marshall University or WVU had some talented post grads. With such underground tactics the entire show should be declared a fraudulent farce and a letter of apology and explanation should be sent to each of the schools which were asked to participate... and also the contributors.

The issue of the special student raises other questions. Why is a student who pays approximately $35 for a three hour course given a key to the ceramics room, while a fulltime art student (other than one on a workshop) is allowed only to work at Firestone Lodge during designated times? Why was I told I could not use ceramic room facilities, due to a large enrollment in this semester's ceramic classes, while a faculty member's wife was given access to facilities?

I am tired of hearing the old cliché—the STUDENTS will STEAL from the state. Just how far does $35 extend to cover the costs of glaze, clay and gas used during a semester? How many times has the special student doubled her semester fees after selling ware in the administration building show cases? Why are not all full and part-time art students encouraged to display their work in the cases? Does the ceramic faculty use 100% native clay or does careful chemical analysis reveal a percentage of Cedar Heights or Ohio fire clay? If so, from where does this clay come? Is the college reimbursed for the glaze materials, reed, gas and clays used by the ceramic faculty?

Why is the kiln loaded with the wares of the faculty member and special student before that of the other students? Maybe a fulltime student has a fair or exhibition deadline to meet, too, or maybe he needs to supplement his annual income. Why are those loads fired with student ware never as desirable as loads fired with the faculty member's work? Why are green, bisqued, and glazed items suddenly disappearing this year?

Why have senior art students not been informed to submit three works to be juried for the annual Whiting Scholarship? At this time last year the recipient had been announced after her work had been critiqued with all other senior students' works. Why did a faculty member state that he hadn't chosen this year's recipient? Is there not going to be a committee selection this year?

I raise these questions in hope that someone can give me some fair and reasonable answers. I, however, do not want to be called behind closed doors without justification.

Two years ago I wrote a letter to a member of the administration concerning an art curriculum matter. The letter was marked "Confidential" which generally means the letter is to be opened only by the person to whom it is addressed. Later I found that my letter had been "circulated" and perhaps unknown by the administrator I was literally called behind closed doors by a member of the art faculty and told—"If you are dissatisfied with the art department at Glenville, LEAVE." At this point I found it a waste of time to offer suggestions for improvements of the art department—perhaps someone would listen, but no one cared enough to make the initial changes.

Surely the problems can be resolved locally. I have resisted going to higher grounds (Ralph Nader and the American Civil Liberties Union) thinking that approaching the faculty directly would be a fair and rational means. Behind my back I was labeled a person with "malicious intent" carrying a "personal vendetta." Though my questions may pose rash accusations to some, I ask them in all sincerity and honesty. Is there something going on behind our backs? I do not want to see anyone fired or dismissed—but I would like to see the question of fairness resolved.

Perhaps I will be battered into some far off corner, or "heaven forbid" tossed into a much more drastic circumstance. Nevertheless I will live in hopes that Joan Baez's words are right:

if you give a damn
you're going to pay some dues
But if you see the game we're in Like I do, you know in time we'll win.

President D. Banks Wilburn
Glenville State College
Glenville, West Virginia 26351

Dear President Wilburn:

This is to inform you officially that the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, at its meeting on March 22, 1972, voted to continue the accreditation of Glenville State College as a Bachelor's degree-granting institution and to remove the College from probationary status.

We wish to thank you and your staff for your cooperation in the examination. If at any time there are ways in which this office can assist you, we hope you will not hesitate to let us know.

Sincerely,

Norman Burns

'Superstar' Success Tests Future Cultural Exchange

Dear Editor:

Three weeks ago students at GSC received an invitation from the president of Salem College's Student Congress, Mr. Frank Giamarino, to attend a concert at Salem. He stated in his letter that tickets for "Superstar" as presented by the Original English Opera Company could be purchased for $2. I was somewhat skeptical as similar performances in Wheeling and also one by a different company in Charleston cost $5 and more I called Mr. Giamarino and found that the concert was to be paid for by student fees, (the cost, incidentally, almost equal to GSC's entire 71-72 Lyceum budget). They were charging this minimal fee to non-Salem students for the same reason the public is charged a fee here to attend a Lyceum program. As a goodwill gesture, the student body extended invitations to other colleges in the area.

With the limited budget that we have it is very difficult to schedule the type and quality of entertainment that our students would like to have. Because of this, the Lyceum Committee has discussed the possibility of sharing programs with other colleges. There is quite a problem with transportation, however, and the concert at Salem gave an excellent opportunity to examine a busing program.

The administration was quick to respond to our request for an approval of the trip. A bus was obtained through the business office and tickets were on sale. In practically no time one bus was filled and still more students wanted to go. Dr. Smith provided the extra bus as well as the driver.

The great success of the venture increased the probability of future exchange programs. On behalf of the Lyceum committee I would like to thank the administration for its cooperation. A special thanks is due Bob Rader and Don Osborne who not only drove the buses but also became mechanics and repaired the forestry bus during the concert. Thanks also to Dr. Welcker, Mrs. Hays, and Miss Raebler who unknowingly filled the roles of the necessary chaperones.

Gene Bailey

'Freedom!' At What Price?

Dear Editor:

There are many students on campus who from time to time have objected strongly to the restrictions placed on them by the administration. Therefore, I was extremely surprised at a recent occurrence in which restrictions were made and were accepted. I am referring not to a restriction placed by the administration, however, but by one of the campus organizations on its members.

The organization to which I am referring is the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority. The occurrence involved the concert "Superstar." Several members have expressed a strong desire to attend and many had bought tickets, including some of the officers. However, Easter time was here and a party was planned for the same night. I was extremely surprised-shocked when I learned that those members attending the concert rather than the party would be fined $5. I spoke with the president on behalf of seven girls who were interested in going, something which I should not have done in the first place, but which also shows the rapport the girls have with their president. This is the crucial part of the conversation which ensued. After I had been told that it is much better to have an Easter party a week and half before Easter than the day after (and how could I possibly argue with that?), I made the following comment. "What would happen if the girls went anyway?" "They would be fined $5" was the reply "FIVE DOLLARS! What if they refuse to pay?" Her answer, "They won't." Surprised at her confidence, I repeated, "But, what if they do?" And just as confidently, "Oh, but they won't, Mr. Bailey." How is that for good reasoning?

Well, at any rate, I was happy to learn that one of the members as well as one of the pledges was capable of making her own decisions. I saw her on the bus to Salem. I am really curious now to see if she will pay her $5. The other members sold their tickets as far as I know.

Perhaps the best way to be independent is to be one.

Greek News

Today, Friday, April 7, starting at 7 p.m. the girls of Alpha Sigma Alpha will be holding their closed ball at the Uptowner Inn in Clarksburg. A banquet will be served from 7-9 p.m. and the dance will be from 9-12 p.m. Music will be provided by the Appalachian Cablecar. Favors will be blankets for the women and martini mixers for the men.

A talk on etiquette was given by Mrs. Roma Atkins Monday, April 3. The girls were instructed on how to set a table and the intricacies of table manners.

Over Easter break three of the girls went to the Special Education class at Troy and gave them an Easter party. Refreshments were served and a drawing contest was held.

The girls of ASA are also planning a Spring Party for a class at Normantown to be held next week.

On Saturday, April 22, six of the girls will be entering the Oil Drum Regatta at West Virginia Tech. The first prize is a trophy and $200.

Pledges of ASA held a hot dog sale Sunday and a bake sale Wednesday. The girls are also selling candy to raise money for the closed ball.

Pledges also are enjoying a fun week which started this past Wednesday. Five of the pledges will be initiated Tuesday April 11 and an Alpha Angel ceremony will take place after initiation.

The Kappa Eta Chapter of Theta Xi held its weekly meeting last Tuesday. Plans were discussed about a trip for the pledges and their initiation date. Also several members of the alumni association gave speeches on the upcoming purchase of the house. In addition, the brothers made plans to have a picnic held the afternoon before closed ball.

The sisters of Sigma Sigma Sigma will be holding formal initiation for the pledges on Saturday, April 8.

Final plans are being made for Tri-Sigma's Closed Ball. It will be held on April 22, at the Holiday Inn at Clarksburg. The band will be the Kingsley Fink.

Sigma sisters are selling Kathryn Beich candy to raise money for the Mabel Lee Walton House. This candy can be purchased by contacting any Sigma.

Plans are underway by the sisters for participation in 'Spring Sing' on April 30.

This Saturday and Sunday, April 8 and 9, Theta Xi chapter of Delta Zeta will be attending the annual DZ state day to be held at Pipestem State Park and sponsored by Epsilon Delta chapter at Concord.

Currently on sale by the DZ's are tuition raffle tickets sold for $1 and entitling the winner to a semester's free tuition. To avoid conflict, Delta Zeta's are ineligible.

BANQUET IS PLANNED BY BUSINESS GROUP

The Alpha Delta Epsilon business fraternity will hold its annual banquet April 13, 1972 at 5 p.m. in the ballroom of the Pioneer Center.

Dr. Paul Nagy will be the guest speaker at the banquet and he will speak on "Job Opportunities in Various Business Fields."

Members are inviting one guest each and all business instructors are invited to attend.

Students, do you want to make extra money? If so, call 462-8563 after 4:30 p.m. or contact Mrs. Theresa Currence for interview.

J. V.'s Finish Season 12-0

Much has been written and said about the successful varsity season but the junior varsity also came through with a fine season. Coach Carney's squad ended the season with a perfect 12-0 record. The JV's averaged nearly one hundred points per contest.

Members of this year's squad included: Art Blackman, Roger Caudill, Bobby Hardman, Roger Hess, Jeff Jackson, Tom Lilly, Eric Makle, and Bill Sellards.

The leading scorer on the team was Art Blackman with a 16.9 average. Other players in double figures were Eric Makle at 16.3, Roger Hess averaging an even 16.0, Bill Sellards was at 15.8, and Roger Caudill averaged 11.4.

Eric Makle had the highest shooting average making 76 of 124 shots for a 61 percentage. Roger Hess was the other Pioneer hitting 50% or over. Roger made 50 of 100 shots for an even 50 percent average.

The leading free thrower was Jeff Jackson making 16 of 18 for a 89% average. Bill Sellards was next with a 76% average making 32 of 42.

In the total point division the leader was Makle with a total of 196 points. Next was Blackman with 186 points and Sellards was third with 174 points.

The leading rebounder also was Makle who hauled down 157 rebounds. Bill Sellards pulled down 117 and Roger Caudill snatched 113 rebounds.

Single Elimination Tourney Scheduled

Coach Carney has announced the intramural standings prior to the last game. Carney stated that the top three teams will participate in a single elimination tournament.

All American honors...

In the final report released by the NAIA, Steve Datcher was named to the 1971-72 All American squad. Datcher was a member of the third team. The three teams consisted of twenty-one seniors and nine juniors and was highlighted with a wealth of talent in both scoring and rebounding ability. The three squads boasted a solid 25.2 per game average while hauling in 12.6 rebounds per man.

Earl Hawkins received honorable mention. Other West Virginians named on the honorable mention team were: Henry Dickerson of Morris Harvey and Fairmont's Lerman Battle. West Liberty's Chuck Taylor made the first team All American squad.

Travis (The Machine) Grant, the Kentucky State wonder, headed the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics 1971-72 All American basketball team. This is the third straight year that Grant has made the NAIA All American squad as the 6'8" forward finished his career with 4,045 points, the all-time four year scoring champion. He also was named the Most Outstanding Performer of the NAIA tournament as he led his team to the title.

NAIA Statistics... Glenville placed high in a couple of the statistics listed by the NAIA. The Pioneers were eighth in the nation in team defense with a 64.8 average. The leader was Ft. Wayne Bible College which yielded a mere 59.7 points per contest. Glenville was fourteenth in having the largest winning margin. The G-Men averaged 13.8 points better a game than their opponents. Brockport State led in this category with a winning margin of 24.4 points.

Other interesting statistics included: Chuck Taylor was second in foul shooting, hitting on 147 of 161 free throws for a .913 per centage. Gardner-Webb of North Carolina was the leading offensive team pumping in 104.4 points a game. Travis Grant was the leading scorer averaging 39.5 points per contest.

NBA Prediction. I look for the Los Angeles Lakers to end their championship drought and win the NBA title this year. With West, Chamberlain, and Goodrich leading the way, the Lakers are playing superb ball. I see the Lakers playing Boston for the crown with Los Angeles winning the championship play-off 4-2.

Strike... Now that the Major League Baseball Players Association have voted to go on strike comes the question of who is right. I feel that the owners should not move from their stand from a $400,000 raise in pension payments. The players are asking for about twice that much. With the average salary between $25,000 and +$30,000 I feel that the players should be smart enough, to set themselves up in business without the big pension checks being needed.

Sams, Top Bowler. . .

Glenville's Ron Sams has been named "Bowler of the Year" for the 1971-72 season. Sams achieved this honor by having the highest average at the recent bowling tournament. Glenville bowlers have taken this honor for the last five years. Jerry Jackson took top honors the first year, followed by Lynn Dawson and for two straight years Al Malone.

Roundball prospecting. . .

Coaches Lilly and Carney report that they are busy on the recruiting trail. The coaches are primarily looking for a big man who can control the boards. Coach Lilly will release a list of the recruits in the next few weeks. Coach Carney recently went to Maryland where he talked to many highly respected players.

Final Score. . .

Have a nice week and now that the baseball season has begun, come out and support Coach Milliken's batsmen. Making some wild predictions look for "Roberto" Church and Jim Garnett hitting 25 home runs apiece, Danny Wessner batting a cool .600, and Ralph Cook to have the lowest E.R.A. in the conference.

Tournaments To Be Held Tonight And Tomorrow

The class basketball tournaments will be held this evening and tomorrow evening in the gymnasium, according to Coach Tim Carney.

Tonight at 7 p.m., the freshman men will play the juniors; and at 9 p.m. the sophomores and seniors will compete.

On Saturday evening, the consolation game will be held at 7 p.m., and the championship game will take place at 9 p.m.

Coaches for the teams are: Ken Ledbetter, senior team; Steve Datcher, junior; Earl Hawkins, sophomore, and Bobby Hardman, freshman.

There will be no charge for admission.

Bowlers Win Conference, Face Fairmont In Roll-Off

For the third consecutive year the bowlers of Glenville have won the conference championship. Bowling has only been on the GSC campus for five years.

In the championship tournament, however, the bowlers fell short as they lost to Fairmont State. The strike and spare men finished in fourth place.

Since Glenville is the conference champion and Fairmont is the tournament champion, they will have to compete in a roll-off on April 8 at 2 p.m. at Compton Lanes in Clarksburg. The winner will proceed to Wheeling where they will compete against two Pennsylvania schools to determine the Area 8 winner. Only eight teams compete in the national tournament held in Kansas City.

Fairmont had the winning total of 14,898 pins, W.Va. State and Concord tied for second with a pin fall of 14,679. Glenville came in fourth at 14,617 and Morris Harvey placed fifth with a total of 14,544 pins.

Glenville led after the first day but had trouble getting strikes the final day.

Coach Dollgener's veterans did not come up with the big game. Al Malone, Dave Grapes, and Ron Sams did not have a 200 game. Glenville was 26 pins up the first day.

Ron Sams received the "Bowler of the Year" award for having the highest average during the tournament at 190.1. Other members of the All-Conference team included Al Malone of Glenville, Bill Malone and Charles Scott of Fairmont, and Greg Mahoney of Concord. These five bowlers had the top five averages during the championship tournament.

Dr. Dollgener feels that the bowlers have a good chance Saturday. He stated it will take a whole team effort to top Fairmont.

Five Golfers Open Season Up Saturday

The linksters of Glenville State have begun practice for their upcoming campaign. Coach Carney has eight golfers on the team this year and feels that they have a good chance of winning the conference.

Members of the golf team this year include Neil Christiansen, Wayne Mencer, Mike Rust, John Taylor, Danny Williams, Bobby Wilson, Dennis Fitzpatrick, and Richard Sansbury.

Coach Carney reports that everyone on the squad is capable of shooting in the 70's and a couple can shoot in the high 60's.

The golfers were rained out in their first match against West Virginia University, Fairmont, and West Liberty. They hope to open up tomorrow in a match held at Alderson-Broaddus.

Christiansen and Mencer are the captains on this year's team. Other returners include Rust, Fitzpatrick, and Wilson. Sansbury, Taylor, and Williams are the newcomers.

The linksters schedule for the 1972 season is as follows:

Varsity Tennis Team Begins Its Season

The Glenville State College Tennis team began its 1972 season this week.

Dr. Bruce Flack, coach of the tennis team reports that eight students are members of GSC's first varsity tennis team. The players are John Sizemore, number 1; Terry Lewis, number 2; Don Worden, number 3; Ken Pritt, number 4; Rick Miller, number 5; and Henry Bender, number 6. Also playing are Robert Hammel and Douglas Mahaney.

Wide-Acclaimed Artists Display Art During Centennial Fine Arts Week

As a part of Centennial Fine Arts week on April 3 and 4, three artists: Barbara Somerville, Morse E. Clary, and William Henry Gerheld were on campus.

Ms. Somerville displayed her work Monday, April 3 in the ballroom. She is a graduate of Ohio University and has worked in various art fields ranging from commercial art to art education prior to devoting her full time to painting. In the short time she has been exhibiting, her paintings have had a spontaneous appeal and have received wide acclaim.

Mr. Clary's sculptures were on display Tuesday, April 4. He is assistant professor of sculptures at Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio. He displayed four sculptures and demonstrated and discussed his techniques in wood sculpture.

Mr. Gerheld is an associate professor, Department of Art, at Marietta College. He is also director and originator of Mainstreams Exhibitions. He displayed his watercolor and oil paintings. He also discussed and demonstrated his techniques in watercolor.

Sponsoring this event for the Centennial Fine Arts Week were: Mr. Steve Nichols, Mr. Charles Scott, and Mr. Frank Puskas.

W. V. Arts & Crafts Week Scheduled At Davis-Elkins

In a letter to President Wilburn from Carl Wartenburg, Director of Student Activities at Davis and Elkins College, Mr. Wartenburg has stated that Davis and Elkins College, in cooperation with the Creative Arts Council of Elkins, is pleased to announce West Virginia Arts and Crafts Week, April 17-23, at Elkins. Features for this week include drama workshops (Mr. Cornett of Honey-in-the-Rock), on Monday and Tuesday pottery-making, leather-working, weaving, wood-working, and other related crafts. It is hoped that this affair will become an annual event.

The Morris Brothers of Ivydale will present a concert on Friday evening. This concert will commence the musical activities for the entire weekend.

Saturday, April 22, has been designated as Folk Festival Day. West Virginia artists have been invited to share their talents on that day. The Folk Festival will take place at the D & E College open-air amphitheater. Sunday has been designated as the time for a baggiping contest.

As there are no facilities to provide for overnight camping, Mr. Wartenburg requests that those who wish to come and stay, make arrangements with nearby campgrounds. Availability of grounds in the area through the Forest Service, has been inquired into and they have indicated that these may be open if a need is shown.

Summer Session Offers Advantages

The 1972 Summer session will be June 14 through August 13. This nine week program offers a variety of courses, both required and elective.

There are several advantages for students attending summer school. They are: 1. A student may graduate earlier; 2. He will have the opportunity to repeat courses he may have failed; 3. To take required courses to avoid conflict during regular semester; 4. To lighten the load during winter session; 5. Excellent opportunity for new freshmen to become acquainted with faculty and campus and to take some of the required freshmen classes.

Registration will begin June 12. Advanced registration will be Friday, April 28.

The schedule will be distributed in the near future.

John Templeton Attends Nat'l Science Meeting

John Templeton represented Glenville State College at the Chi Beta Phi National Convention in Memphis, Tenn., March 16. He was one of three representatives from West Virginia. The others were from West Liberty and Morris Harvey. Templeton served as Chairman of the Resolutions Committee while there.

The representatives were afforded an opportunity to visit the campus, including chemistry and physics laboratories. This convention gave a GSC student a chance to exchange ideas with students from other colleges.
