Field Day Schedule Given For One-Day Greek Week

by Bill Webb

As the end of the school year is drawing near it is time for the annual spring festivities for Greek organizations to resume. The traditional events of Greek-Week end this year will, due to uncontrollable circumstances, be limited to one evening, Friday, April 21 from 4 p.m. till midnight and will take place at Cedar Creek State Park.

As a result of the sudden deletion of Greek Council a joint committee of IFC and Panhellenic Councils has assumed the responsibility of planning the festivities this year.

It should also be mentioned that the Greek-Weekend committee has been greatly hindered by a shortage of time and limited funds resulting from the unlimited disbanding of Greek Council.

Although the plans this year are not as structured as in the past, it should still be an evening of fun and enjoyment. Facilities such as football, softball, teetherballs, volleyball, and horseshoes will be supplied for entertainment. This year a new twist has been added to the agenda. The game portion of the evening's plans has been altered in such a way that participation in the sports events depends on personal initiative. That is, the equipment will be supplied the students attending will choose teams and play at their own discretion.

The schedule of events are as follows: The 4-7 p.m. time period has been allotted for sports events, from 7-9 p.m. there will be a picnic, and from 9-12 midnight there will be a dance at the swimming pool parking lot. Music for this dance will be provided by the Headstones.

All Greeks and their dates are invited to come and have some good wholesome fun. Those persons who are not a member of any Greek organization will be entitled to participate in all activities at the mere expense of $1 assessment. Everyone who attends the event this Friday will be stamped in order to have greater control of food and beverage distribution.

In the event that the weather does not permit outdoor activities, the festivities will be moved to the Pioneer Center Ballroom.

Sylvia Hazeltine Killed In Automobile Accident

Sylvia Hazeltine, a student teacher at GSC, was killed in a one-car accident near Mt. Olive in Jackson County early Monday morning.

Miss Hazeltine was attending West Virginia University, working on her Master's Degree in French and was assigned to Glenville State College for practice teaching under Mrs. Susan Seitz. She was 23.

Noted Writer Visits Campus

by Vickie Ratliff

Born a poor farm boy in the mountains of Kentucky, Mr. Jesse Stuart, writer, teacher, poet, expounded on the importance of education at Glenville State College on Monday, April 17.

Mr. Stuart has been compared with some of the greatest writers of all time. He has written 430 stories, had 42 books published, over 2,050 poems, 400 articles and some 1,500 of his works have appeared in text books ranging from high school books to Harvard texts.

Born of a common family who stressed the importance of education Mr. Stuart spoke of being a water boy working for $.50 an hour. From there he advanced to a cement mixer and he lists as one of his greatest achievements the streets that he helped lay.

He stressed the importance of working with the hands in learning a skill and stated that he himself was once a blacksmith. He also stated that one of the greatest influences on his life was a high school English teacher to whom he gave "The Nest Egg," one of his finer works. "The Nest Egg" was a true story involving a rooster that resulted in a court case.

Mr. Stuart stated that he had enough rejection slips by the time he had reached college to "fill a wire coat hanger," and that he had not stopped writing. He has another novel to be released in 1973 called "Beyond Dark Hills" and he suggested that there were many more to follow.

Reflecting on his life Mr. Stuart said that it had been "a good life, a fine life." He left with the statement that he "really liked Glenville", and a message to the students: "If a student likes to do something and works steadily at it he will be successful." He also urged students, "and for heavens sakes go to school and amount to something in life."

The five finalists in the Miss GSC pageant are 1st, Judy Bias, Rose Marie Young, Susan Wagner, Rebecca Raymond, and Sue Ann Maxwell.

Chapman Praises '22 Class Tribute

Tomorrow, the annual Spring Alumni Banquet will be held in the Pioneer Center beginning at 5:30. The class of 1922 is being honored, along with the Alumni-of-the-Year, Miss Phala Woods and Paul Floyd, members of that class. In their honor, Dr. Berlin B. Chapman, class of 1922, has written the following:

Designation of Phala Woods and E. Paul Floyd as Alumni-of-the-Year for 1972 honors our alma mater, and increases the desire of classmates long departed to return to ye old normal school in the forest. Former things are passed away, and all things are made new, save the friendly spirit of Glenville which has eternal life. The boat we rode from Gilmer Station, greetings of Sen. Robert F. Kidd on the street, the ease with which a student learned names of all persons on campus—all this and more has been swallowed up in the years that produced Glenville State College.

At commencement, 1922, Dr. John Harrington Cox, English Department of West Virginia University, gave the address. It was one easy to remember, and part of it was hard to forget. During the half century I echoed sections of the speech from platforms. Sometimes I mentioned Cox, sometimes I did not. However, I enrolled in his English 27 at Morgantown and paid in honest labor for all the credit he allowed.

Cox's Glenville address made it abundantly clear that whether the Class of '22 amounted to anything worthwhile depended primarily on our individual efforts. He emphasized self-reliance. He said that if we entered WVU or any university, results would depend more on qualities we took with us than what we found there.

Cox gave this illustration. An English landlord wishes to stock a forest with pheasants. He secured a great number of young pheasants, screened them from enemies, coddled them fed them and kept them until they were mature. Then he opened the great gates of protection and turned the tame pheasants into the forest. But the birds had not learned self-reliance. "Some roosted on limbs visible against the sky and the owls got them; others roosted on the ground and foxes them. Everything got them." The moral was clear to the Class of '22 for most of us would have to put forth a lot of effort if we went beyond the standard normal course. Cox referred to some enrollees at WVU who "just eat, and sleep, and put on clothes."

It has been a year since I saw Dr. Harry Grove Wheat of Morgantown, but at that time he was as alert as when he taught Methods of Reading to the Class of '22. It is not generally known, but it will be aired fully on April 22 that the first edition of Wheat's "Teaching of Reading" (1923) was never printed. It was written in notebooks of Glenville students and on examination papers, a good deal of it verbatim. Wheat was one of the Great Teachers that served on the Glenville faculty, and no greater joy could come to the Class of '22 than to have him present on April 22.

There are three groups of teachers. 1. Those whom we forget; we can hardly remember their names. 2. Those whom we forgive. 3. A few who have influenced for good our entire lives. A teacher may be classified in all three groups by a multitude of students.

At Glenville, Wheat taught a course, History of American Education using a textbook by Cuddeback. The course counted as education or history. It was a content course that required daily preparation. A year after I took the course I strolled along the walk by the Administration Building and heard Wheat lecturing on it. The window was raised and elevation protected me from his sight. I listened a few minutes, and there made one of the great decisions of my life—I would major in history and government, teach and write it.

The Class of '22 contemplated attainment and class loyalty never faltered. As I was completing senior work at WVU, H.Y. Clark, principal of Grafton High School, had a vacancy in history. Glenn S. Callaghan '22 was on the faculty and impressed on Clark that I was the man for the job. Clark took a chance on me, and 1924-25 was a wonderful year. Clark operated a model school and anyone who saw it would not wonder that Glenville has a Clark Hall. I stayed a year and moved into graduate work, university teaching and writing. But Grafton High School in the Clark era is one of the most delightful memories of the 50 years.

The class play in '22 was, "Nothing But the Truth," and was ably directed by Miss Willa Brand. Belatedly she let me play the part of "Dick." Forthwith word was sent to Webster Springs and mother came to see the play, an all-day trip that required three trains and a boat. "Dick" needed white shoes, had none, and Miss Brand borrowed a pair from President E.G. Rohrbough. I claim to be the only Glenville graduate to wear the president's shoes before getting a diploma.

The central theme was a wager in which E. Paul Floyd said he could tell nothing but the truth for 24 hours. Several of the cast, including Tess Callaghan, made the task a trying one for Floyd. He held out 24 hours, and then immediately cleared the atmosphere by making numerous statements that were at variance with his impressions. On April 22 the class will ask Floyd if in 50 years he has, for 24 hours, told "nothing but the truth."

Time has taken its toll of the Class of '22 and with it the Callaghan boys. Glenn will long be remembered as a high school principal and regional director in National Youth Administration. In 1927 he penned lines appropriate for our reunion. He spoke for those who are part of Immortality that gives itself "back to something else to live and grow again."

THOUGHTS ON IMMORTALITY

I can see Immortality in a tree.
I can see Immortality in the sea.
If I can see Immortality in a tree, or in the sea
Might not it be that Immortality is in everything I see?

Might not it be that Immortality is in everything that grows;
And gives itself to something else that will, in turn,
Give back itself to something else to grow again?

Might not it be that my Immortality will be, and is,
In what I think and how I grow; and give myself
To something else that will in turn, give back itself
To something else to live and grow again?

'Grassroots' Slate Fall Performance

Dear Editor:

We, the managers of WGSC Radio, would like to take this opportunity to inform the students of Glenville State College about the upcoming rock concert which we have scheduled.

We have tentatively booked the Grassroots, of the Heller Fischel Agency, Los Angeles, for a concert to be presented in the college gymnasium, September 29. This concert has been approved through the student affairs office. It was our plan to hold the concert this spring, but after discussing the situation with the agent and the administration, we felt that it would be better to promote it next fall. Apparently, we were incorrect in this assumption.

There have been 200 advanced tickets prepared for this concert, to be sold to the students of the Glenville area. These reserved tickets guarantee the holder a seat near the front of the stage, while the tickets sold next fall will be general admission tickets, at the same price.

Unfortunately, these tickets have not been selling, due to various reasons: (1) The rumor that the Grassroots will not appear in West Virginia. This is a farce. We have been assured that if we sell our first 200 advanced tickets, the group will appear in Glenville. Also this rumor was disproven by the Grassroots' appearance last fall at West Virginia Tech.

(2) Students have expressed the opinion that we are getting ahead of ourselves. This is true in a sense, but we must sell the 200 tickets to assure that the group will appear, according to the booking agency. (3) It has also been called to our attention that someone may lose the ticket. We have decided for anyone holding this opinion, that we will hold your tickets, with your name on it, until next fall when you can pick it up at your discretion.

The personnel at WGSC, saw a need for entertainment on this campus, and we decided to do something about it. However, nothing can be done without help from each student on this campus. WGSC has done all that it can—the rest is up to you—the students.

Sincerely,

Dennis Lively, Lee Harbert

Greek News

The Kappa Eta Chapter of Theta Xi held its weekly meeting last Tuesday night. President Tom Carper announced the Theta Xi Sweetheart and Sweater girl. This year's Sweetheart is Tom's wife Susan Carper and the Sweater girl is Vicky Lacey.

Susan is a sophomore majoring in Early Childhood. She is an active member of Theta Girls.

Vicky is the wife of brother "Pee Wee" Lacey. She is a senior majoring in elementary education. Vicky is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority and Theta Girls.

The brothers also voted on the Outstanding Senior and the winner was Marvin Morris. Morris has been active in numerous fraternity activities. He has been the organizer of closed ball and Sadie Hawkins for the past three years.

Marvin was the president of both Alpha Delta Epsilon business fraternity and Greek Council. He also was a leader in writing up the chapter constitution and setting up a regional board for bringing the chapters of the state closer.

On Saturday, April 15, Delta Zetas held their annual closed ball at North Bend State Park. Mr. Hilgenberg, a member of the faculty was the guest speaker. Every year at the banquet a DZ of the year is named. This honor unanimously voted on by the chapter was given to Mrs. Ardel (Mom) Fisher who is the Delta Zeta House mother. Mrs. Fisher, from Glenville, has been housemother for two years. She has helped the chapter in countless ways such as money making projects, a constant chaperone, and aiding on many pledge hikes.

On Sunday the chapter will hold a rush school to prepare for next fall's rush.

Early Childhood's 'Art Fair' Featured

The Early Childhood classes (Nursery School and Kindergarten), under the direction of Mrs. Sheila Marino, at Glenville State College will feature an "Art Fair" on the porch of the Pioneer Center this coming week.

The fair will begin Monday, April 24 and run through Friday, April 28 from 9:30-11:30 a.m.

The fair will feature several different types of art experiences: stitchery, woodworking, pottery, sculpture, tie-dye, painting, printing, and weaving.

The children have worked on-and-off for three months to present their art show. Anyone who would like to see what a young child can do, and see the world through his eyes, is welcome to view the art exhibit.

Have You Heard . . .

by Mike Rust

Intramural favorites . . .

Look for the Boogerhole All-Stars to win the Intramural tournament now going on. The All-stars feature a balanced scoring attack and are tough to handle on the boards. Boogerhole was in Flight I during the regular season finishing with a perfect 7-0 record.

Members of the team include John Bell, Larry Queen, Claude Blankenship, Jim Cook, Scotty Hamilton, and David Wright.

The Yankees led by John Hudson and STS led by Randy Datcher should give Boogerhole their strongest competition.

All-Tournament Honors . . .

Ken Ledbetter and Jim Spicer were named to the 10-man all-tournament squad in the recent Sistersville tournament. This tournament brings in some of the top talent in from the surrounding area. Some of the big names scheduled to play were Jerry Moore, Bucky Bolyard, Russell Lee, Will Robinson, and Bill Hiram.

Castle Club of Moundsville won the tournament defeating Time Out Bar of Marietta 118-114 in the finals. Coaching changes . . .

Word is out that Curtis Price will be the new coach at West Virginia State. Price, former Charleston High School and West Virginia University all time great, will replace Art Burris. This is the first coaching experience for Price and is quite a giant step for him. Coach Lou Romano had stated earlier that he had hoped to have Price to succeed him at Charleston.

In other coaching changes Carl Tacy has taken over the head position at Wake Forrest University in Winston-Salem, N.C. With Tacy's leaving, he might also be taking away Marshall's two top prospects, 6'11" Danny Moses and 6'7" Jerry Thruston.

The job at Wake Forrest reportedly pays $35,000 a year. Tacy's job at Marshall earned him about $13,000 per year. He guided Marshall to a 23-4 record in his first year.

Opening day . . .

The 1972 baseball season opened up before unusually sparse crowds which may be attributed to the 11-day delay of the strike. The attendance for opening day was 205,601 compared to a total of 398,429 last year. Houston was the only team to draw more people than it did a year ago. Cincinnati had the largest crowd 37,895 but attracted 51,702 to last year's opener.

Odds and Ends . . .

Beckley's Tom Reid set the state track record in 100 yard dash last Saturday turning in a time of 9.6 seconds. Reid also won the 220 and 440 yard dash.

Kjell Isaksson, from Sweden, shattered the world pole vault mark at Austin, Tex. in the Tournament of Champions Track Meet. He crossed the bar at the height at 18'2".

Two Glenville boxers will be in action tomorrow night at Parkersburg. David Allen will be featured in a grudge match against Jerry Boreman of Marietta. Allen scored a TKO over Boreman here in Glenville last December but Boreman said his poor performance was due to illness.

Undeclared middle weight Jeff Wynne will meet an opponent from Huntington.

Burt Hooton pitched the first no-hitter of the 1972 season as he blackened the Philadelphia Phillies 4-0. Hooton fresh out of the University of Texas was signed as a free agent by the Chicago Cubs. That was only his fourth major league start.

Lady umpires are now approved by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. Bernice Gera was given a contract to umpire in the New York-Pennsylvania baseball league.

Steve Datcher was the first Glenville player to be named on the NAIA All-American team since Lou Romano was named to the squad in 1951. Several Glenville players have been named to the honorable mention team among those being Earl Hawkins and Jackie Joe Robinson.

Russell Lee's agent reports that the Marshall All-American is seeking a $100,000 contract. Lee was drafted by both the Milwaukee Bucks of the NBA and the Memphis Pros of the ABA.

Final score . . .

Tomorrow the batsmen of GSC will be playing a double header against Morris Harvey. Come out and support the team. Be sure and look for Danny Wessner at second base with his flashy blue baseball shoes on.

Tennis Team Posts 2 Wins

The Glenville State College tennis team won its premier victories this week by defeating Salem College, 6-3 and Alderson-Broadus College, 5-4 in matches at the respective schools.

The two victories raised Glenville's record to a respectable 2-2 level with the season's final dual match scheduled this Saturday at Davis and Elkins. The season will conclude next week with the state conference tournament at Charleston.

The Pioneer's first win came at the expense of Alderson-Broadus 5-4. Winners in singles for Glenville were Danny Gum, Bob Hamel, and Rick Miller. In doubles the winners were Don Worden-Danny Gum and Henry Bender-Ken Pritt duos were victorious.

At Salem the Pioneers raised the winning margin to 6-3. Single winners were Terry Lewis, Don Worden, Danny Gum, Bob Hamel and Rick Miller. The doubles combination of Danny Gum and Don Worden added the sixth point.

Coach of Glenville's newest varsity athletic team is Bruce Flack. The assistant coach is James Hilgenberg.

Managing Tasks Very Important

When it comes to talking about what makes the team run one must consider the person who tapes and makes sure everyone is ready to go. The person whom I am writing about is Darrell Atkins.

Darrell is a 22 year old junior who is a physical education major and a mathematics minor. He has been trainer in football, basketball and baseball for three years here at Glenville State.

His duties as manager include taping care of injuries and seeing that the players are taped and ready to go for practice and games.

Darrell's training career started at Herbert Hoover High School where he was a trainer, in basketball, football, and baseball all three years.

Darrell states that there are many advantages of being a trainer. He started "Mainly it gives me a chance to meet other people and it also helps me learn some of the finer aspects of the art of coaching."

After graduation Darrell plans to coach and go into teaching.

CLUB MAKES PLAN

The Majors Club is planning a hayride to be held in the near future but as yet no definite plans have been made.

The club will also be giving a $100 scholarship to one member of the club and new officers will be selected soon.

The Majors Club sponsored a play day Saturday which was, according to Miss Barbara Walker, "quite a success."

Girls representing 8 area schools participated in the event, and according to Miss Walker most of the girls had never encountered such sports as bowling.

First place trophy winning team "The Robins" was hosted by Miss Jane "Chippy" Archer, and second place was taken by "The Blue Jays" with Sandy Elmore as host.

The all bird team was selected by choosing the outstanding girls from each team.

Baseball Team Drops Two, Face Morris Harvey Sat.

The Glenville State batsmen suffering through a week of silent bats dropped two games last week. The Pioneers lost to Salem 4-0 and West Virginia State 11-2.

Against Salem, the Pioneers came up against Bill Hogsins one of the toughest pitchers in the league. Hogsins hurled a no-hitter against the batsmen, he struck out 16 and walked three.

Salem started the scoring of the third inning pushing across one run. They added two more in the fifth and one more in the seventh.

Bill Rice did a good job of pitching for the Pioneers as he yielded only five hits in six innings. Kevin Place came on in relief in the seventh. Rice struck out two and walked five as he gave up three runs. The Pioneer glovemen committed five errors.

In the game played in Charleston against West Virginia State the Blue Wave came up against one of the hardest hitting teams in the league. The Yellowjackets rapped the Pioneers pitcher for eleven runs and ten hits. Once again the batsmen of Glenville had trouble at the plate as they came up with two runs on three hits. Jim Garnett was the top Pioneer hitter with two hits. Jay Chambers got the other hit.

Ralph Cook was the starter for the Pioneers but was hit hard early giving up nine runs in four innings. Ralph gave up eight hits, walked four, and struck out two. Cook had a little control problem in the first start as he threw three wild pitches. Kevin Place relieved Cook and did a good job giving up two hits and one run.

State's Bill Carlton had a no-hitter going until the seventh inning when Garnett broke it up with a two bagger. Carlton struck out 15 and walked three in seven innings. Tom Fauber relieved him in the eighth.

The Pioneers have a 2-2 record now and will take on Morris Harvey in a doubleheader Saturday.

Golfers Win At Big Bend

The linksters of Glenville are really moving up the fairways as they recently won Southern Regional. The tournament which drew all the conference teams except West Liberty was played at the Big Bend golf course in Charleston.

The GSC golfers had a team total of 302 shots with Bobby Wilson shooting the medalist score of 73. Richard Sansburg shot a 75, John Taylor and Wayne Mencer had 77's and Neil Christensen totaled 81. Fairmont came in second behind the Pioneers. Today the linksters will compete in the Northern Regional at Wheeling.

In another match with six teams competing GSC won again at Big Bend. West Virginia State, West Virginia Tech, Bluefield State, Rio Grande, Morris Harvey and Fairmont were the other teams. John Taylor was medalist in this match with a 72. Neil Christensen had a 76, Richard Sansburg and Wayne Mencer totaled 78, and Bobby Wilson had 79. Glenville had a team total of 383.

The Pioneer linksters played in two dual matches also against Fairmont and Alderson Broadus.

Philippi was the site last Saturday as the linksters took on the A-B golfers. The Pioneers defeated the Battlers by over a hundred strokes. Bobby Wilson came through with the low score of 73 on a rain soaked golf course. Wayne Mencer had a 75, followed by Neil Christensen's score of 77, Richard Sansburg totaled 78 and John Taylor had 80.

In a match held earlier in the year, the Pioneers placed fourth in a five team match held in Fairmont. Glenville had a rough time of reading the slick Fairmont greens. Wayne Mencer shot a 76 to lead the Pioneer linksters. Three Pioneers had 78: John Taylor, Neil Christensen and Bob Wilson. Richard Sansburg had an 82. The golfers had a team total of 394. Other teams competing were Fairmont, West Virginia Wesleyan, Davis and Elkins and Salem.

ADE Banquet Held, Awards Presented

Members and guests of Alpha Delta Epsilon, a fraternity for students in the Division of Business, held their Spring banquet in the Ballroom of the Student Union last week. Dr. Paul Nagy, Director of Placement, addressed the group, discussing employment opportunities within foreseeable future.

Retiring ADE president Debra Slack announced that the organization had voted to provide $300 to acquire federal matching funds to support NDEA loans and work-study scholarships at Glenville State College in 1972-73. The $300 check was presented to Dean Delmer K. Somerville. Dr. Somerville was also recognized for his endeavors in beginning the ADE fraternity, which celebrates its 20th anniversary this year.

Members of Alpha Delta Epsilon have contributed $950 to support scholarships and loans at GSC in the past three years. Faculty members in the Division of Business have matched the ADE contributions for financial aid in a similar period.

Dr. John F. McCreary, division chairman, named the 1972 Wall Street Journal award winner, Miss Mary Ellen Gainer, a December graduate in business education, is the 1972 recipient. A native of Charleston, Miss Gainer is presently teaching at Ravenswood High School.

The Wall Street Journal award is an esteemed national honor. Among the criteria governing selection of the awardee are: scholarly achievement, initiative, influence and leadership, responsibility, integrity, and contribution to school and community activities.

Poem By Willa Brand Released

Miss Willa Brand, favorite English teacher in Glenville State Normal School in 1922, authored the following poem. She directed the senior class play in which E. Paul Floyd accepted a wager that for 24 hours he could tell "nothing but the truth." In retirement Miss Brand wrote the poem and Dr. Berlin B. Chapman '22 preserved it. The poem is appropriate for the class reunion, April 22.

Today a bird tapped on my window pane
To tell mespring is coming once again.

A loveliness is stealing o'er the earth,
Divine reminder of beauty's deathless worth.

Nor man, nor hate, nor war can conquer Spring.
Sure as the sun, Nature's rarest gifts she comes to bring.

With glory she baptizes all the land;
Such beauty is almost too much to stand.

Yet one hint of sadness in the spring I see;
Each return means one less spring for me.

This year, O Spring, linger as ne'er before,
For I shall not see so very many more.

I would hold you fast and have you stay,
But I'll not weep when silently you steal away.

May not the mystery of the eternal shore
Be spring, glorious spring, for forevermore?

WV-SPIRG Works To Solve Problems

Recently GSC students have been hearing a lot about an organization named WV-SPRIG but very few have understood what it is about.

WV-SPRIG is an organization devised by students from various campuses to work within the educational system to help solve the pressing problems facing West Virginia today. This is to be done through the courts, media, and other legal means, that concern the public. This organization is controlled by students and is non-profit and non-partisan.

Ralph Nader originated the idea of a student organization research group in W.Va. while speaking at Bethany College. Mr. Nader suggested that four dollars per year be set aside in order to hire a staff of full-time professionals. This staff would be under the student's leaders to work toward finding the solutions to environmental, consumer and various other problems.

In previous meeting it was decided that state-supported schools would combine and seek the approval for the organization from the State Board of Regents. After this has been accomplished, the state and private school will then go together to organize a formal WV-SPRIG.

Not only has WV-SPRIG sought to get student support but also has been working within the communities through the news media.

WV-SPRIG members are striving to accomplish three basic elements in order to complete their organization.

The three areas are: Local Board of Directors on each campus who are elected by the students. The directors are responsible for holding public meetings in order to find out general and social problems. The second element is to form a State Board of Directors whose job it is to control the WV-SPRIG funds and hire and control the professional staff. They will research the issues at present and will then research the issues and declare WV-SPRIG's position on these issues.

The Professional staff is hired to assist the State Board in carrying out the decisions of the organizations. This staff shall be responsible to the State Board and shall report to this board at each regular meeting.

This organization's purpose is to reach out and help the students cope with the problems on the campus. WV-SPRIG will allow students to use their own time, money and training to work within the areas of problems. According to the students actively involved in the program now in W.Va. they feel "that while pursuing our educational goals we have a responsibility to help eliminate the disasters and problems in our state without resorting to violence and destruction."
