MAN or BEAST?

Protect Body And Mind!

Dear Editor:

Let it not be said that I am unreasonable. When, last year about this time, we were informed that women in the dorm could not have later hours on the weekdays, I accepted the ones we had. Begrudgingly, as is well known, but accepted, nonetheless.

I thought at first my reasoning was unsound. Maybe men really did turn into monsters after 10 Monday through Thursday; maybe it is against a city ordinance for women to be allowed on the streets of Glenville after 10. Just because I didn't know for sure, didn't mean it wasn't true. After a slight ear-boxing last semester, I finally realized—from ear-boxing rather than experience—that men really do turn into monsters after ten.

Or so I thought—until one of my vaguest suspicions was confirmed one night not too long ago. I was on my way to the Coke machines in the basement of the dorm at about 10:30, wearing my genuine bunny rabbit pajamas, complete with feet. I got to the door of the room, and what I saw inside nearly shocked me to the feet of my pajamas. A man! Not a monster, but a real man!

Now this posed a question in my mind. I decided then that maybe men didn't turn into monsters at 10. But still, the hour was imposed primarily to have a designated time at which all gentlemen and ladies were properly parted. What good, I wondered, was this restriction if men were allowed into the dorm after that venerable hour? It occurred to me that perhaps if we had no hours at all, then it would be right for men to be in the basement at that hour, and I would perhaps put on a shirt and a pair of shorts to go for a coke. If we must be contained at 10, could not the machines provided for our refreshment be filled at an earlier hour, if for no other reason than to save our embarrassment and that of the man's? And I most definitely heard someone (or two or three or four) saying that the hours were imposed "to keep men out of the dorm at all hours."

I am not complaining against the hours. I have learned my lesson soundly and have accepted the hour of 10. As I have said, I am not unreasonable. I am only saying that if I must be protected from men after 10, then I demand that I be protected from all of them. I demand protection not only of my body but of my peace of mind, so that I can go to the machines in the basement without fear of embarrassment.

Mercury Upholds Freedom Of Press

We understand that one night last week a question was raised concerning the Mercury on the WGSC radio "hot line." The question involved the appropriateness of the Mercury to print certain advertisements concerning abortions. Because neither the editor, advisor, advertising manager or any other staff members of this newspaper was contacted, we decided then to make our policy of public record in our own medium.

The Mercury is a commercial production in the sense that all money for office materials such as Vartipery ribbons, paste-up glue, and styli and small office machines is taken from whatever funds we can procure through advertisement. In addition, while we are supported with student fees for normal printing costs and state funds for staff workshops, any time we exceed our normal four page production—Homecoming and Centennial—the difference is usually made up from our advertising receipts. As you can see, advertising is essential.

The choice of advertisements is a staff decision but the final decision rests with the editor-in-chief. In the instance of advertisements concerning abortion, it was the feeling of the staff that such an ad was purely a business venture. We did consult Dr. Billips, Dean of Student Affairs, and Dr. Manley college physician to avoid any repercussions. Seeing none in sight we proceeded with publication of an ad concerning abortion facilities—not the one presently run in the Mercury. When payments from this first company proved faulty, we discontinued this ad—for financial reasons only. Another similar ad—now running—has proved to be a paying source.

It is our feeling that the mere advertisement of abortion facilities certainly does not indicate an approving stand by the staff, nor does it suggest that such facilities should be used. But it is only realistic to see that if there had been no demand, these companies would not be in business.

Except for the editorial comments in the Mercury, it is our concern to print news with no intent to moralize or demoralize. It is a college newspaper for college students and not a "Handbook for the Unaware."

Editor-in-ChiefDormitory Board Fees
To Be Raised Next Fall

Students returning to Glenville State College next fall who reside in the dormitories will find that the cost of their education has increased slightly.

All students who reside in the dorms will be paying about $18 more a semester for board. This increase has come about because of living increases.

Girls living in private rooms in Wing C of the new residence hall will be hit with the greatest increase. All private rooms will cost $2 per week instead of $1 per week beginning in the fall because of the increased demand for private rooms. Rooms in Wing C will cost $.50 more a week for the added costs of air-conditioning.

No increase in costs will be felt by the full time students living off campus because the tuition and fees will remain at $113.50 per semester.

Greek News

On Thursday, April 20, Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority held their Founder's Day Banquet in the Ballroom of the Pioneer Center. Susan Morrison Pitts was toastmistress for the banquet.

Tri Sigma Closed Ball was held Saturday, April 22, at the Holiday Inn in Clarksburg with music provided by the Kingsley Fink. During the banquet awards were presented. Model pledge and best scrap book for the fall pledge class went to Pam Sumpter and Bobbi Shomo. Model pledge and best scrap book for the spring pledge class went to Marcia Huffman and Karen McCormick. The girl with the highest grade average during the past year was Jeannine Worstall with a 4.0. Most improved grade average during the past year went to Melody Johnson. The highest award from the sorority, the Delta Alpha Award, was presented to Susan Morrison Pitts for her outstanding work in the sorority as a Tri Sigma.

Last night the sisters presented a musical program at a dinner for the Rotary Club of Glenville. Rose Marie Young sang a medley of songs written by the Carpenters.

Senior Send On will be held on Sunday, May 7, to honor graduating seniors.

Plans are now being made for a summer workshop to make plans for fall rush.

The week of April 25-28 was Rose Week for Delta Zeta. This is the most important event during pledging as it is in preparation for initiation this week-end. On Monday a big sis ceremony was held at the sorority house. During this ceremony the little sisters honor their big sis's with original poems and plaques. On Tuesday, a college bowl was held. In this particular activity, the actives and pledges compete in answering questions about the sorority. Wednesday a picnic was held at Cedar Creek. After, there was a scavenger hunt at which each pledge was given clues to find a piece of wood. These individual pieces, put together form a lamp, a symbol of Delta Zeta. After the lamp was put together a ceremony took place. On Thursday, each active and pledge found out who their "secret sis" was. These are drawn names out of a hat and each sister gives and receives messages and tokens of sisterhood throughout Rose Week. Tonight the pledges will present their theme party for the active sisters.

Alpha Sigma Alpha held its Senior Ceremony Monday night at 6 p.m. in the sorority lounge. Those honored with a rose and silver charm bearing initials of her sorority were Sarah Fowler McFadden and Ann Starcher.

Alpha Sig's have cancelled plans for the Spring Sing as only one other group was willing to participate.

The chapter elected a new rush chairman to prepare plans for fall rush. Elected was Darlene Sprecker, a sophomore elementary major from Beckley. Also Barbara Jean Groves, a freshman math major from Summersville, was appointed new scholastic chairman.

The Alumni Association for Gamma Kappa chapter met Sunday afternoon at Grantsville and elected Kathy Reten, Glenville, as their president. Terry Snyder Harris will be secretary and Jean Burke Jackson is the treasurer. Plans were made for fund raising projects to be completed this summer.

The game was close all the way with the lead changing hands throughout the game going ahead 11-4 before Boogerhole began to get unraced. The score at halftime was 22-19 in favor of STS. Boogerhole took the lead early in the second half but the shooting of Hott and Datcher led the STS comeback as they went ahead for good at 48-46. Jim Cook led the Boogerhole attack with 27.

Members of the championship squad include: Rich Richmond, Doug Lee, Jim Carter, Neil Hott, Randy Datcher, Steve Buffington, and Mark Watkins.

The consolation game was won by the Yankees who defeated the Faculty 38-37. The Yankees were led by John Hudson with 15. Dallas Wallen had 11 points. The Faculty was up 22-18 at the half but the Yankees fought back to drill down the third place spot. Tim Carney led the Faculty with 17 points and Jim Winkler put in 15.

In the semi-final round Boogerhole defeated the Faculty 60-53 and STS defeated the Yankees 55-53.

The Glenville State Golf team placed third in two regional matches last week.

In the northern regional held at Wheeling the Pioneer linksters finished behind West Liberty and Fairmont. Glenville had a team total of 344. Wayne Mencer had the low score for the Pioneers with a 82. Neil Christiansen was second at 86, followed by Bobby Wilson's 87. John Taylor had 89, and Rick Sansburg shot 90.

West Liberty won the event with a team total of 323 and Fairmont was second at 340. There were 13 teams entered in the event.

At Clarksburg last Tuesday the linksters again finished third behind West Liberty and Fairmont. Rick Sansburg and Bob Wilson were low with 79. Neil Christiansen shot 80, and Wayne Mencer and John Taylor had 85.

West Liberty again took first place honors with a total of 308 and Fairmont was second at 316.

The state tournament will be coming up next week. Coach Carney feels that the golfers have a real good chance of winning the tournament. If they win the team will get to compete in the NAIA tournament held in New Mexico.

Wayne Mencer and Neil Christiansen have both been named to the All Conference golf team.

Mr. John White is presenting Coach Jesse Lilly with the first Ratliff Award on behalf of the Alumni Foundation. Looking on is Athletic Director Dr. Robert Dollgener.

Have You Heard . . .

by Mike Rust

Have you Heard....

'Rain Rain go away,' is probably the cry that baseball coach Jerry Miliken is saying right now. It seems that every time Coach Miliken's slugers have a game a big rain cloud is just overhead. So far the squad has been rained out in their last five or six slated appearances. With these rainouts it will be hard for Coach Miliken and his crew to get a whole season in. With only about three weeks left in the semester the baseball team will have their backs to the wall in order to play the necessary ten games to be eligible for the conference title.

This long lay off will make Coach Miliken's job especially harder. It is very difficult to keep the players in shape and sharp in their positions with these long lay offs. Also it is difficult to have a steady pitching rotation with rain delays.

As of right now the Pioneers have 2-2 record, West Virginia State and Fairmont are a top of the conference standings. Glenville has to play both these teams before the regular season is over and if they can pull off a couple of victories they can be very much in the picture for the top sport in the standings.

Recruiting.... In addition to Rick Short, who has already signed, Coach Lilly reports that several other top prospects are interested in coming to Glenville. None of these boys have committed themselves yet but Lilly feels that Glenville has an excellent chance of signing them. Thinking about next year, in addition to 10 returning lettermen, and an undefeated junior varsity team one must not forget the names of John Hudson, Jim Cook and Randy Datcher. All of these boys were ineligible this year.

Hudson played for Virginia Military Institute last year. He was the starting center for the freshman team. Datcher was red-shirted this year in order to give him more experience and a chance to develop his ability. Glenville's popularity must be really spreading. Coach Lilly received a letter Monday from a boy who wanted to come to Glenville. He was a member of the All-State team from Florida. Looks like the competition will be really tough to make next year's squad.

In other recruiting news I am glad to see that Warren Baker decided to stay in the state as he signed a letter of intent to attend West Virginia University. Bet that brought a big smile to Sonny Moran's face.

Golfers.... Coach Carney's golfers are making some good showings this year. They have placed first in the southern regional, and third in the northern and central regionals. Neil Christiansen has the low average for the Pioneers with a 77.6 average. Other golfers include: Wayne Mencer, Richard Sansburg, John Taylor, and Bobby Wilson.

Lilly Receives Ratliff Award

For his outstanding job with the GSC basketball team this season Coach Jesse Lilly has been presented with the "Ratliff Award." This is the first year the award has been given.

The award is given in the name of Carlos Ratliff, who began at GSC as a baseball coach in 1947. In 1948, Jesse Lilly was captain of the squad under Mr. Ratliff.

Funds for the award are provided by the Alumni of the College through the Alumni Foundation and Mr. White, Secretary-Treasurer of the Alumni Foundation.

TKE Pledges Sponsor Spring Softball Tourney

The newly-initiated TKE pledges are sponsoring a Spring Softball Tournament at the Community Field. In other first round games: TKE Ballers defeated the Ramblin' Wrecks 14-10; Lambda Chi Alpha defeated Lardass 10-9; Theta Xi Animals defeated the Veterans 6-2; BBB defeated the Phi Jocka Strap 10-5; and Warpiqs defeated the Yu-Go's 12-5.

In the quarter final round EFF will play the Faculty, TKE Ballers plays Lambda Chi Alpha, Theta Xi Animals play the BBB's, and Warpiqs play the Yankees.

The semi-final and championship game will be played sometime next week.

Appalachian Corridors Exhibit Viewed

Twenty-one art students participated in a Charleston field trip Monday, April 24 under the direction of Mr. Steve Nichols, art instructor.

The students viewed the "Appalachian Corridors: Exhibition 3" at the Sunrise Art Gallery. The exhibition is a biennial competitive show of Appalachian fine arts and crafts organized by the Charleston Section Inc., National Council of Jewish Women.

The purpose of the major regional competition is to present a comprehensive exhibition which includes primitive, traditional and avant-garde arts and crafts made by Appalachian artists and craftsmen.

Those living in Alabama, Ohio, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, West Virginia, New York, Mississippi, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia were eligible to enter.

Katherine Khu. was the juror of the fine art section and Joel Myers judged craft entries.

The exhibition which opened April 2 and will continue through April 30 is scheduled to tour beginning in June. It will be on view in galleries and at college campuses throughout the United States. Colleges to receive the exhibition in West Virginia are W.Va. Wesleyan, Bethany, and WVU.

Glenville art students who viewed the exhibition felt it was worthwhile. They were impressed by the versatility of the ceramic pieces and the uniqueness of the glassware.

A large applique quilt of bright ghetto children and affluent white Jewish children is a Pennsylvania city. The children painted their own cartoon for the piece and then cut the design in pieces and glued it on cardboard. The cardboard was then slit and wound with string. Each child was given yarn to work on his section at home. After all the sections were completed they were assembled into the woven mural entitled "Weird Day in Park" depicting an old lady with a cane, a skunk, an ice cream vendor, a falling airplane, a parachute, an American flag, a large pre historic turtle and many more exciting and unusual exhibits.

"Appalachian Corridors: Exhibition 3" was a composite of some of Appalachia's finest art and craft work. The field trip enabled Glenville art students to widen their understanding of the capabilities of the materials with which they work as well as broaden their knowledge of arts and crafts helping to mold their individual art philosophies.

For two candidates who can cooperate effectively and work hard to try and accomplish, among others: usage of the elevator for students until 11:00 p.m., individual heat controls for rooms, a partition in the old LBH lounge for TV and ping pong, enlargement of the bathrooms in the older section. Vote for Jack Chivone for President and Craig See Vice President of Louis Bennett Hall.

On the question concerning the part of registration, 27 per cent did not respond. Of those who did, nine per cent registered Independent, 39 per cent registered Democratic, and 33 per cent registered Republican.

In general, 85 per cent of the students have registered, and the greater majority by far registered to vote at home rather than at school. There was less Democratic registration than national observers would expect, but accordingly, less family influence on registration.

The election which interests the greater percentage of students is the national election and for president they prefer Nixon. As for Democratic contenders, the three leading preferences, Muskie, McGovern, and Humphrey received rather equal shares of responses.
