Console Received For WGSC Station

Have you been wondering why WGSC, the campus radio station, has been sounding so clear lately? It is probably because the radio station has purchased a new $3,000 Gateway 80 console control board. The console provides a +8 decibel volume level with 22 decibels of headroom more than adequate to modulate WGSC's three remote AM transmitters and UHF-TV modulator on channel 10 of the local cable. The Gateway also provides eight channels with provision for five microphones, four turntables, three cartridge tape machines, two tape recorders, network news, three remote lines, patch panel feed-in and various other inputs. The new console was installed October 12, by Mr. Farrell Johnson from WVAR radio in Richwood and George Dudding, WGSC engineer. "The Gateway 80 is one of the most valuable assets we have here at WGSC and I expect it to provide reliable and versatile service here as WGSC becomes the second largest college radio station in the state," says Dudding. WGSC also will be broadcasting more hours on the air starting November 1 for the enjoyment of the students and a wide range of music will be aired from 3 p.m. to 2 a.m. during the week days and from 3 p.m. to 3 a.m. on the weekends. The radio station is doing their bit to provide the best type of music for the student listening.

State SEA Meet Termed A Success; State Colleges Send Representatives

The West Virginia State Education Association meeting held on campus last Friday and Saturday was a great success. Approximately 30 SEA members from various colleges were present. Those colleges represented were: Morris Harvey, West Virginia State, Fairmont State, Shepherd, Davis and Elkins, Bethany, and Glenville State.

Officiating were the state officers Dave Erb, president, Bethany; Fred Griffith, vice-president, West Virginia State; Barb Golaski, secretary, Bethany; Becky Sinclair, treasurer, Fairmont State; and Susie Soos, historian, Morris Harvey.

Did you know that SEA offers wide-range benefits? For instance, the moment you sign the WVSEA membership card, you become eligible for certain benefits, including insurance, educational, travel service, discount buying service, professional service and publications.

The Insurance program consists of $100,000 professional liability policy for college junior and senior student members, low-cost accidental death and dismemberment insurance, low cost life insurance, low cost home and property protection, and discount automobile insurance.

The educational travel service consists of special group tours, low-cost, non-profit operation, with no hidden charges or taxes to be added on to the advertised price, academic credit, where applicable, will be given. Tour books will be given for quality travel, NEA-operated experienced and responsible tour-directors who are educators.

The discount buying service includes special discounts on books chosen from a selected list, selected stores in your area and a special auto-leasing program.

The professional services include, teacher placement programs within the state, access to NEA DuShane fund when professional, civil, or human rights are violated, with WVEA, NEA, and WVSEA resource people available upon request. The curriculum materials for use by student teachers in the classroom are available upon request from WVEA Research Division.

Publications include Today's Education the monthly NEA Journal; NEA Reporter, monthly newspaper mailed to chapter officers; Student Impact, issued quarterly, the voice of the SNEA. 20 issues of the W.Va. School Journal, including four magazines and sixteen tabloids; handbooks for local, regional and state WVSEA officers; special publications throughout the year; 9 issues of the voice of the WVSEA, the Watch Tower and posters and brochures.

Audio-Visual Services includes films, filmstrips, slides, and tapes.

For information on SEA membership, contact your local chapter president: Sue Roby, Dr. Morris' office, Clark Hall. If you haven't paid your SEA dues, please do so immediately. Contact Treasurer Sharon Miller, Room 216-A, ext. 312 Women's Hall.

Dates For N.T.E. Set; First To Be Nov. 11

Taking the National Teacher Examinations is a requirement for graduation and certification for persons who are candidates for an A.B. degree in Teacher Education.

It is most important that students register and take the examinations on the dates indicated below. Please disregard any advice to the contrary. The test results must be on file in the Dean's Office before recommendation can be made for graduation or certification. The examinations are to be taken during the time the student is enrolled in the Professional Education Semester unless another date is approved by the Dean of the College.

All persons who are enrolled in the Professional Semester during the fall of 1972 and who have not already taken the examinations must do so on November 11, 1972. Such persons must have already registered with Dr. Morris.

Who's Who List Compiled 24 GSC Seniors Named

A list has been compiled by the GSC Student Congress and accepted by the National Foundations of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, pending the completion of supplementary material by the individual nominees.

Twenty-four seniors were named by the Congress to represent Glenville this year in the national publication of Who's Who. They are in alphabetical order:

Miss Sharon Anderson, Mrs. Gayle Bailey Boswell, Miss Cheryl Chaddock, Miss Jo Ellen Conley, Mrs. Janis Campbell Derby, Mrs. Mona Wilson Floyd, Miss Kathie S. Fox, Mrs. Geneva Rentschler Gallagher, Mr. David Gene Grapes, II, Miss Debra Ann Hardman, Mr. Richard William Hill, Miss Paulette Jackson, Mrs. Patricia Claymore Jones, Miss Judy Lynn Jordan, Mr. Frank A. Marcinko, Jr., Miss Dianna Moore, Miss Donna Newberry, Mrs. Barbara Lynne Nicholson, Mr. Lynn Randall Noble, Mr. Joseph Robert Parton, Mrs. Mary Catherine Rader Cowan, Mrs. Jennifer Pitzer Sirk, Mr. William B. Webb and Miss Mary Margaret White.

S. C. Supports Coed Contest

The GSC Student Congress has been contacted by the College Editor of GLAMOUR MAGAZINE asking that it co-operate in helping them locate the Ten Top College Girls for 1973.

Each campus may choose to enter one, two, or three women; the campus entries are required to show leadership in some worthwhile activity, either on campus or in the community. Each contestant must send a list of her major activities and an essay describing her area of involvement (such as the arts, social services, politics, etc.) to the Student Congress.

Nominations will be opened Tuesday, October 31; the resume is due Monday, November 6; pictures will be taken of the candidates Monday, November 13 and Tuesday, November 14. They will appear with the contestant's essay in the Glenville Mercury Friday, November 17.

A campus-wide election will then follow Tuesday November 21st, with the winners being posted later that evening.

All co-ed students at GSC are urged to participate, as the ten national winners appear in the August college issue of Glamour, and receive national recognition by the media for themselves and their college. They also receive their choice of an all-expense paid trip to Europe, or their choice of an equivalent cash prize of $1000.

SCOTT PLANS GROUP

Mr. Charles C. Scott, ceramics instructor of Glenville's Art Department, is forming plans for a travel-study group this summer. Plans will be made for a group of students to go to either Mexico or Canada and study at one of these colleges under Mr. Scott and a professor of the other college. All art majors interested in this program may sign on a paper in the main art room or contact Mr. Scott.

Flack To Moderate Duquense Session

Dr. Bruce C. Flack, chairman of the Social Science Division, will moderate the session on the United Mine Workers: Mitchell and Lewis, in the 1972 Duquesne University History Forum, November 1-3 in Pittsburgh.

Presenting papers in the United Mine Workers session will be Dr. Jack Foster, professor of history at Southern Connecticut State College and Dr. Joseph Gowaski, professor of history at Rider College. Professor Foster's paper is titled, "Lewis and the Coal Strike of 1943," and Professor Gowaski's topic is, "John Mitchell and the United Mine Workers: Rationality of the Coal Industry."

The commentator for the session will be Dr. George A. Turner, professor of history at Bloomsburg State College.

The United Mine Workers session is one of forty-one meetings which comprise the Duquense History Forum. The 1972 Forum will bring together historians from all parts of the United States for the three-day meeting.

News Conf. To Be Held; Facility Plan Presented

There will be a campus-wide news conference Thursday, November 9 at 2 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Pioneer Center. At this conference, a report from the firm, Wood and Tower of Princeton, New Jersey, will be presented.

This report deals with a campus facility plan for Glenville State College to be presented to the public at this time. This plan has been prepared by Wood and Tower for the West Virginia Board of Regents.

This report is a ten-year projection and deals with instructional, recreational and student housing facilities.

Opinions Of The Editors

The recent production of Butterflies are Free was a smashing success due to the excellent acting of the cast.

The Leonard Gershe hit on Broadway which was presented to the GSC student body by special permission will long be remembered.

Douglas Smith who portrayed "Don Baker" must be specially commended for his characterization of a blind boy who strikes out on his own to discover the world for himself. He did an excellent job on the stage and never once betrayed his part by letting his eyes rove about.

Special praise must go to Kathy Fluharty who acted the part of "Jill Tanner" a scatterbrained young woman, who was a giver of herself, although she wanted to avoid any deep involvement since the break up of her six-day marriage.

Miss Kathy Leisnering also must be given special praise for her portrayal of "Mrs. Baker" an overly protective, sophisticated upperclass matron. Miss Leisnering, was superb in her utilization of the emotion packed lines. David Grapes, I feel, was also excellent in his characterization of "Ralph Austin." David projected an image of a selfish, loud-mouthed kook who immediately had the audience's dislike.

Although the play was a great success a few students disrupted the audience by laughing and making sly remarks at inappropriate times. Why was this? It seems to be a trend at GSC for a few students to act up at every program and also to come dressed in bluejeans and t-shirts. Maybe if a dress code of some sort were established for such programs, the students might feel a little more sophisticated and behave accordingly.

Also, a means of eliminating these disruptions would be to have ushers single these certain students out and ask them to leave.

Although there are only a few of these ill-mannered students who disrupted the audience I believe the play deserved the standing ovations and the praise it received.

I hope Mr. Fields and all the others who acted or helped with Butterflies are Free continue the good work they have produced so far in spite of the disruptions and rudeness they experienced during their first production. Everyone involved must be commended for a job well done.

Dianna Moore
Editor-in-Chief

Sometimes I really worry about the mentality of some of the students at Glenville State College. There are some that are just so ignorant and infantile that I seriously doubt whether or not they could see the moral in such a dramatic production as "The Doris Day Show."

The recent production Butterflies are Free seemed to be a bit more intellectual than some of our students could handle, if the Wednesday and Thursday night audiences are the ones to be judged by. Which is a shame, since the play is not a story about the metaphysical elements of Zoroastrianism, it is only a story about a young man and his trouble with the generation gap, and his breaking away from parental controls. It is a topic every college student, one would think, could identify with. Not some of the dunces around here, however.

Everyone, no doubt, enjoyed the humorous parts of the play, but some people forgot to quit laughing during the serious parts. What is their problem? Are they so stupid that they cannot tell the difference between a serious line and a funny line? Are they so immature that they don't want to admit that life can be serious as well as funny?

They seemed to be terribly jealous and wanted to have their own show. Some of the comments heard by members of the cast and other people in the audience are really not suitable for print. Was it you who said "Get it on" at the end of Act I? Was it you who said "Oh God" when Mrs. Baker said "I love you"? Or you who shouted "Hit her" during the quarrel?

If it was, then you've got some things to learn, some manners to acquire, before you come to the next theatrical production. If you don't understand the play, then shut up and sit down and listen. But if you want your own show, set up a soapbox outside the auditorium. Everyone that wants to hear you will stay outside and you won't bother those that came to see the production inside. The depth of a play should approximate the level of the intelligence of the audience, and it is obvious that there are some in our student body that cannot handle anything more intellectual than Reader's Digest or The Million Dollar Duck.

Yes, folks, this is a reprimand. Only small children should be reprimanded. But there are some here that are obviously very small children—did you ever notice how children prefer the balcony? If but one of those people who made those idiotic remarks could realize from this how much their idiotic remarks upset the cast and made them upset the characterizations, consequently disrupting the mood for everyone, then this Mercury space is not wasted. The cast's time is not wasted, and my ink and ire are not wasted.

Action will be taken against all such immature activity in the future. People should be hereby forewarned that any improper conduct at dramatic productions will be dealt with by severe measures. Quit ruining it for everyone, if you can't act your IQ, at least act your age. You cannot possibly be as stupid as you act—I hope.

Letters

Dear Editor,

It came as quite a shock at 12:30 last Thursday to walk out of the new cafeteria and discover that my GSC Swim Team jacket had been taken off the coat rack. I went to two afternoon classes without a jacket even though it was quite a chilly day. I did not have time to walk back to the dorm and get another jacket nor a pen to take notes with in class.

It is a strange coincidence that when talking to three previous swimmers of the team that their jackets had been taken also.

Certainly, by the time individuals reach college age they have achieved the maturity that is expected of them. Obviously, this is not so by the common recurrence of thievery on this campus.

Lambda Chi Alpha

This Saturday the Glenville State Pioneers will play their last home football game against West Virginia State College. The brothers of Lambda Chi are planning to attend to support our team. The Lambda Chi's will also be selling hotdogs at the game. The price will be 25 cents per hotdog.

Several of the brothers are planning to attend a Halloween party at the invitation of the brothers of Lambda Psi Chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha at West Liberty State College. The party is planned to begin at 4:00 p.m. Saturday evening.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

During their weekly pledge meeting, the Alpha Sigma Alpha pledges elected the officers of their pledge class. They are: President-Norma Rexroad, Vice-President-Vicki McGrauer, secretary-Jackie Miller, and treasurer-Pat Thomas.

The hot dog sale planned by the pledges has been changed to Sunday, November 5.

Delta Zeta

Delta Zeta pledge officers are: Sheila Nutter-President, Mary Jane Scites-Vice-President, Debra Cunningham-recording secretary, Mary Ann Nugen-treasurer, Patty Canterbury-scholarship, Peggy Jo McDonald-song leader, Regina Boothe-standards, Pat McGowan-chaplain, Artie Walters-parliamentarian, Joyce Bean-activities, Ellen Forren-social, and Billie Beth Sullivan-courtesy.

The pledges held a hot dog sale in Louis Bennett Lounge on Tuesday, October 24 from 7:30-10:00.

On Thursday evening, October 26, the sisters serenaded the other sororities and fraternities and other friends of the sorority. Afterwards, they presented these people with Halloween treats consisting of a variety of cookies and candy.

As a philanthropic project, the Delta Zetas are sending a shipment of canned goods to the Navajo Indians.

Mrs. Rose Turner, secretary in the Office of Student Affairs is shown above contemplating whether to scream or walk out.

Audience Learns Lessons From Play

By Mr. Gary Gillespie

As students interested in the theater were taught important lessons by the drama department's first production of the season.

Lesson One: The play had a conventional plot that told a believable story about real people with human problems. This is a refreshing change on our stage. The popular mixture of sex, tears, blunt language, and scantily clad players were all present without being offensive while yet placating those who would have felt cheated without them. Gershe's play has humor, warmth, and an excellent rhythm which are the qualities, no doubt, that have made it a successful show everywhere. In view of the audience's expressions of interest and enjoyment, the wise selection of an appropriate show to begin the season is a lesson we could take from Mr. Fields.

Lesson Two: The set for the show must have had over a hundred different pieces (flowers, dishes, furniture, music instruments, bottles, posters, articles of clothing, etc.), and surely Kim Johnson, who did an excellent job, is now receiving her mail at Weston. Leaving the curtain open for the audience to get familiar with the set even before one line was heard was smart. The audience probably remembers costumes as apparently appropriate, if they can remember them at all. They will remember lighting in exactly the same way. The point is that with such a busy set, the lights, the sound, the costumes and make-up - everything jelled, and nothing distracted from the cohesion of the whole. If anyone got nervous for a minute about the blocking in Act I, scene I, or about what seemed to be a monotonous, sing-song pitch to Don Baker's voice in Act I, scene I, these worries were quickly dispelled as the players began to move the audience. The lesson of a play well staged was obvious.

Lesson Three: Smith gave us a Don Baker with a very convincing affliction. Fluharty was an irresponsible, giddy Jill Tanner, who during the beginning, seemed to be working vigorously at dislodging some peanut butter stuck in her jaw. Leisnering, carefully pacing her performance, still had plenty in reserve when she needed to build emotionally. As usual, Grapes' deft timing paid off. Time for this production seemed short by Glenville standards, and yet the cast became characters that completely won the praise of the audience. Disciplined, hard work turning into success is an old lesson, but the cast proved its value. Each one gave a fine performance.

Lesson Four: The speech department was small this fall, and perhaps the new students at GSC were less than eager to plunge themselves into the theater. The budget for this year was low. Everyone was new; things were different. In spite of all this, the crew and cast had spirit, and spirit just doesn't pop out of a box. And, thank God, this spirit wasn't defeated by those clods in the audience who disgraced themselves and their school when they behaved rudely at the play by making dumb-dumb cracks. Why do we tolerate their denying us the right to hear and see the play? Perhaps the lesson here is that a cast should cultivate the kind of spirit that can withstand a shock as surprising as a college audience that acts like a high school mob at a donkey ballgame.

American Education Week, 1972

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

Daniel Webster said: "On the diffusion of education among the people rest the preservation and perpetuation of our free institutions."

Webster was right. Not only will the quality of our young people's future be determined by the quality of the education they receive, but a nation of free institutions depends for its greatness on the knowledge and understanding of its people. Therefore, nothing matters more to the future of America than the strength, the vitality and the success of its educational system.

Throughout the Nation, citizens are engaged in a massive effort to maintain and improve the quality of our education, and to ensure that it keeps ahead of the growing challenges it faces in an ever more complex society. Our continued success as a Nation will depend in large measure on the readiness and capacity of our schools to meet their new tasks in new ways, while holding fast to the fundamental virtues of our democracy and the integrity of the learning process.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, RICHARD NIXON, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the period of October 22 through October 28, 1972, as American Education Week.

Education is the doorway to opportunity, and the theme of American Education Week, "Make Education Top Priority," carries with it a commitment to provide equal educational opportunity for every individual in this Nation. I urge all citizens to help our schools honor this commitment.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this twenty-sixth day of July, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred seventy-two and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred ninety-seventh.

Dollgener Reports 14 Bowlers Added To Serve On Year's GSC Bowling Team

Dr. Dollgener reported many new prospects with ten new men bowlers and four new women bowlers. The male prospects are Dave Jones, Greg Knight, Richard McLee, Wayne Hamlin, Sam Ferrell, Tom Newberry, Earl Lockard, Ron Vaughn, Bill Kibble and Richard Lee. The women prospects include Julie Posey, Karen Boodall, Dianna Moore and Fran Spiker.

Glenville State College has been in the conference for the past five years.

The colleges in the conference are as follows: Glenville State College, West Virginia State, West Liberty, Fairmont, Morris Harvey, Wesleyan, Concord and Beckley. Dr. Dollgener commented, "Most schools are rebuilding, at best our prospects look good, our hopes are high and we will try to maintain our dynasty." He continued by saying, "We have enjoyed our role as visitors and hope to continue." Glenville should be strong, along with Fairmont and West Virginia State.

The schedule this year starts on November 18, with a men and women's tournament in Huntington. On January 20th the team will travel to Moundsville for the first regional match. The second regional match will be February 3rd in Charleston, the third February 24th in Clarksburg, the fourth March 17 with the site to be determined. The state tournament will be March 31 in Oakhill.

West Liberty Defeats Glenville 21-6

Sophomore Randy Little and senior quarterback Jim Brickman made believers of the Glenville State Pioneers last Saturday afternoon. Brickman completed 13 of 22 passes for 231 yards in leading the Hilltoppers to a 21-6 triumph over the Blue Wave. Eight of his completions went to Little for 150 yards and one touchdown.

The Hilltoppers got the first points on the board on a seven yard run by Brickman. The extra point try was good and West Liberty led at the half, 7-0.

The third quarter was scoreless and the Hilltoppers remained on top 7-0 going into the final period.

Brickman scored his second touchdown of the game with eight minutes remaining on a 21 yard gallop.

The back-up quarterback Charles Beard hit split end Randy Little on a 31 yard hook-up to ice the game.

four yard scoring play. The try for the two point conversion failed as the pass was knocked down in the end-zone.

Glenville had a total of 217 yards offensively. 140 yards passing and 77 yards rushing. Randy DeBastiani was the leading Pioneer ballcarrier with 61 yards in 12 carries. John Pratt had 45 yards in 14 tries. Eddie Williams gained 42 yards in 5 attempts.

In the passing department, Chris Anderson completed six of 12 for 77 yards. The Pioneers had 17 first downs.

Jim Brickman was the leading ball-carrier in the game with 67 yards in 12 carries. Rick Martini gained 64 yards in 17 tries. West Liberty had 425 total yards, 173 on the ground and 252 through the air. The Hilltoppers had 20 first downs.

Glenville's record now stands 4-3, the Hilltoppers post a 6-1 mark. Glenville entertains West Virginia State tomorrow at 1:30 p.m.

Theta Xi's Triumph Over TKE's 19-7

The brothers of Theta Xi have won their second straight Commodore Bowl Championship with a convincing 19-7 triumph over TKE. This marks the third time in four years that the Theta Xi's have won the championship, and the second year that the TKE's have been runner-ups to the champion Theta Xi's. The Theta Xi's won 33-6 last year over the TKE's.

"Ramblin" Randy Noble picking the TKE secondary to pieces with pin point passes to ace split end Jim "Turk" Garnett led the Theta Xi's to victory.

Noble hit Bobby Britton for the first touchdown and then Noble found Garnett behind the TKE defenders for the second tally.

The TKE's got the ball for their try and were unable to move the ball as the Theta Xi defense stiffened to ensure the Theta Xi's victory.

The only points on the board for the TKE's was when a TKE defensive back intercepted a Mike Smith pass and ran it in from 21 yards out. The score came during first half action and gave the TKE's a 7-0 halftime lead.

The Theta Xi's came out fired up for the second half. Randy Noble took over at quarterback and directed the Theta Xi offense on a 56 yard scoring drive. The scoring play came on a 34 yard pass to Jim Garnett, who outran his TKE defender, Bobby Britton's try for the extra point was good and the score was tied 7-7.

The game ended with the score all even at 7-7. Sudden death rules were put into effect and each team was given the ball on the 30 yard line for 5 plays with the team with the most yardage winning. The Theta Xi's got the ball first and during this period scored two touchdowns.

Have You Heard?

by Mike Rust

It was a case of a "Little" too much last Saturday afternoon as the Pioneers of Glenville State dropped their third game of the season to the West Liberty Hilltoppers. Sophomore Randy Little was a thorn in the Pioneers' secondary all day as he caught eight passes for 150 yards.

The combination of quarterback Jim Brickman to Randy Little is one of the best passing combinations I have seen so far this year, comparing admirably with the duo of Chris Anderson to Steve Buffington.

The offensive line of the Blue Wave did a good job of controlling All-American Mickey Sworden, especially defensive tackle Larry Chapman, who played against Sworden head up and did a great job of handling him.

Invitational Tournament . . .

Marshall University will be holding an Invitational Tournament, November 18, for all interested students.

Activities to be included in the tournament are: table tennis, singles and doubles; chess, four round Swiss movement, bridge, board-a-match-play; and pocket billiards, straight pool.

Along with these events the bowling team will also be competing.

The deadline for entering is November 6, people wishing to enter should contact Dr. Dollgener in the Physical Education Building.

State Game . . .

Tomorrow the Pioneers will meet another tough opponent in the Yellow Jackets of West Virginia State.

The Pioneers will not have to worry about the pass too much as the Yellow Jackets feature a strong running attack, rushing out of the triple option formation.

State's record stands at 4-1 in the conference and posts the top rushing attack in the conference averaging 262 yards a game.

The dynamic trio of Fred Venson, Larry Lewis, and Ray Reeves has gained over 1300 yards between them in five conference games.

Glenville will have to work especially hard on covering punts for Fred Venson is the top punt returner in the conference averaging over 13 yards a try.

Mountaineer pride . . .

The West Virginia Mountaineers will be putting everything on the line as they try to end the Penn State jinx this Saturday in Morgantown.

The Mountaineer defense will be the key to the game if they can control Nittany Lions offense.

Final Score . . .

Be sure and go out and support the Pioneers in their final home appearance of the year. Ten seniors will be playing their final game in Glenville come out and honor these fine athletes in their final home appearance.

Hanlin Names Seven GSC Pioneers As Outstanding Plays In W.L. Game

Last Saturday, the Glenville State College Pioneers met the West Liberty Hilltoppers at West Liberty. Although the Pioneers gave a great effort, they just couldn't seem to get enough points on the scoreboard as they went down in defeat, 21-6. Seven Pioneers were named as outstanding players by Coach Bill Hanlin. The players were Scotty Hamilton, Bob Hardman, Neil Christiansen, Larry Chapman, Irvin Braniff, Randy DeBastiani and John Pratt.

Scotty Hamilton hails from Marietta, Ohio and Staunton Military Academy being the son of Mr. and Mrs. T.S. Hamilton. The 5'9", 160 pound outside linebacker has been recognized all season for the way he intimidates enemy ballcarriers and pass receivers. Scotty comments, "We may have lost last week, but we'll be bouncing back to finish strong against State and Concord."

Bob Hardman is a resident of Glenville, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R.O. Hardman. Hardman has shown much progress at his defensive end position this season but he has been hampered at times by an ankle injury. Hardman comments, "West Liberty was down at first, and we should have jumped on them fast. We didn't defense quite enough against the pass and the option. If we play up to our capabilities and the offense keeps up their performance, we should end the season with a 6-3 record."

Neil Christiansen is a product of Parkersburg, W.Va., but resides in Glenville with his wife Jo Ann and daughter Jeanne. The 6'0", 180 pound defensive end has played good ball all year and he figures greatly in the Pioneer defensive plans. Christiansen looks back on the ballgame, "West Liberty executed very well. We have to rebound from this last loss and get back on the winning track. We're still out for a good season and people will know that GSC is still around."

Larry Chapman is a 6'3", 235 pound offensive tackle from Weston, W.Va., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Chapman. Chapman has shown much ability this season in opening holes for our ballcarriers and protecting our passing game. Chapman comments, "West Liberty was quick especially across the front line. We'll be ready to go this week against State."

Irvin Braniff is a 6'1", 210 pound offensive center from Weston, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Braniff. Braniff has two responsibilities, he must center the ball and then he must block. This is very tough to do against quick linemen. Braniff makes this comment, "The team is still up and we'll be ready to go against West Virginia State on Saturday."

Randy DeBastiani is a 5'10", 195 pound halfback, a native of Masontown, W.Va., but is a transfer student from Potomac State. DeBastiani has shown determination in running the ball this year, picking up 61 yards on 12 carries and one pass reception for 13 yards in Saturday's game. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony DeBastiani, Jr., makes this comment, "We will bounce back strong to win the next two ballgames for a 6-3 season record."

John Pratt is a 5'10", 195 pound fullback from Parkersburg, W.Va., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace W. Pratt, Jr. Pratt has not only carried the ball well this year but he has also done a great job blocking. Pratt is a big asset to the GSC offensive team whether running or blocking. Pratt comments, "West Liberty had the best defense we'll face. Our offense did a good job running and blocking. W.Va. State has a good quick offense and it should be a pretty even ballgame."

Downtown Merchants To Be Honored At Game

On Saturday, October 28, the Glenville State College football team will play host to West Virginia State College. On this same afternoon, the Glenville State College Athletic Department will play host to the area merchants of Glenville. This is the game that the Athletic Department sets aside each year to show their appreciation to the merchants for their many kindnesses and considerations.

A letter has been sent out to each merchant in town along with a pass for his admittance to the ballgame. There will be a specially designated seating area set aside on the 50 yard line for the merchants. Dr. Dollgener would like to see as many of the merchants as possible to attend this ballgame. He would also like to say that if for some reason, a merchant did not receive a letter of invitation, he should contact the Athletic Department immediately.
