Linda Mayfield Teaches At Naval Base In Cuba

Mrs. Linda Mayfield, a Glenville graduate and former resident of St. Mary's, is now doing substitute teaching at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba.

According to Mrs. Mayfield, living conditions are pretty good in the Cuban country with the exception of a lack of daily communication with the States, and a limitation of shipping facilities. However, she feels the favorable weather conditions there alone make up for the inconveniences.

Although Mrs. Mayfield is doing only substitute teaching now, she does plan to be teaching there full time next year. At the present time she and her husband are planning to remain there until July, 1975.

Shootin' Lunatics Does No Good- Just Don't Let'em Do This To Us

If it was really worth the effort, I think I'd take my rifle down to Charleston, and shoot every lunatic in the capitol. But with my luck, after they shot me, the good people of West Virginia would elect more lunatics to replace them. So it's really not worth the effort.

Do you know what they've done this time? Governor Arch has proposed a bill that would provide $500 per semester for resident freshman and sophomores, and $700 per semester to resident juniors and seniors to go to non-state schools. Now that's all fine and proper for schools not supported by the state, but what is it going to do to state schools, like Glenville?

Enrollment at Glenville is going down. Why? Because any freshman in his right mind would gladly be paid $2400 to go to some school. Not to mention all the "fringe benefits" those private schools offer. Why pay to go here when you can be paid to go somewhere else? If I weren't too dangled old to transfer, I'd leave too.

If this bill is passed, it will probably be started in September. This place is going to look mighty strange without any freshmen. Governor Arch and the Board of Regents are apparently out to kill state supported schools; the very schools they should be out to protect and help. Why can't the $2.25 million of general revenue funds be used for the private schools be distributed to state schools instead? I daresay Glenville alone could put $2.25 million to wise use.

If you think the good governor is misusing the general revenue, and you don't want to see Glenville die a slow, agonizing death, then whip out your ol' pen and write to your legislator. Tell him if he votes for it, he's crazier than somebody trying to find a corner in a silo, and you're not going to vote for him next time. Glenville has enough problems without Governor Arch and his frito banditos being down on it, too.

1973 NAIA All-America Basketball Teams List Two WV College Players

Three first team NAIA All-American performers, James Lister, Sam Houston State (Tex.), John Laing, Augustana (Ill.), and Pete Harris, Stephen F. Austin (Tex.) - head the 1973 NAIA All-America basketball teams as selected by the NAIA Basketball Coaches' Association.

All three were first team selections in 1972 and headline the elite of the NAIA basketball performers this season. This is the third time that Lister has been named to the NAIA All-American squad. He was a third team selection as a sophomore and has been on the first team the past two seasons.

Another three time All-American is senior guard Rich Hanson of Central Washington State with a first team berth this season. Hanson was a third team selection as a sophomore and was on the second team last year.

The first team has three forwards, three centers, and three guards with M.L. Carr of the NAIA Championship team rounding out the squad with the ability to play at either guard or forward. The NAIA squad is hitting at a 20-point per man clip with a solid rebounding average of 11.4 per man. Size is a plus for the 1973 squad. The front liners are 7-0, 6-10, 6-10 with the smallest forward at 6-6 and the smallest guard at 6-3.

Fred DeVaughn of Westmont (Calif.), who overcame an early season injury to guide Westmont into the 1973 National Tournament, is a forward along with sophomore Bruce Seals of Xavier (La.), and junior Mike Ogan, Carson-Newman (Tenn.) Both Seals and Ogan are great scoring threats, carrying a 25.6 and 24.1 average respectively.

Laing and Lister are listed at center along with Nate Archibald, a junior from Alcorn A & M (Miss.), who is a solid scorer and rebounder. Harris and Hanson are at the guard spots along with Carr of Guilford and ball-hawking senior Vernon Wilson of Northwestern Louisiana State.

The NAIA second team is almost equal to the first ten players with the exception of being a shade smaller in size. As a unit, the second team boasts a 20.7 scoring average per man and has a 10.68 rebounding mark for each performer.

The leading scorer is guard Roy McPipe, a 6-3 junior guard from Eastern Montana with a 26.1 average. Mike Franza, a senior guard from Western Washington State, is hitting at a 25.6 average while forward Joe Reeves of Bethel (Tenn.) is scoring at a 24.3 clip.

Dennis Woelfler of Wisconsin-Green Bay, who helped the Phoenix advance to the quarter-finals of the NAIA tournament this year, is at forward along with Aaron James, the high scoring Grambling (La.) junior. Larry Bray of Henderson State (Ark.), another big scorer in the clutch and Reeves round out the list.

Charles Edge, the NAIA top rebouncer this season, of LeMoyne-Owen (Tenn.) and Lerman Battle of Fairmont State (W.Va.) are the pivot men while Rubin Collins, from tournament runner-up Maryland-Eastern Shore and Joe Sebestyen of Clarion State (Pa.) are in the backcourt along with McPipe and Franza.

The third unit is also a high scoring group, hitting at a 21.3 clip and averaging almost nine rebounds per man, despite four small guards - not a man over 6 - 6.

Bob Whitey of Kentucky State, a consistent scorer and rebounder this year, is at forward along with sophomore Tyres Davis of Rocky Mountain (Mont.). The other three forwards are Dennis Johnson of Ferris State (Mich.), Henry Dickerson of Morris Harvey (W.Va.), and sophomore Gary Tomaszewski of St. Mary's (Tex.), three great front liners who can score and rebound with the best.

The center is Dave Gray, a senior from Earlham (Ind.). Whitey or Johnson can also go at the post position if necessary.

The guards are Willie Oxford of Valdosta State (Ga.), high scoring senior Jackie Evans of Spring Arbor (Wis.) and scorer Sheldon Anderson of Augsburg (Mich.).

Steve Datcher, All Star, Victoriously Comes Home

Glenville State College's super forward, Steve Datcher, has returned home to the States, after his two week's basketball tour of Israel as a member of the NAIA All-Star squad.

The announcement of Steve being honored on the team came around the 10th of March. He was flown to New York on the 23rd of the month where he met the two coaches of the All-Star squad, Duane Woltzen of Lakeland College, and Bob Hopkins of Xavier University, and the remaining eleven members of the twelve-man squad. The team was housed at Kutsher's Country Club, where they went through a series of practice sessions before embarking on their two week tour.

The original schedule of activities while abroad had called for six or seven games and one for exhibition. The three clinics which were for the purpose of teaching basketball fundamentals, play patterns, types of zone defenses, and having an 80 minute scrimmage at the end were all cancelled.

All five games played, were won by the NAIA All-Stars. None of the games were played in the same place thus enabling the All-Stars to travel the Israeli countryside to many of its historic cities. The first game was played in Tel Aviv, where the All-Stars resided throughout the tour. The All-Stars won this game against the Israeli National Team (silver medalist in Asian games), who were their opponents in four out of the five contests, by a score of 83 - 79. The second, played in Harzilya, was won by the score of 101 - 64.

The third game was played at Haifa, on the coast of the Mediterranean Sea, and tallied the score 92 - 74. In Jerusalem the fourth game was played against the Jerusalem All-Star team, and was won by the NAIA All-Stars 91 - 80. The fifth game, played in Cholon went to the NAIA by a score of 99 - 91. An exhibition game was played in En Gedi, which is on the coast of the Dead Sea.

G-Men Defeat Bobcats Chamber's Bat Shines

Glenville exploded for 14 runs in the third inning and survived a 11-run fifth inning eruption of W.Va. Wesleyan as the Pioneers posed a 24-16 baseball win over the Bobcats.

The final score could have been mistaken for a football score as the Pioneers pounded out 21 hits and the Bobcats 14.

Batting leaders for Glenville included Ken Swisher, who sent 3 for 5 including a double; Joe Mitchem, with two doubles and a triple; and Jay Chambers, who went 5 for 7 at the plate.

Five Wesleyan batters including Priman, Slatle, Saluto, Boyd, and Warstoked two hits each. No home runs were hit in the game.

GSC used Joe Mitchem, Kevin Place and Rick O'Reilly on the mound with O'Reilly picking up the win.

Wesleyan used five pitchers in the marathon contest with Massey getting the loss.

Rubber Band Boat Regatta Announced

The Department of Journalism of California State University at San Diego is sponsoring an International Rubber Band Boat Regatta May 5 and 15.

This unique contest will challenge engineering skills in the design and construction of rubber band propelled boats. All boats will be raced over a ten foot measured course against competitors from colleges and universities throughout the world. Trophies will be awarded the winning entries. Awards will also be made for the most creatively constructed boats. All winners will be notified by registered mail.

An entry fee of $1.00 should accompany each boat. All proceeds from the Regatta will be awarded to the United Nation's Children's Fund (UNICEF). Unless the participant specifically requests in writing the return of his or her boat, all boats will subsequently be given to the U.S. Marine Corps. "Toys for Tots" program.

Preliminary racing, in specially constructed 5-lane tanks, will take place on the four San Diego area Sears Roebuck and Company parking lots Saturday, May 5, at 11 a.m. (Pacific Daylight Time). Finals will be held Tuesday, May 15 at 11 a.m. (PDT) on the California State University campus.

All boats should be mailed to: Rubber Band Boat Regatta, Department of Journalism, California State University, San Diego; San Diego, California - 92115. They must be received no later than Friday, May 4.

This is an opportunity for students to test their boat design skills, involve them in a meaningfully creative pursuit, and make a very small contribution to a worthwhile charity.

Official rules may be obtained at the Mercury office.

Sorority Wins Honors At DZ's State Day Event

The Delta Zeta State Award Day was held April 7, at Clarksburg. The theme was "DZ - Beautiful People." Eight colleges from all over the state participated in the event. They included Fairmont, who hosted the event, Concord, Marshall, West Liberty, Tech, Morris Harvey, Shepherd, and Glenville.

The Glenville chapter was most successful, winning many awards. The first of these was "Most Outstanding Chapter," for best all-around chapter in the state. Others included an "Activities Award" for participation in campus and community activities; a 100 percent initiation trophy, and an "Outstanding Individual Scholastic Average" award which was given to Mrs. Jeanie Rentschler Gallagher.

this wasn't the case explains Steve, "Everyone made a conscious effort to work more as a part of the team than as an individual superstar. We respected each other, sympathized, and gave applause, or maybe even a pat on the back for a good play. Playing under these conditions made it seem like we'd been playing together for a long time instead of just two weeks."

When asked about the overall Israeli atmosphere, Steve, smiling and loaded down with souvenirs from the trip, was quick to comment, "It's just a wonderful and beautiful place to live. Visiting the old cities of Bethlehem, Nazareth and Jericho, was so unbelievable that I felt it might be a dream. The place and scenes were like they were taken from a book."

Datcher Visits Israel With NAIA Team

10 to 15 minutes playing time per game while there in Israel. When asked if the limited playing time upset him, Steve commented, "Not to any great extent. We all respected the coach's decisions, because he respected us, and seemed to want to talk over any problems that any of us would have or discuss. They (the coaches) explained at the very beginning that having twelve superstars on one team may cause problems in playing time. They assured us that everyone would get an equal opportunity to play." With twelve superstars on the same team everyone probably thinks that team unity on the squad was low. But

A hermit crab and a sea anemone are shown in their new home, the science department's new aquarium.

Math and Science Receive New Marine Aquarium

The Division of Science and Mathematics is announcing the attainment of a 150 gallon marine aquarium which was purchased in October at a cost of nearly $2,500. The tank weighs 1,800 pounds when filled and is completely self-sustaining. It takes care of the oxygenation and pH of water, maintains a critical temperature range and has a complete self-filtering system.

There are many species of marine organisms presently in the GSC aquarium which include: coral, sea anemone, finger sponge, jelly fish, hermit crabs, mexican slipper lobster, tulip conch, Florida crown conch, horseshoe crab, pen shells, starfish, brittle stars, pipe fish, sea horses and other numerous marine organisms.

These animals came from two different sources. The Florida field trip taken by the biology students and Dr. Jenio over spring break provided many organisms. Several other animals were ordered from a biological supply house which generally is the source of most of the animals.

The care of the aquarium is a seven day job and it must be checked daily. There should be no need to clean the aquarium as long as 25 gallons of clean salt water are added each month, the content of the tank doesn't exceed 15 pounds of animals, and any uneaten food or dead animals are removed immediately.

Dr. Jenio is in charge of the aquarium and has the assistance of three biology majors who are student workers: Sherry Straley, Phil Sharp and Tish Davis. The students are responsible for day-to-day care and maintenance of feeding schedules and responsible for keeping a log on how long animals are kept in the aquarium and what they eat. Valuable data is gained by these observations.

The tank is on display for the public in room 205S and can be viewed from the hall 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.
