Glass Menagerie Scheduled Feb. 16

The "Theatre West Virginia" troupe is presenting the Tennessee Williams' drama The Glass Menagerie, directed by John S. Benjamin on the GSC Auditorium State Saturday, February 16, 1974 at 8:00 p.m. The T.W.V. tour is made possible by a Grant from the W.Va. Arts and Humanities Council. Admission will be by ID.

The Glass Menagerie is set in St. Louis, Missouri in the 1930's. This drama of illusion has been much praised for its tenderness, gentleness, and fragile charm. The first of Williams' plays to achieve commercial success, it launched him upon a spectacular career in the American theatre. Some have claimed that he never again succeeded in regaining the height that he here attained, and that his subsequent work, popular though it may have been, is anti-climatic.

Ms. Melanie Hess has been selected to represent GSC in the 1974 Alpine Festival. She is one of seven selected out of a field of 23 to run for Queen.

Melanie Hess Chosen For Alpine Competition

Miss Melanie Hess, current Miss GSC, is representing Glenville State College in the Alpine Festival Queen Competition this weekend at Blackwater Falls. Miss Hess, one of the 23 contestants from colleges in W.Va., was selected by a Festival judging committee as one of the Top Seven contestants in the pageant.

The weekend festivities begin Thursday night, Feb. 7, 1974, with the Princess pageant. Miss Hess's talent competition entry will be the vocal selection, "Matchmaker" from Fiddler on the Roof. The affair will continue on Friday with the skiing competition at Canaan Valley. Afterwards, the winner of the Pageant will be announced. Friday night the entertainment will consist of a German Festival Dance at Blackwater Falls Lodge.

The W.Va. State Snowmobile Championship contest will highlight the afternoon on Saturday, Feb. 9. Saturday night the new Queen will assume her regal status at the Queen's Ball. The weekend will be concluded with the Governor's Cup Ski Race, Sunday afternoon.

Calhoun County educators will be on campus Wednesday, February 13 from 9:00 A.M. to 3:30 P.M.

Free Film Shown Monday At Wesley

Where is man's balance mechanism located? Why can't it function in the clouds? Is human judgment reliable? Do our senses sometimes fail? Why did the World War II ghost bomber fly past her base and crash in the desert? These are some of the questions answered in the new Moody Institute of Science film Signposts Aloft. Fly with Dr. Irwin Moon, producer of the film, to investigate the cause of the crash of the "Lady Be Good." Ride with him in the cockpit of a modern aircraft equipped for automatic flight. Go behind the scenes at the airport and visit the tower and radar room. See the traffic controllers at work. Listen to the recorded conversation of a ground controller and a non-instrument pilot lost in the clouds. Colonel John Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, reflects upon his experiences, and laboratory experiments test human ability to maintain balance.

Signposts Aloft, the latest in the Moody series of "Sermons From Science," is an intensely interesting motion picture but thought provoking and challenging as well. It makes significant applications of this scientific knowledge for human life.

Don't forget! Feb. 17 is the last day to register to vote. GSC students can register at the Gilmer County Courthouse.

Boyd Bold On Mold

Dear Editor,

On Friday, February 1, I ventured to the cafeteria for lunch. For dessert, I chose orange jello. Luckily, before I ate any of it, my roommate noticed it had mold on it. I returned it to the kitchen helpers and took a plate of green jello. After returning to my table, I saw that it, too, was molded. I then took it back to the kitchen helpers, who were just taking out all of the orange jello. I picked up a banana and it was delicious--no mold, worms, or anything.

Now maybe the cafeteria food doesn't taste so great, and I can tolerate that; but I cannot ignore moldy food. There is no excuse for that. If you ate the jello on Friday, you ate mold. Think about it. Pretty gross, isn't it?

Library Boasts New Magazines, Including Foxfire, Black Panther

For those students who enjoy the weekly perusal of Rolling Stone, the Robert F. Kidd Library has good news! Our periodical department has diversified and now boasts of several new "in" publications. Among our new acquisitions are Liberator, Black Bart Brigade: the outlaw magazine, Foxfire, Radical America, Great Speckled Bird, Crawdaddy, Los Angeles Free Press, The Village Voice, The Black Panther, and Muhammad Speaks. Each of these publications appeals to a separate age group and interest factor of the populace. Read on for more details.

Foxfire is a remarkable publication considering that it was the result of a pilot program started in a high school. This periodical is published quarterly by Rabun Gap, Georgia School District students. Its purpose is to preserve the culture of the people who live and work around the school. An average issue contains instructions on a variety of things including: how to make an ox yoke, how to wash clothes in an iron pot, new folk songs, mountain recipes, midwives and granny women, and poetry and short prose pieces. The issues are well-illustrated and offer material of vast interest to anyone who has more than anurban approach to existence. This is an excellent magazine for all those hillbillies-at-heart!

For all those people who are over 30 and bored with the dull 8 to 5 work day and humdrum of life, Black Bart Brigade: the outlaw magazine is the answer to your prayers. The editor claims that this magazine is intended for those who are caught up and trapped in the system with no foreseen relief. It is devoted to geeting you out of the system instead of keeping you in it! The magazine is well-illustrated and presents a valid message. NOTE: we won't tell anyone if college students or professors read this!

Grass busts, Wounded Knee, LA Lakers, and chess are all subjects which may be found in the Los Angeles Free Press. This paper was modeled after The Village Voice and is the second oldest underground newspaper in the U.S. The reporters are first rate writers and observers, better, in fact, than those found on many large daily newspapers. WARNING: this paper is not recommended reading for the little old man in knickers!

The predecessor of the LA Free Press, The Village Voice, is one of the most respected journals of opinion and arts in the country. It is among the first sources to report on new activities in the arts, music, theater, and politics. The paper's tone is liberal, but its articles are intended for a sophisticated, well-educated audience. It is not recommended for those straight-laced conservatives who live in rockbound communities. If you want to know where the action is in New York, then this publication should definitely be on your reading list.

Black Panthers, take heart! RFK Library now has the official publication of your organiization, The Black Panther. This publication serves more as a magazine than a newspaper and deals with the official policies and statements of the party. The newspaper is well-edited, has a good format, and is filled with information not found elsewhere.

Another Black publication is Muhammed Speaks. This newspaper represents the voice of Elijah Muhammad and the Black Muslims. Nonviolence is stressed and it is the belief that God will take care of evil. The publication stressed the Black Muslim beliefs and customs and is basic reading for those who are members of the Black Muslim faith.

Crawdaddy is a publication which is similar to Rolling Stone. It is a bi-weekly publication which has a wider scope of coverage than Rolling Stone although its writing is not comparable in quality. The publications examines book, film, and theater reviews, as well as shorter pieces on polities. The latest issue covers such subjects as Rod Stewart, Elton John, UFO's, Guru Maharaj-Ji, and many other items. Crawdaddy makes interesting reading.

The Great Speckled Bird is a leader in the battle for racial equality in the north and south. It is an underground southern newspaper that has a confident, intelligent tone, yet remarkably cool. The paper also supports women's liberation programs, ecology and environment, and reviews records and books. In the January issue of the paper: Advocates impeachment for Nixon, Bob Dylan, Wounded Knee, and How to Make Wine and Live to Tell About It. The Great Speckled Bird is something to crow about!

Other publications which the library has not received yet, but are on their way are Liberator (monthly) and Radical America (bi-monthly). So, the next time you are in the library, put down the copy of Ms. or Playboy that you are reading (After all, how many of us read U.S. News and World Report?) and take a look at some of our new publications.

EDITORS NOTE: Descriptions were prepared in conjunction with Bill Katz's Magazines for Libraries, Second Edition.

Randy Datcher (35) and Will Stewart (33) go high for a rebound against West Liberty in the Pioneer's 55-51 victory.

HUDSON & DATCHER
PROFILED THIS WEEK

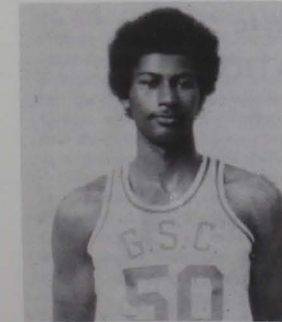

Two young men who have helped Glenville in the rebounding department this year are John Hudson and Randy Datcher. Although Hudson has been sidelined with a torn cartilage and Datcher with a knee injury, both have provided Glenville with much needed board strength.

John Hudson is a junior physical education major from Ripley. Hudson transferred to Glenville from VMI where he was a high scorer on the freshman team. Hudson has recently been sidelined with a torn cartilage in his knee and unfortunately will not be able to play any more this season. Hopefully Hudson will be able to return next season as good as ever. Before his injury Hudson was a starting forward.

Randy Datcher is a sophomore physical education major from Indian Head, Md. Datcher has started for most of the season when he was not hobbled by a knee injury. Datcher is helping the Pioneer's with his scoring and he helps give the G-Men rebounding strength. Datcher is averaging over ten points a game. He plans to teach after graduation.

This Saturday night the Pioneer basketball team journeys to Montgomery to play W.Va. Tech at eight o'clock. The Pioneers will try to make the game their seventh victory in a row.

A. David Ices
Glenville State Win

Arnie David swished two foul shots through with :13 seconds remaining to ice Glenville State's 11th conference win 72-71 over Wheeling Saturday night in a West Virginia Conference clash. Glenville is 14-6 over-all.

David's free throws provided a three-point cushion as Rod Gaddy sank an unmolested shot shortly afterward.

The Wheeling Cardinals are now 10-8 on the season and 3-4 in WVC play.

Glenville trailed 38-34 at the half in the close contest and tied the game at 67-67 with 4:12 remaining. Glenville hit two charity tosses and Wheeling tied it again at 69-69 with 2:35 left.

Dave Merchant gave Glenville a 70-69 lead as he sank a foul shot, setting the stage for David's heroics in the waning seconds. David was the hero for the second straight night as his four foul shots Friday night propelled Glenville to a 55-50 win over West Liberty.

Dave Merchant led the Pioneers attack with 19 points. Randy Datcher tossed in 17, Earl Hawkins chipped in 14 and Will Stewart added 13 to Glenville's column.

Rod Gaddy popped in 15 for the losers and Craig Swanson added 12 more.

Muckraking

Hey, diddlely di, too bad for Harvey High. I'm sure there's a few of you who remember that cheer from last years tournament when our team bumped off Morris Harvey. Last Wednesday night old memories were awakened when Glenville soundly thumped the Harvey boys 95 to 67. The Pioneers out everythinged Harvey even though the boys from Charleston hit everything they threw at the bucket in the first half. Dave Merchant is playing like the All Conference performer that he is, and when Merchant is on things begin to happen. Will Stewart has been giving the Pioneers a lot of help on the boards and the G-Men are finally playing the team basketball that typified past Glenville squads. Randy Datcher seems to have the knack of being in the right place at the right time, i.e. he had four tip-ins over Harvey's talented Tom Neal. Ever since Arnie David entered the Pioneer line up the G-Men have had that outside scoring threat they so plainly lacked. David's twenty footers have helped open up the zone defenses that were giving the Pioneers so much trouble. The Pioneer captain Earl Hawkins has

M. H. Is Stomped

The Glenville State basketball team literally blew Morris Harvey out of the gym Wednesday night as the Pioneers trounced the visiting Golden Eagles by the score of 95-67. With six players scoring in double figures the G-Men scored 48 points in the second half as they held Harvey to 27 points.

Both teams shot unbelievably well in the first half with Glenville taking a 47-42 lead to the dressing room. Randy Datcher had 16 points at half time and Dave Merchant had 10.

In the second half the G-Men continued their hot shooting while Harvey cooled down considerably. Merchant again provided the spark while receiving ample help from 6' 3" freshman Will Stewart and Earl Hawkins. Three consecutive times in the half Stewart stole the ball for a fast break lay-up. Hawkins began to dominate the inside play and Merchant's 15 foot jumpers destroyed the Eagles hopes of a comeback. The Pioneer's are now 15-6 overall and 12-5 in the WVIAC, good enough for fourth place. Leading the Pioneers in scoring were Datcher with 20, Merchant with 18 and Hawkins with 14.

GLENVILLE TRIMS
WEST LIBERTY

Earl Hawkins and freshman Arnie David combined for 29 points here Friday night to lead Glenville to a 55-50 victory over West Liberty.

The Hilltoppers opened up with a 6-2 lead early in the game, but the Pioneers tallied for 13 consecutive points and grabbed a 13-6 advantage. The first half ended 31-26 in favor of Glenville.

West Liberty fought back to tie the score at 44-44 with 5:20 to go in the game, and led 48-47 with about two minutes left. But Hawkins' two pointer gave Glenville a 49-48 lead with 1:38 to go and the Pioneers held their foes scoreless until the win had already been clinched. David connected on four foul shots during the final minutes and Hawkins tossed a pair to give Glenville its 55.

Hawkins had 15 on five field goals and five free throws, and David, hitting his high for the season, had 14 chuckers on four two-pointers and six gift shots. Dave Merchant tossed in 11 and Randy Datcher had 10 for the Pioneers.

West Liberty was led by Ty Crawmer who netted 16 and Gary Kilpatrick and Gary Johnson, who both scored 12.

become one of the most feared shot blockers in the WVIAC. Can you imagine a 6' 2" forward blocking four or five shots a game, averaging more than ten rebounds a game and scoring over twenty points per game. Finally reserves like Eric Makle and Rushon Colin have provided depth for the Pioneers. Makle came in the Harvey game and put in shot after shot.

And now for the bad news. Junior forward John Hudson won't be playing any more this year due to a torn cartilage. Before his injury Hudson was averaging over 8 points and his presence gave the Pioneers another strong rebounder. Hudson will have the knee operated on soon. Let's hope that the "Hud" will be back next year.

The GSC bowling team is tied for first place in the conference and of the top five starters not a one is a senior. The keggers get better every match and they are sure to make a run for the conference championship.

Earl Hawkins is fourth in the conference with a 20.2 scoring average and eighth in rebounding with a 12.2 average.

Unhappiness is having to play the GSC Pioneers. Right Coach? This picture was taken in the Wheeling game.

GSC Bowling Team Finish 7-1

by Jim Mattox

Last Saturday the GSC bowling team journeyed to Oak Hill for the second conference regional. The Pioneer keggers finished with a 7-1 record. High bowler for the Pioneers was Rich McFee who averaged 197 for the eight game set. Second high was Sam Ferrell who averaged 179. Third man was Tom Newberry who averaged 175. Also bowling for the Pioneers were Mike Simmons, 172 average; Joe Marshall, 167 average; and Robert Spradling, 165 average.

The Pioneers are currently in a 3 way tie for first place with West Liberty and Alderson-Broadbudds. All three teams have identical 12-4 records. On the individual side, we have two bowlers in the top five. Rich McFee is in second place behind Tuskey of A-B, and Tom Newberry is in fifth spot.

This weekend, if gas is available the Pioneers go to the University of Maryland for the ACUI tournament. The Pioneers will send a five-man men's team and also a women's team.
