NEW PERSONNEL HIRED

Four Are Added To College Staff

President D. Banks Wilburn has announced the hiring of four new teachers.

Mr. Roger M. Clites has been employed as an assistant professor in economics. Mr. Clites received his AB degree from Milligan College, Tennessee and a MA from the University of Tennessee. He formerly taught at Parsons College in Fairfield, Iowa.

Teaching in the mathematics department will be Dr. Mildred Ann Disko. Mrs. Disko holds a BS degree from the University of Alabama, and her MS and Ph.D. from Ohio University. She taught last year at Morris Harvey.

Miss Delores M. Mystiwick comes to GSC from Northern Michigan at Marquette to teach sociology. Her degrees include a BA and MA from Duquesne University and a MS from Illinois Tech.

The fourth teacher hired is Mr. D. Wayne de Rosset, a graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan and Marshall University where he received his BA and MA respectively. Mr. de Rosset will be an instructor in English.

tion coordinator; John Sharp, engineer; Mike Crites, advertising; Janet Griffitt, music director; and Rex Koones, news director.

If you are interested, Mr. Stewart implied there was a need for disc jockeys. The radio station is located on the second floor of the Pioneer Center, across the hall from the new cafeteria.

Miss Sherry Horne

Miss Sherry Horne, 19 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Horne of Ripley, was recently crowned Miss Jackson County. This honor entitles her to compete for Miss West Virginia next year. She is a junior music major and member of Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority.

Band Camp Members Present Concert Here

The GSC Summer Band camp had presented a concert on the evening of July 19 in the GSC Auditorium. The concert, which concluded the camp, consisted of numbers such as: "Colorburst," "Top of the World," Highlights from "Hello, Dolly," "Mount of March," "Before the Wind," "Of Cabbages and Kings," "The Entertainer," "Block M," "Sounds of Simon and Garfunkel," and "I Will Never Pass This Way Again."

Mr. Vineyard, who directed the camp, had this comment to make, "It's been the finest camp in seven years." The fifty-seven member band then presented Mr. Vineyard with a Harvard Dictionary of Music in token of their appreciation.

Thoughts On A Lazy Deadline Day . . .

There happens to be a wild, neurotic, extroverted bunch of eccentrics running loose on this campus and all but a few work for this paper.

It's true they are not the largest, most organized, or most popular but they are a "collection" of talented, sensitive, and busy people that function together week after week.

Working for the Mercury is a pressure type job which demands and usually gets more than fifteen hours a week. Ever since journalism was dropped as a requirement for a language arts degree fewer people have taken the Journalism 321-22 classes which serves as a pool of reporters for the paper. In years past there have been as many as thirty reporters. Last semester there were only five and two of them were already serving in staff positions. The slack created in the "division of labors" had to be compensated for and therefore the added responsibilities and work load fell on staff members.

The infamous office itself has witnessed marriages and divorces, births and deaths. It has put up with the most overbearing of editors and the shyest of typists. (And vice versa I might add.) Not a week has gone by since I joined the staff as a photographer three years ago that suicides and arch angels did not "commune" from the same coffee cup. Avenging crusaders would snuff out their cigarettes in the same beat up ash tray as the novice reporter.

Hostilities were vented through normal channels involved with this type of relationship. Daily practical jokes, picnics, and an annual trip of some sort patched the frayed nerves resulting from trying to be creative on a weekly schedule.

A volume of memoirs and psychiatrist's steno pads couldn't even tell it all about the personalities of the staff but . . . there was the circulation manager that spied on two other staff members from behind their car at the drive-in, the sports editor that condemned the darkroom and the photographer that condemned the sports editor. Squirt gun battles at press night, relay races to the union and back, and "pin the blame on the editor" were all part of the therapeutic programs promoted to decide who would make the coffee the next time.

The Mercury blackboard serves the entire office as a rechargeable memo pad with questions and notes ranging from "Don't forget your appointment with the president" to, "Mom- will birds eat hamburger grease?" (sic)

Thinking back - we once even had a mysterious "phantom" that would critique each paper in blood red ink and then under the cloak of darkness post it in the office. And to this day . . . we are still laughing about it!

I don't want it to sound as if these shananigans are the totality of our effectiveness for I am proud of the material we produce. I just want to encourage those that "seek the unique" the Mercury office is the best place to start.

Participants in the annual cheerleading camp are seen here in unit practice sessions in front of Verona Maple Hall.

Convocation for the parents of incoming freshmen will be held Sunday, August 18, at 1:30 p.m. in the Ballroom. President Wilburn and other administrative officials will provide parents with an orientation to the college and will be on hand to answer any questions about GSC.

Terry Lewis Wins Singles

In the recent tennis tournament held on the GSC tennis court, Terry Lewis won the "singles" competition for the second consecutive year.

Of the 12 single entrants the top three were Terry Lewis (1), Rev. Jay Slater (2), and Ken Anderson (3).

Dr. James Piper and Dennis Myers won the "doubles" from a field of eight other teams. Piper and Myers defeated Terry Lewis and Dr. John McCreary in a close 10-9 set for the tournament victory.

Some competitors came from as far away as Weston, Salem and Summersville to compete in this double elimination tourney.

selections, the committee has scheduled a performance of the Shakespearean play, Henry IV by the National Players on March 17, 1974 at 8:00 in the auditorium.

The Student Congress has scheduled three contemporary rock groups for the coming year. As a highlight of freshman orientation week, "Jim Peterik and the Chi Town Hustlers" will be performing on August 24, 1974 at 8:00 in the auditorium.

On Friday November 15 at 8:00 the popular group, "Chase" will perform in the auditorium and to initiate the second semester, "Bill Deal and the Rhondells" will perform on January 17, 1975 at 8:00 in the auditorium.

Area Girls Attend Cheerleader Camp

Girls from all over West Virginia are congregating on the GSC campus this week for the American Cheerleader Associations annual camp.

The ACA, whose headquarters are in Leesburg, Florida, is conducting the camp with the objectives of teaching morality (love of God, country, and parents), and cheerleading techniques.

The girls are divided into three units that work from 6:30 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. learning cheers, ground jumps, sideline chants, classroom subjects, mounts and gymnastics, and then practice sessions.

On Thursday evening the participants will face written, mental and physical tests. Those that pass will go through a graduation exercise.

Jackie Joe Robinson, former GSC athletic star, is seen playing intramural basketball action here last week.
