Manley Announces Added Equipment

"After three years of planning, GSC now has the equipment necessary to provide nearly complete physical therapy treatment," so reports Dr. Manley, GSC physician.

Following major renovations last summer, Dr. Manley now has sufficient room to treat seven patients simultaneously. Three active patient treatment areas are now in use. The infirmary is equipped with three new machines for physical therapy treatment in addition to the X-ray facilities, whirlpool, infra-red and ultra violet lamps.

Hot moist packs can be utilized by means of the new Hydrocolator unit and is used for muscle injuries. Another modality purchased recently by the college is a "Medco-sonolator." This is a very sophisticated machine that combines muscle stimulation with high frequency sound wave treatment. The muscle stimulation increases blood flow while the ultra-sound breaks down fibrous tissue and congestion of the muscles and joint areas. A long-wave diathermy completes the new equipment and permits heat to be driven deeply into muscle areas.

If you suffer from sore muscles, separations or torn ligaments, the infirmary awaits you.

Duke Tamburitans Featured In Lyceum

The Duquesne University Tamburitans will present their current concert production at the Glenville State College Auditorium on Friday, September 27, 1974, at 8:00 p.m.

The Tamburitans will appear here under the sponsorship of the Lyceum-Convocation Committee.

Each year the Tamburitans present an entirely new concert portraying the culture of the Slavic peoples of the world. The professional credits of Pittsburgh's collegiate performers extend over the United States, Canada, Europe and Latin America. Serving as goodwill ambassadors for our State Department and occasionally upon invitation by foreign governments, the Tamburitans have made extended tours of Europe in 1950 and 1952, Yugoslavia and Italy in 1962, Latin America in the summer of 1968 and Rumania, Poland and the Soviet Union during the summer of 1969. Their most recent tour took place in the summer of 1972 when they made a nine week, four country tour of Czechoslovakia, France, Greece and Bulgaria.

This group of highly talented folk artists dedicated to the preservation of Slavic folk culture take their name from the musical instrument they play—the "tamburitzan." Using over five hundred authentic costumes in each concert, the Tamburitans sing in a dozen different European languages and do the dances of as many countries. The performance is an exciting spectacle of music, color and dance.

Each Tamburitzan is a full-time student at Duquesne University and receives a complete scholarship in exchange for participation in the troupe. Candidates are chosen on the basis of academic achievement and proficiency as singers, dancers or instrumentalists.

Scott Represents GS At Crafts Conference

Mr. Charles Scott, Art Professor at Glenville State College, has been invited to attend the annual Southeastern Regional Crafts Conference and Workshop of the American Crafts Council. It will be held at the Greenville County Museum of Art, Greenville, SC, beginning on Friday, Sept. 20, 1974 through the weekend.

With the assistance of the South Carolina Arts Commission and the Greenville County Art Association, works from 11 Southeastern states of the American Crafts Council are being assembled. Professor Scott sent a tea set and a cane handled lidded jar to represent his work. The works will be shown at the opening of a Southeastern Crafts Invitational Exhibition.

Following the close of the exhibition in Greenville, a selected group of works will tour 10 major museums in the southeast through December of 1975. It is hoped that the show will then travel to New York and Washington for presentation at the Museum of Contemporary Crafts and at Renwick Gallery.

I won't look if you won't !

Ford Needs A Better Idea

There was a time when every paper boy in America had the dream of growing up to be president. But then, that was back when people trusted both presidents and newspapers.

It strikes me oddly that Nixon now has what he probably had in the back of his mind all of the time and someone to take the blame as well.

The new president has seemingly "ended the honeymoon" and celebrated the five and a half-year anniversary at the same time. There is a definite difference between Nixon and Ford, however I don't see where the objectives have changed much between administrations. It's great deal like Ford is trying to fulfill the fine print clause in the housing contract for the White House. Why else would he ignore the advice of all of his advisors to make a decision that just happens to be concurrent with the ideals of man who faced imminent impeachment?

Nixon admitted he was in the wrong in covering up the Watergate Affair. I suppose he was trying to spare the country from the evils of Washington politics or trying to get his men out of trouble before too many people found out. He went on to say later that all those involved would be prosecuted. Ford must not have thought too much of this statement. Speaking of statements, Ford also said, during his interview before becoming vice president that if he were placed in this very position that he would not pardon offenders. "The country wouldn't stand for it." Evidently he cares little for that statement as well.

The fact that Mr. Nixon was "let off" may not be such a major concern in itself, but the idea of "pre-supposed guilt" that President Ford must have had in mind when a "pardon" was issued should say something!

Ford is now (at press time) considering a blanket pardon for all those individuals involved, which may lead one to believe that Ford may be starting a cover-up of his own.

People may think that these men have gone through enough by the embarrassment of public exposure, well one response I have for them would be to share the plight of Stephen Dennison.*

Dennison stole a $5.00 box of candy at age sixteen, however, through infractions of minor administrative rules he remained in prison for 34 years.

I am curious as to what his feelings might be towards the abuse of "minor administrative rules" by the highest most trusted officials we have as a nation, with the knowledge that they have received no more than a rap on the knuckles and a pat on the head.

Unintentional Slight

The Mercury Staff wishes to express their apologies to the Delta Zeta sorority for an unintentional omission in the recent issue of the Mercury.

The sisters of Delta Zeta, in response to the recent Jerry Lewis Muscular Distrophy Telethon, collected $143.40 throughout the Glenville area. The pledge was then phoned to the Clarksburg station where the gift was nationally televised. Glenville officials were extremely pleased with the contribution for this worthy cause.

Coffee House Occupies Underground Location

Ohningohow Players, GSC's oldest campus organization, held an open Coffee House in the Underground on Monday evening from 7-10 p.m.

According to William C. Boyd, club president, the coffee house served mainly as an informal means of acquainting students with the workings of the Speech and Drama Department, and this dramatic organization itself.

Entertainment, for the most part, was presented by two talented freshmen, Richard Hardway and Cathy Jones.

They are both accomplished musicians on the 12 string guitar with polished vows that lent easily to the folk program presented, of which Scottish ballads of at least 100 years were of most interest.

In contrast to the evening of music was the prose interpretative reading by the Speech Department's multi-talented Skip Kincaid. Her selection was a humorous cutting from the now popular book and movie, Paper Moon.

An invitation for membership is extended to any student or faculty member who has performed satisfactorily in the acting and/or technical aspects of a major theatrical production.

The current production is the comedy You Can't Take it With You, by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman. Interested parties may sign up for crew positions now.

Any student or faculty member that wishes to join Ohningohow Players, should contact any of the active members or Ms. Jeanne Kobuszewski, advisor, in the Underground of the Administration Building.

Pioneer Spirit Shows Hidden Blessing

It seems like only yesterday that the Glenville football team journeyed to Huntington to compete for the NAIA Division II Championship. Once again the Pioneers are preparing for their attempt at national recognition. The G-men have an outstanding nucleus of veterans and several in pressure freshmen and combined with an exceptional coaching staff, another banner year could well be in their grasp. However one ingredient that can often make or break a team is school spirit. In the past the Pioneers have been blessed with in my opinion the most outstanding fan support of any conference team-bar none. I hope that once again we as students and fans can attend the Pioneer games and do our thing. Many times one does not realize the good feeling it give the team to have everyone pulling for them. Why not next time you meet a player wish him good luck or at least make him feel a little special. Remember these players are important, after all they represent you.

On The Bench

By John Lilly

"Big," "Monsters," "Tall," "Their hot dogs were good," "So was their popcorn," "Their managers weighed in at 225," those were just a few comments from Coach Adolfson and Coach Summers on Saturday's trip to Big Rapids, Mich. Their purpose was to scout the Pioneer's opponent for this Saturday, Hillsdale Chargers of Hillsdale, Mich.

The Chargers are going "big time" by flying in to Clarksburg Friday, practicing at Bridgeport High School and staying at the Sheraton Inn in Clarksburg. Then on Saturday morning, they will be bussed into Glenville. This sports writer wonders what their impression will be of the hills and narrow, crooked roads of West Virginia.

The Hillsdale team could be the best team that has ever come from out of state to play in Glenville. They have been known for their powerful football teams in recent years and many outstanding individuals including Chester Marcol, the side winding soccer-style kicker of the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

New Conference Commissioner

Mike McLaughlin, a resident of Parkersburg was appointed Commissioner of West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference this past summer after the last minute resignation of Paul Vennari. Vennari was selected to that position after long-time commissioner, George Springer retired.

McLaughlin, a long-time official worked the conference basketball tournament four times, and he carried the whistle in all three of the 1972 NAIA District 28 playoff games won by Glenville over Fairmont.

Commode Bowl

The 1974 Commode Bowl between the three Greek Fraternities on campus will commence Sept. 26. The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity will take on four time champion Theta Xi fraternity. Tau Kappa Epsilon, who drew the bye will take on the winners of the first game. This will be the sixth year for the prestigious bowl.

The Soothsayer Predicts

For the up and coming college football season this sports writer, with the aid of his crystal ball, will try to predict some conference games. Here goes this week's contests: West Virginia Tech 20-West Virginia State 13. Tech's bound to have a winning season soon.

Salem 21-West Liberty 20. Toughest conference game this week; Concord 10-Bluefield 7. Concord should be better with their new coach; Shepherd 24-W.Va. Wesleyan 14. Shepherd should win this one because they're playing at home.

Fairmont 10-Edinboro 0. Fairmont's tough again; Glenville 17-Hillsdale 14. This win can get the Pioneers rolling towards the conference championship.

A Final Quote

Coach Bill Hanlin's theme song: Don't Let the Rain Come Down..., when asked about Saturday's game against Hillsdale, he replied, "Just keep that rain away...just keep that rain away."

Speed And Size
Asset Chargers

The 1974 Hillsdale football team arrives in Glenville with a record of 0-1 after losing a heartbreaker to Ferris State of Michigan, 27-17. They are embarking on a new era with first year head coach Jack McAvoy who was the defensive coordinator since 1967.

The Chargers have not had a losing season since 1967 and McAvoy comments, "Our passing attack is the biggest question mark. If it comes through we'll have a good season. We should be tough defensively but you have to consider this a rebuilding year."

McAvoy will run a power I offensive with plenty of blocking required of the running backs. When Hillsdale has backs that can run the 100 yard dash in 9.9 seconds they do not need too much blocking.

The Chargers have many outstanding individuals that the Pioneer rooster should keep their eyes on. Leading the list are: Senior split-end, Mike Rudy (6-3, 185), an All-American his sophomore year. Expected to be drafted by the pros.

Senior middle guard, Art Gumond (6-1, 225), a potential All-American;

Senior defensive back, Jamie Morrison (6 5 172), runs the 60 yd dash in 6.1 seconds.

Freshman running back, Herman McCall (5-11, 195), runs the 100 yd dash in 9.9 seconds.

Junior quarterback, Marc Comstock (6-1, 190), has a strong throwing arm.

Freshman defensive tackle Mack Baker (6-1, 310), just look at that weight.

This is just a brief scouting report on the Chargers from Hillsdale, if you want a further report, attend the upcoming contest September 14 at Rohrbough Field.

Hours for the Learning Materials center, located in the basement of the library, are from 8-4 daily and 7-10 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Fill Dirt: Messiah In Dirty Clothes

Glenville State College is now working on the enlargement of the Pickens Hall parking lot for the many frustrated car owners on campus.

As President Wilburn recently said, the parking stickers presently issued are at times, "no more than hunting licenses." According to Pres ident Wilburn, excess soil from the prospective football field is being hauled from the field to the ravine separating the Pickens Hall and ad ministration parking lots.

The plan is to fill in enough of the ravine to create 12-15 more parking spaces in the dorm lot. Parking will continue to be a free service.

Eventually it is hoped that a 30-40 foot strip will connect the two parking lots for convenience.

Two years ago, consideration was given to the construction of a parking building behind the Physical Educa tion building. However, the project was deemed too expensive.

Cast Chosen For Campus Production

'Stage right - stage left - pick up the cues down stage - up stage - counter cross - cut!' These sound strange, right? But not if you're one of the students cast as a result of the tryouts for You Can't Take It With You. They were held in the Little Theater on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

This hilarious comedy, by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman deals with the zany Sycamore family and the episodes that ensue when the straight-laced Kirbys arrive for dinner. Directing the show will be Ms Jeanne Kobuszewski, instructor in speech and drama. Performance dates are October 16, 17, 18 with curtain at 8:00 p.m.

Mrs. Anne Isenhart, a sophomore elementary education major and special education minor of Glenville is cast as Penelope Sycamore. This female lead is a gentle, middle-aged mother that leads a contented life of writing pornographic plays. Mrs. Isenhart is the wife of Mr. Tom Isenhart a recent graduate of GSC She has been very active in theatre and received the 1973 74 Best Performance in Children's Theatre Award for The Great Cross-Country Race. Mrs. Isenhart currently serves as vice-president of Ohningohow Players.

Cast as Grandpa, the crux of the Sycamore clan is David Brown, making his first GSC stage appearance. Grandpa is a wiry little man with a pleasant easy-going disposition.
