Nat'l Chi Beta Phi Convention Slated

Chi Beta Phi originated in the mind of John Howard Green during his senior year at Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Virginia. While working in the laboratory, Mr. Green conceived the idea of a general science and mathematics fraternity which would give to undergraduates special opportunities to discuss the latest achievements in science and the outstanding problems in these fields of endeavor. Mr. Green talked over his project with some of his classmates and finally with three professors in the science department at Randolph-Macon, and the fraternity was organized in April, 1916.

Since this beginning, Chi Beta Phi has grown to twenty-eight chapters. These chapters expand from New York to Alabama and from Virginia to Arkansas. Glenville State College was chartered as Alpha Iota chapter in 1963. This is purely an honorary fraternity and the goals are to promote interest in the fields of science and mathematics.

This past Thursday, November 1974, the Alpha Iota chapter initiated five new members who meet these requirements. The requirements for membership in Chi Beta Phi are that (1) the candidate must be a science or mathematics major; (2) he or she must have completed 20 hours of any science or mathematics courses; (3) they must have a cumulative average of 2.4 or higher; and (4) they must have an average of 3.0 or higher in their field of major. These new members are Joseph Boggs, a sophomore biology major from St. Albans; John Hall, a senior mathematics major from Alum Bridge; Joseph McCray, a senior chemistry major from Smithville; Calvin Morrison, a senior mathematics major from Jane Lew; and Charles Stewart, a senior biology major from Glenville. The induction was held in the Multi-purpose room and a reception followed.

Each year the fraternity holds a national convention to be held on one of the chapters' campuses. This year it is the honor of Alpha Iota chapter of Glenville State College to be the host chapter. At the present time, we are making plans for this convention which will be held from March 20-22. Also next spring we will hold a banquet for the new members of this semester and the spring semester. The old members and faculty members of the science departments will be invited. The date for this banquet has not been decided, but will be announced at a later date. This proves to be a very exciting and eventful year for the Alpha Iota chapter of Chi Beta Phi.

1st Place Pentathlon Trophy Captured By West Virginian

Under the direction of Katherine Leisner of the Speech Department, the Glenville State College Forensics Team finished fourth out of 28 schools at the Mid-East Individual Events Tournament held this past weekend at Parkersburg Community College and produced its first pentathlon winner since the team was formed two and a half years ago. Glenville was beaten on total points only by Ohio University, Eastern Michigan and Oberlin each of which had more than double the entries that Glenville had. Glenville easily finished first among W. Va. schools entered including Parkersburg Community College, Fairmont, W. Va. State and Marshall University. The team also beat such schools as Penn State, Carlow, U. of N. Carolina, Otterbein, Lorraine County Community College, Wright State, Bowling Green, Toledo U., Akron U., Georgetown, Ky., Western Ky., and California State.

Skip Kincaid in her best overall performance yet finished first in Pentathlon (those who entered five events). This is the first pentathlon winner Glenville has ever had and the first pentathlon winner from W. Va. Pentathlon is a grueling ordeal, requiring talent, stamina and desire. Ms. Kincaid showed she had all that and more as she swept to the semi-finals in all five of her events and to the finals in three of those five, tying for a finals finish in a fourth event and missing out by one point on the secondary scoring system.

Ms. Kincaid semi-finalized in Prose Interpretation, Drama Duo Interpretation (with Art Wilt), Informative Speaking and Humorous Speaking and finished in Prose, placing second out of 120 entries with her professional presentation of a cutting from Paper Moon by Joe David Brown; in Humorous placing second out of 40 entries with a speech poking fun at our over involvement with sports; and poetry placing sixth out of 90 entries with her interpretation of "My Pa" by Herbert Martin and "Daddy" by Sylvia Plath.

As Pentathlon winner, Ms. Kincaid won over 25 other pentathlon entrants and can therefore be considered the best speaker of the 270 contestants in the contest. One of the most highly respected performers on the forensics circuit, Ms. Kincaid received a standing ovation from all the contestants and coaches at the awards ceremonies. Her judges used such adjectives to describe her as "tremendous," "miraculous," and "superb."

Glenville's fifth trophy at the contest came as the result of Art Wilt's first place finish in the Sales Talk category. Mr. Wilt moved easily through the three preliminary rounds, semi-finals and finals winning over 42 other contestants with his sales effort on Steinway pianos. With the exception of Ms. Kincaid's first place pentathlon victory. Mr. Wilt holds the only first place trophy won by Glenville at the contest and Glenville's only first place trophy won in an individual category at the contest. In addition to this, Mr. Wilt, also a pentathlon entry finishing eighth, reached the semi-finals in four out of five events: Impromptu, Extemporaneous Speaking (in only his second attempt in this category), and Drama Duo (with Skip Kincaid). It was his first attempt in an Interpretive Event.

Glenville also had two other semi-finalists at the contest: Brenda Maylee in Humorous Speaking and the team of Dave Brown and Judy Ditlow

Ms. Skip Kincaid and Mr. Arthur Wilt are shown with the trophies they won at last weekend's Forensic competition.

Returning Students Register In Dec.

The Registrar has announced the schedule for pre-registration for second semester. All students who will be returning may register any day during the weeks of Dec. 2 to 6 and Dec. 9 to 13 between 9 am and 12 noon and again from 1 pm til 4 pm. After completing the following steps, students who pay their fees during pre-registration need only to begin classes in January. The steps are: 1. Students should see their advisor, work out their schedule and complete a blue and a yellow card. 2. Go to the basement of the Administration Building and update profile sheets before going to the Registrar's Office. 3. Bring the blue and yellow card to the Registrar's Office. 4. (a) The Registrar's Office will take your blue and yellow cards and pull your course cards. If you want to pay your fees at that time, your blue card will be returned and you can go to the Business Office and pay your fees. (b) If you are receiving financial aid, you may pick up your check(s) on January 6 or 7 in the Little Theater. (c) If you are not receiving financial aid and want to wait until later to pay your fees, the Registrar's Office will keep both your cards. Your blue card will be returned when you pay your fees. If you pay your fees by mail you should stop by the Business Office and pick up your blue card when you return in January. Fees may be paid until 4:00 pm on January 7.

Those students who do not register during the pre-registration period in December may register only on January 7 from 8:30 am til 4:00 pm.

(in her first tournament) in a Drama Duo cutting from Plaza Suite. Glenville had a total of seventeen entries, (all of the above and Vickie McGraner in Prose Interpretation), with eleven of them qualifying for the semi-finals.

In the Sweepstakes tabulation, the team racked up 116 total points followed by Otterbein with 86.5 points. Ms. Kincaid, in Pentathlon, scored a total of 60.5 points. Glenville has again moved ahead on the forensics circuit. Last year saw a tenth place sweepstakes finish for Glenville at this contest and Ms. Kincaid finished fifth in Pentathlon.

'Sadie Hawkins' Festivities Slated

Well folks it's almost that time of year again. Sadie Hawkins Day November 23 in full force. All the Dogpatch characters will be wheelin', dealin', runnin', and funnin'.

The festivities will be kicked off by this year's Mayor of Dogpatch, Bobby Maynard, at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, November 23 at the 4-H Grounds.

Phil Tharp will officiate as Marryin' Sam while Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jackson will represent Mammy and Pappy Yokum. Lovable George Bivens will once again make his dubious appearance as Eddie Ricketback, the Flying Maniac, followed closely by the infamous Skagg Brothers, Donnie Price, Adrian Marini and Kenny Wilson. Barry Lyons will appear as the Lonesome Polecat while Randy Scarlas will stumble in as Tiny Tim.

John R. Lilly will appear as Eagle Eye Fleagle while Joe Mills will be known for the day as General Bullwright. Phyllis Taylor will pose as Moonbeam as she tries to nab herself a man. Terry Handschumacher and Randy Buchannon are this year's version of the Skunk Holler Boys.

At this year's Sadie Hawkins celebration several activities will be undertaken such as: sack race, tug-of-war, turnip eatin' contest, piggyback race, log toss, hollering contest (to determine who has the best set of lungs on campus), three-legged race, greased pole climb, cigar smoking contest, tobacco spitting contest (for accuracy and distance), wheelbarrow race, apple bobbing championships of the Eastern United States, and throw-a-pie-at-a Theta Xi.

Prizes will be awarded to the winners of each event (good enough to write home about).

Bush Will Portray Christ-like Figure

One of the most talented students in the Glenville State College music department is portraying the part of Jesus Christ in the music department's upcoming production of the rock opera Jesus Christ Superstar. The student is Dave Bush, a senior baritone voice major from Grantsville, WV.

Bush attended Calhoun County High School where he was an active participant in all areas of music. He began his career as Mary Poppin's chimney sweep in the annual musical production of the "Follies" at Calhoun County High. In his part as the chimney sweep, he didn't sing a note. The following year, Bush sang a solo, "Thank Heaven for Little Girls" in the "Follies" and continued performing solos in that production annually until his graduation from high school.

Some of Bush's other musical activities in high school included high school choir for four years and All State Chorus during his junior and senior years.

Bush has also been very active in performing rock bands. He started as

Legal Rights Queried

Dear Editor:

Acting on several complaints from the student populace pertaining to student legal rights and dorm regulations, the Student Congress, with the untiring aid of Tony Franklin, initiated an opinion poll throughout the dorms. The results of this poll clearly indicated a dislike towards the present regulations which then activated responsibility in the Student Congress to amend those regulations in question. It then became evident that to do this properly the aid of an attorney would be vital so as to provide the correct legal information necessary. Since the Student Congress operates on a limited budget dependant upon the size of the enrollment retaining an attorney would be quite impossible. However, there existed one last resort within our budget. That of course would be to educate ourselves in the field of student legal rights.

Needless to say, the Student Congress took the latter course of action and sent Tony Franklin and Dennis Pack to the First National Conference of Student Legal Rights which was held in New York City last weekend. Hopefully, this education will prove to be most rewarding not only now but in several years to come.

After conferring with these two advocates upon their returning, it was quite evident that the trip proved to be beneficial in more ways than one. Not only were we provided with a legal education but were also provided with examples of college rules and regulations throughout the Nation. This information will be formulated into one working attempt to provide the GSC students with rules and regulations that they themselves have worked for and can be proud of rather than be ashamed of. However, until now the success of our operation can only be attributed to a few but the future success is dependent upon the total support of the Student Body. Already, the governing board of the respective dorms are active in their support and have even contributed money toward the initial trip and education. Now that the trip is over and our education has been earned, there remains the work of amending the out-dated regulations. Your support is necessary so show you are concerned. Participate by asking questions and answering ours, for in the future we hope to enlist several of the GSC students to participate in the amending process.

Once again, I would like to thank all of you who have participated so far and I would also like to encourage those who are yet interested to join your Student Congress in a venture that will be remembered for years to come.

Respectfully yours,
Joseph J. Garton
President, Student Congress

Student Body Must Unite For Welfare of GSC

Dear Students,

After receiving the results and comments from the "Dorm Regulations Questionnaire," I am aware that "y'all" do want to witness some changes in the dorm policies. Now that you have voiced your opinion, what are you going to do to follow through with your desires for change? Are you going to sit back on your reartends and remain content with the present policies or are you going to get active and demand some changes? Confront your respective dorm Governing Boards, they are the ones who can help you acquire your wants. Don't sit back and complain among yourselves! Tell the Governing Boards what you want and hopefully they will carry through the voice of the students.

We all want to live a life of harmony, so get active. Open your eyes, and quit being so passive! Strive for the things that will help you live a more comfortable dormitory life. Dean Billips states, "Residence hall life can be a vital part of the student's educational experience and maturational development, since it requires mutual understanding, a sense of humor, social adjustment, and acceptance of responsibility."

I urge everyone who is willing to secure some changes in your dormitory life to get behind the Governing Boards (J-Boards) and fight for changes. The Governing Board serves as the governing agent for the students. They are the ones that can help us bring about a change in the present obsolete policies. Thank you.

Tony Franklin

Dear Students,

I would like to stress to you how essential and vital it is for us (Student Body) to maintain complete unity. We are now aware of the areas in which we want change. In order for any changes to resolve, we must be willing to take a stand and continuously work toward those institutional policies, regulations, and systems that we want altered, substituted, and eliminated.

This is our college. We are paying to attend this institution. Since our money is an involved factor, we should make this college more reasonable and suitable for the welfare of the Student Body. Let's make GSC a place in which we can live harmoniously. Let's make GSC a school in which we can enjoy our dorm life and social life as a part of the educational process. Let's make GSC a school of self government free from the talons of the administration. Let's make GSC a democratic society which is equitable to all. Let's make GSC what we want it to be. Let's modernize GSC and escape the loco parentis practice of this school.

In order to achieve these goals, there must be complete cooperation with-in our Student Body. We must work together as a team to make our movement effective. Each of us must be an active and devoted student in order to win our struggle against the obsolete regulations and systems of GSC.

To Educate or Not...

This past week the Kanawha County Board of Education voted to reinstate the controversial books back into the schools.

Many families are keeping their children home because they believe that supporting the decision of the Board by participation is wrong. Others are keeping their children because of threats to their safety.

I am left in somewhat of a dilemma with the whole situation. One side says that the books are sacreligious and then prays that God will strike dead the people that disagree with them. Another wants to find a law officer that will arrest the board members-for fulfilling the requirements of the law I suppose.

My problem is this. It seems that it would be safer for a child to take his chances with being insulted or assaulted by the writings in books than to take the chance of having his "protected" head blown off by some mature adult trying to make his point.

Is the ideology of a book so important that it must be proven through the reality of conflict. The old saying "the pen is mightier than the sword" was outdated with the evolution of the Winchester pump.

Several Thanked By K. Leisering

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank publicly all those who helped the forensics team achieve the recent victories at Parkersburg Bruce Brumage for his artistic and professional drawings and his technical assistance, Barb Stemple for her technical assistance, David Gillespie for his generosity in supplying the magazines needed in the Extemp category, to Eric and Margaret Leisering for their talents and technical expertise, to Bennie Tutura for his audio-visual equipment, to the Ohningohow Players for the lovely "send off" party and a large thank you to Jeanne Kobuszewski for her generosity in giving of her time and help in the technical area, the judging area and the "encouragement area." Final thank-yous to Cheryl Tutura for judging at the contest and to Joe Boyd, Judy Ditlew, Melody Wilt, Vickie McGraner, and Anne Isenhardt for their generosity in the helping also.

To the team itself I extend my appreciation for their exceptionally fine work and spirit of cooperation in making a fourth place Sweepstakes finish, five trophies and seven certificates of excellence a reality.

With people like these helping in so many ways, it makes the burden lighter for all concerned. My deepest appreciation is extended to you all.

Also thanks to Master Charge who made it all possible.

Sincerely,
Katherine J. Leisering
Director of Forensics

N.Y. Convention Proves Helpful

Dear Students,

As you well know I have just returned from New York City where I represented you at the First Student Legal Rights Convention. I want to thank those who helped finance the trip. I did learn a lot during the weekend. Some of the things I learned could benefit this campus to a great extent, but your Student Congress and I cannot do it all by ourselves. We need your support. Get involved. Look up your representatives and tell them what rules you want changed and to what degree. If nothing else just tell them you are behind them. Of all the colleges represented (from 32 states) our regulations were the most obsolete. Apathy is the first problem to be dealt with, in order to get anything accomplished. The eyes of other state colleges are upon Glenville to see what is going to happen here. Also, after this past weekend, there are many interested people from New York to California willing to help the Glenville State College students help themselves. So once again, thanks, and let's do something to make GSC a better place to live. Tony Franklin and I are available to any organization that is willing to accomplish this goal.

GSC Pioneer Retaliates

Dear Editor:

In answer to question no. 1 in the article "How Come" in Friday Nov. 8th's issue of the Glenville Mercury.

The reasons for my actions as Pioneer are as follows: 1. The reason I rode the TKE float at Homecoming, is that I am a TKE, and was asked by my Fraters to be on our float. No other organization extended me the invitation to ride on their float. Nor, did any one inform me of a position to take in the parade.

2. I am partial to the TKE's, because they raise more heck than the whole student body combined, at all home games. They have gone to all away games in force to help support me and the Pioneers. They were the cheerleaders at the West Liberty game, when the Glenville cheerleaders did not go. The TKE's were commended highly by numerous football players and fans for their support of the team. When no one else, with an exception of a few (not intending to slight anyone) were at the away games.

So, I say thanks Fraters! And to the people who do not like my actions, to --- with you. I'll be Pioneer the way I think best and I think I've done a pretty good job.

On The Bench

by John Lilly

The 1974 GSC football season came to a close last Saturday one week earlier than the Pioneers hoped for. The 26-15 loss to the Concord Mt. Lions knocked the Pioneers out of the post season Shrine Bowl in Parkersburg.

Although everyone hates to lose it might have been a blessing in disguise for the Pioneers because of the numerous injuries late in the season to key personnel. One could back that statement by naming most of the injured: split ends, Randy Hunt, broken nose, and Bob Shaffer, head injury; running back Ed Wilson, broken arm; linebacker Dave Harsh, knee injury; Roger Bonnette, knee injury; and Joe Mitchem, lacerated chin. With this many injuries it would be hard to replace these players and play the Conference Championship all the same week.

Football Tidbits

With the Pioneers finishing the season off at 5-4, it raised Coach Bill Hanlin's coaching record to 47 wins 33 losses and 2 ties in his eight years at Glenville. Not a bad record for any coach...

With the injuries to both split ends, Randy Hunt and Bob Shaffer, Coach Hanlin played the versatile safety man Jerome Fruit both at safety and split end in last Saturday's Concord game. He played the offensive position pretty well, at that catching two passes for 58 yards. That's almost thirty yards a catch. Not bad! Not bad!

Freshman punter Bob Casto ended his first year with a 38.8 punting average. He could have had a better average but he kicked many out of bounds to prevent any run backs. Not bad! Not bad!...

Mr. Soothsayer

As the WVIAC regular football season came to a close so did Mr. Sooth's regular season. Ending with a guessing record of 31 right and 24 wrong "Sooth" will now try to predict the upcoming post season bowl

Pioneers Terminate '74 Pigskin Season

The Concord Mt. Lions shut off the Glenville Pioneers' offense in the second half of last Saturday's Southern Division title game for a come from behind 26-15 win.

Concord jumped off to an early lead when freshman quarterback Jeff Boyles hit Alex Castaneda on a 34 yard touchdown pass early in the first quarter. Terry Hughes kicked the extra point making the score 7-0.

Glenville immediately closed the gap when they marched down to the Mt. Lion's 17-yard line but were halted and forced to kick a 34 yard field goal by freshman Bob Casto.

The Pioneers moved ahead of the Mt. Lions late in the first quarter by the score of 9-7 when senior running back Ed Wilson drove it in from the four-yard line. But Casto's extra point attempt was wide.

Concord once again got things going in the second stanza when Boyles connected with Castaneda for their second TD combination of the day. Hughes' PAT was missed but still the Mt. Lions were ahead 13-9.

The Pioneers' freshman quarterback Tom Cowan, who was playing in place of the injured Joe Mitchem, scored the G-Men's final TD of the game and of the season when he ran it in from two yards out. Casto's PAT was once again wide but the Pioneers led 15-13 at the half.

In the second half, it was all Concord. Quarterback Herb Ford who was playing in place of the injured Jeff Boyles, scored the deciding points of the game when he ran it over from one yard out. Hughes again kicked PAT making the score 20-15.

In the fourth quarter, the Mountain Lions scored an insurance touchdown when Ford hit Henry Ramsey on a 59 yard aerial. They went for two on the PAT but the pass failed.

Concord dominated the statistics with 437 yards total offense compared to the Pioneers' 251. Ed Wilson was leading rusher for the G-men with 48 yards in 13 carries.

The Pioneers finished the 1974 season with a 5-4 record while Concord raised its record to 6-4. Concord will play in the Shrine Bowl tomorrow night as Southern Division Champions.

GSC Bowling Teams Compete In Tourney

The 1974-75 GSC men's and women's bowling teams opened up their season last Saturday in Huntington where they bowled against Marshall, WVU and Parkersburg Community College. The men did not fare too well as they came in third place while the women showed their skills and came in second place. Sam Ferrell led the G-Men with a 616 total in the team event, while Phyllis Taylor won the women singles event for the match with a 563 total.

The bowlers, who got beat out in the NAIA Rolloff last year to the eventual NAIA National Champions Clarion State, are optimistic about the upcoming season.

The men's bowling team includes Ferrell, Tom Newberry, Jim Mattox, Mike Simmons, Bob Spradling, Gary Humphreys, Rich McFee, Rich Goodall, Rocky Carr, and Denny Ward.

The women who play the Penn St. women's team on Dec. 14 include Taylor, Karen Goodall, Susie Clark, Debbie Curry, and Rena Poling.

Next week's issue will feature previews of the 1974-75 Basketball and Wrestling teams.

Following the activities, Theta Xi fraternity will sponsor a dance featuring Shannon. Free beer will be served at the dance to keep things "hopping."

Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae will be elected by student vote. Nominations are $.25 and votes are a penny a piece. The couple with the most votes by 4:30 p.m. on Friday November 22 will have the honor of being Dogpatch royalty for a year. A running tally will be kept in the Student Union.

Sadie Hawkins originally came to Glenville on November 21, 1947, when the Kappa Sigma Kappa national fraternity sponsored the activity in an attempt to stimulate interest on Glenville's campus. The first day was complete with festivities, chase, and dance.

Dan Rengers of Portsmouth, Ohio and Alfreda Taylor of Richwood reigned as the first Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae at the evening dance where the admission was $.50 per person or two cents per inch of waist line.

FORENSICS

I.E. Tournament were Ms. Leisering, Jeanne Kobuszewski and Cheryl Tuter. Also attending as technical assistants were Bruce Brumage and Barbara Stemple.

Ms. Kincaid is now qualified in the Nationals in Prose, Poetry and Humorous and needs only two more events to qualify for Pentathlon in the National Finals. Art Wilt has qualified in Persuasion. In its first two tournaments of the year Glenville has already won six trophies and seven certificates of achievement. Glenville's Forensics Team now has a grand total of 22 trophies and eleven certificates in only 10 tournaments over 2½ years. The time and effort put into the preparation for a victory like this is phenomenal.

The next tournament for Glenville will be at Kent State University, Dec. 6-7.

"Changing Voice" Sem. Headed By Dr. Wellock

On Tuesday, November 12, a workshop was held in Louis Bennett Lounge for all music majors.

The workshop concerned the recognition and classification of the "cambiata" or changing voice. Dr. Richard Wellock, Chairman of Fine Arts at Fairmont State College conducted the workshop. He was assisted by a group of seventh and eighth grade students from Sand Fork Elementary School.

In order to classify the seventh and eighth grade male voices, Dr. Wellock had them to sing as a group. As they sang, he listened and tapped the baritone voiced male so they would know to stop singing. The remaining males sang the same song in a different key and were determined cambiata voices. After Dr. Wellock had grouped the male voices, he divided the girls into first and second soprano and in a short while had the group singing in four parts (cambiata, baritone, first soprano, and second soprano.)

The cambiata voice is one of the greatest problems of the junior high choral teacher and the workshop proved to be very interesting and beneficial for the GSC music students.

Student Congress— GIRLS' BASKETBALL JOURNALISM CLUB

Dennis Pack and Antonio Franklin presented to the Student Congress information gained at the First National Conference on Student Legal Rights. A similar presentation has also been made to the Governing Boards of LBH and Pickens Hall. Students are now asked to talk with their dorm representatives or SC representatives about specific campus regulations they are interested in seeing changed.

Any other organization who is interested in having a presentation of what was learned from the conference should contact SC. SC is now in the process of building a library inside of the SC room, of information gathered concerning student legal rights.

An appeal has been made by Karen Froendt to Student Congress for help in gathering a Girls' Basketball team. Ms. Froendt is asking for girls interested in participating. If the girls' basketball team is not started by Jan. 1, there could be a possibility that Glenville will not be able to have a boys' team. Interested girls are asked to contact Ms. Froendt.

Student Congress is sponsoring the establishment of a Publications Resource Club. The purpose of this club is to provide to the students a chance to exercise their interests in journalism. Member of this club will be joining in investigation work, reporting skills, and polishing writing capabilities. At the same time the students will be receiving instructions from the Mercury staff.

Students interested in joining such a club should contact Student Congress or Mrs. King. Members of this club will organize and from among them select a president. This newly established club is open to any student. There are no prerequisites.

On November 18, representatives from Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company will be on campus to interview students interested in an internship with their company. Interested students should sign up for interviews at the Placement Office.
