MR. GARY A. ADKINS

Adkins Named Div. Chairman

Mr. Gary A. Adkins, Assistant Professor of Education and Director of Student Teaching, will become Chairman of the Division of Education and Director of Student Teaching on October 1, 1975, upon the retirement of Dr. Woodrow W. Morris, who has been Chairman of the Division of Education since September, 1969.

Mr. Adkins joined the faculty of Glenville State College in September, 1970, as an Instructor in Education. His prior professional experience was as an Instructor of English in secondary schools in the state of Ohio.

Mr. Adkins holds the A.B. and M.A. Degrees from Marshall University, and has completed additional graduate study at West Virginia University, and is preparing the research necessary to meet the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Education.

Mr. Adkins is married to the former Roma Lynn Gay who is an Assistant Professor of Education at GSC.

MS. SHERRI CATALANO

Sherri Catalano Named Counselor

The newly-appointed Admission Counselor at GSC is Ms. Sherri Catalano, a December graduate and former editor of The Mercury. The position was previously held by Scott Hamilton, who is now assistant football coach at Charleston High School. The position consists of visits to W. Va. high schools and various other recruiting efforts for GSC. Miss Catalano's office adjoins the office of Dean William Simmons.

Ms. Catalano assumed her duties on June 2. She has served as substitute teacher in Roane County

W. Simmons Named Dean

Dr. William K. Simmons, Professor of English at Glenville State College, has assumed the position of Dean of Academic Affairs due to the resignation of Dean Clarence Maze, Jr.

Dr. Simmons was an instructor of English in Jefferson and Wood County Schools, West Virginia, prior to joining the faculty of GSC in 1964.

He was graduated with an A.B. Degree from Glenville in 1960; received the M.A. Degree from WVU in 1964, and the Ph.D. Degree from Ohio University in 1969.

Dr. Simmons is married to the former Deloris Hutton who is a teacher in the Gilmer County, WVa, Schools. They have one daughter, Ann.

DR. WILLIAM K. SIMMONS

According to Mr. Mack K. Samples, registrar, total enrollment for the summer term stands at 530, including the Appalachian Culture Class. This represents an increase of 20 percent or 80 persons above last year's enrollment.

Matheny Manuscript Presented To Library

by Nelson Wells

Major General Thomas Maley Harris returns to Glenville. The original manuscript, notes, and research material developed by the historian H.E. Matheny for the book Major General Thomas Maley Harris, McClain Printing Co., Parsons, West Virginia, 1963, have been presented by Mr. Matheny to Robert F. Kidd Library, Glenville State College. A search of the library holdings has determined that this is the first time a bound copy of an original manuscript of such a noted book has been given to the college. Mr. Matheny also gave to the library his personal copy, the first to come from the press in 1963. The fly-leaf of this copy bears another story, unpublished, concerning General Harris' life after the Civil War.

Mr. Matheny writes on the open-

PICKENS HOUSES 90

Ninety students occupy Pickens Hall this summer. Thirty-one men are housed on second and third floors of Wagner Wing with Joe McIntyre serving as head resident assistant. There are fifty-nine women on fifth and sixth floors of Scott Wing with Judy Ditlow serving as head resident assistant.

The dorm offices operate daily with a staff of 13 office clerks.

The dorm will also be providing rooms for visitors for summer college activities. Presently, football camp participants and Folk Festival guests are housed there.

ing pages of the original manuscript, "I will never forget the kindness of the people of Glenville where I spent much time researching the early life of Harris. Major General Thomas Harris was a resident of Glenville when the Civil War started. His son was nearly killed on Camden Flat during the Union-Confederate skirmish there. Forced to leave Glenville because of Union sympathy, he later returned to recruit a company of his 10th West Virginia infantry."

Mr. Matheny was born in Parkersburg and attended schools there, including Parkersburg High School. At an early age he heard from his father, Joseph Edward Matheny, Sr., the stories concerning General Harris; his grandfather, Thomas Marion Matheny, was a special friend of General Harris, having served as a scout and spy for the Union forces, and was his partner in a small business at Harrisville. General Harris's stories concerning the Civil War were often told during his visits to the grandfather. It is no surprise that after having become acquainted with the stories, H.E. Matheny finally organized and recorded them, so that we now have another view of the Civil War in Western Virginia, which later became West Virginia.

Mr. Matheny moved to Akron, Ohio in 1927 and worked for Good-year Tire and Rubber Company for more than 40 years. He is married to Sceva Jane Garner. They live at Uniontown, Ohio. This selection of residence may be no happenstance since the Civil War cry "The Union Forever" may still ring in his ears from the stories heard in his boyhood. Mr. Matheny is also the author of Bishop Alexander Campbell, Editor, Printer, Publishers, and Book-seller, a collector of medieval stringed instruments, and a master craftsman in making excellent copies of these early instruments.

The roster of the 10th West Virginia Infantry Regiment, 1861-1865, included in the book, was compiled from the original muster rolls in the National Archives, the Annual Report

53 Make Straight 'A's

Spring Dean's List Reported By Maze

Fifty-three students have received straight "A's" for the spring semester of 1975 according to the Office of Academic Affairs.

Those students who earned the 4.0 grade average are as follows: Marilyn Armstrong, Buckeye; Catherine L. Bail, Summersville; Teresa W. Barb, Marlinton; Norma L. Berry, Heaters; David L. Brown, Vienna; Sharon J. Bull, Walkersville; Reba J. Colby, Ripley; Pamela Sue Cottrill, Weston; Patricia R. Cowan, Big Springs; Roger C. Davison, Glenville; Stuart C. Deem, Parkersburg; Karen S. Dennis, Elizabeth; Carol L. Dennison, West Union; Jane E. Dunham, Jane Lew; Deborah A. Erwin, Glenville; Stephen W. Frame, St. Albans.

James E. Gennett, Newtonville; Robert O. Hardman, Glenville; Melanie L. Hess, Elkins; Priscilla D. Holder, Ansted; Brenda L. Jarrell, Glenville; Brenda K. Johnston, Burnsville; Vicki S. Jones, Clay; Charles A. Julian, Wheeling; Denver P. Lambert, Strange Creek; Barbara J. Lawson, Spencer; Stephen M. Lewis, Westernport, Maryland; Roberta D. Luikart, St. Albans; Richard D. McFee, Elizabeth; Kathryn R. McIntyre, Clarksburg; Catherine McWhorter, Lost Creek; Dianna J. Messenger, Glenville; Sandra Lou Moats, Harrisville; Bobbie J. Parsons, Evans; Edward E. Powers, Craigsville; Norma Rexroad, Sutton; Deborah J. Richards, Jane Lew; Joyce A. Richards, Jane Lew; Linda B. Robinson, Parkersburg; Catherine E. Rogers, Jane Lew; Beverly W. Rogerson, Harrisville; Carol Schoolcraft, Glen-Katherine L. Sharp, Charleston; Gerald W. Sizemore, White Sulphur Springs; David M. Stalnaker, Glenville; Susan M. Stout, Elizabeth; Charles R. Sypolt, Glenville; Eloise Tanner, Chloe; Lesa A. Thrash, Reedy; William E. Tyo, Strange Creek; Rebecca R. Watson, Elizabeth; M. Marlene Welch, Washington; and Paul E. Westbrook, Burnsville.

3.5 - 4.0 Students

Those students who made a quality point average of 3.5 or more for 12 semester hours or more are as follows: Karen F. Allio, Mineral Wells; Nedra K. Alltop, Normantown; Paul V. Ayers, Ripley; Larry A. Aylestock, Buckhannon; Pamela J. Beale, Summersville; Stephen Z. Bell, Hurricane; Lee M. Bennett, Marlinton; Roberta B. Board, Spencer; Loretta D. Boggs, Elizabeth; Billie S. Bonnett, Glenville; Sandra K. Bowling, Lookout; Kevin W. Brown, Mason; Michael Brown, Aquasco, Maryland; Bruce H. Brummage, Wellsburg; Stephen R. Buffington, Parkersburg; Mark E. Bumgardner, Mt. Clare; Dave G. Bush, Glenville; Mary P. Butler, Normantown; Kimberly D. Casto, Ripley; Deborah L. Cavender, Nitro; Stephanie Chadwick, Elkview; Terry Kent Coffman, Birch River; Peggy H. Collins, Moorefield; Charles Crookshanks, Paden City; Diane Marie Cross, Millstone; Becky G. Cummings, Sias; Katherine A. Curia, Moundsville; Cathy L. Deem, Mineral Wells; David A. Delong, Buckhannon; William D. Dobbins, Glenville; Mark Eric Dunaway, Reedsville; Lois M. Ellison, Mason; Kimbra B. Ellyson, Glenville; Janet S. Erwin, Charleston; Marylon F. Farnsworth, Linn.

Newman E. Fertig, Belington; Teresa E. Forren, Summersville; Lou Ann Fox, Belle; Linda S. Frame, St. Albans; Kathy L. Friend, Gassaway; Joseph J. Garton, Jane Lew; James H. Givens, Elizabeth; Janet S. Griffin, Sutton; Teresa Ann Griffith, Marietta, Ohio; Ralph E. Groves, Calvin; James M. Hall, White Sulphur Springs; Joyce L. Hall, Vienna; Majorie R. Hamric, Spencer; Glynn T. Hanes, Pt. Pleasant; John D. Harbour, Glenville; John G. Haymond, Rock Cave; Sherry L. Helvy, Belle; Cayla H. Hess, Elkview; Randy R. Hunt, Valley Fork; Stephanie S. Hunt, Clay; Glenda S. Johnson, Flatwoods; Kathryn G. Johnson, Pt. Pleasant; Roger R. Johnson, Huntington; Cathy S. Jones, Grantsville; Luann Jones, Sand Fork; James R. Kennedy, Parkersburg; Alan R. Ketchum, Philippi; Robert L. Kozul, Jr., Fairmont; Karen L. Kuhl, Glenville; Marietta J. Kuhn, Harrisville; Jeannette L. Kulp, Glenville; Nancy A. Langford, Weston; Terri L. Leach, Williamstown; William K. Lightner, Parkersburg; Neil J. Lothes, Montrose; N.S. Lowe, Spencer; Carla Jean Maidens, Eureka; Eric E. Makle, Aquasco, Md.; Charles R. Maynard, Eunice; David J. ## WV Is Appreciated—Finally!

Outsiders have always referred to West Virginians with such terms as "hill-billies" and "hicks." We unwillfully possess a reputation for being illiterate, unclean, savage backwoodsmen who live in weather-worn shacks which lack modern sanitary facilities. By legend, our children run naked in the dusty backroads and never go to school past the sixth grade. Surely, no stranger in his right mind would want to visit the rugged terrain of our state to observe this barbaric civilization. But, to the contrary, outsiders are taking an interest in West Virginia.

In more than a few counties outsiders are moving into abandoned farm-houses and some are going so far as to live in tents to be a part of the rural living our state has preserved. These people are not social rejects, nor are they escaped criminals. But they are escaping from something. They are running away from the pressures and dissatisfaction of city living to the tranquility of the earth and all that it has to offer.

Our own town of Glenville is presently the point of outside interest during this weekend of the West Virginia Folk Festival. People are curious to learn about the culture which we have so preserved. Proof of this is the fact that during the past week there were 30 students enrolled in the Appalachian culture class and 24 of these were not residents of West Virginia.

Perhaps now, after years of being put down and ridiculed that the reputation of our state and its people has changed, we have unknowingly established ourselves as being "back to the earth" people and the funny thing is we never left in the first place.

Musical Items Made By Matheny To Be On Display This Afternoon

by Donnie Cuppett

During Glenville's Folk Festival activities this weekend, everyone will have a multitude of opportunities to see banjos, fiddles, dulcimers, and other mountain instruments at work. Thanks to Mr. H. E. Matheny, music buffs may also see a psaltery, a Finnish kantel-harp, a Swedish humle and the Greek lyre.

In Glenville for a presentation of the original manuscript of "Major General Thomas Maley Harris" to the GSC library, Mr. Matheny will also display a collection of his handcrafted instruments. The exhibit will be open to the public this afternoon in the Gilmer County Historical Society's room in the courthouse annex.

For 51 years, Mr. Matheny has pursued a hobby of handcrafting duplicates of the world's rarest stringed instruments. A descendent of 16th century French instrument makers, Mr. Matheny has no limit to the style, historical era, or geographical region that his replicas are based upon.

Much information on old models comes from the Galpin Society in England, the members being experts of ancient and medieval instruments. After reading all available literature on a particular instrument, Mr. Matheny makes a complete set of drawings.

The wood he selects is mostly old, cut 50 years or more ago. Air-dried products, rather than kiln dried, must be used. Besides frequently used black cherry and walnut, he often has imported wood such as amarath from South America, brown heart from Dutch Giana, and ebony from Africa. Payment of $10 a board foot is not uncommon for some exotic species.

Time used in recreating an ancient instrument may take from a few hours to months of nearly solid labor. He usually works three hours a day at his home workshop in Uniontown, Ohio.

Although he can tune all of his replicas, Mr. Matheny plays only the guitar, the psaltery and the cimbalon, or gypsey dulcimer (the national instrument of Hungary).

Other instruments he has handcrafted include the Danish wire harp, a zither-like instrument of a larger scale; and a regal 13th century bellows-type organ, the first non-string instrument Mr. Matheny has made.

Home Management Ceases Operation

Monday Mr. and Mrs. Tim Carney were dinner guests at the Home Management House, which is in operation for its last time.

Four girls will share the responsibility of operating the house this summer. They are Miss Rita Garrett, a junior from Cumberland, Md; Mrs. Susan Howard, a junior from Danville; Miss Brenda Means, a junior from Hurst; and Miss Vera Tolson, a junior from Brandywine, Md. The four girls will serve as manager, cook, housekeeper and hostess, exchanging jobs every three days. Each girl will serve two professional guests and two personal guests during her stay at the Home Management House.

The Home Management House began its operation in 1954 as part of the Home Economics requirement for a vocational certification, under the direction of Miss Elma Jean Woofter. The first Home Management House was torn down to make room for Scott Wing of Pickens Hall in 1970. During the school term 1970-71, there was no home management house. In the fall of 1971, the current house located at 906 Walnut Street began its operation.

Miss Woofter will reside with the girls this summer. In summing up this phase of her life, she had this to say "A total of 269 women have lived in the HM House since 1954. It's like breaking up a home as I have been part of this house for 20 years, and I'm just another piece of furniture with it."

Lambda Chi's Hail Top Avg.

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity took top scholastic honors for last semester, according to A.T. Billips, Dean of Student Affairs. Lambda Chi Alpha attained a 2.7682. Tau Kappa Epsilon took second place with an overall average of 2.5686 and Theta Xi came in third with a 2.5232.

Lambda Chi's having a 3.0 or better average for the spring semester were: Paul Virgil Ayers, Daniel C. Barnette, David L. Bay, Joseph F. Boggs, James R. Carder, Edward Carr, Newman Fertig, Randall E. Hudson, Gary L. Humphreys, David W. Jaffre, Jacob B. Jarrell, Paul T. Latos, Neil J. Lothes, Richard D. McFee, Joseph W. Mitchner, Dennis Pack, Stephen Pridemore, James B. Pritt, Michael Simmons, Robert D. Sponaugle, Charles B. White and David L. White.

Theta Xi's with 3.0 or better are as follows: Joseph O. Claypool, Tom Knotts, John R. Lilly, Charles R. Maynard, Michael Ray Reed, Russell Stump, Philip Tharp, George A. Welch, Daniel C. Wessner, and Kenneth J. Wilson.

The overall men's average for the spring semester was 2.5858 and the overall fraternity average was 2.5905.

From L-R: Susie Howard, Vera Tolson, Brenda Means, Miss Elma Jean Woofter, and Rita Garrett.

Folk Fete Underway

The West Virginia State Folk Festival began Thursday and activities will continue until Sunday with services at Jobs Temple, a historic log church constructed during the Civil War. This year we begin our second quarter century with the 26th annual festival.

A highlight of each year's Folk Festival is the old-time fiddling and banjo pickin'. Fiddlers and banjo pickers over fifty years of age will compete in the Fiddling and Banjo Pickin' Contest on Friday afternoon beginning at 2:30 p.m. Those under fifty will compete at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday. Contests will take place in the G.S.C. auditorium.

A new feature of the festival this year is a See and Do program for children. This committee headed by Mrs. Pat Harder will arrange for children to participate in such things as churning butter, kneading bread, plucking a dulcimer, observing old toys, singing and folk dancing. Programs will be in the G.S.C. Amphitheater. The program is planned for children under eight years of age from 9:00 to 11:00 a.m. and for ages 9-13 from 9:00 to 3:00 p.m., Friday.

The Belle Committee this year is composed of the following persons: Mrs. Pat Pinnell, Chairman, Miss Mary Kennedy and Mrs. Luanna T. Smith.

The Folk Festival Belles represent thirty-seven (37) counties of West Virginia this year, and will be honored at a luncheon to be held today at 11 a.m. in the Pioneer Center and at a formal tea this afternoon. The Belles will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Smith, 709 Walnut Street. Assisting with the formal tea will be: Mrs. Roma Adkins, Mrs. Garnett Jones, Mrs. Marie Smith, Miss Angie Turner, Miss Deborah Wildman, and Mrs. Mary White.

The final date for dropping classes in the first summer term with a "W" is set for June 24, 1975, according to Acting Dean of Academic Affairs, William K. Simmons.

ASA's Take Top Average

The office of Student Affairs has released sorority grade point averages for the spring 1975 semester. Alpha Sigma Alpha took top scholastic honors with an overall average of 3.2069. Sigma Sigma Sigma came in second with a 3.1517 overall and Delta Zeta was third with a 2.8669.

Those members of Alpha Sigma Alpha attaining a 3.0 or better were: Phyllis M. Barnhart, Sandra K. Bowling, Joyce L. Hall, Vicki E. McGraner, Jackie A. Miller, Debra S. Randolph, Norma Rexroad, Susan L. Stanley and Patricia A. Thomas.

Members of Sigma Sigma Sigma with a 3.0 or better were: Cynthia K. Bennett, Patricia I. Carper, Linda M. Caudill, Stephanie Chadwick, Pamela Sue Cottrill, Becky G. Cummings, Sarah J. Glover, Sherry L. Helvy, Cayla H. Hess, Melanie L. Hess, Sharon L. Home, Mary H. Hunt, Kathryn G. Johnson, Robin A. Kennedy, Terri L. Leach, Pamela J. Lipscomb, Joyce D. Marshall, Deloris McKown, Paula M. O'Brien, Kathryn A. Riddle, Mary V. Romano, Susan L. Schurick, Rebecca R. Watson, Norma Jean White, Susan L. Wilson, and Beverly J. Yeman.

Delta Zeta's with a 3.0 or better for last semester were: Barbara G. Canterbury, Stephanie L. Davis, Carol Dennisoi, Rhonda D. Efaw, Janet S. Erwin, Teresa E. Forren, Virginia A. Hamric, Martha L. Harmon, Vickie L.

The 4th Annual Glenville State College Football Camp, 1st Session

90 Complete Football Session

Approximately 90 young men have attended the first session of the 4th Annual GSC Football Camp which ends today. Having registered last Sunday, the active participants have experienced quality instruction from the Pioneer coaching staff this past week.

The purpose of the camp, which has a second session during the coming week, is to teach junior and senior high school boys the finer points in mastering the fundamentals and techniques of the sport. Since the camp is affiliated with this institution, each individual should also gain an additional insight as to what college life can offer.

During the two weeks the campers are busied by learning the various drills and techniques demonstrated daily by different coaches. Also, included in the daily activities are blackboard sessions and the use of the many recreational facilities on campus.

Visiting coaches are on hand to help with the instruction. Coaches from area high schools and colleges, as well as a few from professional football teams are aiding the Pioneer coaching staff in their teaching of the different fundamentals. Coaches from GSC assisting in the supervision of the campers are Earl "Whitey" Adolfsen, GSC head football coach, Jim Riffle,

Deadline Set For L. D. Run

Upwards of 1,600 individual and team runners will compete in the 15-mile Charleston Distance Run that will begin at 9:00 a.m., Saturday, August 30. In two short years this race has won national acclaim as the "unofficial North American road racing championship" according to one track and field magazine.

The grueling 15-mile course winds along paved city streets through downtown Charleston, W. Va., on the first and last segments. A four mile portion, however, climbs up a steep mountainside road totaling 460 feet from base to summit elevations. The vertical incline averages 115 feet per mile -- all of this when summer temperatures generally hover in the 90's.

Olympic competitors, professional runners, college and high school students and amateurs -- both men and women -- all vie for awards in each of five individual age divisions. Based on the nationally recognized runners who take part, the Charleston Distance Run roster is a who's who in track and field circles.

It takes about two hours to complete the race. Last year's winner clocked a time of 1:18:03 leading 1253 runners across the finish line out of 1450 starters. After each race, an awards banquet is held in the afternoon.

Charleston Distance Run entry form/information kits contain details for those wishing to take part in the race or spectate. (The deadline for entries is August 20.) Write to Dr. Donald Cohen, P.O. Box 1524 Charleston, W. Va., 25325.

The overall women's average for second semester was 2.9491 and the sorority average was 2.9572.

Folk Class Offered

For the second year Glenville State College is offering a course in Appalachian Folk Culture during the week of the Folk Festival. The course could have been taken for two semester hours of undergraduate credit or it could have been taken without credit. Enrollees are housed in Pickens Hall.

The course includes a series of lectures and demonstrations and participating activities beginning at 8:30 each morning and continuing throughout the day. There are square dancing activities held every night in the ballroom.

Instructors for the course will include: Dr. Patrick Gainer, West Virginia Folklore Collector, who is lecturing on Folk Culture and is leading the folk song sessions.

Mr. Franklin George, virtuoso of folk music instruments, is providing instruction in musical instruments.

Mr. Charles Scott, Professor of Art at GSC, is giving instruction in crafts.

Mr. Nelson Wells, retired professor at GSC, is directing tours of Fern Rollyson's home and the Country Store.

Mr. H.E. Matheney, writer and builder of musical instruments, is displaying and discussing antique instruments.

There are 30 enrolled in the Appalachian Culture Class. All but four are from out of the state. There are a total of ten from Grand Rapids State College, Michigan. Other states represented are: Florida, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Wisconsin.

Accuracy is the name of the game in passing practice, but for those who miss, it's "take a lap".

GSC LINKSTERS PLACE 19th AT TOURNAMENT

The WVC state champion Pioneer golf team finished 19th out of 33 teams at the NAIA national golf tournament at Fort Worth, Texas. The tournament, held June 3-4, was won by the host college, Texas Wesleyan.

Jim Scott, the WVC golfer of the year, fired a 72-hole total of 305 to lead the Pioneer linksters to a two-day total of 625. Scott, one of three freshmen on the team, has been a medalist all year.

Other members of the champion team which compiled a 53-4 regular season record are Joe Keene, a senior; Terry Crislip, a sophomore; and Dave Thompson and Rick Simmons, both freshmen. The team is coached by Tim Carney.

With four of the five players returning next season, the GSC golf squad should prove to be hard-to-beat. An additional note-worthy item is the hole-in-one that Terry Crislip shot during one of the team's practice sessions before the national tourney.

Dr. Gray Elected

At the West Virginia Council of Teachers of Mathematics annual convention at Potomac State College on May 16 and 17, Dr. Theresa Gray was elected to represent the WVCTM at the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics meetings and conventions. Dr. Gray is an Associate Professor of Education at Glenville State College, where she teaches education courses and supervises student teachers. As NCTM representative, she will not only strive to focus attention at the national level to the needs and interests of West Virginia's mathematics teachers, but also seek to emphasize their accomplishments in various innovative teaching methods.

At the meeting in Keyser, Dr. Gray conducted a workshop on "The Laboratory Approach to the Teaching of Mathematics." She explained the reasons for the use of concrete, manipulative materials in teaching mathematics, stressing that often it is as essential for students to manipulate objects in order to learn mathematics, as it is to move materials when learning to cook, play the piano, or write. She compared the use of a Mathematics Laboratory to that of Physics, Chemistry, or Biology Laboratories.

Dr. Gray displayed several types of equipment, and demonstrated how they could be used to help students learn basic arithmetic skills. She showed how the "times tables" could be taught with five different pieces of equipment in order to help students understand what multiplication is, and how to remember the multiplication combinations. The audience participated in playing some games while Dr. Gray explained what mathematical ideas could be developed through "fun and games." A display of "String Designs" attracted the attention of many teachers as a fascinating, unusual, inexpensive project which would appeal to all ages and abilities.

Ms. Sherry Gray, Special Education teacher from Burnsville, assisted in the Workshop. She displayed a collection of catalogues from companies which specialize in the distribution of mathematics manipulatives. She also responded to questions concerning the use of equipment with slow learners.

Each participant in the Workshop was given a packet of duplicated "handouts" which would be helpful in initiating a Mathematics Laboratory, in selecting materials, and in conducting mathematics classes. The packet also included a bibliography of fiction and non-fiction library books dealing with mathematics, a collection of counting poems, and a sample "hundred board" with directions for its use.

At the business meeting, Dr. Boyd Holtan of West Virginia University was elected president of the organization. Dr. Gray extended an invitation from President D. Banks Wilburn for the WVCTM to hold its next annual convention at Glenville State College. There was a unanimous vote of acceptance, and the date was set for March 26 and 27, 1976. Dr. Wilburn urges all mathematics educators to enter these dates on their school calendars, and assures them of a cordial welcome to Glenville State College next spring.

of the Adjutant General of West Virginia, 1864-1865, the Civil War Roster assembled by General Thomas M. Harris in 1870, county histories, membership lists of patriotic societies, and other sources. The roster serves as source material for those interested in their own distant kin who lived in Western Virginia during this period in our nation's history and who served in the Union army. Let trumpets sound, the drums roll as names are called, names such as Col. Thomas M. Harris, Col. Morgan A. Darnall, Lieut. Col. Moses S. Hall, Lieut. Col. Lewis M. Marsh, Maj. Henry H. Withers, Sgt. Maj. Henry H. Detamore, Sgt. Maj. Napoleon B. Ferrell, Capt. John H. Bailey, Capt. Nimrod M. Hyer, First Lieut. Samuel A. Rollyson, Cpl. Thomas B. McLaughlin, Capt. James M. Ewing, Capt. John McAdams, Cpt. Hiram A. Brannon, Sgt. Joseph C. Gluck, Pvt. Amos Furr, and names of many other northwestern Virginia families.

Dr. Harris lived in Glenville, having moved here in 1855; he joined the Presbyterian church and was elected Clerk of Session the following year. The minute book, now held in safekeeping at the Kanawha Union Bank, is in his handwriting. He continued his practice in Glenville until the middle of 1861, when he moved back to Harrisville for his family's safety, his Union sympathies being well known.

On December 13, 1861, he received a commission as Lieutenant Colonel from the Restored Government of Virginia and helped recruit the companies in the 10th Virginia Volunteer

Wednesday Night Movie SummerTree Coming

The GSC Alumni Association is sponsoring the motion picture, "Summertree," Wednesday, June 25, at the GSC auditorium.

"Summertree" is a motion picture about the realities confronting America's young people, a film that focuses on the elusive feelings of a particular young man and by extension, of many young men tied to the bewildering time that it is-Today.

The conflict is contemporary, but the theme is timeless.

Jerry McAdams (Michael Douglas) has never dragged the Sunset Strip nor cruised the Village. He does not Infantry Regiment. Almost all of the soldiers were from what is now central West Virginia, and many of them are grandfathers, great-grandfathers, and great-great grandfathers of West Virginia families today. On March 17, 1862, he received his commission as Lieutenant Colonel in the United States Army. In the backwood counties Lieutenant Colonel Harris and Sergeant L. Loomis Gould often risked their lives among the lukewarm Confederate sympathizers, trying to talk them into permitting their sons to join the Union army. General Harris and most of his soldiers lived through the campaigns throughout Virginia and were at Appomattox Court House when the surrender came. He also served on the military commission which tried the conspirator of the Lincoln assassination plot.

After the war, having been elected a member of the House of Delegates from Ritchie Countie, he introduced on February 8, 1867, House Bill No 12:

thrive in a hip community with ready answers. He's from the heart of America-not the head-and his life has no real direction until he meets Vannetta (Brenda Vaccara), a nurse in the college infirmary. Their idyll ends abruptly when Jerry is called for induction into the Army. His decision to flee to Canada forces his father (Jack Warden) and mother (Barbara Bel Geddes) to reexamine the traditional values now challenged by their son. The clash of Ideologies leads to the film's shattering ending.

Admission for "Summertree" is $1.00.

a Bill to incorporate the town of Glenville, Gilmer County. It is fitting that this record, written by Herman Edmond Matheny of those hallowed and historic events of the Civil War, be included in and become a part of the Bicentennial Era. On June 20, 1975, the manuscript will be formally presented to the Robert F. Kidd Library. With this gift to the college library, General Harris returns to Glenville.
