

Save A Life,
Donate Blood

The life of a friend could depend on just 45 minutes of your time. That's all the time it takes to donate a pint of blood to the 1975 Tri-State Red Cross Blood Drive. Give between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Monday, September 22nd in the Pioneer Center Ballroom. You could insure that every member of the GSC faculty, staff and student body is protected in case of a blood need. If you are between 18 and 66 and weigh at least 110 pounds, you are eligible to give blood. It is a simple, painless procedure that can and does save lives. Twenty percent of the GSC population donating blood can protect not only themselves, but their families anywhere in the country as well. Giving blood has beneficial effects on your body. It stimulates cell-production in the marrow and generally helps purify the blood. The Student Congress, Panhellen- (cont. on page 3)

CORNELIUS

To Appear

On next Friday, Sept. 26, the group Cornelius is to appear in GSC's auditorium. Students may attend the concert (8:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m.) under free admission with I.D.'s. ... Like A Lady Recognized as one of the disc industry's most consistent hitmakers, Cornelius has sold over five million records in just three years. Their first release, "Treat Her Like A Lady" zoomed to the top of the national charts within a few weeks and became number 1, one of the most popular million-seller singles of 1971. Their next record, "Too Late To Turn Back Now", quickly achieved coveted R.I.A.A. gold status selling almost two million copies. "Don't Ever Be Lonely" followed their gold track- another smash success. The initial album was a top twenty winner on the national charts. Five more releases claimed the Top 100 Charts in quick succession, a fabulous feat for a new act. A Family of Fifteen Cornelius hails from a family of fifteen children, home-based in Dania, Florida, a small town between Miami and Fort Lauderdale. There are five girls and ten boys ranging in age from 11 to 33, and each sings and plays a musical instrument. Never any shortage of entertainment when this family gets together! During their school days, they all sang in the church choir and participated in school functions. Versatile on several instruments, two brothers were popular members of the high school band. Later on, they appeared in small local clubs, working hard to break into the entertainment world. But the going was very rough, and there seemed to be no future in sight until they met Bob Archibald, producer/engineer of his Music Factory, a major recording facility in Miami. A Smash Hit After almost a year of intensive coaching, Archibald produced "Treat Her Like A Lady," releasing it on his own Platinum label. In just ten days the disc was a regional smash with several top labels bidding for it. Archibald decided to go with United Artists distribution and the combination proved to be a winner. From there on, the group made musical history by turning out one hit after another. Their current single, "Got to Testify" (culled from the album of the same name) was just released to rave reviews in all the trades. Heavy advance sales indicate another chart-buster. The album will be released (cont. on page 6)

Who's To Choose?

The pursuit of knowledge has long been a struggling effort. As mankind's knowledge has progressed, it has been hindered at different intervals in time. With the fall of the Roman Empire came the medieval period in Europe when learning was stifled to an extremely slow pace. As decades passed, knowledge improved, as did the oppression of this pursuit by various individuals, either one or many.

In this country a person has always been given his choice of what profession he prefers. Just the same, the person should have the right to expand his knowledge as he so desires. This brings me to my point of interest. On this campus on Tuesday, September 9, four students enrolled in a class of their choice were dismissed for one reason: they were not pursuing a major in that field. Since when have instructors assumed the privilege of choosing a student's course of learning?

The incident referred to involved four students enrolled in the newly offered Ornamental Horticulture 121 class. The class is an introductory course for a new two-year program in horticulture. As GSC has never offered this in past years, the revelation of its appearance in the schedule of classes aroused the interest of several students on campus. One student, an avid house plant grower, wished to take the course to broaden his knowledge of the plant life around this area. He preregistered last May, attended class for two sessions, and then was told he had to leave because he was not specializing in a forestry field. The class time in which this student wished to expand his knowledge of one of his favorite interests is now left open. He can not possibly enroll in a three-hour course, as he will have missed at least six class sessions.

Another student needed one hour credit to complete his requirements for graduation. Having an interest in plant life, he chose the horticulture class as his elective. Yet, another of the students asked to leave the class is seriously planning a small business involving the use of his own greenhouse. Naturally, he chose the class to broaden his knowledge of the various woody plants found in nurseries, and to study the herbaceous plants. It seems that an oppression of these students' learning capabilities has been enacted. Furthermore, I feel I have been insulted, as I, a former student of Landscape Architecture, had seriously thought of taking the course as an elective.

The question arises: Why cannot a student at GSC take an introductory course of any field of his interest? This question is only appropriate when a student is discouraged in the manner that these students have been. If a student cannot broaden his knowledge as he pleases, in fields other than that of his major, then what is the purpose of education?

Other than these questions, the fact remains that these students were asked to leave a class for an unjust reason: two weeks after the school term began. Where was the error? If these students did not fit the requirements to take this course, they why did the instructor not tell them so the first day of class? Since one of the students preregistered, why did the instructor and registrar's office not catch this error in registering? After all, students did pay an increased tuition of $137.00 to receive their higher education. The students should at least get their money's worth.

It seems that not only do regimes and dictatorships hinder education throughout the world, but milder forms of misplaced authority over learning exist here as well. Even our knowledgeable America is, indeed, infiltrated by oppressive forces upon our educational systems.

Army Reserve Unit Commends WGSC

WGSC Radio has been commended for its continuing support of the Army Reserve recruiting program through public service broadcasting. The station received a plaque from the Army Reserve Tuesday in appreciation for programming their announcements.

This year, WGSC will continue to support the Army Reserve by broadcasting "Nightbird", a 30-minute program once a week in which host Allison Steele interviews top-name groups and individuals in the music field. They will also continue to play public service announcements on behalf of the Army.

A complete turnover in administration has occurred at WGSC this year. An open house held September 8th brought in nine new staff members: Susan Bame, John Cooper, Pam Gherke, Michael Hickman, David McDonald, William Mick, Allen Stump, Robert Walker, and Rita Wilson. Ten members returning from previous years are Tony Barnett, Michael Beliveau, Rex Coombs, Michael Crites (Advertising Manager), Bryan Deever (Program Director), Rick Lawrentz, Vince Metz, John Tharp (Music Director, Business Manager), Howard Weikle, and Janet Griffin (Station Manager).

WGSC would like to invite everyone on campus to turn their dial to (radio) to 640 AM or Channel 10 Kanawha Cablevision every day beginning Monday, September 22. Hours that day will be 5:30 p.m. till 12 midnight. Daily hours after Monday will be 4:30 p.m. till 12 midnight.

WGSC's studios are located on second floor of the Pioneer Center, across from the new cafeteria. The staff invites all students, faculty and staff members to stop by the station for a tour of the facilities anytime.

Concern Is Aired

Dear Editor:

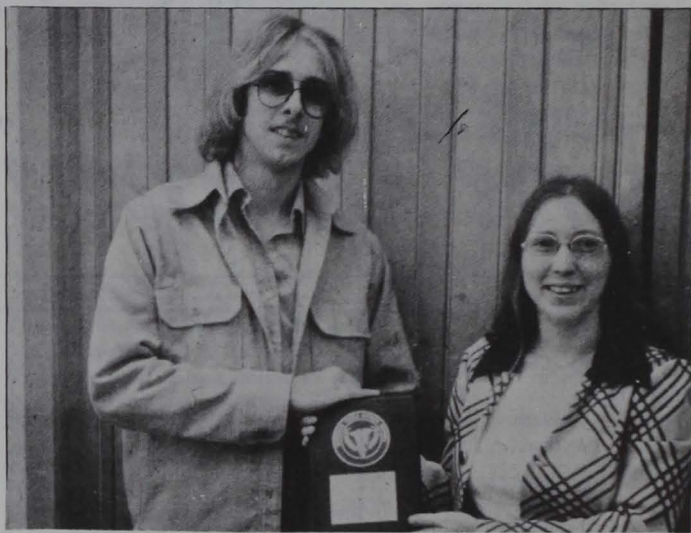

On occasion I have been torn between the West Virginia Black Walnut Festival and the GSC Homecoming activities. My concern has been personal. This year, however, I have concern for the quality of the parade and the attraction for alumni. I am sure many loyal supporters will travel great distances to see GSC win its homecoming game, but many will not.

Recently, I discovered that the college band might be the only band in the parade. The Student Congress has worked hard to get the festivities in order, but have met with many complications. Other bands are competing in major events including the Miss Majorette Festival in Spencer. Many alumni will have relatives in the bands and will likewise be torn between loyalty to GSC and some other activity. The princess from Gilmer County, the many contests and exhibitions, and the festival atmosphere in a neighboring community will draw many people to Roane County.

While I realize scheduling is very difficult, may I suggest that whoever is responsible for selecting a date make an effort to avoid the West Virginia Black Walnut Festival Weekend. This will insure a top quality parade with many marching bands, good alumni participation, and a great GSC cheering section.

Sincerely,

Dennis Myers, 1st Vice-President
GSC Alumni Association

Horne Repeats as President

Local Glenville State College Chapter 537 of MENC, Music Educators National Conference, had all of their candidates elected to every state office vacant. Sherry Horne, last year's state president, presided over the State MENC meeting held last April in Morgantown. It was at this meeting that all of West Virginia's colleges and two universities presented their prospective candidates. The elections were conducted by mail later on in the month with each school being allowed one vote per candidate. By the time all schools had voted and the ballots had reached Mr. James Guinero, state MENC advisor from West Liberty College, several schools had adjourned for summer break. The tabulations were made but not announced until late this summer. It was then formally announced that the slate of state officers are as follows: Sherry Horne, president; Janet Griffin, president-elect; Jane Lowe Harry, secretary treasurer; and Ms. Kay Strosnider, advisor.

Workshops & Workstudies

Jobs Are Available

Several workshops and workstudies are available to the students on campus this semester. A student may work in the cafeteria, in the dormitories, or in the offices and library. The jobs pay $1.70 an hour.

To receive a workstudy, a student must fill out a PCS or SFS form. These forms, along with those for the workshops, are available in the Financial Aid office in Louis Bennett Hall. The workstudy is federal money that can be earned by a student who has a proven need. A workstudy makes up the difference between tuition costs and the money a student already has in scholarships, etc.

The money for a workshop comes from a special fund in the school. A person can earn up to $900 a year on a workshop.

Five departments on campus operate with only workshop programs.

Other departments may have both workshop and workstudy personnel.

Several jobs are still available through the workstudy program on campus. Eligibility for this type of job is based mainly on parent's income. If interested students fill out PSC forms, and are eligible, they may secure jobs on campus now.

After a workshop or workstudy is established, an action request form must be filled out and sent to the financial aid office.

A verification statement will then be typed.

The student must work approximately 15-20 hours a week and will receive a check for the amount of time they worked every month.

Any further questions can be answered by Mrs. Pritt or Mr. Perkins in the Financial Aid office.

Teacher Tests

Taking the National Teacher Examinations is a requirement for graduation and certification for persons who are candidates for an A.B. degree in Teacher Education.

It is most important that students register and take the examinations on the dates indicated below. The test results must be on file in the Dean's Office before recommendation can be made for graduation or certification. The examinations are to be taken during the time the student is enrolled in the Professional Education Semester unless another date is approved by the Dean of Academic Affairs.

All persons who are enrolled in the Professional Semester during the fall of 1975 and who have not already taken the examinations must do so on November 8, 1975. Such persons must register with Mr. Adkins, in Clark Hall at 3:00 p.m. September 24, 1975.

Information about future exams will be given in later issues.

Hammers, Saws, and Paint

Tech Crew At Work

Hammers flying, saws buzzing, paint splattering and people cheering are what's happening in the Underground these days. The cause of all the commotion is that the stage crew is busily building the set for Sumner Arthur Long's 'Never Too Late.'

This hard working tech crew will be headed by Joanna Icenhower and Jimmy Steele. Ms. Icenhower is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Icenhower of Ravenswood. Mr. Steele is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Steele of Gassaway.

Ms. Icenhower, a Jr. Speech major, is definitely no stranger to the GSC stage. She has been both a performer and a hard worker behind the scenes. On stage she portrayed a lovable human being in The Great Cross Country Race and a rabbit in Winnie-The-Pooh.

Ms. Icenhower received the 1974-75 Opie Awards for Sound, Lighting, Set construction, and costumes. She is also the recipient of the Best Ohningohow Award for 1974-75.

Mr. Steele, a sophomore Elementary education major, hails from Gassaway. He was a great asset to the set construction crew for Winnie-The-Pooh last year. He is a very active member of the Glenville State College Christian Fellowship.

The Newest Art-Platform Shoes

by: Lisa Smith

What goes teeter, totter, slip, wobble, trip, wham-bam, and bump in the night? The girls who wear platform shoes here at GSC, of course!

The new style in shoes is chic, eye-catching, and dangerous. Platforms are pretty to look at but not practical to wear, especially among the hills of Glenville. I admit, I am a platform-wearer (being 5'2" tall, it's either wear them or hem up all my jeans!) And I love them-but I realize that I am sacrificing solid footing for stylish feet.

Wearing platforms is really something of an art. You must be a combination ballerina, gymnast & mountain goat to even walk to and from classes. Walking in the grass or gravel takes a real pro, and then it's "Proceed with Caution."

Even the most practiced platform wearer never knows when to expect her next tumbler. All you platform wearers know what I'm talking about-the horrible embarrassment of falling flat on your face in front of that handsome guy, the giggles and guffaws of students and staff as you trip into class.

Yet we persist in wearing these ungainly, unsafe shoes. Why? I don't know unless it's the fact that we'd rather fall than switch.

The making of a production set is a highly technical project, involving more than a paint brush, hammer, and nails.

"A new athletic complex, field, seating, intramural fields, the works . . ." For years, the Glenville State College campus has been anxiously awaiting the completion of this complex. However, it seems there have been several snags which have caused delays and setbacks in the project's completion.

After a period of time, one begins to speculate the reasons for these delays. Why is it that construction can progress in any other area but not in our athletic complex at Glenville? After years of work we should, seemingly, have more than a pile of dirt.

Chess Club To Meet

The Chess Club will meet on Wednesday, September 24 at 7:30 in room 305-A. The club is open to all chessplayers of the college and the area. All from pautzers to grandmasters are invited to attend this meeting.

The club plans to hold a tournament to determine the best player in the college and also plans to play other schools if possible to attend the Pan-American Chess Championship in which schools from every nation in the Western Hemisphere will play.

Anyone desiring further information about the club can contact any of the following people who will be more than happy to provide any needed information: Steven Nichols, President; Russel Stump, Head of the Membership Committee or Mr. Roger Clites, Advisor to the club.

Christian Group Holds Meetings

Picnics, corn roasts, coffee houses, and general fun are a large part of Christian brotherhood and growth at Glenville State College.

The first fellowship meeting of the semester was followed by a coffee house for new students. Films of Charlie Chaplin and Laurel and Hardy were shown, and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Myers hosted a corn roast last Sunday night at their parent's farm near Sand Fork. About 45 people attended.

Last night, a Christian film called Time to Run was shown in the auditorium. Counselors were on hand to answer questions about salvation.

Reverend Gene Adkins is also ready to help anyone with problems or questions. He can usually be found in the Wesley Foundation during the afternoon and evenings throughout the week.

Attendance has nearly doubled from the first fellowship meeting to the third. Prayer meetings and dorm studies have also been well attended.

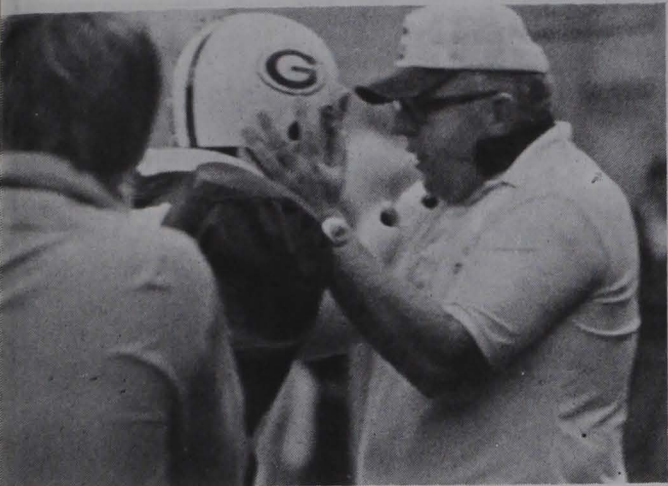

Regular meetings of the fellowship are held at 6:30 each Thursday. These meetings consist of songs, prayer, and small group Bible studies. An informal worship service is held at 8:00 p.m. on Sunday evenings.

Sigma Tau Delta will hold its first monthly discussion next Thursday, Sept. 25 at 6:30 p.m. in the Pioneer Center Ballroom. Any interested students, faculty, or staff members are welcome. Discussion will deal with Hemingway's The Old Man and the Sea.

Another Modern Miracle.....

If you're one of the thousands of students who have attended Glenville State College in the past 8-10 years, you may have wondered what this stone at the top of the amphitheatre represents. This pedestal is actually the base of a sundial. The sundial is now in the Science Building unused. After 10 years it was a nice thought.

Coach Gene Davis seems to be asking a Glenville player, "Which tooth did you say hurts?"

On The Bench

by John Lilly

The Glenville Pioneers opened its 1975 football season up last weekend with a 0-0 tie with Madison College. Most people who saw that contest will have to admit that it was a very exciting game even though it was a tie.

Madison was supposed to bring in a high geared offense and a very experienced defensive unit and the Pioneers were supposed to be a very young and inexperienced team.

Well, this sports writer and the 3,000 or so people who saw the game surely didn't see any high geared Dukes offense, in fact, I don't think they had it in any gear. The Pioneers showed the Virginians that they play defense in this league.

Three Quarterback Platoon

Even though the Pioneers didn't score against Madison, the G-Men are blessed with three good quarterbacks and all three looked sharp against the Dukes.

Chris Anderson, Tom Cowan and Rusty Smith all looked like they could start for the G-Men, but the unfortunate thing is that only one can play at a time.

GSC Receivers Look Sharp

Steve "Tex" Chandler and Bob Shaffer both looked good at the wide receivers' position. Chandler, who made some great receptions in the Madison game, plays a slotback position, while Shaffer, who is known for his sure hands, plays at the split end position.

Mr. Soothsayer Is Back But Embarrassed

The Mountaineers really embarrassed "Mr. Sooth" last week when they ran over the Temple Owls, 50-7, but "Soothie" surely hit it on the nail when he said the Pioneers would have to score some points to beat Madison. As it turned out the G-Men didn't score any points and they didn't win. But they didn't lose either.

Mr. "Sooth" now stands with a record of eight wins, five losses and one tie, for a guessing percentage of 62½%.

And now for this week's guess-in':

WVU 24, California 10. It's a big win out on the coast.

Morehead 20, Marshall 13. The Herd can't quite do it.

Concord 21, State 15. It could be closer.

Salem 28, Bluefield 13. The Tigers keep on rolling.

Fairmont 27, WV Wesleyan 14. The Falcons pick up another win. Shepherd 14, Randolph-Macon 13. The Rams squeeze by.

West Liberty 17, Waynesburg 7. The Hilltoppers get back on the win track.

Glenville 27, WV Tech 8. The Pioneers show that they can score.

Some Final Quotes

Temple's football coach Wayne Hardin, after getting rocked by the WVU Mountaineers 50-7, "When you get out-coached and out-played, anything can happen. They're probably not that good, and we're probably not that bad."

Anyone interested in trying out for the GSC varsity baseball team is requested to see Coach Belcastro, in room 301, in the Ad Building.

Glenville Nil, Madison Nil

The Glenville State College Pioneers opened their 1975 season with a 0-0 tie with the Madison College Dukes last Saturday afternoon at Rohrbough Field.

Both teams showed that good defense will not lose ballgames, but again it shows good defense might not win any games, either.

If games were won by statistics the Pioneers would have won. The G-Men rolled up 297 yards total offense compared to the Dukes 147 yards. Glenville held Madison to just 48 yards on the ground.

Head Coach Whitey Adolfson used three quarterbacks in the contest. Senior Chris Anderson started the game and threw the ball with great accuracy completing 9 of 13 attempts for 129 yards.

Sophomore Tom Cowan completed one of two passes for seven yards and ran the ball three times for 35 yards. And the third signal caller freshman Rusty Smith, connected on two of three pass attempts for 62 yards.

Both teams had opportunities to score but neither could push it across the goal line. Glenville's kicker Bob Casto and Madison's kicker Tom Parisi both missed 46 yard field goals. Casto missed his in the first half while Parisi was wide to the left in the third stanza.

But the biggest scoring threat in the game came when the Pioneers marched to the Dukes' 8 yard line with a little over a minute left in the contest, but the threat was stopped when Madison's John Tuell picked off a Rusty Smith pass in the end zone.

The Pioneers will travel to Montgomery next Saturday night to play their next game against the WV Tech Golden Bears.

Volleyball Initiated In Women Sports

Women's sports at Glenville State College will be in full swing in just one month. This season Glenville will try to field five different women's sports: volleyball, basketball, bowling in form of a club, track and field, and tennis. Tennis is the big question because of the lack of facilities.

The first women's sport this season is volleyball and this team is under the guidance of Mrs. Kay Chico. The twelve women who make up the Pioneer squad have been hard at work preparing for their opening match.

Glenville, who is in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Association, ends their season by playing in the conference tournament which will be held at West Virginia University.

The twelve members of the Pioneer squad are: Diane Bach, Bonnie Butler, Judy Drake, Ruth Dulaney, Janette Montgomery, Shirley Murphy, Terry Parsons, Venessa Pannell, Bonnie Powell, Cheryl Rogers, Joan Stanley, and Kim West.

ANOTHER FINAL QUOTE

Mike Kilkeny, former Cleveland Indian pitcher, upon learning that Babe Ruth's $80,000 salary in 1930 was equivalent to $424,000 salary today: "If I played then at a salary equivalent to what I am making now, I'd have made about 9 cents a day."

Steve "Tex" Chandler seems to be doing a war dance after he catches one of his four receptions against Madison College.

Tech To Host GSC's Team

The Glenville Pioneers will travel to Montgomery tomorrow night and tangle with the West Virginia Tech Golden Bears. The Bears, who are coached by Charley Cobb, had their best season since 1965 last year when they won five games and lost four.

Tech, whose record this season stands at 0-2, had 13 returning regulars back from last year. But in the first game this season, they lost their starting quarterback, Lester Tharp, because of a broken collarbone. Since Tharp's absence, the Bears have had their trouble on offense. Last week in their second game, Jerry Williams replaced Tharp at the signal calling position but failed to move the Bears in their 24-0 loss to WV State.

Some key Golden Bear players to watch in tomorrow night's game are fullback Cliff Gilyard, tackles Rick Boone and Charles Tucker, guard George Rice and wide receiver Rick Workman.

Defensively watch for end Frank Gatterso, tackles Jerry Mobley and Mike Zaccchini and halfbacks Robert Dawson, Paul Drake and Frankie Hall.

The Pioneers' head coach Whitey Adolfson will be making his first coaching appearance against his old alma mater tomorrow night and you can bet your bottom dollar that he will have his G-Men fired up for this game.

Game time is at 7:30 p.m.

FRUIT BREAKS RECORD

Safety man Jerome Fruit broke his old school record when he intercepted his first pass of the season. That makes the 22nd pass he has picked off in his college career.

Attention baseball enthusiasts!!!

Mr. Ed Vineyard of the Glenville State College Music Department will be adjudicating at the Clay County Golden Delicious Apple Festival on September 20, 1975.

There will be approximately twenty bands participating in the festival from all over the state of West Virginia. All bands will be marching in a Grand Festival Parade. Also, a Grand Award will be presented to the most outstanding band and the best majorette corps.

Glenville's Ted Williams (30) gets twisted around, but still knocks the ball away from a Madison receiver.

This year, something new is being added to the library. A student loan fund is now being planned and will be maintained at the circulation desk. Those students who need to use the copying machine, but do not have the correct change, may simply write an I.O.U. for the amount borrowed. The I.O.U.'s must be picked up between 24-48 hours.
