Visiting Team Here Jan. 21

Wednesday, January 21, classes will be cancelled after 10 a.m. due to a faculty clinic to improve university teaching, being held in the ballroom. The consultants will be Dr. George Byriawsky, Assistant Director of the Clinic to improve University Teaching, and Dr. Russel C. Kraus, Special Assistant to the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and Acting Assistant Dean for the Faculty of Humanities and Fine Arts, both of the University of Massachusetts. A description of the clinic and background information will be given, followed by a general question and answer period.

On January 22, Thursday, departmental group meetings with Dr. Byriawsky and Dr. Kraus will be held in the multi-purpose room. Classes will be dismissed only during the period a faculty member is meeting with the consultants. Departmental Group meetings will be scheduled as follows:

8:00-9:30-Division of Math and Science, Forestry and Land Surveying
9:30-11:00- Division of Education
11:00-12:30-Divisions of Business and Physical Education
1:30-3:00- Divisions of Language and Social Science
3:00-4:30-Divisions of Foundation Studies and Fine Arts

On January 23, at 9 a.m., a joint meeting with the College Council, Faculty Welfare Committee, and FAO Executive Committee will be held in the multi-purpose room.

SHEEPSKIN Forms Now In Placement Office

The Placement Office would like to announce that forms for "Project SHEEPSKIN" are available. "Project SHEEPSKIN" is a placement assistance program for college graduates. The culmination of the Project is the publication of a booklet containing the resumes of graduates categorized according to occupation. The booklets are mailed to all major employers in West Virginia in early spring. Application forms are available to two- and four- year program graduates.

The Placement Office would also like to announce that interviewing will be conducted next week. Interviews will be with Jefferson County on January 20, West Virginia Civil Service on January 20, Wood County on January 21, and Clay County on January 22.

Also, people graduating in May need to get their placement credential file.

Ms. Jeanne Kobuszewski discusses the production of OF MICE AND MEN with professional actor Rhys Watson.

The last day to withdraw from a class with a "W" in the Spring Semester 1976, is Thursday, February 12, 1976. This date is in accordance with a policy adopted by the Committee on Academic Affairs in a meeting on August 5, 1975, as follows:

"During the regular academic year, the last day for dropping a class with a 'W' will be exactly five weeks from the first day of classes."

SEA Membership To Give Discussion

The January meeting of the Student Education Association will be held at 6:00 p.m. next Thursday, January 20, in the Ballroom. The program will include a panel of student teachers who completed their student teaching assignment during the first semester. The discussion will be of interest and value not only to second semester student teachers, but to all college students contemplating a career in Education.

The panel includes Barbara Simmons who taught Art in the Weston Junior High and Elementary Schools; Sherry Jones who instructed several different classes in Business Education at Calhoun High School; Randy Datcher who was involved with the Physical Education program in Braxton County High School and in Burnsville Elementary; Tim Cunningham who taught Special Education at Blennerhassett and Physical Education at Parkersburg South and Emerson Elementary; Judy Ditlow who worked at Tavennersville in Special Education with additional experience in elementary music; Roger Allen whose teaching was done in the Grantsville Elementary School; and Larry Haddix whose experiences included producing a closed circuit TV show assisting in several drama productions including the "Nutcracker" and conducting individualized projects in American Studies.

Each member of the panel will speak briefly, and they will respond to questions from the audience.

A social hour will follow the program.

Remember, if you have not joined S.E.A. now is the time. You may join at this meeting or join at one of the Membership Tables which will be set up in front of the old cafeteria next Wednesday and Thursday, January 21 and 22.

Dr. Barbara Tedford Accepts State Post

Dr. Barbara W. Tedford, Associate Professor of English, has been appointed Field Humanist to develop projects for the Committee for Humanities and Public Policy in W.Va.

Dr. Tedford, who directed a program funded by the Committee last summer in Elkins, is one of four humanists whose task will be to acquaint interested groups throughout the state with the guidelines for submitting proposals.

C.H.A.P.P., now in its second year of funding, receives money from the National Endowment for the Humanities for developing programs on the West Virginia theme, "People and Mountains". Any non-profit group or organization within the state may apply for funds to aid in projects that bring scholars in the humanities disciplines into discussions of public policy issues that are of concern to West Virginians.

Dr. Tedford was in charge of a series of twenty programs in Elkins titled "A Summer Symposium on Attitudes Toward Work and the Material Culture of the Appalachian Region." It was sponsored by the Randolph County Creative Arts Council in connection with the Augusta Heritage Arts Workshop, held each summer on the Davis and Elkins College campus.

Her new duties involve working with professors of humanities in the colleges in central and eastern W.Va. as well as with such organizations as service clubs, church groups, so-

Sir Lawrence Olivier once stated, "I don't know what better means there are than the work that is given to the actor—to teach the human heart the knowledge of itself." Eight Glenville State College students will realize the special feeling that accompanies the actor to the stage on opening night. The Speech Department has begun the first portion of her winter drama, OF MICE AND MEN, by John Steinbeck.

OF MICE AND MEN, far from being a realistic "slice-of-life," is actually an allegory of the human condition. The central image is that of one group dream: the Dream of an Earthly Paradise. John Steinbeck's literary masterpiece is a tremendously moving study of two roving farmhands, one of whom—'with the strength of a gorilla and the mind of an untutored child'—unwittingly murders a woman, and is killed by his friend to prevent his falling into the hands of the law.

A rare occasion is in store for the Glenville College and community when the leading role of George hosts an entirely new and exceptionally able professional actor, Rhys Watson. The Speech Department has invited Mr. Watson to portray Steinbeck's "brain" behind Lennie. He travels with Lennie Small and together they are looking for a dream of a Paradise, a farm of their own. Mr. Watson, a native of Spencer, West Virginia, has been in the theatre limelight for several years. He has chalked up acting or directing credits in 40 community theatre projects. He originated the role of Spirit McCoy in "Hatfield & McCoy's" and acquired Actor's Equity performing credits at Mountain Playhouse, Jennerstown, Pa. "A Shot in the Dark," "Plaza Suite," "Not Now Darling," "The Little Foxes," "A Man For All Seasons," "Fiddler on the Roof." Mr. Watson is a graduate of West Virginia University School of Creative Arts and was a member of the National Touring Company of "1776." (Read the MERCURY for a more detailed article later).

Portraying his dull-witted sidekick, Lennie Small, is Bob Hays, a junior majoring in Marketing. Lennie is a large retarded man who has the mind of a child and who loves to pet soft, pretty things. He has great difficulty remembering anything. Part of Lennie's charm lies in the perfectly innocent and childlike joy he participates in. He has a complete and utter devotion to George. Mr. Hays will long be remembered by audiences as Charlie in the Fall production of "Never Too Late." Bob, a native of Cincinnati, Ohio, currently serves as president of the Theta Xi fraternity.

Ron Barr, a freshman Business Administration Major, has accepted the role of Candy. A garrulous old man, who (like his aged dog) has once been strong. Candy is now crippled and useless. He begs to be included in George and Lennie's dream of Paradise. Mr. Barr hails from Sutton and currently serves as the Sergeant of Arms in the campus Veteran's Club.

The BOSS, a stocky, rather hard man will be portrayed by Tom Phillips, Goshen, Ohio. Mr. Phillips, a freshman, played football for the Pioneers.

Delbert Conley will serve as Curley, the boss' son, a small and evil-tempered man, something of a boxer and always spoiling for a fight. A small man in a world of bigness, he is forced to walk in his father's shadow, and his egomania is a reflection of his own insecurities. Delbert is a senior majoring in English and minoring in speech from Spencer. He has brought honors to the Forensics team with his award-winning Persuasion Speech, (Cont. on page 4)

Two GSC Students Chosen for Program

Two students from Glenville State College, Gary Norman and Deborah Swiney, have been selected for the new West Virginia Board of Regents Public Service Learning Internship Program. The program began January the ninth, and includes 28 public and private college and university students.

The object of the program, which is open to juniors and seniors, is to offer students the opportunity to gain practical experience while working in a meaningful task in one of the state agencies. Each student will receive twelve to fifteen hours of college credit, plus a weekly stipend of $85. Ms. Swiney will be working in the Division of Wild-Life Resources located in the Department of Natural Resources.

A second internship program is being offered this spring. The West Virginia Board of Regents, in conjunction with the Office of Minority Business Enterprises, the Governor's Office of Federal-State Relations, and the Department of Housing and Urban Development, has inaugurated a program of internship in planning to be offered for the first time, this semester. This program has the same amount of college credit hours and weekly stipend offered.

This program, which is aimed primarily at minority students, will give participants the opportunity to form many useful, personal contacts in planning, and to utilize their theoretical knowledge in practical application.

Students participating in the Planning Internship will be housed in Dawson Hall, at West Virginia State, for a small weekly sum. Students will have access to all campus activities and facilities.

These programs will be offered again in the fall semester of 1976. All those interested, please contact Dr. Joseph Darnall, in the Social Studies Division. He is the Glenville State College liaison officer.

Guard Tom Coates sneaks in two points against Fairmont.

On The Bench

First, I would like to welcome back everyone from their vacation, and I hope everyone had a jolly time over the Christmas break. Since the break there has been a lot happening in the Pioneer sports world and I had better fill you in on some of the details.

HOLIDAY HAPPENINGS

Over the holidays the Pioneer basketball team played probably the worst basketball they could possibly play. They lost three of four tournament games and their only win was by one point over the Concord Mountain Lions.

The Pioneers did, however, play a strong team in Pikeville College of Kentucky in the Williamson Holiday Classic. The Bears could be compared to the Fairmont Falcons in our conference. They have a 6'9" center named Fred Frederick who dominated the game against the G-Men. He had 17 rebounds, 11 points, and blocked numerous Pioneer shots.

In the Marietta Shrine Tournament, the Pioneers played their worst basketball so far this season, against Allegheny College. Glenville threw the ball away over twenty times and they still only lost by six points. The following night the Pioneers were upset by Case Western Reserve, who had won only one game so far this season.

CAGER TIDBITS

Since the end of the first semester, the Pioneers practically started a brand new season when 6'6" forward Roger Dingey and 6'5" guard Danny Pruden became eligible. . . . Some of the Pioneer troubles here recently have been because of weak defense on their part. Coach Jesse Lilly, known for his strong defensive teams over the years, has been working hard to improve the G-Men's defense. . . . Guards Tom Coates and Danny Pruden made the All Tourney in Williamson, but no Pioneer made the All Tourney team at the Marietta tournament. . . . Sophomore Greg Arnette, who was averaging over twenty points a game for the Pioneers in the first seven games of the season, has gone into a terrible slump, and has yet to play himself out of it. . . .

The Pioneers have picked up two new players since the start of the second semester. One sat out the first semester and the other transferred here. The first newcomer is 6'2" Bob Bosley, who is eligible this semester, and the second one is Chuck Lambert, a 6'1" transfer from Texas A & I. . . . Although the Pioneers have lost eight games so far this year, the feeling of coach Jesse Lilly is that they might develop into a strong team by tournament time. . . .

GAMBLING BOWLERS?

The Glenville College bowling team ventured out to Las Vegas over the Christmas holidays and participated in the Las Vegas Invitational, in which fifty colleges and universities took part.

The bowling tournament was held in a bowling alley which had seventy lanes, by far the largest alley any of the players had seen or even played on.

The Pioneers ended in twentieth place, team-wise, with Sam Ferrell finishing in fourth place individually with a 213 average. Another Pioneer, Tom Newberry, bowled well, averaging 203. There were some 250 bowlers participating in the event.

The trip, which covered some 5,761 miles of the United States, and lasted some ten days, was enjoyed by everyone who went. The only regret they had was that they had to come back home so soon.

Any woman interested in participating on the GSC Women's Track and Field team should meet in the small gym on Tuesday, January 20, at 12:30 p.m.

The next Pioneer home basketball game will be Tuesday night against West Liberty State College. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

Fairmont Triumphs

On January 7, the GSC Pioneers lost their third straight game of the season when nationally-ranked Fairmont Falcons eased by the G-Men 78-65.

The Fighting Falcons, who upped their record to 6-0, broke open a tight contest with three minutes left in the first half as they reeled off ten unanswered points to take a 41-29 lead at halftime.

In the first half the Pioneers led most of the way until they hit a cold streak and the experienced Fairmont team took advantage of the G-Men's cold shooting.

In the second half the Falcons jumped out to an 18 point lead, but the G-Men fought back to within 11 points but could not come any closer.

Guard Dave Moore led the Falcons with 23 points, while Glenville was led by center Randy Datcher who powered in 19 points and grabbed 11 rebounds. Datcher was followed by Roger Dingey's 16 points and Charles Warner's 12.

Lady Luck Is Absent

The Glenville women's basketball team has had a hard time getting back into the swing of things since the Christmas break, losing one game to the tough Morris Harvey Eagles, 95-29, and then falling to the Marshall women, 64-52.

The undefeated Eagles stung the Pioneerettes early and took a commanding 48-13 lead. They did not slow down the second half, either, out-scoring the G-Women, 45-16.

Kim West led the Pioneerettes with seven points, while Anna Coratello poured twenty points for Morris Harvey.

Against Marshall the Pioneerettes held a three halftime lead at 26-23, but Marshall came out burning the second half and outscored the G-Women 42-27.

West again led Glenville with 20 points, followed by Janet James with 17 points, and Kathy Wass with nine.

The Pioneerettes, whose record dipped to one and four, will take on the West Virginia State Yellow Jackets tomorrow night at Institute.

Is Randy Datcher "out of control"?

Hoopsters Third In Holiday Classic

The GSC Pioneer cagers placed third in the Williamson Holiday Classic on December 29 and 30. The G-Men were soundly defeated by the nationally ranked Pikeville Bears, by 99-79 in the first round game, but came back the second night and nipped Concord College 81-80 to win the consolation contest.

In the first game against Pikeville, the Kentuckians came out burning as they took a commanding 20-8 lead early in the contest and never looked back. The Bears led at halftime by the score of 56-32.

In the second half, the G-Men outscored Pikeville 47-43, but it was not enough as the Bears coasted to an easy win.

Tom Coates led the Pioneers with 26 points while Danny Pruden and Roger Dingey scored 12 and 11 points respectively.

Pikeville's 6'9" center, Fred Frederick, dominated the contest as he pulled down 19 rebounds, scored 11 points and blocked many Pioneer shots.

GSC Falters In Shrine Tourney

The Pioneer cagers playing their worst basketball of the season finished last in the Marietta Shrine Tournament on January 2 and 3. The G-Men fell the first night to Allegheny College of Pennsylvania 75-69 and were upset the following night in the consolation game 72-71 by Case Western Reserve of Cleveland.

Against Allegheny, the Pioneers got a great game out of 6'6" Roger Dingey, who connected on 10 of 15 shots from the floor. But this was not enough as the G-Men threw the game away, committing 22 turnovers.

Only three Pioneers scored in double figures with Dingey leading the way with 20 points. Danny Pruden and Tom Coates followed with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

Marty Orzechowski led Allegheny with 22 points.

In the consolation game the following night, the Pioneers nipped the Concord Mt. Lions 81-80 to register their fifth win of the season.

The Mt. Lions came out hot, jumping to an early 10 point lead. But Coach Jesse Lilly made some defensive adjustments and the G-Men roared back to take a two point lead at halftime.

In the second half, the G-Men jumped out to a 10 point lead, but the Mt. Lions came roaring back to take a 73-70 lead with less than five minutes to play in the contest.

The G-Men, with the aid of Charles Warner's clutch foul shooting, held off Concord's rally to take a 81-80 win.

Tom Coates led the Pioneers again with 20 points, with Pruden and Warner adding 16 and 12 points a piece, respectively.

Coates and Pruden made the All Tournament Team for the Pioneers.

Pikeville won the tourney by barely edging Transylvania College, 85-80.

In the consolation game the following night, the G-Men played their worst game of the season as they were upset by lowly-regarded Case Western University 72-71.

The Pioneers were behind at half-time 45-33 due mainly from shooting only 24% from the floor.

In the second half, Glenville fought back to take the lead at 58-57 with less than nine minutes to go in the game, but Case Western capitalized on the Pioneer mistakes late in the contest to capture only their second win of the season.

Danny Pruden led the G-Men with 14 points, followed by Charles Warner's 12 points and Dingey's 10.

Marietta College won their own tournament by crushing Allegheny College 82-61 in the championship contest.

G-Men Stop MH 'Eagles'

The Glenville Pioneer basketball team broke a three game losing streak last Saturday night as they nipped suspension-riddled Morris Harvey College 79-75. The Golden Eagles only dressed seven players for the contest.

The Pioneers, with a juggled starting lineup eased to a 39-38 halftime lead. Coach Jesse Lilly inserted two freshmen into the starting lineup, Charles Warner and Gary Nottingham, to see if they could help break the G-Men's losing streak.

Something must have worked because the G-Men jumped out to a nine point lead in the second half and held off a Golden Eagles rally late in the contest to capture their sixth win of the season.

The Pioneers were in foul trouble most of the game with three G-Men fouling out in the contest.

Center Randy Datcher led the Pioneers with 19 points and 12 rebounds. He was followed by Charles Warner who had 14 points. Roger Dingey, Tom Coates, and Danny Pruden all contributed 12 points for the winners.

Some of the projects funded last year included the making of a film on Appalachia titled "A Sense of Place", the Appalachian cultural festival held in the spring at Morris Harvey College, a series of twelve television programs on the topic "Mainstream Culture Versus Appalachian Culture" broadcast over WMUL-TV, the rights of the mentally ill (a series of seminars), a film on the wealth of the state, and a forum on absentee ownership in the state.

Glenville Grad Named 'Teacher-of-Year'

by Debbie Wildman

"Animal Experimentation." Curley's wife will be played by Ruth Meadows, an Elementary Education major minoring in History and English. Curley's wife has "eyes for the men" and likes flattery as well as being admired. In some ways, Curley's wife is no less pathetic than is Lennie himself. Ms. Meadows, from Gassaway, is past treasurer of Ohningohow Players.

The big, powerful ranch-hand, Carlson, will be portrayed by Jimmy Steele. Carlson is rather lacking in imagination and human sympathy. Mr. Steele is new to the stage of GSC but a veteran of technical crews. An Elementary Education major, minor in Science, Jimmy is a sophomore from Gassaway. He serves as activities chairman of Christian Fellowship and is a member of the Louis Bennett Hall governing board.

Whit, portrayed by Russell Stump, is a young ranch-hand sympathetic toward Candy and his old dog. Mr. Stump is a Business Education major in his junior year. His minor is Social Studies. A member of the Theta Xi fraternity, Russell hails from Spencer.

A mule-skinner and master of his trade, Slim will be portrayed by Billy Hutchinson. Mr. Hutchinson is a Physical Education Comprehensive major in his sophomore year.

America's 1976 Teacher of the Year, which is sponsored by the Council of Chief State School Officers, Encyclopedia Britannica, and Ladies' Home Journal.

Ms. Hilgeford is now teaching English and is also a special reading teacher at Meadowdale High School in the Dayton, Ohio area. Her teaching career is now in its twentieth year.

She was born in a poverty stricken home and the strong values that were instilled in her as a child have given her great pride in her mountain heritage.

Her philosophy is exemplified in her statement, "I also realized that there were things worse than cultural and economic deprivation and that's being educationally deprived." She also added, "This does not mean that I think that every one should go to college, but all people have something that they can do and qualities that lend themselves to a vocation."

Hilgeford completed her master's degree in diagnostic and remedial reading from Miami University of Ohio in 1969 and she is a unified association member.

Her activities are not only in the classroom. She volunteers to tutor students with reading problems so that they may meet drivers' education requirements. A summer reading institution program for teenagers is another one of her programs as well as providing those teenagers who were in need with free transportation to the class.

She also is chairperson of a group of parents, students, and teachers who attempt to develop curriculum that best serves the community and she has volunteered 136 hours as a crisis counselor for the Suicide Prevention Program of the Pastoral Counseling Center in Dayton.

It is plain to see that Barbara Hilgeford is a true professional in the teaching field. As one of her students is quoted saying, "She treats us like we're her very own. She gives me something to do and I get right to it. She's always willing to help."

Thanks are given to the Ohio Schools magazine for their article entitled "Barbara Hilgeford Ohio's 1976 Teacher of the Year."

A proposed plan for the new GSC Gilmer Driving Range.

Range Enhances Driver Training

Plans for a multiple vehicle driving range in Glenville have been approved by the Governor's Highway Safety Administration. The range is to be built on land provided by Glenville State College, and will be used by both county school and college students.

Glenville State College will provide land and services estimated at $15,000 and will receive $20,000 in cash for the project. The Gilmer County Board of Education has also been awarded $35,000 for the project.

The range will be located near the athletic facility and forestry building on the GSC campus.

Because of the new driving range, the college will be able to continue its approved preparation program in driver and traffic safety education. The range will also remove the training of beginning drivers from the highway. It will also provide a safe training ground for county student teachers, high school students, bus drivers and adults.
