REFLECTIONS: A cool, summer night beside the Library after a soothing rainshower.

Seven Positions Available

There are currently seven job positions now available for July and August. Two are available now, two by July 26, and the remainder in the latter part of August.

A position for Financial Aid Clerk is now open. Working hours are Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. with a 30 minute lunch break. An associate degree or equivalent experience is required. Contact the Office of Administrative Services.

Also available now is an opening for Computer Center Director. Required is a Masters Degree in Business, Mathematics, or Computer Science. Salary will depend on experience. To apply, forward credentials and applications to Paulette Jackson, Computer Center Director, or Robert K. Gainer, Director of Administrative Services. Anyone filling this position will also instruct Computer Science on a part-time basis.

A Counselor Coordinator will be needed on July 26. This is a one year position. A Master's Degree in guidance and counseling or student personnel services is required. Contact James H. Meads, II by July 25 with applications.

Also available on July 26 is a position for Director for Pre-Career

Work Experience. A Baccalaureate Degree is required. This is also a one year position. Applications and resumes must be forwarded to Mr. James H. Meads, II by July 25.

Available for August 15 will be a position for House Director, Louis Bennett Hall. Applicant must have a high school diploma and experience working with high school and college age people. Contact the Office of Administrative Services for more information.

Available on August 23 will be a position in the Music Department. One must have a background in applied piano, music theory, and an introductory music history survey. A Masters' Degree with advanced study in piano and theory is required. Applications, college credentials, grade transcripts, and a recent piano recital tape should be forwarded now to David E. Harry, Chairman. Selected candidates will be contacted for interviews.

A position will be available on August 23 for Instructor or Assistant Professor of English. Salary is competitive based on qualifications and experience. A Masters' Degree is the minimum level for qualification. Applications, credentials, and any supporting materials should be submitted by July 20, 1976 to Dr. Lowell E. Fredin.

Local Alumni Plan Booster Banquets

The Alumni Office is planning quite a few dinners this Fall starting with one in the Akron, Ohio area. Rebecca Janet Harris Davis, who is a 1963 graduate from Medina, Ohio, is helping Mrs. Meads organize the banquet. Last year the Ohio Alumna Group sponsored a student, Peggy Bauman from Howard, Ohio, with their first scholarship. This will be the ninth banquet to be held in the Akron, Ohio area.

Currently in the planning stage, is a banquet which will be held in the Washington, D.C. area. Ed and Jackie Reed are assisting Mrs. Meads in planning and the tentative time set is a weekend in October.

On February 19, 1977, the Alumni Association will hold a banquet in the Ohio Valley at the LaFayette Motor Hotel in Marietta, Ohio.

At the present time Mrs. Meads is working on a possible Roane and Jackson County get together with the help of Linda Fox Coffindaffer and Judy Davis Meads.

These banquets are basically designed for the alumni of the area, but any alumni and friends of the college are welcome.

Mrs. Meads informed the Mercury that the President and Vice-President of the Student Body are being invited to join the Alumni Council, which will meet on August 7. The two offices are currently held by Tim Butcher and Jane Stump, both of Glenville. The students will act as a liaison between the council and the student body, but neither representatives will have the privileges of holding office or voting.

Fifty-four Are Residing In Dorm For Summer

Forty three women and eleven men are currently residing in Pickens Hall. Two residence assistants, Connie Queen and Bill Beathe, control an additional ten students who work in dormitory offices. These workers include: Melissa Baldwin, Debbie Boserman, Debbie Clark, Debra Curry, Brenda Henthorn, Lenise Luikart, Nina Neil, Linda Sparks, Becky Stickman and Russ Stump.

'Miss Congeniality' Chosen

Peggy Helen Collins, a senior at GSC and the 20 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Collins, Moorefield, became the proud winner of the "Miss Congeniality" title presented at the Bicentennial Miss West Virginia Pageant held Friday and Saturday, June 25 and 26 in Parkersburg, West Virginia. Held at Parkersburg South High School Auditorium, Miss Collins was one of 16 girls vying for the title representing West Virginia in the Miss America pageant. Peggy was selected one of top ten contestants Saturday, as the result of Friday's preliminaries. As one of the top ten winners, Miss Collins competed for a second time in swimsuit and talent. For her talent Miss Collins performed a segment of one of the most thrilling tragedies in existence, MEDEA. An attentive and eager audience greeted her finely executed portrayal. During the finals, Miss Collins received the title of Miss Congeniality by her fellow contestants and was given a trophy and a $50 gift from a local Parkersburg bank. Peggy participated in the state pageant as the result of her winnings at Glenville State College in March. She swept the local pageant taking with her the category of swimsuit, talent, evening gown and the honor of "Miss Congeniality." Stated her drama coach, Jeanne Kobuszewski, stage director of the Glenville State College theatre productions, "Miss Collins is a very fine and deserving young lady. She represents the kind girl who has not overlooked the qualities of humility, wholesomeness, unselfishness and pride of her state." Miss Collins represented Ohnimgohow Players when she ran for Miss Glenville State College. During her two years at Glenville State College, Peggy was the recipient of the Best Actress award for her portrayal of Edith in Never Too Late and received two Best Acting awards in Children's Theatre for her characterization of Kanga in Winnie The Pooh and Quid in The Dragon of Nitt. Miss Collins, a 1973 graduate of Moorefield High School, is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, Ohnimgohows and Alpha Psi Omega on campus. She is also a Dean's List student.

CORRECTIONS MADE!

Contrary to the MERCURY article (June 25, 1976) concerning Dr. Fredin's appointment as chairman of the Language Division, he is no longer a member of the Modern Language Association, and was chosen by members of the division, not a 'Division Board.' He is secretary of the State Conference of the American Association of University Professors.

Articles which were authored by Dr. Fredin were published in Mountain Review. He is also a member of the Glenville City Council.

ALSO:

Kevin W. Stalnaker's name was inadvertently omitted from the Dean's List last issue. Stalnaker, of Glenville, made all A's, or a 4. average. The Mercury regrets both of these errors.

As Time Goes By . . .

Four years have come and gone since I first entered these halls with that apprehensive feeling most freshmen share. The mere fact that Glenville was home territory did little to net those butterflies, yet I was consciously aware that I needed to find "my place in the crowd." With years of previous experience in every imaginable activity behind me, my freshman status soon revealed that my creative talents were in a much larger competitive field. Undoubtedly, if I would have let my uneasiness prevail against my nature, I would have found myself spending four years of solitary confinement in my bedroom wondering what went wrong with my life. However, I found my place (in the cool, but warm surroundings of the Mercury office with Mrs. King and the rest of the staff) and soon was swept into the flow of GSC's bustling student life. Now, the cycle starts again as I timidly move out in the world to find that almighty job.

As Dylan once sang, "The times, they are a changin'," so has GSC. The change has not been so much from the norm (whatever that may be), but in four years' time, the campus has undergone a facelift in several areas, such as the new football field, a new generation of co-eds has emerged, rules and regulations have changed, new curricula have been adopted, and an enormous amount of national recognition achieved. Yet, one thing hasn't changed—the social life of the student is still one, big happy party. For all the pressures exerted on the students' minds, most can still find time to enjoy four years of leisurely excitement, whether in the local barroom, in the shade on the campus lawn, in the quiet atmosphere of the library, or daydreaming in class.

What could be any better? Where could one find an environment more pleasing? Afterall, job hunting isn't a pleasure cruise. We all wonder in these times how college is going to help us, but remember, we are all sharing what each of us has in common—LIFE. Enjoy it while you can, because "the times, they are a changin'."

Pre-registration Dates Set

This summer, freshmen entering GSC in the fall will be able to pre-register.

Pre-registration will take place July 13, 14 and 15. Each group will be administered a reading test and achievement tests in mathematics and English.

Regular registration will take place in the Ballroom, August 25.

Those who have not registered for second summer term may do so by seeing their advisors, then reporting to the Computer Center for registration on July 14 only.

Last Issue Printed By Summer Staff

This will be the final summer edition of the Mercury. The next issue will be available during the first week of the fall term.

The summer staff worked under a considerably heavy load, as they were understaffed. The staff during the summer sessions were Steve Boilon, editor-in-chief; Jeff Gainer, news bureau director; Dana Jones, photographer; Kay Nottingham, advertising mgr.; Gil Valdez, circulation manager and cartoonist; and IBM operators, Bonnie Beightol and Lisa Jones.

Reporters are Tim Bryant, Jeff Gainer, Jon Hoover, Nancy Meads and Jim Mattox.

Boilon, a graduating senior (August) is a fourth year English/Journalism student and a veteran Mercury staff member. He has served as news bureau director, typist, production manager, assistant editor and reporter.

THE MERCURY STAFF

It is rumored that McGovern lost the 1968 election because he said, "Come Home, America," so many times that everybody thought he was British.

Our Great and Glorious once in a lifetime Bicentennial Celebration has come and gone, leaving its great and glorious once in a lifetime disappointment. Nonetheless, my once in a lifetime, great and glorious experience of writing a sentimental review of our nation's history must be completed.

Though I have mumbled absently about the Bicentennial since it began two years ago, this is IT! The greatest work I have ever written, the most positively brilliant piece of historical hatchet work ever to be written! (Excepting a few bits of my superb cutthroat propoganda).

Aaron Burr, the only Revolutionary figure worth writing a book about, once told of two ways to relate a succession of events (in this case, a pocket-sized version of American history) is to 1) begin at the beginning, a logical place, and bring the events in chronological order to present date, and 2) to begin at the present and proceed in reverse order to the beginning. I shall improve on both methods by combining them.

American History in ten easy, unrelated lessons:

1. The pilgrims founded Plymouth so that they could worship as they pleased and see that everyone else did, too.
2. George Washington, a well-known personage, was made general of the American Army. Benedict Arnold, a well-known military genius and all-around apple polisher, became disturbed and spilled the beans to the British because he wasn't made head honcho.
3. Washington was elected president, and as everyone knows, marked the beginning of the rapid decline of the United States and/or America.
4. Sometime later, Washington, died childless (diseases will do that) from excessive bloodletting in a vain attempt to cure a social disease he had contracted from one of his slaves of the female gender.
5. Martin Van Buren, known as Mattie Van, was elected president. Mattie didn't resemble his supposed father, but he bore a striking resemblance to his father, Aaron Burr.
6. The slaves were freed, but Lincoln didn't sign the Proclamation that emancipated them. Somebody shot him anyway.
7. Thomas Edison invented the light bulb, and forever blessed cartoonists with the idea.
8. Novel number two on the best seller list reports that Rutherford B. Hayes' presidential election cost him two million dollars in bought votes.
9. An active gay activist reports that former president James Buchanan was a homosexual. Some believe that his cabinet members were gay also. If Buchanan had openly admitted his preference, he never would have been elected, but the opposing party might have managed to nominate him.

Ratliff Honored By Golf Tourney

Glenville Golf Club in Glenville, W. Va. will be holding a tournament for area amateur golfers. It will be the Carlos Ratliff Memorial Tournament to be held Saturday and Sunday, July 17 and 18, 1976. The 36 hole event is named in honor of Carlos Ratliff, former coach at Glenville State College from 1946 to 1961, during which time he promoted the sport of golf in the Glenville area and made great contributions of time and energy to Glenville Golf Club.

Tentative plans include five flights which shall be determined after the first day's play. Many of the area's top amateurs, including Terry Crislip, West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference golfer of the year for 1976, will compete for an anticipated $800 in prize awards. Entry blanks are available at area golf courses or may be obtained by contacting officials at Glenville Golf Club, P.O. Box 121, Glenville, W. Va. 26351, or phone the pro shop at 304-462-9907. Entry fee is $15.00 and play will be limited to the initial sixty-three entries.

Ten Counselors Become Staffers At Governor's Local Youth Camp

by Jim Mattox

The week of July 5-9 will be a busy week at the Gilmer County Recreation Center. The center will be host to the Governor's Youth Opportunity Camp Program.

This camp is a joint effort of the W.Va. Department of Welfare, Gilmer County Community Action Association, Gilmer County Board of Education, and Glenville State College. Each group contributes to the camp.

The Department of Welfare determines who is eligible to attend the camp by the income of the parents.

The Community Action Association will provide transportation for campers and they also provide the funds for the camp.

The Gilmer County Board of Education will provide buses and bus drivers when they are needed.

Glenville State College provides the director and counselors for the camp.

The director of the camp this year is Coach Tim Carney. He and the ten students enrolled in the camp counseling class serve as the staff for the camp.

The counselors for this camp are Don Chapman, Greg Arnette, Linda Fullen, Susan Martin, Gene Pearson, John Salamon, Kathy Ferrel, Marvin Gothard, Terry Rollins, and Anita Harold. These counselors will stay with the campers from around 8 a.m. Monday until around noon Friday around the clock.

Around one hundred campers will be involved with classes in the mornings, swimming and games in the afternoons, and campfires and other activities in the evenings. On Wednesday, the campers will travel to the French Creek Game Farm to see the animals. On Friday, they will have a picnic at Cedar Creek State Park.

The week of Aug. 2-6 will be busy also. Braxton County will be having a camp at the Gilmer County Recreation Center with Coach Tim Carney directing the camp. Anyone interested can enroll in Camp Counseling class and receive $50 for their effort.

Greeks Organize Retreats

The Theta Xi Chapter of Delta Zeta will hold their annual summer retreat at the sorority house at 305 E. Main Street on the weekend of July 17-18.

The week-end will be primarily devoted to preparation for full rush. A special highlight of the week-end will be the initiation of Miss Jeanne Kobuszewski in the bonds of Delta Zeta sisterhood. "Miss K." is an instructor of Speech and is Director of Drama at GSC. She received her Bachelor's degree in Speech and Drama from Mary Mount College in Selina, Kansas, Master's from Central Michigan University at Mount Pleasant, Michigan and has completed work toward her doctorate at the University of London, England. Miss Kobuszewski served as a Delta Zeta Patroness last year. She is also adviser to Ohningohow Players and Alpha Psi Omega Dramatic Fraternity.

The sisters will also be planning a special get together with alumni in August to celebrate the final payment on the sorority house.

Congratulations and the best of luck to sister Sandy Roberts Seman on her recent marriage.

The sisters of the Delta Alpha chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma Social Sorority will hold their summer retreat in Glenville the week-end of July 17th. The girls plan to stay with various friends in town. Plans will be made for the fall activities including rush.

The fraters of Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity plan to hold its retreat at Brocks Run near Sutton this coming weekend. They expect about 40 members to be present for the weekend festivities. The fraters will work on plans for this fall's coming activities.

Theta Xi's are discussing plans for an approximate $20,000 loan from a local bank for improvements on the fraternity house.

The summer retreat for the Brothers was held during Folk Festival weekend.

On Thursday, July 15 from 12-6 p.m. at the Wesley Foundation, the local Red Cross will hold a Blood Drive. Persons are asked to donate through the local Red Cross or the community voluntary blood bank in accordance to the area Red Cross drive.

The Robert F. Kidd Library will be offering a collection of childrens' books entitled, "Books on Exhibit." An annual exhibit for 25 years, "Books on Exhibit" is sponsored by a national service from Mt. Kisco, N.Y. The collection may be viewed from July 19-Aug. 13, from 1-4 p.m. Several subjects covered by the books in the collection include: The American Revolution, crafts, nature, feminism, the occult, and tales of various kinds.

And now for the most overrated poem, story, etc., of the Revolution:

Come, little children, and you shall hear,
Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere. . .

and so on and so forth with such nonsense about the frenzied nocturnal dash of an obscure silversmith screaming about the British coming to invade Lexington. This popular fairy tale was popularized by the mortal Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Longfellow didn't know that Revere didn't ride alone; he was accompanied by his faithful fifth of antifreeze, and two friends and tavern buddies, William Prescott and Nathaniel Dawes.

While riding to Lexington, the three met British guards along the road. Dawes turned and ran the other way, and was shot in the arm. Prescott escaped and rode on to carry the message to Lexington, but-- Revere, here though he was supposed to be, was taken prisoner. He remained valiantly silent until the British put a gun to his head, whereupon, he promptly spilled the military beans. The British soldiers were so grateful to Revere that they offered him a position in the Royal British Army. Since he didn't know the words to "God Save the King," Revere declined their offer, but graciously, as well as nervously, accepted their thanks. He was charged with cowardice in the face of the enemy, but for unknown reasons, was never tried.

If Longfellow could see him now.
