43rd Annual Homecoming Viewed from Retrospect

The 43rd Homecoming at Glenville State College is history. For all practical purposes, it was one of the best homecomings of many years. A total of 46 units were entered in the 40-minute parade.

The coronation, set in the beautiful atmosphere of the amphitheatre, bedecked with colorful fall leaves, was impressive. Dean Mack Samples did a commendable job as Master of Ceremonies. President Wilburn crowned Queen Mabelle and all the royal court was resplendent.

Rohrbough Field was filled to capacity for the Homecoming game, where half-time festivities included the announcing of Montrose winners and float winners. Sigma Sigma Sigma captured first place honors with a 'Three Pigs' theme centered around 'Who's afraid of the Bluefield Blues?' Second place Lambda Chi Alpha chose the theme of Cinderella's Castle, while third place Tau Kappa Epsilon built their float around 'The Castle and Drawbridge.' Go-Mart won the window display.

Approximately 150 alumni and friends attended the reception at Conrad Hotel, 351 attended the dances and a receptive audiences greeted the final performance of '6 RMS RIV VU.'

As the curtain went down on Homecoming '76, many hearts were gladdened by memories of an outstanding weekend of activities.

STUDENTS OBSERVE

Internship Proposed

Fifty West Virginia college students will have an opportunity to watch government in action as a result of a new program established by the West Virginia Legislature.

According to Suzanne Tewksbury, program coordinator, students will work on a one-to-one basis with legislators for a one-week period, observing committee meetings, floor sessions, and hearings. Legislators will be available to answer questions, explain strategy, and discuss procedures.

Students will also meet with representatives of groups which influence the legislative process, she said. The schedule includes sessions with members of the executive and judicial branches of state governments as well as lobbyists and the press.

The program will take place during the 1977 regular session, and in most cases will be worth one hour of college credit. The only cost to students will be morning and noon meals.

The legislative observation program is open to all junior and seniors who have completed an introductory political science course. Interested students should contact Dr. Joe Darnall, campus coordinator, for applications and further details about the program. Applications must be returned to Dr. Joe Darnall Oct. 20.

Enrollment Announced

Glenville State College fall enrollment has been announced by the West Virginia Board of Regents this week.

A total enrollment of 1606 students is reported as compared to last year's 1622, or a decrease of approximately one per cent.

There are presently 1103 full time students and 503 part-time students, according to John Hendrickson, Public Information Officer.

QUEEN SHELLEY ADOLFSON

Nominees Narrowed To 23

The list of applicants and nominees has been narrowed to 23 in the search for a president of Glenville State College, according to Dr. Ben L. Morton, Chancellor of the West Virginia Board of Regents.

Dr. D. Banks Wilburn, current president, is scheduled to retire June 30, 1977.

As Executive Director of the search and screening process, Chancellor Morton works with the 17-member Glenville State College Presidential Search and Screening Advisory Committee. The committee is charged with presenting three to five candidates to the Board of Regents from which the Board may select a new president.

The 23 persons selected for further consideration were chosen from a field of 145 nominees and applicants.

Following reference checks, the advisory committee will meet again

November 5 for the purpose of selecting an initial interviewee group of approximately six to eight individuals.

The committee goal is to present its recommendations to the Board of Regents at an early 1977 Board meeting. Mr. Michael Ferrell of Parkersburg is chairman of the search and screening committee. He is one of five Glenville State College Alumni on the search and screening committee.

'Hamlet' Presentation Well Received

The Cultural Affairs Committee of Glenville State College is to be congratulated for the selection of The New Shakespeare Company which performed Hamlet in the GSC auditorium, on Tuesday, October 19. On Tuesday afternoon I had the pleasure of meeting several members of the company and got to observe them unloading their set and props.

Most of the members of the company are from the San Francisco Bay area and have varying degrees of theatrical experience. As they were unloading the massive set, I wondered how they would ever manage to place all the set on our small stage, but they did, and the results were amazing.

The set consisted of various platforms and steps which all served as an effective background for Hamlet. One of the most ingenious parts of the play were the lighting and sound effects. Hamlet's father's ghost looked eerie and forboding as it urged Hamlet to follow him. It was really astounding what this company did with our small auditorium. The actors made their entrances and exits from all areas of the auditorium, another example of the ingenuity of the company.

The actors were exciting, convincing, and obviously well trained. The most outstanding member of the cast was Hamlet, portrayed by Cal Bedford. One of the most memorable scenes of the show was when Hamlet, pretending to be mad, came on stage reading a book. Mr. Bedford's deep, well-trained voice was easily heard and much appreciated by the almost capacity crowd. Polonius, Marcus Chase, also did an excellent job in his portrayal. As the jolly Polonius, he easily enabled the audience to appreciate Shakespeare's often overlooked humor. Laertes, John Woodbridge, portrayed his role excellently. The sword fight between Laertes and Hamlet was exciting and obviously well choreographed.

In one of the most coveted roles for actresses, Julie Roberts, Ophelia, did a superb job.

The only disappointment in the cast was Gertrude, the Queen, whose voice and facial expressions seemed too static. The two jesters seemed ill-fitted for their roles and often got in the way of the other actors.

The costumes were also beautiful. The Queen and King looked elegant in their red velvet and Hamlet looked equally mad in his ragged black leotards. There was only one problem concerning the costumes, and that was that one of the actors had on brown cowboy boots which looked out of place in the play.

As the play ended, the crowd gave the actors a well deserved standing ovation. For those of you who saw Hamlet I'm sure you will agree with me that it certainly was a fine performance. For those of you who didn't see the show, it was certainly your loss.

"There are more things in heaven and earth than you have ever dreamed of", and there was more professionalism on the GSC stage than I'd ever thought possible. Thanks again to the Cultural Affairs Committee of GSC, and many, many thanks to the New Shakespeare Company of San Francisco for a job well done!

'6 Rms Riv Vu's Labeled as 'Skillful' Production

6 Rms Riv Vu, Bob Randall's scintillating tragic comedy had an amazingly skillful performance last week by the Glenville Drama Department. The most pleasing surprise of the production was Alan Latanzio, who, with no previous acting experience at all, performed professionally in the lead part of Paul Friedman. Equally pleasing was the female star, Brenda Henthorn (who has the advantage of past acting) interpreting the character of Anne Miller, the soul-sister of Erma Bombeck. The play, for those who were too uncultured to attend it, is set in an empty apartment where the two lead characters are trapped together, after the superintendent leaves with the doorknob. They begin their relationship with a spirited argument, and end up having an affair. Some members of the cast said that they felt that the play shouldn't be called a comedy at all, because of its serious point.

Randall used stereotyped aggressor roles between Anne and Paul for a good comic effect. Paul, Mr. Jewish Middle Class, is not totally faithful to his wife, as he confessed his "Jewish affair" on the IRT. Anne, however, was reduced to sorting socks after her marriage. Paul is all for having an affair, so that he might feel that he is still attractive, still masculine. Anne's desire for an affair (and Paul) is more unconscious, brought out in statements (by the way, the audience missed this one) like, "let's get to the climax."

Everybody missed the mistake Thursday night which caused technical director Jeanne Kobuszewski to make curious noises. The college yearbook was supposed to be in the shopping bag. It wasn't. Ray Powell, playing Eddie the superintendent, saved the performance by entering and telling Paul that he "... left this in the elevator." In the back of the theatre, someone breathed a sigh of relief.

Overall, the entire cast was able to overcome the disadvantage of scenery and the improbable situation. The play was so well received by the audience that none really minded when the baby barked; instead, they assumed that it was just a pampered dog. Which, by the way, might not have been a bad idea.

Meanwhile, in the Jungle

Monday morning classes, after the homecoming weekend celebration (s) were a little rough getting up for. I speak not only for myself, but also imply the use of the editorial "we" due to my observation of a lot of yawning and general restlessness on the part of my fellow classmates. However, not only did we have to contend with tired bodies, we also had to cope with the chilling temperatures of the classrooms.

At 6:30 a.m., my alarm awoke me from a restful sleep. As I stumbled out of bed, I wanted to jump back in as my feet hit the icy floor. But through dedication and with the threat of horrid punishment from Dr. Gillespie, I prepared to go to class. Luckily, I was so cold that I wore my heaviest socks, jeans, and blouse, a brown sweater, and a red sweater, (which didn't match, but I thought I could get at least away with that) and I began the long journey to breakfast. The sky was dark with what I was sure were clouds which would, at any moment, burst into a blizzard of snow.

As I shivered through breakfast, I wondered how much the Post Office would charge me to mail my Alaskan fur coat to Glenville. With thoughts of Miami Beach (an attempt to keep warm), I made my way to the Ad Building. Taking my seat, I contemplated the possibility of building a camp fire on my desk. With visions of the blazing fire, my mind wandered back through the events of Homecoming.

Saturday morning's parade was really impressive. Reliable sources tell me that it was the longest one in GSC's history. I could still hear and see the bands, with the Morgantown High School Band marching in an almost endless stream before me. Float after float paused before the judges platform, each showing ingenuity and school spirit. As the TKE's float went by, I wondered how they had managed to build their huge (humongous) float. All of the floats were beautiful and showed much effort on the part of the groups they represented.

The coronation of Queen Machelle and her court was beautiful. The Amphitheatre, and the fallen leaves made the coronation even more impressive. Congratulations again to Queen Machelle and her court.

Meanwhile, back at the football field, the Morgantown High School Band entertained the Homecoming Crowd to a pre-game show to end all shows. I'll never forget the 183 member band's superb performance.

Steve Horner did a great job as Pioneer, as he urged the Pioneers on to victory. As President Wilburn introduced the Montrose Award winners, Jerome Fruit and Sam Ferrell, I felt respect not only for the two young men who deserved the award, but for President Wilburn as well. President Wilburn is retiring from GSC, and I feel he too must be congratulated on a job well done.

Congratulations to the winners of the float awards. All participating organizations deserved awards for their efforts. TKE's need to practice a little good sportsmanship in regards to the results of the float awards. Do you really think it was necessary to destroy the trophy?

The only disappointment with the Homecoming was that we lost the game. Well, at least it was close. Wait til next year, Bluefield!

I'm sure everyone who went to the dance enjoyed themselves, but I didn't go. I was on the GSC stage singing my heart out in '6 Rms Riv Vu'. Now that the play is over, I'd like to thank all the people who came to the show, and Miss K. for giving me the wonderful opportunity to be in it. I'd also better thank my professors for putting up with me for the last month. I'm afraid I haven't been very responsive.

I suddenly felt a chill as Dr. Gillespie asked me "Is this sentence in the subjunctive mood?", and I came back to the freezing classroom, all thoughts of my campfire, Alaskan fur coat, and Homecoming out of my mind.

Homecoming 1976 was a great one- my thanks to the faculty, alumni, students and friends of GSC for the fond memories, and I'm also grateful for the lack of heat in the classrooms for allowing me to remember 'Homecoming 76' at GSC. Brrrrr, it's cold in here!

Billy Burke, member of the West Virginia House of Delegates and Chairman of the Finance Committee will speak to the State and Local Government class, on Friday, October 22 at 2:00 p.m. in Room 307 Administration. Visitors are cordially invited to attend.

The English department will be undergoing a curriculum revision, announced Dr. Lowell Fredin, chairman of the department. There will be a meeting of all English majors early in November in order to select two students for the revision committee.

Get Out And Vote

For those discontented students who have the audacity to complain about the conditions at GSC, an eye-opening examination of the Gilmer County schools would soon change many minds. We at this college have much for which to be grateful but the area elementary and high school students are attending classes in somewhat deplorable conditions.

On November 2, 1976 the registered voters of Gilmer County will be provided an opportunity to improve conditions for all the area students. The vehicle for driving to better schools is the recent bond issue. The issue, if passed, will allocate funds for the construction of new facilities and the renovation of existing structures.

Education is an entity far too priceless to let slip by. The environment of learning should be one where the students feel a desire to attend school not to abhor it.

If Gilmer County is ever to free itself from the burdens of poor facilities, the time is now. Even though many of you who read this editorial comment aren't directly affected by the Gilmer situation, compassion for the area students should compel you to vote in the November 2nd election.

Voting, actually takes very little time, but the time you spend could help to provide immense improvements for the area youngsters.

Butcher Expresses Thanks

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who made Homecoming 1976 one of the most successful homecomings ever. People whom I think deserve special thanks are: Jane Stump, who did a tremendous job on the parade, Sandy Betler and Dale Moore for an excellent job on the coronation, Shelly Adolfsen for the work on the bonfire, Joe Boggs for the successful handling of the pre-game and halftime program, and Ann Hamrick for overseeing it all. The members of the Student Congress coordinated the Homecoming and I think they did an outstanding job. Thanks also go to all other people who helped along the way.

Thanks All,

"Under the Critic's Eye"

by jeff gainer

Judging from the uncertain tone of the laughter after Blow-Up, presented Wednesday night, very few people understood it. But, since I could provide a semi-rational explanation afterward, here it is:

The plot of Blow-Up is totally irrelevant to the theme. Plot, in this case, is only a vehicle for presenting the theme which, sadly might have eluded the majority of the audience. Since the story does not reach a satisfying conclusion (even if it could), the theme cannot. The theme is taught to the major character, a London photographer, from whose expression evidenced that the message had eluded him. The first portion of the movie is devoted to showing the falseness, the temporary existence of the world. The image is conveyed that nothing is real, except the past, which is symbolized by an antique shop.

In the false world of photography and the rest of London, a murder is committed. The actual scene is not shown, but is caught on photos snapped by the photographer. 'I didn't catch his name, since I have tendency to miss such minor details). He blows up the photos for a clearer view, hence the title. He tries to get people to help him, but when something is important, no one is interested. Only during his purposeless, temporary life do others assist him, and then, they exist for him. Thus is raised the point - what is important? Or, more importantly (a term rendered so open to relativity that it is meaningless), what is real?

He walks again through the park where the murder was committed to find the body for a picture and attempt at making permanence. It is, as expected, gone. The day before, it was there, real, but now is of the past, and only the past is real. The mimes who were shown at the opening begin to play an imaginary tennis game, lose the ball (?) the photographer retrieves it, and the sounds of a real tennis game are heard. Curtain

Football

Glenville lost a very important game when they were defeated by the Bluefield State College Big Blues, 14-13. This was our first loss inside the southern division and means that we must defeat both W. Va. State and Concord to reach the Shrine Bowl against the northern division winner at Summersville in November.

Lee Hodges continued his personal assault upon opponents' defenses with 174 yards he picked up against Bluefield Saturday. This gives him 855 yards for the season and barring injury he should become the first 1,000 yard season rusher in the history of Glenville State College. He has but 145 yards to go and 3 games to do it in...And Lee is only a junior!! The only sad thing about this is that no other Pioneer running back has gained a total of 100 yards all year (excluding the quarterback). Mitch Guy is the closest with 93.

Once again penalties played an important part in our defeat Saturday. We have been penalized more than the opponent in every conference game we've played this year, and the "unnecessary" roughness penalty toward the end of the game, that started the small sideline skirmish, closed the door to any last minute rally.

Volleyball

The women's volleyball team travels to Fairmont today to compete in their second contest of the young season. It is a tri-match affair starting with Morris Harvey and host Fairmont contributing to the competition. The Pioneerettes, coached by Ms. Kay Chico, will be out to better their 0-1 record against their "two bitterest rivals" in the conference.

Baseball

The baseball club would like to express their thanks to everyone for their support of the 100 dollar bill raffle held over the last couple of weeks. They claim it was a big success and ask for added support in the months to come... Ms. Ida Shiflet of Stumptown was the lucky winner of the 100 dollar bill.

Grid Forecasts

Glenville-17, West Liberty-13 (Pioneers get an important win!)
Shepherd-21, Bluefield-10
Concord-24, Fairmont-15 (A big rivalry in which anything could happen.)
Salem-35, W. Va. Tech-6 (Salem keeps plugging along toward another undefeated season.)
Waynesburg, Pa.-16, W. Va. Wesleyan 11
Penn State-21, WVU-14 (This could be the year that the Mountaineers finally beat the Nittany Lions...but I doubt it.)
Western Michigan-21, Marshall-13 (Marshall sinks back into submission.)

Isn't it funny that everybody becomes a Cincinnati fan around World Series time???

Tom Cowan scrambles for yardage in last Saturday's Homecoming game.

Bluefield Mars Homecoming

The Bluefield Big Blues defeated our G-Men last Saturday before a disappointed Homecoming throng, 14-13, at Rohrbough Stadium. The loss marked our second consecutive Homecoming loss and the first loss to Bluefield since 1972. It was also the first home loss for the Pioneers during the 1976 season. The Pioneers seemed to lack the enthusiasm usually exhibited at a Homecoming game and failed to come up with the big play when it was needed, and these two factors probably accounted for the loss to the out-manned Blues.

Glenville started the scoring as if they were going to blow Bluefield away as they did something they had failed to do all year; tally a touchdown in the first quarter. Lee Hodges turned the trick as he scampered 66 yards for the touchdown, giving the Pioneers a quick

7-0 lead. But a determined Bluefield State fought back as they scored two second quarter touchdowns while shutting out our Pioneers to take a 14-7 halftime lead.

The second half was much of a stalemate with defenses and turnovers (and near turnovers) taking center stage. Glenville finally did sustain a drive midway through the fourth quarter, with the help of a fifteen yard penalty, and Lee Hodges went in from one yard out for his second touchdown of the game and seventh of the year. This touchdown came with about 3 minutes left to play in the game and made the score 14-13. The Pioneers then elected to go for the tie instead of win but Kurt Kresowaty's extra point boot was blocked and Bluefield waltzed away with the win. Glenville might have been able to get the ball back for one more try but a fifteen yard penalty assessed against the G-Men for unsportsmanlike conduct killed all hopes for a rally.

Lee Hodges once again led the Pioneers in rushing with 174 yards in 29 totes for a 6 yard average. Tom Cowan completed 6 of 16 passes for 63 yards and three interceptions. Linebacker Dave Harsh led the defense with 6 tackles and 7 assists, while Ed Donatell had 2 interceptions. Bluefield's record goes to 3-4 while Glenville drops to 3-4.

Pioneers Prepare to Meet Hilltoppers at West Liberty

Glenville travels to West Liberty tomorrow to match talents with the West Liberty Hilltoppers, a team that sports the same record as ours, 3-4. The Hilltoppers' wins have come over Shippensburg, Pa., W.Va. Wesleyan, and W.Va. State. The Pioneers have also defeated Wesleyan but are yet to face W.Va. State. The only other school that has played both West Liberty and the G-Men is Salem and they beat both teams soundly.

This is definitely a pivotal tilt for the Pioneers if they want to have a winning and successful season. We need to win the rest of our games going into the Concord which is the final game of the season. This will help to build the gridders' confidence and give them the momentum they need to win a berth in the 4th annual Shrine Bowl. West Liberty has defeated us the last two seasons, (one of the few teams to do so) so a win this year would help our gridders break a very nasty streak!

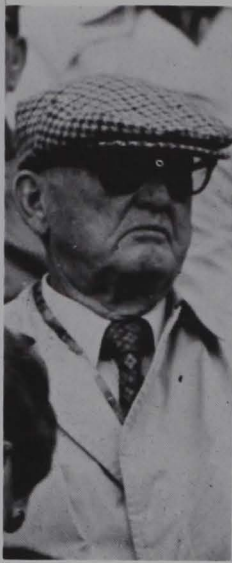

"You're supposed to catch it C.W., not kick it!" C.W. Campbell draws alot of attention from Bluefield defenders as Mike Reed (24) looks on.

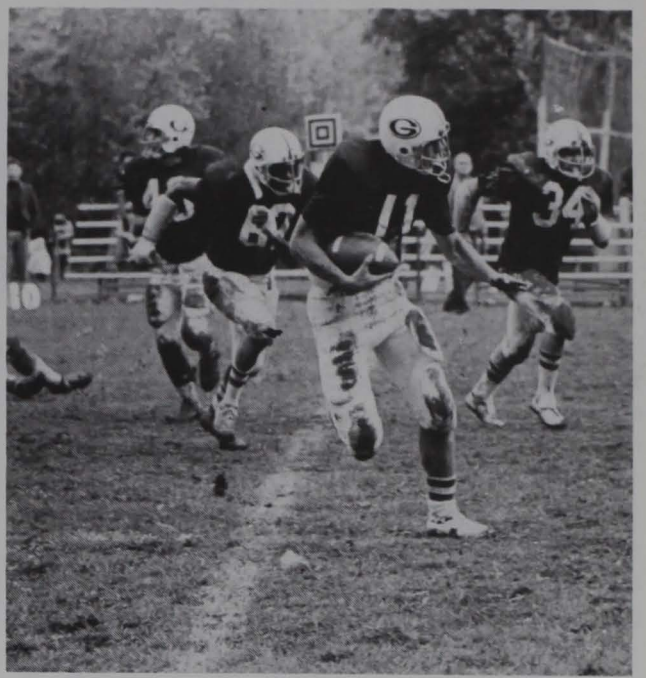

The Game's The Thing During Last Saturday's Homecoming

Lee Hodges looks for daylight against the Big Blues.

Nate Rohrbough returns after 50 years absence!!

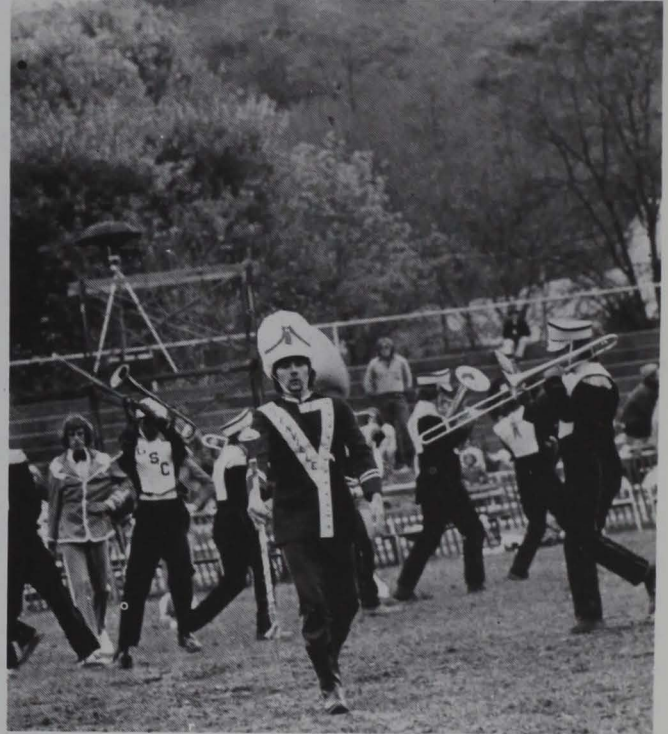

Ed Donatelli turns upfield after picking off a Bluefield ariel. Donatelli has 4 interceptions this year.

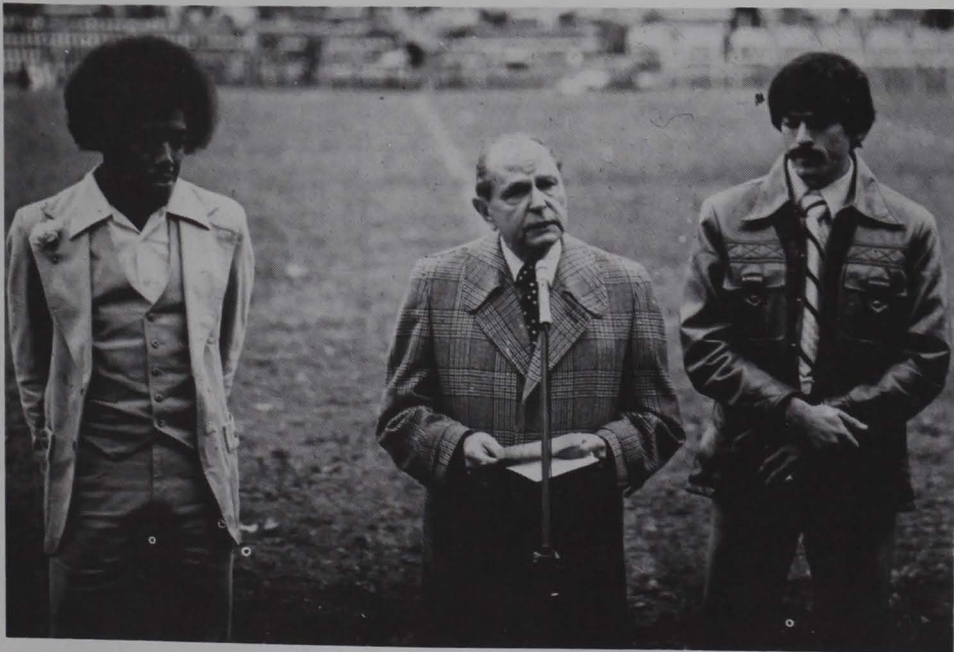

The cheerleaders were at their Homecoming best as they whooped it up for the Pioneers.

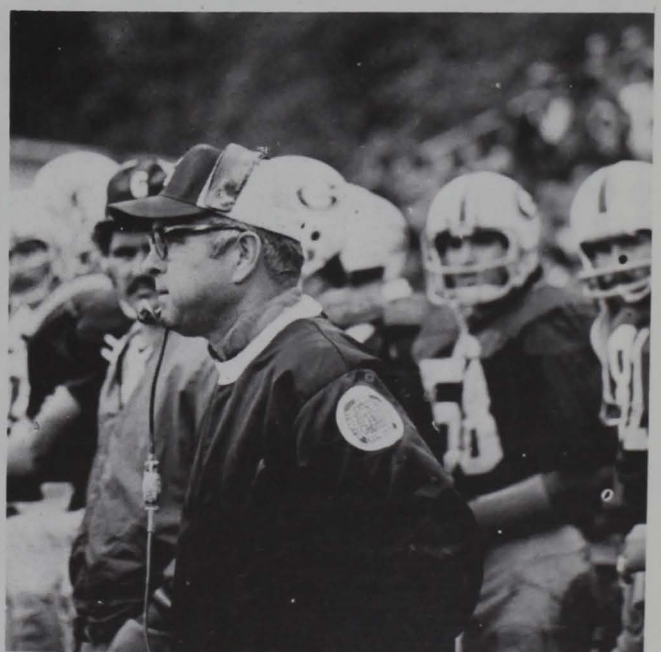

Ken Whytzell does his thing.

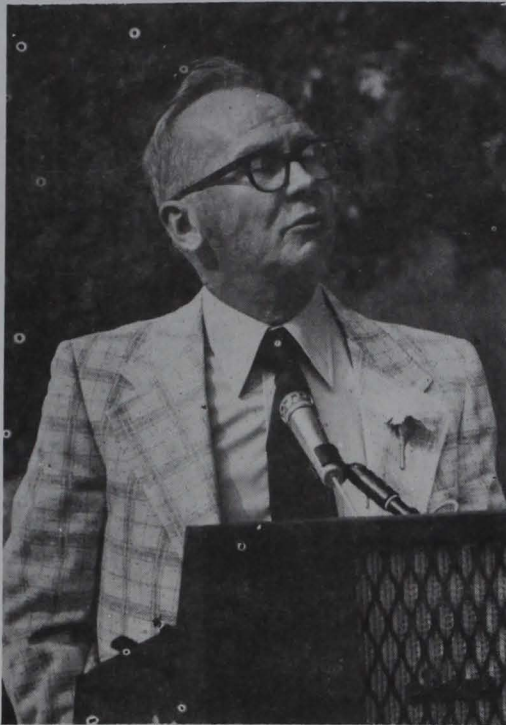

The GSC band performs their Homecoming halftime show before a capacity crowd.

Dr. Wilburn praises Jerome Fruit and Sam Ferrell just before they accept the Montrose Award.

"What do you mean there isn't any such play?"
