Humanities Project Established, Funded

The Committee for Humanities and Public Policy in West Virginia recently funded eight projects for a total of $55,297.50.

The nonprofit organization is part of the state-based program of the National Endowment for the Humanities. The Committee provides funds for projects that bring together humanists and the out-of-school adult public to discuss topics and issues of concern to West Virginians.

Dr. Barbara W. Tedford, Associate Professor of English at Glenville State College, received a $4,440.00 grant to establish a bureau of humanities resource persons. Dr. Tedford will select and work with scholars in the humanities who will be available to speak and lead discussions on a variety of topics for civic groups, clubs, PTA's and others in all parts of the Mountain State.

Nonprofit organizations are invited to submit proposals for projects which promote discussions of public policy issues by out-of-school adults. Funds are available for projects that meet the Committee's guidelines and fit its theme, "People and Mountains." To qualify for a grant, a project must directly relate to West Virginia concerns; must be planned and executed with humanists; must create dialogue; must provide matching funds or in-kind service; must present a balanced treatment of the issues; and must contain a self-evaluation by the project originator.

Dr. James L. Chapman, President of West Liberty State College, is the organization's chairman, and Dr. Charles H. Daugherty, formerly of Morris Harvey College, is its executive director.

Persons interested in submitting proposals may obtain guidelines by writing the Committee's office located at Box 204, Institute, WV 25112, or call 768-8869.

The Stage Crew prepares for the forthcoming production of "The Miracle Worker."

European Trip Slated

A three week painting and sketching trip in Scotland and a four week ceramic workshop in England are being planned for the summer of 1977 with Charles C. Scott of the Glenville State College Art Department instructing the classes. Mr. Scott conducted a similar trip to Nova Scotia during the summer of 1974 which was highly successful and enjoyed by the painting students. From June 13th to June 21st, this class will meet at Glenville State College.

The painting and sketching students will work on location and will be staying at the Cullen Center in Cullen, Scotland, from June 22nd to June 30th and at the Findhorn Sailing Center in Findhorn, Scotland from July 1st to July 10th. Cullen is an attractive township of 1200 population with a fine sheltered harbour and a sandy beach that is bounded on either side by interesting cliffs and rock formations. Findhorn, formerly a fishing port, is a small village located on the Moray Firth at the mouth of the River Findhorn. Findhorn has a beautiful beach and functions chiefly as a residential and tourist center.

The ceramic workshop will be conducted at the West Surry College of Art and Design in Farnham, England, from July 11th to August 5th. Farnham is a market town and urban district of about 25,000 population located thirty-eight miles southwest of London in the valley of the river Wey.

The estimated cost of the trip is between $1200 and $1500. A student would earn nine hours credit from Glenville State College. Some institutions will accept work as graduate credit for off-campus graduate instruction as dictated by that institution. The class will be limited to 15-20 students. Students interested in taking these classes must apply as soon as possible because air fares have to be paid at least 60 days prior to departure.

Miss Groves Attends Fest

Ms. Pitty Groves, a member of the Delta Zeta sorority, and the current reigning Miss GSC, has been chosen to represent GSC at the 18th annual Alpine Festival being held in Tucker County. She will arrive at the Blackwater Lodge in Davis on March 3.

She and other contestants will be lodged at the Blackwater Lodge. All lodging, meals and tickets to all events will be paid by the Alpine Festival Association.

'Miss Kanawhachen' Coronation Slated

... And now Ms. Kanawhachen! First there was Ms. G.S.C., then Baby Beautiful, then Crazy Legs and now ... Ms. Kanawhachen! Who is Ms. Kanawhachen? She is the endeavor of the yearbook staff for the prime purpose of receiving donations for a financially embarrassed yearbook.

Assuming that there are those who desire to be Ms. Yearbook ... er Ms. Kanawhachen, the coronation will be held on Feb. 24 at the GSC auditorium during the concert. The sponsors of the winning entrant (be they fraternity, sorority and/or independent, may at this time, "crown, anoint, or give proper recognition to Her Majesty in any mode, manner, or frame of mind" within the legal statutes of the establishment.

'Miracle Worker' Leads Interviewed

Feb. 17, 18, and 19 the Ohnimgohow Players will present The Miracle Worker. The Mercury spoke with Kyle McCartney, who will play Kate, Helen's mother, and Mr. Bob Hays who will play Helen's father, Captain Keller. The interview follows:

M - Why did you try out for this particular part?

Kyle McCartney - I thought I could relate to Kate as a lady. I liked her - how she acted.

M - Do you have any special complications in this part?

K McC - I have to be more reserved more than in any other part I've done before. That makes it a little more difficult - you have to get into the role more.

M - Do you have plans to further your acting interests?

K McC - I plan to graduate this semester, then I plan to teach, so I plan to confine my drama interests mainly as a drama coach in high school.

M - Is there anything you would like to add?

K McC - I'd like to emphasize that Kate Keller is a very complex person. The age she lived in was the Victorian Age and she had to be submissive to her husband even when she knew he was wrong. She had to be ladylike and hold her tongue.

There's a couple of places in the play where she is fighting to hold herself back. She wants to say what she thinks; she knows she is right.

M - Does this give you a problem because it is in conflict with your own character?

K McC - Yes. I usually say what I think is right - but as a Victorian lady she couldn't do that - they were the flowers of civilization. The Captain tries to act so masculine, so dignified, but sometimes he is at a loss as to what to do - he needs somebody else's direction.

M - Why did this particular part appeal to you?

BH - I had read the part before, had seen the play before and thought it was a good dramatic part. I thought I was the one best qualified for the part. I've been in plays before and wanted a last one before I graduated.

M - Do you have any special problems with the part?

BH - (laughs) Learning lines! Of course you have that with all of them! No, it's different for me this time because most other parts I've had are - I guess you wouldn't say stupid parts, but I mean - they were mostly comedy, except Of Mice and Men, which was dramatic, but it was an entirely different character. Really this is the only dramatic part I've played.

M - Do you plan an acting career later?

BH - Yes, I plan on acting in graduate school, at Marshall.

M - Is there anything you would like to add about the play?

BH - I think the play will really turn out good and the cast is just beautiful to work with.

Book Display Now At GSC

There are over three-hundred books on exhibit at Robert F. Kidd Library. This display is loaned by the West Virginia Library Commission. The Joint Committee of the Children's Book Council and the American Library Association supplied these exhibit copies for display. The display is intended to present an actual sample of the wide range of trade publishing for children and young adults. A wide selection of information books, fiction, and picture books are included.

Let You Entertain Us

GSC is the suitcase college. How many times have you heard that before? Since the beginning of the new semester and since several inches of snow, most students living on campus have been forced to stay here and suffer the boredom of Glenville weekends under snow drifts and blankets.

In a few weeks, when some of the snow melts off (sure) students will begin the weekly ritual of going home for two days of sweet glorious freedom.

It seems strange to me that nobody is taking advantage of this involuntary imprisonment. Why isn't some campus organization planning weekend activities while they still have a chance?

I'm not against going home on weekends, it just seems that something could be done for the hang-arounders to make them a little more bearable.

We've all heard every argument imaginable against weekend entertainment but the situation has been slightly different these past few weeks.

Of course, the Student Congress has finally scheduled a concert on a Thursday night so people can watch it. The only trouble is that the concert has been scheduled during tournament week.

The problem of weekends has become a vicious circle on our campus. It's a concern that involves every student. Although nothing can be done to alleviate the problem totally, perhaps something could be done to make life at Glenville a little easier on the weekend "crowd."

What If They Gave A War And Nobody Came?

After serving only one day in the highest office in the land, President Jimmy Carter committed what some people consider to be the biggest blunder ever. What I am talking about is his pardon of draft evaders.

Although this was one of his many campaign promises, not many people believed he would, or wanted it done. One can only wonder what this man will do about the many other campaign promises that he made during his campaign for office.

Many of the veterans on campus now feel that the time they spent in service to their country was wasted time. When they returned home, they were not met as heroes. For the most part they were ignored by a Country that didn't want to think about the war. The veterans were ignored, while the draft evaders are honored and welcomed home.

Something is wrong with a country that honors its' deserters and turns a cold shoulder on its' protectors. If and when another war comes along, would you rather go and fight, or would you rather take a trip to Canada, or Bermuda, with the thoughts of someday returning home?

Problems Answered

Q- What are the administration's plans for Verona Mapel Hall?

A- Plans call for the razing of Verona Mapel Hall in the spring.

Q- Why is the GSC switchboard not in operation before 8 a.m. and after 4 p.m.?

A- Student workers are on duty from 4-11 p.m.; a security guard is on duty until 7 a.m.; then a student, from 7-8 a.m. To employ regular switchboard operators for two additional shifts would cost approximately $12,000, according to Dr. Wilburn.

The Delta Zeta Sorority will be selling singing Valentine telegrams on February 10 and 11 in front of the old cafeteria. The cost is $.50 each. All you have to do is buy one and write the message you want delivered. Tell us to who you want it sent to (on campus or campus housing) on the paper provided and then it will be delivered on Valentine's Day, between 2 and 6 p.m. Let us sing to your sweetheart.

MERCURY POLL

Do you think that GSC classes should be closed temporarily due to weather and the gas shortage?

Yes 34%
No 66%

Fifty GSC students were asked the above question. Some said that "it's too late - past the stage of closing now." Many favored closing for one or two weeks so that the spring break would not be endangered. One student favored "three or four day week" as an alternative.

Halftime Talk

BY DOUG MARTIN

As the weather continues to threaten to disrupt athletics both on the high school and college level, Glenville continues to reek havoc on opponents in gymnasiums across the state. While four college teams have discontinued basketball temporarily, the Pioneers continue to not only play but win. The Pioneers have to be the hottest team in the conference presently, winning 8 of their last 9 games and moving from eleventh to second in the conference in a matter of weeks. It's amazing what a little leadership and confidence can do to a team . . . It's a shame the weather hasn't been as good as the G-Men. Due to cancellations and forfeitures the conference schedule has been thrown off and a number of games cut back. But maybe this will make the WVIAC tournament at the end of this month (That's right, the tournament is only 3 weeks away) a little more exciting.

College basketball isn't the only level of athletics hurt by the weather crunch. High school games have faced cancellation after cancellation and some schools have had to knock out home games due to lack of gas heat. Now there is talk of moving the high school tournaments back a week. Where will it all end???? While on the subject of basketball cancellations, did you see where Beckley Junior College is going to drop their basketball program after this year? I hated to see this because although Beckley is a 2 year school in a four year conference, they were always competitive and could be counted upon for a few big upsets throughout the year. But I guess the competition and economic crunch finally got to them. Sounds familiar, doesn't it!

Monday night just wasn't a very good night for WVIAC powerhouses. While we were being upset by Wheeling, top ranked Fairmont was getting knocked off by Shepherd. (Too bad!!) That's the same Shepherd team that we humiliated here a couple of weeks ago, 92-73.

BEAT TECH!!

Pioneerettes Win 2 More

Talk about a turnaround! Our women's team, who amassed only 3 wins all of last year (compared to 15 losses) has really put it altogether this year, gaining 7 wins against only 3 losses. Their latest victims were the Salem ladies last Thursday night and the Marietta women this past Tuesday.

Glenville - 56, Salem - 55

When these two teams get together you can expect a barnburner every time. Earlier this year our women defeated the Tigerettes at Salem in overtime and this time it was just as close. The game was tied at 25 at half before the G-Women pulled out to a 10 point lead in the first 13 minutes of the second half. But Salem wasn't finished as they battled back to within 1 with less than a minute to go; but our girls were able to hang on for a 56-55 spine-tingling win. Debbie Grogg and Kim Roten were the only girls in double figures for the Pioneerettes with 13 and 12 points respectively. Ellen Butcher, a classy guard, led the Tigerettes with 28 points.

Glenville - 77, Marietta - 47

The G-Women had no trouble in gaining their seventh win against the outmanned (or is that outwomanned) Marietta ladies Tuesday night at Marietta. Glenville led all the way in posting their second straight win, while winning by their biggest margin of the year. Kim Short was the leading scorer of the game with 22 points. She was followed in the Glenville books by Debbie Grogg with 19 (She also had 20 rebounds!) and Kim Roten and Diana Allen with 10 each.

This upped the ladies' record to 7-3 overall, and 7-2 in the conference. Their next game will be this Saturday against the Tech ladies at Montgomery.

Kathy Wass hits a jumper against the Tigerettes during last week's thriller.

The G-Men's Streak Ends

The streak is over. After winning eight straight ball games, our Pioneers were finally knocked off last Tuesday night. But before losing, the Pioneers managed to knock off eight conference opponents and raise their record from 1-7 to 9-7 (with a 8-4 conference record before last Tuesday's loss). They also managed to climb from 11th place in the conference to a temporary tie for second. After last Tuesday's loss they will probably drop to 4th place in the standings this week. Last Saturday's big game with Fairmont was cancelled due to water leaks at the Marion County Armory. It will be made up at a later date.

Meanwhile, the G-Men have played two games since my last writing, splitting with a 1-1 record: Glenville - 58, Salem - 41

This game was probably the worst Glenville has played all year and still won. The whole team seemed to be psychologically flat, probably due to looking ahead to Fairmont, and seemed to play the forty minutes only because they had to.

Nevertheless, the G-Men did come out on top and revenge an earlier slaughter at the hands of the Tigers earlier this season in Salem. The game was close for the first seven minutes before the Pioneers took a 5 point lead at the 12 minute mark, 18-13. They continued to increase their lead throughout the half, taking a 35-25 advantage into the dressing room at halftime. "Bum" Coates led Glenville's balanced scoring in the first half with 13 points.

The second half was flatter and slower than the first half as both teams managed only 2 points each in the first 7 minutes. Salem finally caught fire and cut our lead to 6 points twice; 41-35 at the 10 minute

Any teams interested in playing intramural basketball must have their rosters handed in to Coach Milliken by Tuesday, Feb. 8. The four dollar entry fee must accompany the roster.

Bowlers Compete In Large Tourney

Our Glenville Keglers went to Maryland University last week for a tournament with some of the best competition in the east and came back with a decent finish and alot of competitive experience. The formal name of this tournament was Association of College Unions International (Don't ask me why!) and it encompassed some of the largest and best colleges in the east.

The GSC bowlers finished a respectable 13th out of a field of 23 which included such teams as Duquesne, Maryland, W.V.U., Marshall and Penn State. Bob Davison led the Pioneers with an average of 177. Dale Sparks finished with a 174, Mike Hickman - 173, Dave Twyman - 160 and Dave Eckhart finished up the field with an average of 134. Mike Hickman had the high individual game for Glenville with a 214 game while the team averaged 165. Duquesne won the event followed by Penn State and Maryland.

Our bowlers get back into conference competition this weekend with a big regional at Fairmont. The team needs a first or second place finish in this regional to stay in the thick of things as far as the conference championship goes.

Tom Coates (20) puts up a shot with a little assistance from Charles Warner (44). mark and 43-37 at the 7 minute mark.

But after this it was all Glenville as they mounted leads to as much as 19 points before settling for a 58-41 yawning victory. Coates led our scoring attack with 19 points.

Wheeling - 78, Glenville - 77

This was a heart breaker for two reasons: It broke our streak, and it's always tough when you lose a close one that far away from home. The Pioneers were never ahead as it took a half to recover from the long and cold trip to the northern part of the state. We played a dismal first half trailing by as much as 12 points, including the halftime spread of 44-32.

The G-Men finally got untracked in the second half, and finally tied the game at 72-72 before Wheeling ripped off 5 straight points to take a 77-72 lead with 2 minutes to go. Dan Wilson scored all 5 of these Cardinal points in a matter of 15 seconds. But Glenville never said die as they fought back to knot the game up at 77 with little over a minute to go. Wheeling then held the ball for the last shot, but Ron Gaddy was fouled with 3 seconds to go and hit one of his 2 shots to win the game for Wheeling.

A bright spot in the loss was the balanced scoring of the Pioneers. We had 5 men in double figures; Ralph Ledbetter led the way with 18 followed by Charles Warner with 14 and Tom Coates, Joe Kniceley and Wayne Washington with 12 each. "Stretch" Warner led in the rebounding category with 10 while Ledbetter pulled down 9. Dan Wilson finished with 21 points for the Cardinals. Glenville's record now stands at 9-8 overall and 8-5 in the conference.

Yes, the streak is broken, but that only means we'll have to start another one. And that will happen this weekend when we take on the W.Va. Tech Golden Bears at Montgomery on Saturday.

BULLETIN !!

James Riffle, Sports Information Director, has announced that all Glenville WVIAC tournament games will be broadcast live through WRGT radio - Clarksburg!

Joe Kniceley battles the entire Salem team for a rebound in last Thursday's win.

Counselor Outlines Careers Services

In talking with students at Glenville State College, I have found that there is an uncertainty in quite a number of students' minds as to where a college degree will lead them. Not only are students unclear about what they might do with their college preparation, but many students are struggling with the initial question of what college degree to pursue. Choosing a college major or career is a trial and error process for many students. Counseling and placement services provided by most colleges are definitely not an end in themselves. This speculation can be supported by the fact that most students have career concerns when they enter as well as leave college. Because students sometimes approach career decisions in a capricious manner, they need to be able to explore, to the extent they wish, what different courses are like, and the implications their reactions and capabilities have for career decisions.

Some students are aware that they cannot fit themselves into the "mold" of a particular major, and may wish to pursue a general studies curriculum, taking those courses they are interested in or studying areas they wish to pursue. A student who confidently decides on a general studies program, will be able to study areas in which he is interested. Negative feedback is often given to students in general studies programs, and such reactions as, "You mean you haven't chosen a major?", or "How can you get a job with a major in general studies?", which brings us to the turning point of deciding just what is an education? Think about it?
