WINNERS OF GSC'S GREAT AIRPLANE CONTEST

Paper Planes Win

The first annual Glenville State Great Airplane Contest held Friday in front of Clark Hall, was a soaring success. All of the participants were really up for the competition.

There were four divisions open to all prospective pilots. Approximately fifty people entered in each division. They were judged in distance, time aloft, aerobatics, and best design. Each first place winner received a GSC beer mug, second place won a GSC T-Shirt, and third place received a record album.

Winners in the distance competition were: first place Wesley Miller, second place Roger Clevenger, and third place William Ellern.

Those victorious in time aloft were: first place Gary Layne, second place William Ellern, and third place (continued on page 6)

Sigmas Take First

"Down the field and over the Rainbow to a Victory" was the theme of the first place float of the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority in last week's Homecoming parade. The flatbed truck held "Pioneer City" complete with a royal blue castle. A rainbow connected the "City" with a field of poppies enchanted with Wizard of Oz characters. Characters were portrayed by Marc McLaughlin, Martha Crump, Kim West, Dawn Butler, Sara Arnold, and Debbie Nichols.

The second place float of the Delta Zeta sorority was also mounted on a flatbed trailer. It consisted of a green castle and a multi-colored rainbow. The float's theme was "DZ predicts a Pioneer Victory." Characters were portrayed by Marsha Scarbro, and Sharon Davis.

Pickens Hall float took third place with its theme, "Crush the Bobcats." The flatbed trailer used for the float held Dorothy's house constructed of wood and cardboard. A rainbow ran from the house to the other end of the float. Characters were portrayed by June Nohe, Shawneen Shelene, Jane Wilson, Candy Burdette, Beth Meredith, Bev Pyles, and Cristy Collins.

The Delta Zeta Sorority will sponsor a "Fall Fling" on Oct. 20 from 8-11 p.m. Everyone is invited to join us in the ballroom for dancing and socializing. Sounds will be provided by the DJ. Admission price is $.75 per person and dress is casual. Plan to join in the fun!

The M.E.N.C. is sponsoring a Variety Show to be held October 25, from 8:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. Admission is .75 cents per person.

All members of Kappa Delta Pi are requested to attend the October 20th meeting to be held in Room 102 of Clark Hall at 5:30 p.m. Points to be discussed are: nomination of an Outstanding Student Teacher; election of a new Vice-President, and future social activities.

Movie Series To Be Shown

Science movies will be shown on Thursday evening in Room 308, Science Building at 7:00 p.m. The first one will be shown on October 20 and continue each succeeding week until the series is completed. The movies are approximately 50 minutes in length.

The movies consist of seven lectures given at Cornell University by Professor Richard Feynman, physicist at California Tech. He is a Nobel laureate noted for his ability to present his highly technical subject to nonphysicists in a lively and easily understandable way. His lectures are intended to penetrate the forbidding barriers of scientific discourse and describe the fundamental laws of physics in terms laymen can comprehend. They are direct and straightforward, filled with clear and often humorous analogies. They appeal to anyone, regardless of his scientific background, who is interested in nature.

Anyone interested is invited to come and see these movies. Admission is free. For further information call Dr. Evans or Mr. McKown at the Science Building. Telephone Number: 462-7361. Extension 267 or 276.

Prof Exhibits

Mr. Charles C. Scott, Glenville State College's own professional potter, will participate in the West Virginia State Arts Conference which will be held in the Science and Cultural Center in Charleston on October 20-22, 1977.

Mr. Scott, a native West Virginian, is a professor of Art at Glenville State College. He will display pottery which has been accepted for one-man shows and jurored exhibitions on the regional and national level.

Queen Mary IV and escort Pioneer Roger Young didn't let the rain dampen their spirits at the 1977 Homecoming game with Wesleyan.

GSC Homecoming Is "Fine Success"

It took "a lot of brave souls" to weather the chill and rain and make this year's Homecoming a fine success, according to GSC President William K. Simmons.

President Simmons would like to express his appreciation to the Student Congress, faculty, administration and staff personnel who worked to make Homecoming such an enjoyable and worthwhile occasion. Though the weather was damp, commented the President, spirits were not, as was shown by the enthusiasm of the football team. The parade and coronation went well and Dr. Simmons frequently heard throughout the day the comment that "In spite of the weather, today is a good day."

Since assuming the position of President, Dr. Simmons has noticed and has been gratified by the positive attitude of GSC students. He, too, started the year optimistically and he has been met with co-operation and enthusiasm. The President has observed the same optimistic, co-operative spirit in faculty, administration and staff. Dr. Simmons feels that all of these factors have contributed to the highest enrollment in the history of Glenville State College. Current enrollment figures show a total of 1977 students with an over-all increase of 10.6% over last year. Full time equivalent enrollment is 1401, an increase of 93 over the past year (IFTE student = 1 student with a 15 semester hour load).

The past, present and future of Glenville State College are of great importance to the President and he realizes that the progress of the college requires the team effort of all involved in campus life. He "appreciates what they're doing to make this a good and going institution."

Schedule Conflict

Life is a bowl of cherries, but every once in a while we hit a pit. Because of contract problems the "Chunky, Ernie and Nov" concert has been cancelled. But students despair not! Through some mystical machinations the Student Congress advisor was able to fill this vacancy by moving the "Michael Johnson" concert up to October 28, 1977. So entertainment shall prevail.

First place float in the 1977 Homecoming Parade was entered by the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority.

UTBU Is Reviewed

UTBU, the most recent play at GSC, directed by Janet Rubin, has come and gone. For the most part, emotions and criticisms about the play are mixed; some thought it a strange play; others didn't understand the plot, I thought that the organization of UTBU was like many real life organizations, and therefore, quite relevant to our experience. The audience was laughing it up on Friday night, so they seemed to follow it well. It was a fine performance, all things considered.

T.S. Eliot based success or failure of a play on how thought provoking it is: "A play should give you something to think about. "There were a few major themes dealt with that give one plenty to think about fame, glory, egotistic pride, chauvinism, sexism, feminism, etc. What was it about anyhow? On the surface, as Kirkwood wrote it, is about unpleasant people, in a tragic world. A man named Uggins belongs to an organization that specializes in exterminating people who are selected according to their degree of dire unconcern for the feelings of others. He leaves gift wrapped bombs with them, thus 'blind' justice.

The best of the play had to be the spirited acting, which occasionally had to make up for too long pauses or mumbled over missed lines. Instead of detracting from the effect, it spurred the actors on, to the delight of the audience. At times Lynn Gough seemed to be on the verge of laughing at his supposed mother, Sheila Hamden, equally amused by the script. This affair was accentuated by a heightened (with heels no doubt) cough, and an already tiny Hamden, whose expressive eyes cued the audience to the punch lines.

Some most effective scenes in the play were done by Richard Adrian, on "mother abuse", Stephanie Davis, with her exceptional portrayal of a 'stage mother'; Teresa Barnett, for her looks of hate and Sue Parsons and Perry Ross for breaking the staged tension with their kiss. Cristy Poole also gets a double toot as a French maid. Saving the best for last, Lynn Gough was impressive in his lead role, even though he had about a week to cover his lines. He was a rave. He at least had every other line; it's a wonder he didn't go hoarse. There was energy enough to make the back-drop tremble as Lynn tore the stage apart in his death scene, where he and Adrian finalized the night, and thus showed that unpleasant people are better off dead. Hear!

DELTA ZETA

An informal meeting of the Theta Xi chapter of Delta Zeta was held on Monday, Oct. 10. New pledges were in attendance for their first meeting. The pledges for fall '77 are: Susan Pyles, Donna Fleming, Jenny Sheppard, Rachel Morris, Lavette Taylor Sally Kraft, Brenda Richards, Sheila Adams, Sheila Drennen, Judy Boso, Beverly Gregg, Sie Woo, Tammy Gunnoe and Beth Anne Stalnaker. The sisters are very proud of the new pledges.

The DZ sisters would like to thank the Theta Xis, TKEs and GDIs that helped on their second place homecoming float.

The sisters would also like to thank the girls who came down to the house for the cookie baking party. They had a great time.

Pinning for DZ pledges will be held on Sunday, Oct. 16. Pledges be sure to wear white.

The Sisters are very excited about becoming Big Sisses to Welfare children in the community. On Oct. 22 they will be taking their little brothers and sisters to Cedar Creek for an outing and picnic and to the ballgame that night. The children will be spending the night at the house and services will be held there Sunday morning.

The sisters would like to extend their sympathy to Dean Thorpe.

The sisters extend good luck wishes to the Glenville Pioneer football team for this weekend.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

The Iota Omega Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon held an informal meeting Tuesday, October 11.

During the meeting, several business ideas were discussed including plans for upcoming fund-raising projects. TKE fraters were made aware of a national recognition they received for "meeting and exceeding chapter standards."

Congratulations to frater Chris Lattimer who was elected president of the newly-formed astronomy club at GSC, and he urges all interested people to join.

The T.R.A.S.H. award for this week goes to fraters Lattimer, Miller, and Beebe - Good Work nem.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

The Brothers of Beta Beta Zeta met Monday night. At the meeting it was announced that Brother Don Whalen and Brother Jeff Wiles are planning marriages. A Bachelor Party was held after the meeting at the El Toro Supper Club, with many more to come. The brothers would like to congratulate the Sigma's, DX's, and Pickens Hall, on their placing floats. Awards this week are: Wino - Chuck Case. A - H - Bill Rubin; FCKU - Tim Coffman; Pork - Randy Gilles.

The brothers welcome new Associate members, Bert Napalatano and Dave Tebay.

Mercury Is Not Censored

There have been several rumors on campus about The Mercury that are causing concern in the office involving censorship of articles placed in this campus paper.

Contrary to the beliefs of many, The Glenville Mercury is not censored! Although this is true, it is also true that some articles or portions of articles have been left out this fall. One article, a letter-to-the-editor, was accidentally misplaced in the Wednesday night chaos and apologies are extended to Kathy Arthur and Randy Gilles who wrote it.

Many students involved in campus organizations have been complaining about their organizations' news and the fact that it is altered in print or parts of it have not been printed at all. These differences in stories are usually the result of some basic rules of journalism that are not important enough to discuss here. If you have questions concerning news please direct them to members of the Mercury staff. Here they can be answered accurately and you may learn something about newswriting, also.

Again, the Mercury is NOT censored! Members of the staff do prefer tact and would like to exercise care. The thought of being sued for libel or slander is not exactly pleasant. We may also hold articles if there is an overabundance of material for one paper.

If you wish to question or challenge this, feel free to direct a response to me.

Also, remember that the deadline for all stories, letters, etc., is Wednesday noon! Get articles in as soon as possible to insure publication.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

The sisters of Delta Alpha Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma held their ceremonial meeting Monday.

Best wishes to Sister Carla on her recent marriage to Don Whalen.

Special thanks to Sisters Jennifer Cavender and Sue Kinder for the spaghetti feast.

Congratulations to all the sisters who accepted bids to the Ladies of the White Rose.

Welcome to new pledges, Sheila Hamden, Debbie Grogg, Sue Baisden, Kathy Spencer, Cindy Russell, Brenda Reid, Desi Skinner and Beth Dunn. You're great!

All the sisters enjoyed the coke party Tues. night and everyone who attended is invited back to a floor picnic Sunday evening. See you there.

Plans for the Fall Formal were finalized. Sisters, pledges and dates will be attending, starting a new tradition here at GSC.

Good Luck to the Pioneers against Bluefield this weekend.

THETA XI

Kappa Eta Chapter of Theta Xi, fraternity held its weekly meeting Monday. Plans were discussed for Sadie Hawkins, Nov. 5, 1977. The Brothers are also planning a pool shooting tournament and are now washing and waxing cars at the fraternity house for $15 per car.

Awards this week are S.L.O.T.H. - goes to pledge Jim Huffman, HOGGER award goes to Mike Swann, and LOVER award goes to Mark Dorsey. Congratulations to all.

Challenge Accepted!

H.E.B.U.'s challenge is accepted! Last week's challenge of the H.E.B.U. sponsored independents has been met by the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. The game will be held at the GSC old football field on Tuesday, Oct. 18 at 5:30 p.m. This flag football game will be played under the N.A.I.A. rules. After the game, the losers will buy a keg to be shared by all team players at the Campus Pub.

Reflections Of 'Homecoming'

The weather was damp, but spirits were high and dry for the 44th Glenville State College Homecoming festivities. Someone forgot to pay the preacher.

The parade won a slight reprieve from the rain, but it was short-lived. The Sigma float persevered however, and captured the first place award.

With rain falling intermittently, the queen's coronation had to be moved inside. All the Queen's court and the Queen herself looked very royal. Mr. Mack Samples was Master of Ceremonies, presiding over the coronation. The Alumni President, Dennis Myers spoke and President Simmons crowned Queen Mary Martin.

The football game was not as enjoyable as the coronation. Rain mixed with a not so exciting brand of football made for a disappointing afternoon. The players gave everything they had but it wasn't enough.

The Homecoming dance was enjoyed by all the prospective boogiers that attended. The band, "Staircase", was exceptional in their renditions of contemporary tunes.

Also, we hope the visiting alumni enjoyed their return to Glenville even though the weatherman showed very little cooperation. It is always a bright spot during homecoming to see old friends and to reminisce.

Though the sun didn't shine, most of us will always have a warm place in our hearts for this year's Homecoming.

Halftime Talk

By DOUG MARTIN

Well, we lost another one, but we went down fighting harder than ever. The G-Men have nothing to be ashamed of after losing to a tough W.V. Wesleyan team (4-1) record, 6-0 before a Homecoming crowd. This has to be Glenville's best outing of the year, as they kept most fans at the game until it was all over, something they had failed to do before.

The defense got itself together for its best outing of the year, allowing for 236 yards in total offense, but only one touchdown. This came on a "bomb" almost identical to the one that the Pioneers used to beat Wesleyan last year (7-0) at Buckhannon.

But as has been the case all year, the Big Blues couldn't come up with the big offensive play. We were shut out for the second time this year, a rarity for Glenville football. The Pioneers threatened few times, and these opportunities were foiled by fumbles and busted plays.

A lot can be said for Coach Adolfsen's troops. They haven't given up all year and they didn't give up Saturday... They are losing players left and right by injuries, the latest being Mitch Guy and Keven Grogg who will probably be out for the season. Also hobbled and probably out temporarily are Rick Reidl, Mike Reed and Lee Hodges... Things have gotten so bad that some players are having to play both offense and defense. An example of this is Bob Eaton who is playing split end and defensive back. Last week he intercepted one pass and caught one while playing end.

One look at offensive stats will show why the Pioneers can't score. They have only 564 total yards in 5 games compared to 1531 (almost triple) for the opponents. We have only one player who has rushed for more than 100 yards. This is Hodges who has picked up 215 yards carries for an average of only 2.5 a carry.

At the beginning of the season, I mentioned that the quarterbacking chores would be capably handled by Terry Spangler and Randy Jeffries, but alas, Spangler was found ineligible and Jeffries decided to hang 'em up. The job has been given to two sophomores: Kemp Kelley and Drew Waller. Saturday, they combined for 2 completions in 13 attempts, with two interceptions.

On the bright side, freshman Chuck Ludwig from Brooke County replaced injured middle linebacker Rick Reidl and did a bang-up job. He came up with 10 unassisted tackles...

BOWLING

Coach Gary Kight reports that bowling practice is now taking place every afternoon at 3:30. Any interested (and talented) persons should see Mr. Kight at the game room for information; men and women are both eligible. The bowling team's first competition will be the Mountaineer Classic to be held October 22-23 at WVU.

BASKETBALL

Coach Lilly's troops will hit the hardwood in earnest for the first time tomorrow evening as official practice opens. A cut has been made and the official squad announced (barring no catastrophes). Lilly and Assistant Coach Tim Carney have eight lettermen returning from last year's team that went 16-9 and finished strong. Added to that are two Beckley College transfers and five promising freshmen.

The team's first competition will be against the Republic of China National Basketball team at the GSC gymnasium Sunday, November 6. Look for more about this in a future Mercury.

GRID FORECASTS

Bluefield - 7, Glenville - 0
Concord - 28, W.Va. Tech - 12.
The Southern Division championship is decided in this one.
Salem - 21, W.Va. Wesleyan - 15
Shepherd - 42, West Liberty - 12
Kentucky State - 24, W.V. State - 7.
W.V.U. - 31, Boston College - 20. Mountaineers will win this one before being thumped by Penn State next week.

Furman - 21, Marshall - 14. The up and down Herd can't win the big one away from home.

I had a good week last week hitting 5 out of 7 to raise my season percentage to a "still less than respectable .528."

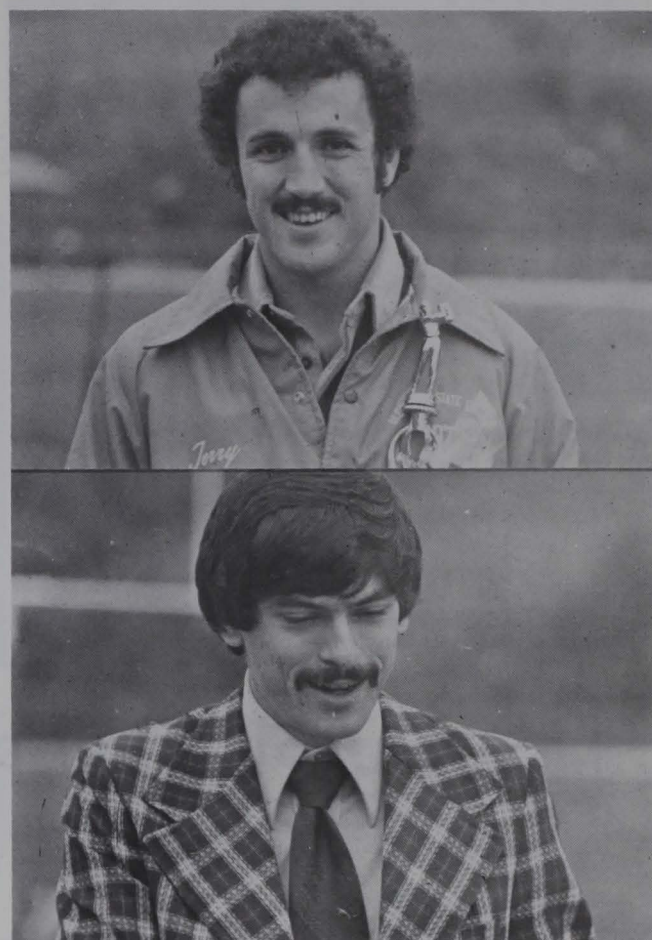

Since I'm writing this on Tuesday I do not know who won any of this week's World Series games. So here's my prediction: the Yanks in 6!

Volleyball Intramural standings for the first couple of weeks are in and the leaders are listed below. Coach Jerry Milliken, director of Intramurals, would like to remind all teams that the $2.00 forfeiture fee is still due in his office. He also commented that there have been too many forfeits so far and these will have to be minimized in order for the program to be a success.

'Cats' Dampen Homecoming!

Homecoming has come and gone and with it has gone another football game. The opponent for the 44th Annual Homecoming was W.Va. Wesleyan and the results were the same as they have been the last two homecomings and this whole season; Glenville lost. But as has been the case in other Homecoming losses, it was a hard fought battle all the way. The Pioneers lost 6-0 to be shut out for the second time this year, and probably the first time in a Homecoming game for a long time. The G-Men are now 0-5 and are off to their worst start since 1955 when they were 1-7 under Coach Murin.

A near capacity crowd (3,000 est.) was on hand to watch the festivities at the first Homecoming played at Pioneer Stadium. Spirits may have been dampened by the rains that set in early Saturday morning and continued off and on through the day, but you couldn't tell it. The game settled into a defensive match throughout the first half and most of the third quarter. The Pioneers squandered one opportunity to score in the first quarter when the snap was fumbled on an attempted field goal attempt. Another time a Glenville drive was stalled on the Bobcat 20 when Kemp Kelly fumbled. Other than that the defenses dominated the contest until late in the third quarter when Wesleyan connected on a 69 yard pass play to Keith DiPasquale from Steve Kirby who threw in desperation after being chased out of the picket. Bob Eaton, who was defending on the play, came close to breaking up the play, but the ball went over his outstretched hands into DiPasquale's who went untouched in to the end zone. Wesleyan may have scored another touchdown or two but were thwarted by good Glenville defense and fumbles. All in all, the "Cats" lost 7 fumbles on the wet turf and Glenville 2.

The Pioneers were held to only 100 yards in 47 attempts on the ground and completed only 2 passes in playing conditions more suitable for water polo than football. But the defense shone as they gave up only the long TD and stopped others by forcing bad breaks or Wesleyan. The Pioneers picked off 3 Bobcat passes and were led in tackles by freshmen linebacker Chuck Ludwig and tackle Larry Cundiff.

The G-Men must now travel to the lower end of the state to face the Bluefield Big Blues. The "Blues" own a 1-4 record; and haven't had much more success than the Pioneers. This would be a good chance for the Pioneers to pick up that first big win. Bluefield is also a southern division opponent, which is an extra incentive for victory. The Big Blues beat us here last year 14-13 but other than that we have pretty well dominated them in recent years. Kick off is set for 7:30 tomorrow night.

G-Women Defeated At Morris Harvey

Our women volleyballers were back on the road, last week traveling to our capital city to face hostess Morris Harvey and always tough Marshall University in a tri-match.

The G-Women first faced Morris Harvey in the best 2 out of 3 contest and lost 15-13 and 16-14 in sudden death. The Pioneerettes then lost to Marshall by identical scores of 15-7 taking a third place finish in the match. "The Herd" then defeated Morris Harvey to capture first place.

This makes the women's record 0-6 on the season, but Coach Chico is not disappointed in her squad. She is quick to point out that she has only two girls that have played college volleyball before, those being Connie Franklin and Kim West. She also states that the rest of the girls have seemed awed by the caliber of play in the conference. Ms. Chico did seem a little red-faced that her team let archrival Morris Harvey out of their grasp. She feels that the G-Women are better than Harvey and will show it before the season ends.

Pottery Exhibit Slated

George Harper of the Art Dept. will be exhibiting pottery at the seventh annual Bob Evans Farm Festival at Rio Grande, Ohio, on Oct. 14, 15, 16. The Festival will have over a hundred crafts people from Ohio, W.Va., and Penna., as well as Ky. There will be exhibited all the traditional crafts of weaving, wood carving, wool dyeing, and furniture making.

Pioneerettes Volleyball

Right now it looks like Concord may be the team to beat in the conference according to Coach Chicco, though she hasn't seen all the teams play yet.

The Glenville girls are now idle until their November 1 match that will be played here against Fairmont and Salem. It will be the only home contest of the year.

Dave Strickler entertained with a frisbee and a dog before the Homecoming game.

Anyone interested in taking an E.M.T. (Emergency Medical Technician) class that will be offered second semester get in touch with Jim
