Glamour Girl Contest Open

The entry deadline date is drawing nearer and GSC is still in need of a representative for Glamour's 1978 Top Ten College Women Contest. All GSC women enrolled in classes at the time of application deadline (December 15, 1977) are eligible to enter the contest.

The contest is based on achievement in academic studies and/or in extracurricular activities on campus or in the community. Young women from colleges and universities across America will be competing for a trip to New York to meet the GLAMOUR staff and a $500 cash prize. The ten winners will be featured in GLAMOUR'S August College Issue in 1978.

All GSC students who are interested should contact Mrs. Yvonne King in the Mercury office for more information. Information on competition, rules, and judging plus applications is available.

Students Caution

The Veterans Administration today cautioned GI Bill students to "look before they leap" if they are considering dropping courses or seeking non-punitive grades for them.

VA Regional Director Sam A. Tiano said that in certain circumstances the law now requires the agency to retroactively cancel assistance payments for courses dropped without a grade after a reasonable drop-add period.

This applies also in cases where a course is completed but the grade assigned is, in effect, ignored by

All students who have signed up for the E.M.T. class through Doc Sabo, Please register for the course during pre-registration. P.E. 145-30 for 4 hours credit. The class will start Wednesday, November 30, 1977 at 6:30 p.m. and will be held at the Calhoun Gilmer Career Center.

Gilmer Students Visit

On Thursday, November 10, thirty junior and senior students from Gilmer County High School were on campus to tour the division of science and mathematics. The event was sponsored by Chi Beta Phi, honorary scientific fraternity.

After meeting in the multi-purpose room, the students ate lunch in the cafeteria. They were then divided into five general groups for brief tours of the biology, chemistry, math, and physics departments, and the computer center.

Kenneth Fisher, biology teacher at GCHS and a 1977 GSC graduate, termed the day a wonderful experience for his students to become oriented to college life and to see what GSC has to offer in the science and math fields.

the school for graduation requirements - a so-called "non-punitive" grade.

"In other words," Tiano said, "veterans dropping courses in such circumstances, or receiving non-punitive grades could wind up in debt to the federal government."

He pointed out, however, that VA will not retroactively collect payments already made when the situation is due to circumstances beyond the student's control.

The law, which went into effect last December, prohibits VA payment of educational benefits for courses that are not used in computing graduation requirements.

Tiano explained this could mean that many students will find themselves overpaid under the GI Bill for courses from which they withdraw and for courses in which the assigned grade does not count toward graduation.

Payments for such courses, he said, must be stopped as of the first day of the school term.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Pioneer Center Ballroom on the Glenville State College Campus Thursday, December 1, from 1 to 5 p.m. The GSC Student Congress is serving as the sponsor. The Gilmer County Red Cross Chapter hopes to surpass the donation record of 87 achieved in the previous blood collection in September.

Birthday Observed

November 25, 1977 marks the 48th birthday of the Glenville Mercury. The Mercury's first paper rolled off the press on Monday, Nov. 25, 1929.

The first Mercury was a four page paper that contained a headline reading, "T.M. Marshall, School's First President, Played Tennis on Top Egyptian Pyramid." This paper also had a story of how the Mercury got its name. The paper was written by the journalism class. The subscription rate was fifty cents for the year. The circulation was approximately 300. Today the subscription rate is $5.00 and the circulation is 2000.

The Mercury has had a total of eight advisors. Everett Withers was the first advisor. He served from 1929-1935. He is now deceased. Linn B. Hickman (deceased) served as advisor from 1935-1945. Opal V. Starcher (deceased) was advisor during 1945 and 1946. The advisor from 1946-1949 was Espy W. Miller. E.B. Elder was advisor from 1949-1955. Virginia West was advisor from 1955-1964. Thomas Larson was advisor for 2 years during 1964-

1966. Mrs. Yvonne H. King has been the advisor since 1966.

This year the Mercury has a staff of thirteen with five reporters.

Seminar Set

There will be a Food Service Management Seminar in the Little Theatre at 6:00 p.m. on November 29.

Tenatively, four persons are planning to speak. The manager of Holiday Inn in Parkersburg, Mr. Struder, the assistant manager of the Sheraton Inn in Clarksburg, Ms. Sue Papa, and Mr. McCoy of McCoy's Motor Lodge are planning to speak on management, promotion policies, and employment procedures. Ms. Janet Jarol, representing the Country Road Inn, will speak on the management of a family owned restaurant, how to start a business, and the risk factors involved in small business.

Although the seminar is primarily of interest to food service students, everyone is welcome.

The Ornamental Horticulture Club will have a flower/plant sale at Pioneer Center lobby on Dec. 7 and 8 from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

The three - legged race requires a lot of skill and these men are giving it everything.

Education Going Downhill

What can be said about National Education Week today when education has reached a state of turmoil throughout the nation? Educators and students alike are suffering similar problems everywhere.

Students are apathetic, depressed, or just lazy. The desire to learn went out with school masters and willow switches and today's teachers go into schools fearing for their lives. This is America's modern educational environment. Colleges and Universities are putting out poor-quality teachers every year. Many of them found college to be a haven of security between high school and the cruel, cruel world.

Many schools have been forced to close for lack of state funding and others because of teacher strikes. In reconciling with teacher demands, many school systems have to pay for every extra activity instructors participate in. Economy has become a major factor in America's education.

No one can place the blame on anyone for our nation's deteriorating education system. Classes get easier, students get lazier, TV has become more important than homework and kids are carrying part-time jobs to support their various disgusting habits. Can we say it is the parents' fault? Or is it the age of technology? Being hooked on the "boob-tube"? Poor instructors? Poor students? Who can say?

No matter who is at fault, the problems are there and something should be done. No one wants to take the blame. Does anybody want to correct the problems?

Autumn Draws to a Close

As the holiday season is drawing near, I would like to take this opportunity to make a comment about the spirit that is slowly but surely filling the air. Thanksgiving is less than a week away and then only a month more until Christmas. Now, a lot of this excitement is due to the approaching holidays, but most of it is due, I think, to the crisp autumn air.

During September, the season of autumn begins and the days are warm and hazy. This continues through October as the days start to get shorter and the air gets cooler. By the time November gets here and especially right before Thanksgiving, the spirit of autumn reaches its climax. As a touch of winter comes, people begin to stoke up their wood stoves and fireplaces and the air is cool and crisp, filled with a faint odor of smoke. Everyone comes to the realization that winter is almost here and we all try to fill the last days of autumn with as much of the outdoors as we can.

There is no other time of the year quite like the fall season. It is a time when family and friends gather together to celebrate the holidays and have a good time. Autumn is almost over, we've seen about the last of warm days for this year, but the excitement and holiday spirit won't die down until after New Year's. So let's all take advantage of this time of excitement and good feeling before we have to settle back for our winter's nap.

'Greeks' Plan for Holidays

Sigma Sigma Sigma

The Sisters of the Delta Alpha Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma are proud of being honored in their National magazine, The Triangle, for accomplishing the honor of having the highest grade point average of any social greek organization on campus.

The Sisters held their first ceremonial meeting of the month of November, on the 14, in the GSC Ballroom. One of the many topics discussed was that of the December Crafts Fair to be held the 6,7,8, and 13, 14, 15, of December. The crafts are made by the sisters and will be sold in front of the old cafeteria. This is a good opportunity to get some beautiful gifts for some special people at Christmas.

Thanks are extended to alumni and pledges and it is hoped that everyone enjoyed the lovely reception, held at Wesley last Wednesday.

Sister Martha Crump set the date for Tri-Sigmas Holly Ball to be Dec. 17 at the Conrad Conference Room. All Sigma Collegiates and Alumnae will be notified by formal invitation of further details.

Thanks are extended to Delta Zeta sorority for the lovely dinner Wednesday.

Delta Zeta

The Delta Zeta sorority held its regular meeting on Mon. Nov. 14. Plans were finalized for another philanthropy project with the Welfare children. Shortly before Christmas the sisters plan to take their little brothers and sisters caroling and then to the house for hot chocolate and cookies. Plans are also being discussed for a taco party for actives and pledges on Dec. 2.

On Dec. 5, the sisters are sponsoring a bake sale. The profits will go to alumna sister Patti Canterbury who is working with Crusade for Christ.

Also on Dec. 5, they will have a slave auction where you can bid for a girl and she will work for you for that day. Guidelines, regulations, and details are still in the planning stage.

Dec. 7 will be the day of the "Mistletoe Ball" in the ballroom.

Music will be provided by a DJ and refreshments will be served by a campus fraternity.

On Wednesday, Nov. 16, the sisters invited the sisters of Sigma Sigma Sigma to the house for a Thanksgiving Dinner.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

The Iota Omega Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon met last week and elected to chose little sis's next semester.

Formal Initiation was held for five new fraters. Welcome:

Star Gazers Meet

The Astronomy Club met at 7:30 p.m., on Nov. 1, in Room 308 of the Science Building.

Ursa Major, a star constellation better known to most of us as the Big Bear, was the center for our discussion. The discussion was led by Mr. Ralph Bame.

Did you know that Ursa Major was a female bear: or that some people believe that this bear gave birth to other bears and this is why we have bears on earth. Or did you know that the Samaritans call this constellation the "Rope of Heaven"?

These are the sort of things we learn in astronomy club. Our next meeting is Dec. 2. Come out and join us.

Finally, our fun did not end after the meeting we were treated to refreshments in the Student Union by Mrs. Ralph Bame.

Ohnimgohow Players Initiate 11

Formal initiation was held for eleven Ohnimgohow Players on Nov. 15 from 4 - 6 p.m. in the auditorium. A reception for old and new members was held on the stage immediately following.

Halftime Talk

By DOUG MARTIN

It's basketball season here in the state and that means a chance for Glenville to get back on the winning track and get even with some area schools. As usual Fairmont seems to be the best this year but I don't think they'll be at the top when the season ends this time. There are too many other good teams in the conference. Look for the top 5 teams to be Glenville, Fairmont, Bluefield, Morris Harvey, and WV Wesleyan, who won the WVIAC tournament last year. It's too early in the year to see which of these five will finish on top but my personal pick is the Pioneers.

Lilly seems to have more basketball talent available to him since 1973-74 when we finished second in the conference and third in the tournament. That was the year Earl Hawkins and Dave Merchant were seniors.

The two seniors that graduated last year will be sorely missed. Tom Coates led the team in rebounds and averaged 19 points a game. He was definitely a nucleus in last year's team. Robert Hawkins averaged nearly 7 points a game and was known for giving 110%.

BOWLING

Our keggers will be travelling to Marshall University this weekend to take part in the West Virginia Bowling Tournament. All colleges and universities in the state will be eligible to participate.

Great Marbler Among Us

Did you know that we have a world champion among us at GSC this year? He is Raymond Jarrell, Jr. and he is a former national champion marble shooter and a member of the U.S. Marble Team that won the world championship in 1975 and 1976.

Raymond is a freshman from Naoma in Raleigh County. He graduated last year from Marsh Fork High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jarrell, Sr. In 1972, at the age of 14 he became national marble champ by defeating contestants from across the United States in the national finals held at Wildwood, New Jersey. It was his fourth try at the championship and he had to go through regional and state competition to get there.

Then in 1975 he was picked by Walt Lense, a school teacher in Pittsburgh, Pa., to be on the United States marble team that travelled to Sussex County, England, to compete in the World Championship of Marble Shooting. There they faced competition from all over the world. Countries such as Africa, guessed at. This week I'll venture into high school games and tell you who will be left after this week of play-offs.

In Triple-A look for Parkersburg and Hoover to be left standing.

Double-A will be left with Mann and Poca.

In Single-A, Mannington and Pineville will be left.

* * * *

My upset special of the week is in the Coal Bowl Saturday at Summersville where Concord faces W.V. Wesleyan: Wesleyan - 14, Concord - 13.

Other predictions:

Syracuse - 28, WVU - 7—Gold may be bold but "the orange" has a better team.

Tennessee at Chattanooga - 33, Marshall - 23.

Michigan - 21, Ohio State - 19. This one decides who gets the "Roses."

HAPPY TURKEY DAY

If it's possible I wish everyone would stay until Sunday so they could support the Pioneers at the Shrine Tournament this weekend but since the dorms close Friday I guess that's next to impossible.

However, when you do go home drive safely because the roads will be crowded. Have a good holiday, eat a lot so you can store it up for finals week. Hurry back so you can root the Pioneers on to some big victories. And remember, the biggest turkeys of all will never see the inside of an oven next week... Happy Thanksgiving...

West Indies, Ireland, and host England, were represented by marble shooters. They won the championship in 1975 and went back in 1976, and this may have been when Raymond performed his greatest single feat. In the championship series against England (best 2 out of 3) no other member of the United States team (6 man team) had to shoot as Raymond knocked a majority of the marbles out of the ring on his first turn in the first two games. He practically won the world champion marble shooting contest by himself!

Just what goes on in world marble shooting competition you ask? I'll try to explain. Forty nine marbles are placed in the middle of a 6 foot diameter ring which has been sprinkled with sand to make it harder to knock the marbles out of the ring for your team to win. Jarrell did this consecutively in two straight games. The major difference between world specifications and national specifications is that in the United States the ring is

THIS IS THE GLENVILLE BASKETBALL SQUAD THAT WILL PLAY IN THE WESTON SHRINE TOURNAMENT STARTING TONIGHT.

Glenville Will Play In Annual Shrine Tournament

If you didn't already know it, it's that time of year again when Glenville sports enthusiasts turn from the great outdoors to the small indoors and basketball becomes the name of the game. The GSC basketball squad opens its season for real, this week and next and the key word is optimism (Or is that Kansas City!)—Coach Jesse Lilly returns for his 18th year as head basketball coach, in what promises to be an exciting and prospering one. He will be assisted by Coach Tim Carney and they will send their team into their first "real" action of the year tonight against Alderson-Broadus at 7:00 in Weston. The occasion is 20th Annual Weston Shrine Tournament. Salem will face Potomac State in the 9:00 game with the winners advancing to the finals tomorrow night.

This will be the first year that W.Va. Wesleyan isn't in the tournament. They made prior commitments and will be replaced by Pot State. The Pioneers have finished fourth only once in this tournament since its inception in 1958.

After this weekend tournament, the Pioneers open regular season play next week with a game over the Thanksgiving holidays at W.V. Tech. They then return home to face W.V. State, always a tough opponent, in the home opener on Thursday, Dec. 1, before playing in the W.V. Wesleyan Invitational Tournament that coming weekend.

Glenville returns nine lettermen from a team that went 13-8 last year with a weather shortened schedule. This was good enough for a second place finish in the conference; they also finished third in the WVIAC tournament. The lettermen are Greg Arnette, a 5'11" leaping senior from Charlottesville, Va. Greg sat out most of last year but has earned 2 letters at GSC.

Ernie Gilliard a sophomore from Princeton who managed to letter his freshman year. The G-1 guard averaged 3.5 points a game last year and played tenacious defense.

Joe Knicely a 6'5" junior from Nitro, has lettered 1 year. He started most of last year and averaged 6 points a game and 5.5 rebounds.

Ralph Ledbetter (Who??) a 6'6" senior dominator who played here last year after transferring from St. Francis College. All he did was average 19.1 points a game and over 8 rebounds. His presence seemed to

G-Women Close Out Volleyball Season

The girls played their last volleyball season last week with the state tournament held at Concord College in Athens. Although final results are not in as to who came away with first place I can give you the layout for the tournament and Glenville's scores.

The 10 teams were divided into two brackets. Our bracket included Glenville, Fairmont, Salem, West Liberty and WVU. The other bracket consisted of Marshall, Morris Harvey, Concord, W.V. State, and W.V. Tech. The teams then played a round robin within their bracket advancing to the finals. When all the dust had cleared the top four teams were Salem and WVU from one bracket and Marshall and host Concord from the other. At press time it still was not known who came out the winner.

The Glenville women failed to win a match (best 2 out of 3) from any of the other teams in our bracket. They were defeated by Fairmont 15 - 6, 15 - 11; Salem 15 - 10, 14 - 16, 15 - 3; West Liberty 15 - 10, 15 - 9; and WVU 15 - 4, 15 - 4.

This ends the girls season and although they won some games, they failed to beat anyone in a best of 5 or best of 7 series.

BULLETIN!!

Marshall won the state volleyball tournament defeating Concord in the finals. WVU finished third and Salem fourth.

Calvin Page is a 5'11" guard. He is a 1 year letterman and comes from Upperville, Va. He also is a junior and averaged 1 point last year.

P.T. Thomas is a tall 6'6" sophomore who reins from Aquasco, Md. P.T. lettered as a freshman last year and averaged 4.5 tallies a game.

Charles Warner is also a junior from Upperville, Va. He has lettered both years at GSC. He stands 6'5" and averaged 13.8 points last year and 8.3 rebounds.

Wayne Washington is also a junior who has managed to letter both years here at Glenville. He is a 6'2" guard from Brandywine, Md. He averaged over 13 points last year but also led the team turnovers.

Two other players that will be eligible this year although playing college ball elsewhere last year are Doug Watts and Andre White. They are both sophomore transfers from Beckley Jr. College which dropped basketball. Watts, 6'5" forward from Beckley and White is a 6'0" guard from the same town.

Coach Lilly will dress only 12 players this weekend and the 12th man will come from one of the five promising freshmen on the squad. They are Bill Brafford from Owensville, Md.; David Gobel from Flemington; John Irwin from Elkins; Clayton Smith from Shady Side; Md.; and Paul Wills from Hughesville, Md.

10 feet in diameter, the surface is slick, and there are only 13 marbles.

Raymond explains that he got interested in shooting marbles by playing in grade school and added that his father and grandfather gave him some of his best competition growing up. Since becoming national and world champ, Jarrell has had the honor of having his name spread in 800 papers around the world and was also a guest on the Mike Douglas Show.

ART SHOW HELD

A one man art exhibit and sale will be held in the Multi-Purpose Room of the Pioneer Center, November 29, 30, and 31. Dr. Frank Jenio will showcase his wide array of color and black and white photographs from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. each day.

Framed and matted on old barn siding, Dr. Jenio's photographs widely diverse in subject matter but dealing mainly with nature subjects, have been exhibited on campus the last three years. Doing all the work himself, from taking the photograph, to mounting and framing them, Dr. Jenio has collected a beautiful assortment of pictures. The magnificent color portraits immediately catch one's attention and the detail of the black and whites is equally brilliant.

The GSC campus is not the only place privileged to be able to view Dr. Jenio's work. He has exhibited and sold his works at the Ripley Arts and Crafts Fair, Bridgeport Arts and Crafts Fair, Monongahela Arts and Crafts Fair, and specialty shops in Ohio and West Virginia. In the future Dr. Jenio hopes to attend more fairs, and set up one man shows.
