Play Summarized

The Rainmaker, by N. Richard Nash, will be presented by the GSC Drama Department on March 9, 10, and 11. For those of you who like to know what you are getting into before you go see the presentation here is a short summary of The Rainmaker.

At the time of a paralyzing drought in the west, we discover a girl whose father and two brothers are worried as much about her becoming an old maid as they are about their dying cattle. For the truth is, she is indeed a plain girl. The brothers try every possible scheme to marry her off, but without success. Nor is there any sign of relief from the dry heat. When suddenly from out of nowhere appears a picturesque character with mellifluous, boring and most grandiose notions a man could imagine. He is a rainmaker, and he promises to bring rain, for 100 dollars. It is a whacky idea, but the rainmaker is so refreshing and ingratiating that the family finally consents. Forthwith they begin banging on big bass drums to rattle the sky; while the rainmaker turns his magic on the girl, and persuades her that she has a very real beauty of her own. And she believes it, just as her father believes the fellow can actually bring rain. "A Cloudburst of a hit!"—New York World Telegram & Sun.

NNFEI Contest Is Held

Spend your summer working as an intern for a major newspaper of your choice. Enter the National Newspaper Food Editors Internship competition sponsored by Tupperware Home Parties and you may win a 10-week paid internship for the summer of 1978. The purpose of this program is to get juniors and seniors majoring in Journalism or Home Economics interested in a career of food editing.

Entrants must fill out an entry form and write less than a three page, double-spaced article on one of three chosen topics dealing with food editing. Deadlines for entries is April 1, so see Mrs. King for an entry form and more information on the three article topics.

This clock was presented to President William K. Simmons for GSC by Hope Natural Gas Company in recognition of the college's efforts to save energy last winter.

Energy Crisis to Ease

Last week, the Public Service Commission announced that a 30% cutback in the use of electricity was to be enacted immediately. This threw Glenville, as well as other towns, I'm sure, into a panic at the thought of having to do without that electricity which we have come to depend on so much. There was talk of alternate power black-outs or even closing the college as the coal miners' strike continued and coal stock piles were getting smaller and smaller. Energy conservation was the 'talk of the town' and everyone was tensely awaiting the situation to ease.

And so it has. Governor Rockefeller has recinded that order made by the Public Service Commission for several reasons. It seems that while West Virginia was willing, and even enacting, power cutbacks, surrounding states (some using West Virginia coal) were not making curtailments. Also, some (or all?) coal companies were anticipating the strike and got ready for it and now have not reported the total amount of coal they have. Things seemed to be getting pretty tight, but we haven't run out of coal yet. Rockefeller also stated that the coal strike should be settled soon. They have been so close to an agreement but would not settle because of a phrase or wording of a sentence.

The coal strike and the energy scare, along with a flood and the long, snowy winter, has dampened (or should I say frozen?) our spirits and everyone is anxiously awaiting spring (it has to be right around the corner!). I, for one, am so tired of snow and ice and worrying about how much electricity I can use. I really believe that if spring were to suddenly burst upon us tomorrow, all of our problems would be solved. Well-maybe not all of our problems, but I'd sure like to give it a try.

Ron's Ramblings

by Ron Gregory

Well, there is some consolation to those of us who are diehard Marshall fans in the fact that the Thundering Herd gave the West Virginia Mountaineers all they could handle in the recent encounter at Morgantown.

Before a highly partisan West Virginia crowd, the Thundering Herd put up a game effort and gave the West Virginia team plenty to worry about before bowing.

Most of us who are supporters of the Thundering Herd are hoping that West Virginia will agree to meet the Herd at least once next year and it sure wouldn't be a bad idea for them to set up a home-and-home series.

It's amazing that institutions, including West Virginia, continue to complain about the decline in athletic revenue and yet remain reluctant to schedule games with the one school that will produce a sellout every time.

Of course the old theory is advanced that West Virginia has everything to lose and nothing to gain by meeting Marshall. The story is that if the West Virginia crew loses to Marshall, the prestige (big deal) of their glamorous basketball program will suffer. One has to wonder what kind of prestige an athletic program, including St. Francis (is that a college?), has.

The other argument is that if West Virginia defeats Marshall, a team that is obviously inferior, they have proved nothing and gained nothing in the way of advancing their program.

It seems a bit odd to me that Marshall doesn't seem to suffer the same kind of fears with regard to the likes of Morris Harvey College. By all accounts, Marshall should have an athletic program far superior to Morris Harvey, a small, independent college located in Charleston. Still, Marshall plays them twice each year and sometimes Morris Harvey wins. They don't win often, but they do win sometimes. It seems in light of the West Virginia theory that Marshall should immediately drop Morris Harvey from the schedule. After all, they have nothing to gain and everything to lose.

The fact is, though, that the Morris Harvey-Marshall rivalry is a natural given the feeling between Huntington and Charleston and West Virginia-Marshall is also a natural rivalry. It's high time the two schools get a series going and keep it going regardless of the "everything to lose, nothing to gain" theory. The whole idea is a bunch of bunk.

The sports editor, under the effects of the flu, incorrectly identified Phil Shortall as Phil Shortage in a picture in the February 10 issue of The Mercury. He apologizes for his mistake and any problems it may have caused.

The GSC's womens' basketball team, having come on pretty strong in some of the most recent games, will be participating in the State Tournament at West Virginia Wesleyan College this weekend and next Monday.

The whole thing reminds one that the mens' tournament was played for years at Buckhannon until it outgrew the place. When a fan travels to the Charleston Civic Center for the present day tournament, it's hard to believe the games were ever played before just a few fans at Buckhannon.

Hopefully, the women will see their tournament grow in just the same way.

It is going to be a bit difficult for me to give you game-by-game predictions concerning the upcoming WVIAC Tournament in Charleston since I have no way of knowing who will be playing whom.

With that in mind, I will predict that the Pioneers will win the tourny. My pick for second place is Morris Harvey. I hope to be more specific next week - and by that time most of the games will already have been played anyway.

All women interested in participating in track and field will meet at the Field House March 2, Wednesday, at 3:00 p.m.

Keglers Are Fourth In WVIAC Action

The GSC bowling team moved up one spot in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference standings as they split eight games last Saturday at Robin Lanes in Charleston. The Pioneers are now fourth in the league. They were fifth prior to last week's action.

West Liberty currently leads the league with a 19-5 record. Fairmont is second with a record of 16-8, Concord is third with a mark of 15-9, and the Pioneers are fourth.

Greg Martin was high man for the Pioneers last weekend with a 177 average. Dave Twyman came in with a 173, Phil Shortall had a 168, Randy Miller rolled a 166, Darrell Baylous averaged 165 and Joe Noble had a 148.

In overall seasonal average, Twyman leads the GSC keggers with a 175, Baylous has a 172, Martin a 168, Shortall a 165, Noble a 163 and Miller a 161.

The Pioneers will be competing in their final regional of the season this weekend at TV Lanes at Oak Hill. The state tournament will be held March 4 and 5 at Ren-Dor Lanes in Parkersburg.

Wayne Washington goes up with the ball in the February 16 game with West Virginia Wesleyan.

Pioneers Win Two

The Pioneers won two and lost one during the past week. GSC defeated Wesleyan and Davis & Elkins and fell to Bluefield. A summary of each game follows:

GSC - 75, Wesleyan - 74

Wayne Washington sank two clutch free throws with 14 seconds remaining in the game to give the Pioneers a 75-74 win over West Virginia Wesleyan in a game played February 16 in the GSC gymnasium.

After Washington hit on his free throws, Wesleyan hit a field goal to cut the GSC lead to 75-74.

On the ensuing inbound pass following the Bobcat field goal, Wesleyan intercepted but a long pass down floor was picked off by the Pioneers who held the ball as time ran out.

Washington led Glenville with 24 points, Charles Warner chipped in 17, Ralph Ledbetter had 13, Doug Watts added eight, Andre White totalled six, Ernie Gilliard put in four, and Joe Knically had two.

The Pioneers hit on 50 per cent of their free throws, making nine of 18.

Rich Cameron with 18 points, led a balanced Wesleyan scoring attack, which saw John Bates add 16, Mark Davis contribute 12 and Don Filip toss in ten.

Wesleyan was perfect from the free throw stripe, making all 12 of their attempts.

GSC - 80, D & E - 76

Wayne Washington hit four free throws in four attempts at the line in the final 23 seconds Monday, February 20, to preserve an 80-76 win for the Pioneers over Davis & Elkins in a game played at Elkins.

Glenville shot 65 percent from the floor in gaining the victory. The Pioneers hit on 12 of 15 free throws for an 80 percent clip.

All five Pioneer starters wound up in double figures, led by center Ralph Ledbetter, who had 25 points. Washington added 18 points, Charles Warner had 15, Doug Watts chipped in 12, and Andre White had ten for the G-Men.

All of the Pioneers shot well from the floor. Ledbetter made ten of 13 shots, Warner and Washington had seven of ten each, Andre White made five of eight and Doug Watts connected on five of ten shots from the floor.

Bluefield - 75, GSC - 71

The Bluefield Big Blues rallied in the last ten minutes February 18 at Bluefield to top the Pioneers 75 - 71. The victory moved Bluefield into second place in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (WVIAC) basketball standings.

The Big Blues were fourth going into Saturday's action while the Pioneers and West Virginia Wesleyan were battling for second place. However, Wesleyan also fell in a game Saturday and this, coupled with Bluefield's victory over Glenville, allowed Bluefield to jump into second place. The Pioneers were third after the game and Wesleyan was fourth. Fairmont, as usual, stands alone atop the league standings.

The Pioneers were hot and cold throughout the game and at the beginning they were relatively cool. At halftime, Bluefield led by 15 points at 45-30.

Then the Pioneers became red hot after emerging from the locker room outscored Bluefield, 25-6, and held a 55-51 at the ten minute mark. However, the Big Blues took control during the final ten minutes of the contest to claim the victory.

Charles Warner led the Pioneers with 18 points, Ralph Ledbetter had 15 markers and Wayne Washington 12 for the G-Men. Andre White had ten points, Doug Watts, eight, Phil Thomas, six, and Ernie Gilliard, two, for Glenville.

Bluefield was led by Scott Todd with 25 points, George Hollie had 14, and Anthony Harris added 13.

The Pioneers sank 29 of 62 field goal attempts for a percentage of 47 per cent. Glenville sank 13 of 17 free throws for a 77 per cent clip. Bluefield was good on 19 of 28 free throws for a mark of 68 per cent.

Pioneer Gals Finish Strong

The Pioneer womens' basketball team has come on like gang-busters in the last week of the season, winning four of their final five games as they move into this weekend's tournament at Buckhannon.

Wesleyan - 78, GSC - 68

Three West Virginia Wesleyan women put on outstanding performances, scoring more than 20 points each, as the Bobcats defeated the Pioneer women, 78-68, in a game played at Buckhannon, February 15.

Kim West hit 20 for the Pioneers, Kim Roten added 18, Debbie Grogg chipped in with 12, Kim Short had eight, Sally Haight scored six, and Kim Bickel added four.

GSC - 55, State - 38

The Pioneers leaped out to a six-point halftime lead at 27-21 and coasted to a 55-38 victory over West Virginia State in a game played February 17 at the GSC gymnasium.

Kim Roten led the G-Women with 14 points, Debbie Grogg added 11, Kim West tossed in 10, Kim Short had 8, and Patsy Groves and Sally Haight had six each.

GSC - 35, Bluefield - 34

The Pioneers didn't have a point to spare, but they used every advantage in putting away Bluefield, 35-34, in a low-scoring contest played February 18 at Bluefield. The score at the half stood at only 12-10 in favor of Glenville.

Patsy Groves led the Pioneers with ten points, Kim Short chipped in nine, Kim Bickel added seven, Kim Roten had four, Debbie Grogg, three, and Mary Zangari, two for Coach Gene Davis' crew.

GSC - 81, Tech - 39

The Pioneers blew West Virginia Tech's Golden Bears off the floor in the second half February 20 to win a lopsided decision in a game played in the GSC gymnasium.

Leading the well-rounded Pioneer attack was Kim Short, who scored 18 points. Linda Collins added 13 for the Pioneers, while Kim Roten and Kim West each had ten points, Debbie Grogg had nine, Mary Zangari chipped in eight, Kim Bickel added seven, and Sally Haight had four.

GSC - 71, Muskingham - 49

The Pioneer women finished off the 1978 regular season with an easy 71-49 win over Muskingham of Ohio. The game wasn't really as one-sided as the final score indicates, however, as the Pioneers trailed by ten points with 1:30 remaining in the first half. The G-Women then scored five points to reduce the halftime advantage to 28-23.

Kim West led the Pioneers with 24 points, Kim Roten added 15, Kim Short had nine, Debbie Grogg tossed in eight, Patsy Groves had six, Kim Bickel contributed three, and Sally Haight, Linda Collins and Mary Zangari scored two each.

Pribble Visits D.U.

Dr. Mary Jo Pribble, associate professor of chemistry at Glenville State College recently spent three weeks as a Lilly Scholar at Duke University in Durham, N.C.

The Lilly Scholars in Science Program includes teachers from 20 colleges who represent the fields of biology, chemistry, geology and physics.

The first phase of the program, which was held in July of 1977, involved participation in a four-day seminar on "Structure in Nature: From Molecules to Man."

The second phase of the program provides an opportunity for the participants to spend three weeks on the Duke campus during the academic year.

Dr. Pribble was on the southern university's campus from Jan. 9 - 27 in the Department of Chemistry.

The Lilly Scholars in Science Program at Duke University is sponsored by the Lilly Endowment Inc., which also sponsors Lilly Scholars in the Humanities and Social Studies at Duke University.

Dr. Pribble joined the faculty of Glenville State College in August. She holds a B.A. degree from Maryville College, and M.A. degree from Duke University, and a Ph.D. degree from Louisiana State University.

Nominees Selected

The Glenville State College Alumni Association is now taking nominations for the Outstanding Student Award to be presented at Commencement. Nominees must be selected from seniors graduating in May 1978, December 1977, or August 1977.

The Alumni Association requests the help of the faculty and staff by nominating worthy students majoring in their fields. All nominees must have a minimum 3.0 average, must be in a four year curriculum and must have made a significant service contribution to the campus. These activities may include services for which the student was paid as a workshop or workstudy employee.

A screening committee will go over the nominations and submit the final recommendations to the Alumni Council members who will select the recipient from this list. Those serving on the screening committee are Alumni Council Members Judy Meads, Philip Reale, and Ann S. Bentley; Student Congress Members Ken Skinner and Terry Evans; Deans of Academic Affairs A.T. Phillips and Karen Thorpe; Academic Dean J. Lowell Peterson; and Daniel Perkins, Jim Hinter, and Bill Roberts, who are currently serving on the campus Scholarship Committee.

Kevin Stalnaker was the award recipient at the 1977 Commencement. He received a check for $100.00 from the Alumni Foundation.
