Corporal Punishment Highly Controversial

Since Glenville State is a teacher's college and most of the students here will soon be entering the world of education, you, as prospective teachers, should become aware of some of the growing controversial subjects which you will be encountering as an educator. Perhaps one of the most controversial subjects within the educational system is that of corporal punishment, which is simply, physical punishment administered to a student.

The United States Supreme Court in 1977, ruled that corporal punishment, does not violate the Eighth Amendment's ban against cruel and unusual punishment. Since then, steady controversy has grown over the issue. Individual states, however, have the right to ban corporal punishment and so far three states--New Jersey, Massachusetts, and Maine--have done so.

Those who oppose corporal punishment say children are punished for trivial reasons and sometimes punishment is so severe it borders on child abuse. They also insist that corporal punishment is used discriminantly, on inner-city children, poor white children, and children of minority groups. There are many horror stories of students punished so severely that they had to be hospitalized.

Those in favor of corporal punishment generally use it as a disciplinary tool when all others have failed. They believe the practice works and acts as a deterrent to would-be offenders and keeps students who have been paddled from transgressing again. They say the schools must take such disciplinary action because the parents do not, and even that the parents want them spanked in school.

The question raised is, does corporal punishment work? Does it in fact improve the behavior of an offending student? Several studies have been conducted concerning corporal punishment and they have revealed: (1) in some schools the same students are punished, so this punishment must not be effective in the long run, (2) more vandalism takes place in schools that use corporal punishment than in those that do not, and (3) students who are usually punished are those with low self-esteem and this punishment just makes it worse.

Several alternatives to corporal punishment have been suggested. A "cooling off room" where students can go to "calm down" is one alternative. Intramural sports programs could be instigated and some teachers even have their "problem" students run around the school building for ten minutes or so in the morning to help relieve aggression and frustration. Some schools have incorporated self-contained classes where the brightest students work at their own pace and many classrooms have an innovative newspaper curriculum to replace standard textbooks.

Probably the most obvious alternative to corporal punishment would be out-of-school suspension. This is almost as controversial as corporal punishment itself. Expulsion does eliminate the problem temporarily, but the child who is expelled is not getting the education he or she needs.

In Gilmer County, corporal punishment is used, but as a last resort, according to Ron Welty, Superintendent of Schools here. In all cases, a witness must be present and punishment is usually done by the principal or by the teacher with the principal's permission. According to Mr. Welty, "The fact that it is permissible at times works as a deterrent." Gilmer County schools, of course, do not have the disciplinary problems that larger schools have, so the threat of a paddling seems sufficient.

The biggest problem with corporal punishment is that those who administer it very often miss that shock-absorbing backside and hit a student's back or legs or even the face. There is no question about an educator using physical force to protect himself or herself from another student or to separate two students fighting. The question is, is corporal punishment effective, is it even necessary? As prospective teachers (even student teachers) this is a problem that each of you will encounter and have to deal with. If there are any student teachers or even teachers who have an opinion or view on this subject which you would like to share, feel free to write a letter to the editor and it will be printed. Corporal punishment is of growing concern and is an issue to be faced by prospective teachers as well as educators today.

Baseball Team Plays Opener

There is one good thing that can be said about the season openers for the Pioneer baseball team: things can only get better. Glenville lost the two games, 14-2 and 15-1 to a powerful Point Park team.

In the opener of the double-header, Point Park scored four runs in the first inning. They scored single runs in the second and fourth innings to lead 6-0.

Glenville scored their only runs in the game on two RBI doubles by Rich Wallace and Joedy Moots. Point Park put the game out of reach with an eight run fifth inning.

In the second game Point Park walloped Pioneer pitching for seven runs in the first frame. Their other eight runs came in the second and fifth innings.

The lone Pioneer run came in the fourth on a line shot homer by Joedy Moots.

The Pioneer's next game is on Saturday, March 31, at WV Wesleyan.

Anyone interested in trying out for cheerleader should see Mr. Kermit Kinder by Friday, March 30 to sign up. Thus far, five teams have entered; two from Tau Kappa Epsilon, two from Lambda Chi Alpha, and one from Theta Xi.

Tennis Team Opens

The GSC tennis team opens their season with a match at Salem College on Saturday, March 31.

Keith Hite, Don Whalen, Scot Clites, Greg Martin, Steve Nemeth, and Bobby Farrel will participate in six singles matches. Bobby Baker and Dale Sparks will team with two of the singles players to play in doubles. This list is tentative due to the limited practice time—only about seven solid days; and the selection format that allows lower seeded players to challenge and conceivably replace higher seeded teammates.

Following their Thursday match at Salem, the Pioneers travel to Buchannon to take on Concord and Bluefield in a doubleheader.

Glenville Track Team Ends Second In Meet

The Glenville State track team finished second in a triangular meet held at Pioneer Stadium on Thursday, March 22. WV Wesleyan won the meet with 88 points; the Pioneers finished with 64 points; and Fairmont was third with 29 points.

The Pioneers finished first in three events. Ed Huffman won the 400 meter intermediate hurdles, Wendell Bankett won the triple jump, and Mike McGill won the long jump.

Glenville picked up many points with second, third, and fourth place finishes. In the 110 HH, GSC placed second and third; Van Vaughn placed second in the 100m, Bill Dilbey was second in the 400m, Gene White and Curtis Smith were second and third in the 400 IH behind Ed Huffman, P.K. Coon was third in both 1500 and 5000m runs, the 4x400 relay team placed second.

Randy White, Randy Maxwell, and Neil Hinchman finished second, third and fourth in the pole vault. Ernie Gilliard placed second in both the long and triple jumps, Mike McGill placed third in the triple jump, Allen Johnson placed fourth in the discus, Mike Holcomb finished fourth in the 800m, Jeff Jones finished fourth in the 5000m, Harry Harpold placed fourth in the shot put, and John Erwin finished fourth in the high jump.

The track team's next meet is Saturday, March 31 at the Marietta Relays in Marietta, Ohio.

Correction:

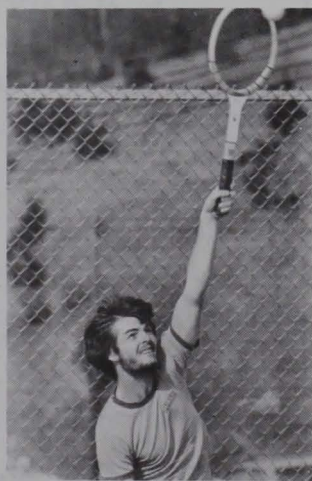

In the story of 'The Brave Little Tailor,' the name of the Maid was erroneously listed as Carla Barker. It should have read 'Carla Barber.' The Mercury regrets the error.

Intramural Report

Dave Twyman of the Stoppers defeated Greg Martin, representing Lambda Chi Alpha, in the finals of the Men's Intramural Raquetball Tournament held last week. Dave is a senior from Parkersburg.

The finals of Men's Intramural Basketball will be played on Monday, April 2 and Wednesday, April 4. The seven teams involved have not yet been decided upon.

All persons and teams interested in entering the April 5 Men's intramural Swim Meet, please see Coach Gillie Pottmeyer by Friday, March 30 to sign up. Thus far, five teams have entered; two from Tau Kappa Epsilon, two from Lambda Chi Alpha, and one from Theta Xi.

Scot Clites prepares for the tennis match to be held at Salem.

Pioneer To Be Selected

Anyone interested in running for Pioneer, please let a Student Congress member know by April 1. (Look on page 22, Section 14 in your student handbook for qualifications) The Musket will be given to the pioneer at the end of his year, if his job has been satisfactory.

Four new basketballs are being purchased for the use of any student with an I.D. They will be kept in L.B.H. and Pickens main offices. Two are Wilson Jets to be used only in the gym. The other two are rubber coated to be used either in the gym or on the new 'one on one' courts which will be completed as soon as the weather permits. It is the old tennis courts, to be used after 5:00 p.m.

Ladies Finish 2nd In Fairmont Meet

The GSC Pioneers Women's track and field team participated in a meet with Fairmont State College on March 22, 1979. Fairmont outscored the Pioneers, 73-44.

In the discus Aleta Cox placed 2nd and Donita Cox placed 3rd. Kim Bickel was first in the long jump, Debbie Grogg in the high jump and Cox in the javelin.
