Improvements Made To Campus

Phase I of the Capital Improvement Plans for Glenville State College have been initiated and mostly includes repair work that needs to be done to the campus as soon as possible.

The first project which has been completed, as everyone has noticed, is the parking lot where Verona Maple stood. This new parking lot will hold 25 vehicles and has been designated as a commuter student parking lot. There will be no overnight parking, according to Dean Billips, as the High Street lot had to be opened for R-Zone parking. Also, several pot holes have been filled and some interior decorating was done in the Science Hall. This past Wednesday, representatives from the Watkins-Taylor Partnership of interior design inspected the Science Hall for modernization of the classrooms.

Some concrete work will soon begin as the front and side steps of the Physical Education building will be replaced and the steps in front of Clark Hall and those behind the library will also be replaced. Anywhere else that shows signs of deterioration will be repaired.

Also, as part of Phase I, existing parking lots will be repaved and gravel parking lots will be paved and marked. Plans are being made to replace the roof on Eberle Hall and the art and music rooms are to be improved. Some landscaping is being discussed to help improve the appearance of the campus. Some long range plans being discussed include lowering the ceilings in the Administration Building, improving Firestone Lodge with possible classrooms and the construction of a kiln shed for the art department.

Those who wish to become staff members for the Glenville Mercury or the Kanawhachen next fall must apply before May 23 to Mrs. King. Simply write a letter stating the staff position you desire plus any experience and qualifications you have.

The residence halls will be closed on Thursday, May 31, 1979 at 2:00 p.m. and will be opened for summer school on Sunday, June 10, 1979 at 12:00 noon. The residence halls will be opened for fall semester 1979-1980 on Thursday, August 23, 1979 at 9:00 a.m. with profile updating and regular registration being held on Friday, August 24th. I.D. Photos will be made on Monday and Tuesday, August 27 and 28 in Pioneer Center Room 105. Freshmen will arrive on Sunday, August 26th.

'Faculty-Alumni Fantastics' Slated May 21

Harold "Doc" Dougherty, GSC alumnus, will be the Master of Ceremonies and a featured performer in the "Faculty-Alumni Fantastics" in the Auditorium on Monday, May 21, at 8:00 p.m.

GSC President William K. Simmons will be Dougherty's assistant in the famous buzz-saw trick in which the subject is sawed in half before the eyes of the audience. Dougherty will also present a wide variety of other magic feats plus demonstrate his powers as a hypnotist.

Dougherty, a native of St. Marys, now resides in Arlington, Va., where he performs as a professional magician at shopping malls, clubs, theatres and D.C. discos. He is employed as a photographer at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

He also performs in and directs theater groups in that area.

While a student at GSC, Doc was active in the Science Club, Ohnimgohow Players, Alpha Psi Omega, and was photographer for The Mercury. His stage roles ranged from the title role in the Nineteenth Century Melodrama "The Drunkard," to the Friar in Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet." In 1964 he played the lead in the melodrama "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" on the West Virginia "Showboat Rhododendron," a refurbished sternwheeler.

"Faculty-Alumni Fantastics" will include singing, clogging, magic, hypnotism, instrumentals and comedy. The program will feature appearances by Joe Hickman, Mack Samples, Sandy Chambers, Jack Laeng, Paul Harkins, Ed Graham, Janet Rubin, Jim Meads, Sharon Kraus, Dale Moore, Sondra Nasser, Doug McGuigan, Diane Bach, Vance Weekly, Susan Sienkiewicz, Michael Geary, Bill Simmons, Judy Meads, Don Limpert, Jim White, Buddy Griffith, George Ward, Karen Thorpe, and Doc Dougherty.

All faculty, staff, and alumni are donating their time and talents for the show. Proceeds will go to the GSC Alumni Association General Fund.

Admission will be $1.00.

GSC Students Visit Galleries In Washington

Why do these GSC art students look as if their feet are killing them? Because they are. They pounded the miles of museum galleries and corridors in Washington, D.C., during April 27, 28, and 29. As part of the activities of the annual museum visit, this Art 401, Contemporary Art, class studied paintings and sculpture in the National Gallery of Art, The National Collection of Fine Arts, The National Portrait Gallery, and The Herreshorn Collection. Then to relieve their eyes, but unfortunately not their feet, they sandwiched in between art galleries, tours of the Capitol, the Library of Congress, The Air and Space Museum of Natural History, and the Folger Shakespearean Library.

Dolly Woodell Writes Her First Book

by Becky Triplett

Ms. Dolly M. Woodell, a Braxton County native has had her first book published by Gilmer Graphics of Glenville, W. Va. The book entitled The Little Old Woman with the Wart on Her Nose is a book for children. Ms. Woodell wrote the book in Japan where her husband, Clarence E. Woodell, was stationed with the U.S. Air Force. Ms. Woodell is a sophomore at GSC majoring in Early Childhood Education.

Ms. Woodell has had an active interest in writing all her life, having written and produced a play while in grade school; she has composed music and written lyrics and served as a newspaper correspondent. She enjoys the outdoors, quilting, traveling, and hopes to continue writing children's books as well as an education text book.

Twenty-three books have been sold so far and profits from the sale of the volumes will be donated to the First Southern Baptist Chapel in Sutton. Ms. Woodell was instrumental in founding the church after returning to Braxton County.

The book was illustrated by James W. Rogers, a member of the faculty at GSC. Mr. Rogers received a degree in art from Glenville, his Master's Degree from WVU and a M.F.A. in painting from Wichita State University.

Harold 'Doc' Dougherty, a GSC alumnus, will be performing here with President Simmons as his assistant Monday night.

Minor Sports Deserve Equal Money & Support

Minor sports do not exist on the campus of Glenville State College. But of course they do, you say. They are present but is their presence really felt by students, faculty, and administration alike?

Minor sports include bowling, golf, cross-country, track, baseball and tennis. These are minor sports basically because they receive small amounts of college funding. Although they receive the smallest budgets, they usually excel in their respective sports. For example, the golf team has won the conference title six of the last eight seasons, going to the national tournament in '77, '78, and '79, finishing 15th in the nation two years ago. The bowling team was national champion in '76, seventh in '77 and eighth in '78. Although bowling has been discontinued by the NAIA as national championship, the team could still qualify in the NCAA divisions. These teams have shown national power, but by the eyes of the administration, they are minor and deserve little financial and moral support.

In comparison, the Glenville basketball and football teams receive the most funding and excel the least of all sports. Only once has each team gone to the national tournament. Money is poured into these sports and nothing really good comes out of them. Sure, the college gets a lot of public relations by the college teams playing here or there, but at the same time most of it is bad public relations because the teams lose so grossly.

Other minor sports, cross-country, track, and tennis, were discontinued for a number of years because of a lack of funds. Since the continuance of these sports, cross-country went to the national tournament in its first year, track had a strong season including winning the Glenville Invitational, and tennis is the most-improved two-year team in the conference. If more money were boosted into these minor sports, it would attract many more students than basketball or football would ever attract. A college the size of Glenville will probably never excel in the major sports, due to the student population.

Baseball is slowly but surely improving its performance, both down South and in the conference. They really deserve more financial and moral support.

The majority of students on campus would rather see more money poured into winners than losers. Remaining, though, is the argument: basketball and football are large spectator sports. In one sense they are, but on the Glenville campus and community it is not that big of a deal, with the exception of Fairmont basketball in town.

Economics is the biggest factor at issue. Where can more money come from? How could existing funds be reallocated to better the minor sports? Small sports deserve more financial and student support than they have received. They deserve the right to excel as they proved they can. Give them a chance by urging changes and seeking enthusiasm today.

Children's Play Reviewed

My personal impression of the children's theatre's latest production, "The Brave Little Tailor" is that it was enjoyable.

I enjoyed it. I think it was a big success, and the kids I talked to who were wandering around on campus were thrilled to death. The play was funny and simple, yet I, as a college student had no problem appreciating it.

Tim James was excellent as the tailor. His voice and actions were uninhibited. The two queens, played by June Nohe and Jennifer Chisler, were as dizzy as the synopsis I was given indicated.

The two giants were portrayed very well by Gary Ross and Doug Bailey, and Doug handled himself very well when the sword he was holding fell to pieces. A little girl sitting next to me remarked, "Mommy, that didn't happen in the show earlier today!" I think everybody on the right side of the auditorium heard that, and it made the incident even more funny.

But the person who played her part the best was Carla Barber, who was the maid. It was totally natural and smooth as silk. Her voice quality was perfect. Every word was understandable.

Overall, the production was a good one, and there was only one error as far as lines go and this was not all that noticeable. Ray Hanks

Wesley Foundation Gets New Director

New things are happening at the Wesley Foundation! After some admittedly bad experiences, the Foundation has been re-opened and a new campus minister has been hired.

She is Dorcus Linger Conrad and is a graduate of W.Va. Wesleyan. She will receive her Master of Divinity degree in June from the Methodist Theological School in Delaware, Ohio. She and her husband Tim are from Weston and both were students here at GSC from 1971 - 1973.

In the past, the Foundation has seemed to serve the needs of a somewhat limited group on campus, but with work and some new programming, Dorcus hopes to open up campus ministry to help serve the needs of the entire campus community. As a woman in a predominantly male profession, she is also very much interested in women's concerns.

Plans are being formulated for a pre-Finals' Eucharist (Lord's Supper) for the entire community - students, faculty and staff. The date for the Eucharist is May 21 at 8 p.m. in the Foundation Chapel.

The new hours for the Foundation are daily 1:30-4:30 Monday through Thursday 6:30 - 9:00. It will be closed from Friday evening until Sunday evening, when it will be open from 6 p.m.-10 p.m. This schedule will be revised for Summer School. Drop by and say hi!
