Mercury Nears 50th Birthday

The staff of the Glenville Mercury will be holding an open house on Saturday, Nov. 10, to celebrate the 50th birthday of the paper.

Fifty years ago, Glenville State College held a contest to choose a name for their new paper. Among the thirty names received were such titles as the "Pioneer Post," the "Mountain Sun," and the "Glenville Galaxy." Out of such names emerged the title of the "Winged Mercury," named after the mythical messenger of the gods. A sophomore girl by the name of Carmen Rhinehart thought up this title and simplified it to the Mercury.

The first Mercury office had modern equipment for its day. Included in the office were two typewriters, two desks, and a mimeograph machine. The first location of the office was in the Administration Building.

The first picture that appeared in the Mercury was that of Frank Vass, a basketball standout. This picture appeared in the ninth issue of the paper.

In honor of the 50th anniversary, Mrs. King and the staff would like to invite everybody to a birthday party. The party starts at 1 p.m. and concludes at 4 p.m. A huge birthday cake will be there to be enjoyed by everybody. The old staff members and advisors of the Mercury are invited to attend. As an added attraction, the former Carmen Rhinehart hopefully will be attending.

Site Chosen For English Meeting

Jackson's Mill Lodge has been chosen as the scene of the West Virginia Association of College English Teachers fall meeting. The meeting, to be held Nov. 2 & 3, features English teachers from all over the state. A reading of poems pertaining to Appalachia will be given by Llewellyn McKernan from Marshall University. Professor McKernan has received a grant from the AAUW 1978-79 to publish her poems.

The agenda for Saturday will include instructional lectures on teaching composition and self-paced English instruction for competency. These lectures are to be given by Jill S. Lamn, from West Virginia Northern Community College, and David H. Roberts, of Bluefield State, respectively. Dr. Thomas Nelson, assistant professor of English at GSC will talk on the topic of "The Stepmother Tongue." A business meeting will follow.

Brady Spotlights FAOFCS

I am frequently asked by new college acquaintances what organizations on campus I am affiliated with. Of course, I immediately launch into my, by now famous, discourse on the evils of, and archaic sentimentality associated with most official organizations, be they Greek, professional, or otherwise. My thoughts on this question are quite entrenched and if, by chance, you're curious as to the particulars, please feel free to assault me at any time and we'll discuss them. But criticism of organizations is not what I wish to digress into today. In fact, I wish to recognize a group, wholly unofficial, of which I am a member.

I suppose membership in OfCS (Off Campus Students), by definition, is based solely on proximity. Geographical position is vitally important. Residency on campus automatically disqualifies you from a guaranteed chair in the OfCS meetings. Of course, any movement from OnC (On Campus) to OfC (Off Campus) immediately makes you a life long member; for once off, you can never, even if proximity reverses, be of on campus blood again.

There are several divisions within OfCS. First of all, there are those CPOfCS (Close Proximity Off Campus Students). In this division, you will find sorority, fraternity, and Glenville apartment dwellers. These students are what we elite of off campus students, the FAOfCS (Far Away Off Campus Students), view as junior members. I realize they have problems to face: heat in winter, cool in summer, rats and cockroaches continually, etc. But, their woes are mild and tame compared to the ones faced by myself and fellow FAOfCSs.

You simply have not experienced college unless your tires have gone flat (two at a time), a road crew holds you up for two hours, or a hitch-hiker has thrown rocks at you. Sure, if you are an OnCS or CPOfCS and you forget your homework, all you have to do is take ten minutes to round it up; not us travelers. No sir! We're stuck. And how much money do you spend on gas a week? I and my fellow FAOfCSs are keeping Saudia Arabia afloat! Oh, and winter. The snow that covers everything is so lovely. Bull! It's slicker than $!%, that's what it is.

The list is endless. I don't want to bore you. I don't want your sympathy. I just want you to be aware of what's going on, forewarned: Because when the revolution comes, don't say I didn't warn you.

White House Fellowship Available With Posted Deadline Of Nov. 15

Freedom, in its deepest sense, requires participation—full, zestful, knowledgeable participation. Toward that end I, have today established a new program entitled the White House Fellows.

—President Lyndon B. Johnson
October 3, 1964

Landis Jones, Director of the President's Commission on White House Fellowships, announced today that applications for the 1980-81 White House Fellowships are now available and must be requested by November 15, 1979. The program was established by President Johnson in 1964 to give outstanding individuals early in their career first-hand experience in governing the Nation. It is open to U.S. citizens, not employed by the Federal Government except career military. Fellows are assigned for one year to a Cabinet officer, the Vice President, or a senior member of the President's staff. Although their job assignment is the core of their year, they also participate in educational seminars with top government officials, leading scholars, journalists, and others who deal with the national government.

White House Fellows have been chosen from a wide variety of careers and professions including law, medicine, teaching, state and local government, banking, the arts, and others. Among the 1979-80 class are a Catholic priest, a rabbi, and a farmer. All, however, have one thing in common—a strong desire to excel and contribute and a sense of involvement in the leadership of their society.

There are no occupational, age, sex, racial, political, or religious restrictions. Minority groups and women are encouraged to apply.

Application materials and additional information can be obtained from the President's Commission on White House Fellowships, Box 7737, Washington, D.C. 20044, (202) 653-6263. Request for applications must be postmarked no later than November 15; completed applications no later than December 1.

On Saturday, November 3, the newly formulated Glenville State College Advisory Board will hold its first meeting. More information concerning the board and its activities will be in a future Mercury.

Club Recognized

The Glenville State College Computer Club has been formally recognized as an official campus organization. Their constitution was approved and accepted by Student Congress.

The Computer Club's first activity of the year will be a trip to Charleston on Nov. 8 to tour various computer facilities in the area.

Plans are being made to visit the computer department of the Eastern American Energy Corporation at Sand Fork sometime in December. Chuck White, a 1975 graduate of GSC and a candidate for a Master's degree from VPI, is the manager of data processing for EAEC.

ROSS CONCERT FEATURED IN PIONEER SNACK BAR

Singer Jack Ross, of Nashville, Tennessee, held a concert for the students of Glenville State College last Thursday night in the snack bar of the Pioneer Center.

Ross wrote the majority of the songs he sang, which seemed to please the audience. He also added a light sense of humor in contrast to his serious, meaningful songs.

Contests were held in which the audience could win an album of Ross's music. One such contest was won by a student who had to show Ross a social security card. After being announced the winner, the student had to sing the Christmas song, "Jingle Bells", on stage with Ross backing him up.

At the end of the show, students had an opportunity to purchase an album autographed by Ross himself. The concert was sponsored by Student Congress.

The effects of autumn are noticeable on campus.

1980 Census To Be Taken

The end of an era is near. And, as the end of the '70's nears, Americans are looking back over the past decade, and seeing tremendous changes. A questionnaire will arrive in the mail March 28, from the Bureau of Census. It is the beginning of the 1980 census, which pertains to much more than just a head count.

The census questions seek information about people, such as age, sex, and occupation. Several questions pertain to housing, transportation and energy use. This data is compiled and then used by business firms, multinational corporations, and local businesses. However, much of the information is confidential.

Federal law prohibits any invasion of privacy. All census takers are sworn to privacy. Federal law also requires all people to answer the census.

Two of the main topics of the 1980 census will involve energy use and housing. These questions will be crucial to decisions made about urban renewal, federally funded programs and residential growth. The questionnaire has two versions—a four page version, which takes about 15 minutes to answer and a slightly longer version, which takes approximately 45 minutes to finish. After answering the questionnaire, recipients either give it directly to a census taker or mail it directly to the Bureau of Census.

Student Composers Eligible for $15,000

A total of $15,000 is available to young composers in the 28th annual BMI Awards to Student Composers competition sponsored by Broadcast Music, Inc., the world's largest performing rights licensing organization.

Established in 1951 in cooperation with music educators and composers, the BMI Awards project annually gives cash prizes to encourage the creation of concert music by student composers of the Western Hemisphere and to aid them in financing their musical education. Prizes ranging from $500 to $2,500 will be awarded at the discretion of the judges. To date, 245 students have received BMI Awards.

The 1979-80 BMI Awards competition is open to student composers who are citizens or permanent residents of the Western Hemisphere and are enrolled in accredited secondary schools, colleges and conservatories, or engaged in private study with recognized and established teachers anywhere in the world. Entrants must be under 26 years of age on December 31, 1979. No limitations are established as to instrumentation, stylistic considerations, or length of works submitted. Students may enter no more than one composition which need not have been composed during the year of entry.

The permanent chairman of the BMI judging panel is William Schuman, distinguished American composer and educator.

The panel of Preliminary Judges for the 1978-79 contest was Eleanor CorY, William Hellermann, Frank Wigglesworth and Maurice Wright, with Ulysses Kay serving as Consultant. The Final Judges were T.J. Anderson, Milton Babbitt, Elliott Carter, Mario Davidovsky, Lukas Foss, Frederic Goossen, Otto Luen-

Literary Society Open To Students

Read any good books lately? Better yet, would you be interested in reading some good books? If so, then Literary Society invites you to attend their meetings. No, you DO NOT have to be an English major. As a matter of fact and much to the dismay of the English Department, Literary Society is composed of "few" English majors.

Literary Society is simply a group of people interested in reading and discussing various types of literature. It was started back in the 50's and 60's by Dr. Miller, former Chairman of the English Department, but disappeared until 1971 due to lack of interest.

The group meets informally once a month and discusses a preselected book which they have read. The books are selected at the beginning of the year, ordered and placed on a shelf labeled Literary Society in the bookstore. There is no grade or evaluation for the discussions on the books, however, if one wishes, he may get 1-3 hours credit per semester if he attends all meetings.

Although the society encourages everyone to read the books they have selected, they invite those persons who have not read the books to attend the meetings simply to listen and perhaps join in the discussion.

Mr. Wayne deRosset, advisor of Literary Society, commented that "because of the relaxed informality of the meetings, the students find they can read good works of literature, discuss, understand and enjoy them." He also said that the Literary Society is planning a trip to a play or movie of some literary merit. Again, he encourages everyone in any field to attend and enjoy the meetings.

On November 16 at 6 p.m., the Autumn Harvest Dinner in honor of new Faculty will be held in the Ballroom. The registration fee is $3 per person.

He is currently a disc jockey at WGSC radio station, a member of Sigma Tau Delta and a staff member of the new literary magazine. He has served as reporter, circulation manager, sports editor and associate editor of The Glenville Mercury.

Pioneers Defeat Bobcats 19-3

The Glenville State Pioneers tromped the Bobcats from West Virginia Wesleyan Saturday night by a score of 19-3. This marked the third victory for the Pioneers of the season who now have a 3-4 record.

Four fumbles and one intercepted pass hurt the Bobcat's chances for a win. The first score for Glenville came when Chuck Ludewig recovered a Bobcat fumble on their 33-yard line and Dennis Gilchrist carried it over for the touchdown. Steve Gandee kicked the extra point.

Wesleyan managed to score a field goal before half time. Third quarter was a scoreless period but the fourth quarter saw the Pioneers erupt for 12 points. Brad Batten broke away for a 86 yard touchdown and an interception by Gerald Crawford gave the Pioneers the ball just 13 yards from the Bobcat's goal line. Four plays later Gilchrist went over for the TD with 1:23 left in the game.

The Pioneers ended up the game with a total of 165 yards rushing. They had 29 yards passing while Wesleyan finished with 154 yards rushing and 41 passing. Glenville also held a 10 to 6 edge in first downs.

If it becomes necessary for you to cancel your reservation, please notify the Business Manager, Glenville State College. Such cancellation or failure to enroll for the period for which the reservation is made will result in the forfeiture of the entire reservation fee. However, the $25 fee will be refunded to those students who have completed their housing contract, less any charges for damage to the room, loss of room key, and any other indebtedness incurred or owed to Glenville State College. This refund will be made about three weeks after the end of the college year.

The office of admission and registration has announced that the final day for withdrawing from classes will be October 30.

Foresters Compete

Sunday was a great day for the "woodchucks" of Glenville State College. The foresters held their annual field day which consisted of a list of events that lasted until sundown.

The day started with a pulpwood throw for accuracy and distance. First year forester, Mike Oliver, took first place in the accuracy throw, and Jeff Sperry grabbed a first in the pulpwood throw for distance. Billy Maul took a first in bolt splitting, with a time of 9.5 seconds.

Steve Snider and Jim Simpson won the tree falling event. Sperry took 1st place in speed chopping with a time of 24 seconds. John Brooks won dot splitting, followed closely by Tom Snider. Stan Hall placed first in the axe throw. Jeff Sperry and Brian Satterfield teamed up and won the Jack & Jack crosscut and Tammi Roberts and Satterfield took first in the Jack & Jill Crosscut. Cliver won the chainsaw competition, and freshman Chuck Maxwell placed first in the Tomahawk throw. The competition ended with Tim Hoyle taking a "wet first" in building and Steve Garrett placing first in the dizzy-izzy.

The competition was followed by a party where Jeff Sperry was awarded the "A-1 all around Forester." Each participant had an excellent performance—great job woodchucks!!

Procedure Explained

The Office of Student Affairs has announced the check-out procedure for the fall vacation. The residence halls will close at 5:00 p.m. on Friday, November 17 at noon. The lunch (noon meal) on Friday, November 16 will be the last meal served. Dinner (evening meal) will be the first meal served on Sunday, November 25, 1979.

Before leaving the residence hall, each person is asked to check the following items: all electrical appliances have been unplugged, all the lights have been turned off, the curtains and windows are closed, and that the door and window are also locked. The college is not responsible for any items that are stolen. Also, the college will be checking the rooms to insure that this procedure has been followed.

Moslem Meet Held

The Moslem Student Association will present a second discussion concerning Islam and its characteristics.

Abdolkarim Baram, an electrical engineer from Syria will be the speaker and the topic of discussion will be "The Islamic Stage: It's Nature and Characteristics."

The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 30, in the Little Theatre of the Administration Building, Glenville State College.

Everyone is invited to attend.

Dr. Manley

Services Offered

The infirmary, located in the Health and Physical Education Building, is open 8:30-12 and 1-3:30 Monday through Thursday, and 8:30-12 Fridays. Dr. Manley, the college physician, has hours from 9-11 Monday through Friday. The infirmary offers medical attention to all GSC students, at no cost.

Minor illnesses and injuries can be treated at the infirmary. However, the infirmary is not equipped to handle long-term or major illnesses. No overnight care can be given. After office hours, the procedure for contacting a nurse or a doctor is to contact a House Director or R.A. These people will, in turn, contact the nurse or doctor.

Doctor Manley urges all students who have not yet turned in the Student Health Form to do so as soon as possible. If a student has not turned in the Form, no treatment can be given.

The infirmary is staffed by Dr. Louis J. Manley, M.D.; Linda Dollinger, R.N.; and Elizabeth Smith, R.N. The nurses are on 24 hour call and work alternating weekends.

Exam To Be Given

A West Virginia Civil Service Examination will be offered on the Glenville State College campus on Nov. 17. Anyone qualifying for positions on the "continuous/written examinations" list from the Civil Service Office may take the examination. Deadline for applications to be received in the Civil Service Office is Oct. 26. Candidates may obtain applications from any Job Service Office, the Placement Office at GSC, or by phoning the WV Civil Service Office (toll free in WV) at 1-800-642-9027.

Please contact Janet Gainer at the Office of Career Planning and Placement at GSC for additional information.

Professional Help Offered

by Carron Smith

"Most people think you have to be nuts to come to a mental health center." Those are the words of Dr. Jeffrey Cosnow, a counselor, from the Gilmer County Mental Health Center. The Mental Health Center offers professional help to anyone who feels they need it. Office hours are from 8:30 to 4:30

tion."

Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and 7 to 9 on Wednesday. Dr. Cosnow explained that no appointment was necessary. However, there is an emergency telephone number 462-8850 and the office phone is 462-5761. The Center has a full staff and is on call 24 hours a day.

The Center has a psychiatrist, psychologist, counselor, outreach officer, and a nurse practitioner on staff. The staff stresses that confidentiality is a major factor. Unless the patient signs a release, no information whatsoever can be given out about him. Dr. Cosnow used the following example: if a person's parents called the center and asked if their child was a patient, the only legal answer the Center could give would be, "I'm sorry but I can't give out that informa-

Dr. Cosnow realizes that many GSC students feel that any help given by the Center would be costly, yet stresses a sliding scale price range. The sliding scale simply means that, unless a student has an income, it is doubtful there would be a fee. Becoming a college student has a great effect on many people. It is often the first time that they have been away from home. Many times that student simply cannot handle the pressure. Dr. Cosnow feels that people need to be able to talk to someone who is not directly involved in school. That is where the Center would come in. All the doctors give you a chance to express yourself on your time.

The Center also has a vocational preference test, which would help a student to find in which area of work he would likely excel. The test takes about one hour and anyone interested should make an appointment.
