Trillium Format Determined

"The format will be about the same as last year's," stated Mrs. Martha Keating about the second annual publication of the Trillium.

The Trillium the Glenville State College Magazine, features original short stories, poetry and illustration submitted by the students of GSC.

Editors Mary Hughes, and Dolly

Woodell, the staff and advisor Mrs. Martha Keating, have selected stories and poems and are now typing the material in preparation for the April deadline.

The Trillium will be printed by Garry Kight and distributed the beginning of May.

Field day 19-GLENVILLE STATE COLLEGE-81

This is the design for the Second Annual "GSC Week and Field Day" mug, designed by Bill Pitzer. This year's mugs will be given away at no cost to those who participate in Field Day.

Ms. Willis To Be Featured Speaker

Meredith Sue Willis, the author of "A Space Apart," will be on the GSC campus March 11-12, 1981. The author and her novel were introduced in a previous article on February 27.

Ms. Willis will be in all English 202 classes, and also the American Literature class. In addition, she will speak on "creative writing" from 11:00 to 12:15 March 12, in the Vandalia Room, Pioneer Center.

For those with the "writing itch," and questions on "how to scratch it," try to attend the lecture on "creative writing".

Ms. Linda Carney

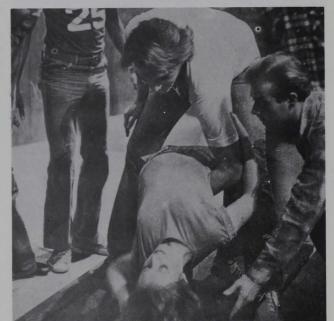

Carney Prometed to Admission Affairs Dept.

Linda Gail Carney was recently promoted to Admission-Records Officer in the Academic Affairs Department, Glenville State College. Mrs. Carney was the Evaluation Analyst for six years prior to assuming her present position.

Linda is married to Tim Carney, the Interim Chairman of the Physical Education Department. Tim is also the coach of the "Lady Pioneer" basketball team and the GSC golf team.

The Carneys have three children: their oldest son is a freshman at Alderson Broaddus College; their youngest son is a senior at Gilmer County High, and their daughter is in the 7th grade at Glenville Elementary. Linda and family have been residents of Glenville for twelve years.

Mrs. Carney graduated from Glenville State College with an Associate Degree.

Members of the cast from the play of the Man of La Mancha are shown in preparation for their parts.

Pioneer Nominations Initiated

Such notable figures as William K. Simmons, the President of Glenville State College, have had the honor of being chosen as the Glenville State College Pioneer.

Now, once again, nominations are being taken for the election of a new Pioneer for the 1981-82 academic

To be eligible for the Pioneer, a person must be of senior status and carry an overall 2.0 average. The Pioneer must attend all home basketball and football games, and can be reimbursed for away games he attends. The Pioneer is also to attend these games in costume and help the cheerleaders generate spirit. It is also a requirement that the GSC Pioneer attend the State Basketball Tournament held in Charleston. Those who fulfill these requirements will be awarded a musket at the end of the year.

Any persons wishing to be nominated may submit their name to the Office of Student Affairs from now until March 24 at noon. The election will be held April 6 and 7 in the lobby of the Pioneer Center from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and in the dorms from 7 to 11 p.m.

King To Attend Workshop

Yvonne King, Director of Pubcations and advisor of the Mercury, is scheduled to attend the American Heart Association (AHA) Volunteer Training Workshop in Atlanta, Georgia. The workshop, sponsored by the AHA Middle Atlantic Region, will be conducted in the Marriott Hotel, Atlanta Airport, March 11-12.

According to Mrs. King, the workshop provides an opportunity to exchange questions and answers on the problems of fund raising with other AHA members and professional counselors. Mrs. King stated that information from the workshop will be

BOWLING TEAM WINS ---

Glenville State competed in the Mountaineer Classic February 28 and March 1 in Morgantown. In the last day, GSC rolled a 2,804 for used when incoming AHA officers are trained locally this spring.

Ms. King is the secretary of the West Virginia AHA Affiliate and a member of the state AHA Board of Directors and the Public Information Committee. She is also the AHA Publicity Director in Gilmer County.

One of the guest speakers at the workshop is the former Chairperson of the WVAHA, Mrs. Josephine Fultz.

Mrs. King is scheduled to depart from Charleston at 2:30 p.m. March 10, and to return at 5:30 p.m. March 12.

SPRING FEVER

"Et tu March"

The month of March is both long and is considered a beginning of spring, but unfortunately to college students, it may become a month of extreme torture. Basketball season is over, mid-terms are scheduled and student employment checks never seem to cover 'til April. These problems and others befall the scholar and some may compare these extremes to the fate of the soldiers trapped in the Black Hole of Calcutta.

During such a long month, tempers are stretched to a breaking point and many come to realize that the Ides of March is no laughing matter. All in all, there are twenty-two actual classroom days, while on the activities schedule, only movies are planned to break the monotony of routine.

Time becomes an oppressive thing when we have nothing left but that. One always seems to feel each second tick into a minute into an hour, etc. The month of March should have been foreseen as a potential danger and activities should have been slated instead. The month will unfortunately drag, giving the students more time; a better alibi to indulge in their favorite childish pasttime of vandalism. As Caesar said, "Et tu Brute," the students of Glenville may say, "Et tu March."

We'd like to congratulate the men's basketball team on playing so well in the tournament. A special congratulations to Big Bro Victor Whitt and Sister Mary Grose for being named as part of the winning cheerleading squad; Big Bro Randy Anderson for getting the Heart & Hustle award and to Big Bro Don Bullett for being placed on the All-Tournament team. Also we'd like to congratulate Big Bros Mike Forbes and Brian Pearis for a job well done. We are proud!

The sisters are reminded that turtle buddies will take place March 10-12. Also, the 42 sisters will be selling chances to win a large piece of carpet. The tickets are $.50 a-piece and $1.00 for 3 chances. The drawing will take place March 17. You can get your ticket chances from any DZ active or DZ pledge.

Awards this week - Study turtle: Michele Bruce; Wilted Rose: Deena Warner; Active of the Week: Michele Bruce; Pledge of the week: Connie Tanner. The pig pen award goes to Lisa and Judy and the clean room award was given to Tina.

OD

The members of the Order of Diana held their regular meeting March 5th in the Student Union. The new members attended this meeting. Any girl receiving a bid who could not attend this meeting but wishes to pick up a bid should contact Cathy Stout immediately.

We hope everyone had a great time at the OD's Drink and Drown Dance last night. Thanks for coming and we'll try to do it again sometime.

Lilly Wins Pretty Legs

In an awards ceremony held in the cafeteria Monday, March 2, Bill Lilly was named the winner of the Sigma Sigma Sigma Spring Pledges' "Mr. Pretty Legs' contest. Mike Morrison was the second runner-up and Scott Ludwig was first runner-up in the penny-a-vote contest.

Bill is a junior Sports Management major from Glenville, and was awarded a plaque by Pledge Arnie Headley. The Sigma Pledges would like to extend their thanks to Debbie Moore for taking and developing the pictures and to the basketball team for their cooperation.

Committee chairmen, members and anyone interested in working on GSC Week and Field Day should be at the meeting Thursday, March 12 at 4 p.m. in the Little Theatre. There is still time for people to get involved and still committees that need chairmen.

ΦΒΛ

A meeting of the Lambda Alpha Theta chapter of Phi Beta Lambda was held on the 26th of February. The following things were discussed.

PBL will support, to the fullest extent, Tom Davisson for Pioneer for the coming year.

The attendance committee made their recommendation to change the by-laws to include an attendance policy. The motion was read and will be voted on in our next meeting.

The next regular meeting will be on March 12 at 12:30 in 101 AB.

ПГМ

Pi Gamma Mu will hold their next regular meeting Wednesday, March 11 at 6:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre. Business to be discussed will be the arrangements of Future events or projects. All members are asked to attend.

 $\Theta\Xi$

We would like to extend congratulations to John Irwin, the only senior on the basketball team. John is a member of Theta Xi Fraternity and has done a fine job on campus. Also, congratulations to both teams on their effort in the tournament.

Wildcatter Joe White would like to know if anyone is in need of a world-wide experienced pipeliner. If so, contact Joe at 462-9917. And, with baseball season just around the corner, Little John is getting aroused. ΣΣΣ

The Delta Alpha Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma held a grub meeting Monday, March 3 in the Sigma lounge.

Everyone is reminded that candy bars are still on sale and may be purchased from any Sigma or Sigma pledge until March 20.

Tentative plans have been made for a dance to be held at the Rec Center on May 2. More details will be forthcoming.

We would like to extend our warmest congratulations to the men's and women's basketball teams on their fine performances in tournament action. We're really proud of you!

Also, special congratulations to our Sisters of the Week, Melissa Simpson, Angel Goddard and pledge Beth Carpenter on their victory as Best Cheering Squad at the tournaments. Congrats to the rest of the squad, too. Also voted as Sisters of the Week were Sisters Kim Bickel. Pam Linger, and Judy Niday for their performances in tournament action last weekend. A special thank you and Sister of the Week honor goes to our chapter adviser. Luanna Smith, for inviting the pledges to her home for Significant Sisterhood last week. Stinker of the Week is Debby Daff for not talking to her Big Sis and other sisters when they talked to her. For further details, ask Debby.

9 'til 5 or 5 'til 9 Clocks Confuse Students

A funny thing happened the other morning as I got up at 7 a.m. to type a paper due later that morning. As I set my watch to the time of a popular local radio station, I wondered just how much difference there was in the campus clocks. I went to Clark Hall to type my paper, and after typing for what seemed a long time, I checked my watch. I found that my watch had stopped, so I set it with the clock in the basement. At 10 till 9 I left the basement to go to my class, yet arrived at the Science Building about 12 minutes early for my class.

Inquisitive about the rest of the campus clocks as I made my way through the rest of my classes, I checked. The upstairs clock at Clark Hall is very nearly the same as the basement clock. However, at one time there was a five minute time difference in these two clocks and on the basement clock, one side was twenty seconds faster than the other.

A building riddled with clocks is the Administration Building, and believe you me, none of those clocks are set for the same time. I noticed this as I left for a 1 o'clock class at three till, yet got to class in the Ad Building at five till one. The classroom I was in also had a clock, so I set my watch with it. Wrong! As I left to go to the first floor of the Ad Building, I found I was about seven or eight minutes fast. The three clocks that are on the first floor were also all set at different times.

By this time, I didn't know what time it was, but, doing my duty like a good investigator, I trudged up to the Physical Education Building. The downstairs clock was ten minutes faster than my watch and the upstairs clock was five minutes slower than my watch.

There is, however, a simple explanation to all this hubbub. All the clocks on campus are set, by hand, by the building's custodians. Therefore, all the clocks are different because each custodian's watch is different. Earlier the campus had the clocks on a master switch, yet the electrical juices flowed to the clocks unevenly, so students had the same time-warp problem. Just remember what Confuscious said, "When you enter the town of Glenville, set your watches 10 years back, when you enter Glenville State College, please dispose of your watches properly." Fear not though, my sources say Fairmont State College has the same problem!

Miracles May Happen

Recently, I came across an article on how to make myself over (I will tolerate no wisecracks about how I sure need one, either) in one of the leading fashion mags. It seems like every two months an article such as this is printed. Presumably, the editors of these magazines must think that the majority of the women in the US are basically ugly. Why else would they devote space to such an enlightening experience?

These articles always play up the exotic aspect of how to make yourself beautiful. They always drag some poor model up from the dregs of lower humanity to serve as the 'before' product and then they bring in some professional makeup artist that could make a Braham bull look attractive. The finished product always looks like a million bucks, and it only serves to let you, the reader, know just how unfortunate you were when God was giving out looks (you probably thought He said 'books,' instead of 'looks,' and you didn't

The article takes you step by step through the delicate procedure, but what you don't see is how the makeup artist takes a whole day instead of the time specified to make the model a '10.' The model's hair is done, a beautiful gown from a Paris fashion show is appropriated and the makeup man uses everything but the kitchen sink. And then they have enough gall to say that you can do the same thing in twenty minutes. God couldn't change some of us that much in the time alloted. It would become the eighth wonder of the world.

Time and time again, we, the unspecting public, are duped into believing things that are just not true. How stupid do they think we are? Everyone knows that miracles never happen, but maybe if I sent in for that makeup chart . . . who knows?

Kanawhach*e*n Contest Slated

Four years at GSC could be a "life sentence" to some students, but for many others, it all ends too

One of our favorite pastimes is reminiscing. Graduates of GSC will meet someday by chance or scheduled reunion, and one of the opening remarks will be "remember when."

The winner will "remember when" and be remembered by all, if she wins the "Miss Kanawhachen" contest. The winner will have a full page all about her -- with picture, in the GSC yearbook.

The contest is coming up soon, so call the Mercury Office (ext. 290) for details on the contest schedule. entry fee, photos and prizes.

NVILLE FINISHES FOURTH IN WVC

Glenville State College's men's basketball team became the Cinderella team of the West Virginia Conference, and more importantly, they became the spoilers as they defeated the fourth and fifth ranked teams in the WVC tournament to earn a semifinal berth and, eventually, a fourth place finish among the fourteen WVC teams.

The Pioneers, ninth-ranked in the tournament, faced fifth-ranked Davis and Elkins in the opening round. The Senators of D & F were totally out-played as the G-Men bombarded their opponents by a score of 80-62.

The next day, on Thursday, the Pioneers faced fourth-ranked Alderson-Broaddus in the quarter-final round. Once again GSC put together a total team effort to register a 85-71 win over the Battlers.

Not one GSC player could be singled out as superior as all six regulars turned in fine showings. Don Bullett scored 30 points, 18 in the first half to spark the scoring attack. Paul Wills scored 14, Scott Ludwig added 13. Mike Forbes with 12 tallies. Randy Anderson scored 10 and John Irwin contributed Glenville shot 55.2% (32 of 58) for the game while A-B could only muster 40.0 percent (30 of 75).

Paul Wills controlled the boards by pulling down an amazing 16

The Pioneers took the lead by two points at the 15:30 mark of the first half with a 10-8 score when Bullett was awarded two points due to goaltending. That was what the G-Men needed as they built upon that slim lead to as much as seventeen points. The Pioneers led by ten points at halftime.

AB came within twelve points two times in the last four minutes but the determined Pioneers kept adding salt into the wound.

John Irwin started the momentum off when he blocked a Leon Child's shot. The GSC center lifted high off the floor and the astonished crowd watched the blocked ball go almost to halfcourt, Randy Anderson picked up the loose ball and passed it to Wills. Wills slammed the ball through the hoop. The referee ruled that Wills had grabbed the rim turned in another fine performance and called a technical foul But Glenville was sky-high and the damage had already been done to the Battlers.

The victory gave Glenville the honor to play in the semifinals. This meant that GSC had already earned at least fourth place in the tournament. And the team they had to face was the top-ranked Fairmont Falcons.

The game had as much tension in it as a super-bowl. With five seconds left in the game, Don Bullett rifled in a shot from the corner. The ball never made contact with the rim as it ripped through the net. The shot tied the score, sending the game into overtime. But the Falcons kept their head and with a little luck they came back in overtime to post a 54-48 win over the Pioneers.

After Bullett's shot to end the game in a tie, GSC brought the ball down court to begin the overtime period. The Pioneers went into their four-corner offense and Scott Ludwig was fouled. He missed the foul shot and Fairmont brought it up court to score. The Falcons outscored GSC 10-4 in the extra period to post the victory.

Once again Bullett led the Pioneers, this time with 21 points. Mike Forbes added eight for GSC. The loss sent the Pioneers into the consolation bracket for a face-off with West Virginia Tech, losers to the University of Charleston.

The Pioneers faced tough competition with the Golden Bears of Tech in the quest for third place. Behind Al Porter's 40 point performance, Tech defeated Glenville 94-85.

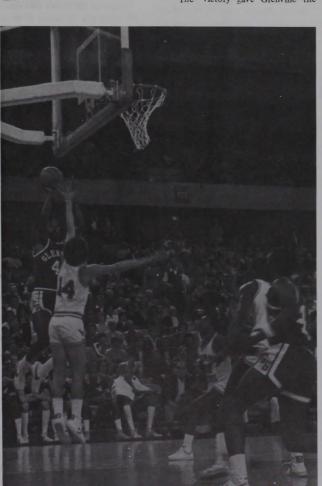

Tech held a slim 41-40 lead at halftime but they ran away in the second half by outscoring the Pioneers by a 53-45 margin.

Scott Ludwig led GSC with 26 points. He was followed by Bullett. who capped off a sensational tournament showing with 23 points. Wills added 19 points in the losing cause. The loss finished Glenville's season off with a 15-16 record.

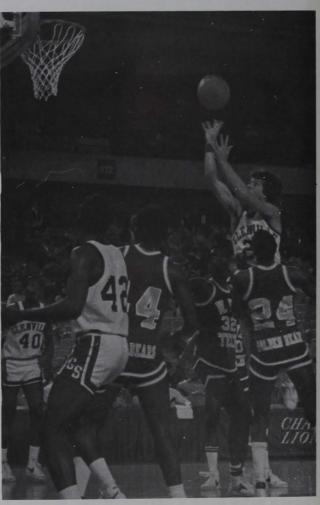

Don Bullett was an unanimous choice for all-tournament honors. Bullett scored 93 points in the four games for a 23.6 average. Randy Anderson won the"Heart and Hustle Award,"while Coach Jesse Lilly accepted a trophy for "Best Team Sportsmanship."

The cheerleaders also captured the hardware as they won the "Best Cheerleading Group" for the second year in a row. Freshman Beth Carpenter also won the "Best Cheerleader" award for her individual talents.

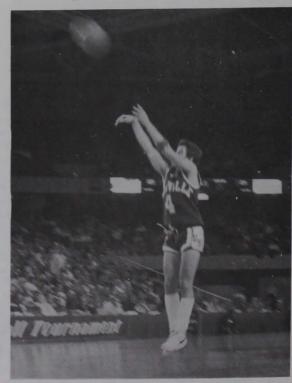

The Lambda Chi Alpha wrestling tournament will begin at 4:00 Monday in the mat room.

Don Bullett fires in a shot from the corner to tie top-ranked Fairmont to send the game into overtime. Bullett was named to the Randy Anderson shoots for two points in the West Virginia Conference Tournament at Charleston. Anderson's pep and vigor gave him the "Heart and Hustle Award" for the tournament.

LADIES WIN SECOND IN NAIA TOURNEY

Freshman Bunny Taylor capped off a sensational first year at Glenville State College as she earned all-tournament honors at the NAIA Sectional tournament at Charleston last weekend.

Pam Minigh, only a sophomore at GSC, was an all-tournament selection also. She ended her second season in a row averaging double figures on the year.

The GSC Lady Pioneer basketball team competed last week in the NAIA women's basketball tournament held at the University of Charleston's Eddie King Gym. Seven teams — Bluefield, UC, Glenville, Salem, West Virginia State, West Virginia Tech and Concord — participated in the tourney, all with one common goal — to be the District 28 representative to the NAIA Area 7 Tourney involving teams from three states

Although the Lady Pioneers fell short in their bid for regional play, they did perform very well in the tourney. GSC knocked off Bluefield and West Virginia State before falling to top-seeded and heavily favored Charleston in the finals. Said Coach Tim Carney of his Glenville squad, "We played awfully well in Charleston. I was tickled with the way we did." The squad finished with an overall record of 17-4, compared with a 17-5 record last year, and had a conference record of 14 wins and 2 losses.

GSC's first encounter was with Bluefield State, on Thursday, Feb. 26. The Lady Pioneers, who went into the tourney seeded number two, put the contest away in the first half, as they hit 55.6 percent of their field goal attempts to take a 49-26 spread at intermission. The Bluefield women played it tight in the second half, being outscored by only 27-25, but the damage was already done. GSC coasted in with a 76-51 decision.

Bunny Taylor led the GSC win with 16 points, six rebounds, three assists and three steals. Pam Linger also tallied 16 markers and collected five rebounds and two blocked shots. Pam Minigh added 15 points and six rebounds, and Mary Zangari had ten points, seven steals and two assists. Also for the Glenville gals, Kim Bickel hit six points and a team-high ten caroms, Judy Niday had six points, Shelley Tharp had four points and eight boards, Donita Cox had two points and two steals, and Sonia Bailey had one point and four assists.

In their second outing, the Lady Pioneers had a tougher time disposing of their opponent, West Virginia State. GSC held a slim, 32-27 lead at half, but exerted itself in the second half for a 40-28 advantage, which gave them a final margin of 72-55, advancing them to the finals against Charleston.

Bunny Taylor again paced the victory for Glenville, as she collected game-high totals of 24 points, 11 rebounds and four assists. Following her in both scoring and rebounding was Kim Bickel, who was credited with 16 points and nine rebounds. The Lady Pioneers' lone other double-figure scorer was Pam Minigh, who chipped in 12 points to go along with eight caroms. Others contributing for GSC were Mary Zangari and Pam Linger with eight points each, and Shelley Tharp with four points and five rebounds.

Finally, on Sat., Feb. 28, the game to decide the District 28 winner was played. Glenville and Charleston, two squads which had met only once during the regular season, were ready to do battle. UC, undefeated against conference foes in over four years, had beaten Glenville 74-58 in the only previous meeting between the two squads.

The much taller, more experienced Eagle women started strong. In the first half, UC built up leads as high as 19 points before claiming a 48-33 bulge at halftime. The never-say-die Lady Pioneers weren't about to roll over and play dead, though. They came out in the second half intent on cutting into the 15-point lead UC had built up, and they did just that. GSC cut the lead down to eight points, but they stalled and could get no closer. UC had built its lead back to 13 points at 80-67 by the time the buzzer sounded ending the contest.

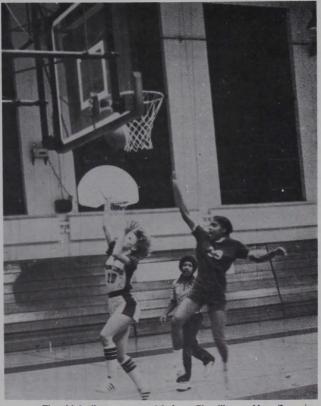

Pam Minigh, despite fouling out with over five minutes left to play, paved the way for GSC with 21 points and nine rebounds. Bunny Taylor added 16 points, eight rebounds and three steals. Pam Linger chipped in 12 points and a team-high 13 rebounds, and Mary Zangari contributed 12 markers and two assists. Also for GSC, Kim Bickel, who, along with Zangari, was competing for the final time in a Pioneer uniform, had four points and ten rebounds, and Shelley Tharp had two points and two rebounds.

For UC, which outrebounded Glenville 61-49, Linda Deibel led with 22 points and 15 rebounds.

Three GSC players received All-Tournament honors at the conclusion of the tourney. Senior Mary Zangari, of whom Carney stated, "We'll really miss her," was one of the selections. Sophomore Pam Minigh, a smooth, consistent performer who was All-Conference and All-State last season, and high-scoring Freshman Bunny Taylor were the other two All-Tournament choices from GSC.

The Glenville girls did very well in the tourney despite the lack of a big inside player to combat Charleston's height. Coach Carney and his squad are to be congratulated on the completion of such a fine season!

The third all-tournament pick from Glenville was Mary Zangari, a senior point guard. Zangari played her last game in a GSC uniform in the NAIA tournament last weekend.
