MD Week Planned

Things are bustling on campus! Active volunteers are finalizing plans for the GSC 3rd Annual Muscular Dystrophy Week. There are many fun-filled events for you to participate in, so hurry and pick up your entry forms in the Student Union any day from 11:00-1:00.

You can start helping now by dropping your loose change in the canisters distributed around campus and businesses in the downtown area. Remember: every penny you give goes to help Jerry's kids.

No one else in the state of West Virginia has topped Glenville State College in the last two years in raising the most money per capita. Won't you help us hold on to this record? It will mean so much to so many children.

MD planning meetings are held each Monday at 3:00 p.m. in 301 AB. Please come and show your support Monday, March 16. There isn't much time left to prepare. Please tion 7-12; Teresa Beth Litton, Harri-(cont. on p. 4) help! Jerry's kids will LOVE you. son, Elementary 1-6/Art 4-8/Lang.

New Restaurant Adds Class

Finally someone has done something that breaks away from the normal routine and brings some class back to GSC. Naturally, there would be somebody complaining about it. The Glenville State College Food Service, under the directorship of Joe Drahnak, has come up with a dining service that surpasses the hamburger joints downtown. The dinners served in the Verona Mapel Room speak of fine dining in Glenville, possibly the first of such a venture.

Some items of recent menus include seafood platters, rock cornish hens, and stuffed pork chops, along with side dishes that include baked potatoes, wild rice, broccoli with hollandaise sauce, salad bar, etc. Also served are coffee, tea, and other beverages. Where else in Glenville do you find such a scrumptous menu?

But as stated earlier, someone always has a gripe. Gripes are fine as long as they are to change something wrong in the thing griped about, but some of the gripes against the food service seem to be merely a gripe to harm instead of change. Dr. Drahnak stated that he is happy to listen to anything as long as it is legitimate and can help in bringing about a correction of a problem. He also stated that he is aware that there are still a few problems to be worked out.

So remember, the next time you gripe just to be griping, just review back a few years when the food service of GSC included only the basic three cafeteria-style meals each day, and thank your lucky stars that such a program is offered instead of complaining about it.

TK

The fraters of the Iota Omega chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon would like to announce an upcoming pingpong tournament, tentatively scheduled for Thursday, March 26. Details will be finalized in next week's paper.

A reminder to all fraters who participated in the Jump Rope for Heart event, turn in your pledges to Mark Barnhart by March 17. Again, thank you all for participating; it went to a good cause.

We would like to congratulate our O.D.'s on a job well done on their Drink 'N Drown Dance last Thursday, we all had a great time. We would also like to congratulate and welcome the new O.D. pledges. We need your help in our upcoming projects.

Congratulations are in order to the men's and women's basketball teams for their performances in their respective end-of-season tournaments. The teams certainly performed in an exciting fashion and it was really something to see. Good luck next year and we will be looking for better things to happen!

Good luck to TKE 1 and TKE 2 intramural basketball teams as the season kicks off. Also, we would like to remind all fraters of the meeting Sunday at 8:00 at Barny's house. Important topics will be discussed. It is important that every one be there

Theatre Department Hosting HS Festival

Friday, March 20, GSC's Theatre Department is hosting the Region Two High School Drama Festival. Competition starts at 9:00 a.m. and continues throughout the day.

Schools participating are Walton High School, Parkersburg South High School, Ripley High School, Gilmer County High School, and possibly Spencer High School and Braxton County High School.

Judges for the competition are David Sindlecaer of West Virginia University and Barbara Nicholson of Glenville State College. The names of the other judges were not disclosed.

Each school is to present a one act play. Two schools will win the competition and advance to the State Drama Festival. The festival will be held at WVU.

Students are welcome to watch the performances.

The spring pledge class of Sigma Sigma Sigma will be holding a St. Patrick's Day bake sale, March 16-18 in the lobby of the Pioneer Center and in the Dorms.

LADIES

The Ladies of the White Rose held their meeting Wednesday at 4:30.

Due to other conflicts, the Ladies voted to change the time of their meetings to Wednesdays at 4:30. All Ladies should make a special note of this change.

Several activities have been planned for the remainder of this semester.

Everyone can look forward to another one of the Ladies "original" auxiliary dances, which has been planned for early April.

April 8 is the date set for the Easter dinner, which the Ladies will be giving for the brothers. Recognition of Big Sis-Little Brothers will take place at this time.

The Ladies have also planned a special keg party for the brothers on April 30.

Later this month, a reception is planned which is to follow the initiation of our new Ladies.

To the new Ladies, congratulations and good luck.

Ladies are reminded to bring their dues with them to the next meeting. Again, make a note on your calendar about the change in meeting time. The next Ladies meeting will be March 17 at 4:30 in the 3rd floor Scott Wing lounge of Pickens Hall.

$\Phi B \Lambda$

A meeting of the Lambda Alpha Theta chapter of Phi Beta Lambda was held on the 12th of March at 12:30.

For those of you who read this on Friday, we will be having an inventory work day on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. If a lot of people turn out, it might not take that long.

State conference is right around the corner. Those of you who are entering a contest or running for state office, should start getting your minds in gear. 17

The DZ annual State Day will be in Shepherdstown this year on Saturday, April 4.

The drawing for the carpet will be during the dance on March 17. It's not too late to buy a chance to win this carpet for your dorm room or house. Each chance is $.50 and 3 chances are only $1.00. You can buy your chance from any DZ active or DZ pledge.

The annual Spaghetti Dinner will be held March 23 & 24 (Monday and Tuesday) from 4:00-7:00 p.m. Tickets are $2.75 for each adult and $1.25 for each child. Along with Spaghetti, we plan to serve various beverages, cole slaw and bread. Once again you can obtain your ticket from any DZ.

Turtle Buddy ceremony was held Thursday. Everyone found out who their "secret" friend was. We exchanged gifts to honor these sisters.

Awards this week - Wilted Rose-Brenda Gray; Study Turtle-Rhonda Anderson; Pledge of the Week goes to Mary Shears for her hard work in obtaining our interviews, good job sis! The pledges voted Brenda Gray as Active of the Week. Also, at the last meeting Kim Nottingham was presented with a pen given to her by a supporting alumni DZ from her community.

ΣΣΣ

The Sisters of the Delta Alpha Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma held their regular ceremonial business meeting on Monday in the Verona Mapel Room.

The Sisters finalized plans for the car wash to be held on March 28 at Chapman's Car Wash. The car wash will begin at 10:00 a.m. and will cost $3.00 for the outside of the car only and $5.00 for both the inside and outside.

Plans were made for Alumnae Relations Chairman, Lori Brode, to begin a monthly newsletter for our alumnae chapter.

Candy bars can still be purchased from Sigmas or Sigma pledges. The candy will be on sale until the 20th.

Everyone is reminded to be saving your pennies for our Founder's Day banquet. Our sorority will be 83 years old on April 20. The banquet will be at 6:00 on the 20th, in the Vandalia Room.

Sisters of the Week are Cheryl Keenan and Debbie Godfrey for cleaning up the floor last week and Kelly Ford, pledges Jupe Morton and Arnie Headley for their participation in the play, "The Man of La Mancha". Stinkers of the Week are the pledges who trashed the floor and Debby Daff, just to make it three weeks in a row.

Members of the cast of "Man of La Mancha" are seen during a prison scene in which Cervantes (Joe Hickman) explains his side of the story.

All material submitted to the Mercury for use must meet the deadline of that particular Wednesday at noon. Due to certain conditions, any material submitted late, runs the risk of not being used.

Letter To The Editor

After reading your column in the March 6 issue of the Mercury I found I was a little confused about activities scheduled in March and the obvious contradiction to the facts. On your front page was a picture from a "Man of La Mancha" rehearsal and in previous issues you have carried articles concerning MD Week from March 25-28. You state, "only movies are planned to break the monotony..." Obviously, this is incorrect. Many people have put in a lot of work to prepare for the play and MD Week.

I propose that "monotony" is a self-induced phenomena that occurs when you sit around contemplating how bored you are instead of tapping the resources around you and doing something, involving other people.

J. Michael Geary

Editor's Note: As of your definition of "monotony," I consider putting out a Mercury every week "tapping the resources around you and doing something involving other people." The mere hours that putting out a Mercury every week "tapping the resources around you and doing something involving other people." The mere hours that go into each Mercury will testify to this.

If you will look on the GSC Spring Semester Calendar, you will see that only weekly movies, Little Kanawha Drama Festival, Appalachian Dance Ensemble and a recital are listed and since this was what I was going by, I did not mention MD Week.

In the Mercury's coverage, the date of the MD Show has been stated, so I fail to see where there would be a problem in anyone knowing the date.

Also, students cannot be forced to attend any activity and it is entirely up to them to choose what to attend and what not to attend. Therefore, due to each student's particular personality, they may not want to attend any of the above mentioned activities and I was trying to get across that maybe a wider selection of activities could be offered to combat this problem.

Recital To Be Held

Dr. Edward Graham, Assistant Professor of Music at Glenville State College, will perform a solo piano recital in the College auditorium on Sunday evening, March 15, at 8 p.m. The program will include works of J. S. Bach, Frederic Chopin, Franz Liszt, and George Gershwin.

Dr. Graham was born in Youngstown, Ohio, and received his B.M. in piano and Doctor of Music degree in piano pedagogy from Indiana University, School of Music (Bloomington, Indiana), where he studied with Dr. Bela Nagy, Alfonso Montecino, and Menahem Pressler. He served in the US Army and was the piano soloist/accompanist with the 2nd Army Chorus, Ft. Meade, MD. In addition to being an active recitalist and accompanist, he also has had many years of professional experience in the popular/jazz music field, with solo engagements throughout the Midwest (Chicago, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Detroit), and in Los Angeles, where he had a teaching assistantship at UCLA and performed in the LA area.

During his graduate work at Indiana University he held a graduate teaching assistantship, and before coming to GSC he taught at Longwood College (Farmville, VA), Winston-Salem State University (NC), and Potomac State College in Keyser.

McDonald Reviews Play

"Will the Real Reality Please Stand Up?"

"Poets look at life not as it is but as it ought to be." In words to this effect Miguel de Cervantes defends his work Don Quixote to the prison rabble in the musical Man of La Mancha. And for two hours on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of last week, audiences in the GSC auditorium got a glimpse of life as it too often is and of one man's vision of life as it should and could be.

The setting for the play alternated between the prison in which Cervantes was cast for "crimes" against the Church and the scenes in Cervantes' story, which was enacted under Cervantes' direction by the prisoners. In itself the Spanish Inquisition, a time of intense ecclesiastical oppression and rigidity, provided a stark contrast to the idealism of Cervantes and of the hero of his story, Don Quixote (both parts played by Joe Hickman I), but the superb make-up, costuming, and set made the contrast visually effective. Scene changes were rapid and smooth, the audience being thrust back and forth from the squalid "reality" of the prison to the fantasy of Cervantes' story until the distinction, became blurred. Thus, by the time Cervantes was called to trial, the audience was prepared for the final remark by the "governor" of the prisoners (played by Gerry Hough) that there was a great deal of Don Quixote in Cervantes. The implication – that idealism need not necessarily be removed from ordinary life.

It is every reviewer's distasteful task to single out particular actors for distinction, especially when so many in the cast deserve mention, but the task must be done. Just by the sheer weight of his role, Mr. Hickman deserves recognition. Besides playing Cervantes and Don Quixote, he also played Alonso Quiana, the rational side of Don Quixote. Mr. Hickman moved from one role to the other with consummate skill. But above this, his acting must be applauded for its sensitive interpretation. For example, one would have to be a hardened realist indeed not to have wept at his moving portrayal of Quixote's desperate attempt to hold on to his vision when confronted by the mirrored shield of the Knight of Mirrors. In addition to his acting ability, Mr. Hickman possesses a musical voice with a haunting, sweet-sad quality to it, which is splendidly suited to such a role.

Fran Davis also put in a fine performance. She portrayed well the gradual transformation of the hardened Aldonza into Quixote's ideal lady. Dulcinea Robey Godfrey, who played Sancho, fit well into his comic role. He stimulated most of the laughter, but he avoided hecoming a buffoon. One felt as though the comedy arose, not because of his comic efforts, but because he caught the tension between Sancho's simple devotion to Quixote, yet shrewd recognition of things as they are.

These three actors, of course, played the major roles, but praise must go to the others from blending together so superbly. The same might be said of the orchestra. And I suppose this must be the sign of a fine production — all parts blending into one harmonious whole. To Linda and Ed McKown along with the rest of the crew many congratulations are in order for making this blend possible.

Whatever faults there were, it seems to me, can be ascribed to limitations naturally imposed on amateur productions - time, money, and training. But despite these, for two hours on Saturday night, I was under Quixote's outrageously serious spell, and was affirmed in my belief that "facts are an enemy to Truth." by Craig McDoncld

The Glenville State College Stage Band under the direction of Dr. David Harry will be in concert, March 19 at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium. The stage band will present a potpourri of bossa nova, blues, swing, jazz and ballad.

WELL, HE MAY WITH ALL THE CUTS HAVE A LONG BEING MADE,

The Camerata Singers will perform on Thursday, March 19, in the auditorium at 8:00 p.m. under the direction of Dr. Raymond Jones. The vocal selection will range from popular to gospel act to a mild rock beat.

Put on your best green bib and tucker and come out to the fourth annual St. Patrick's Day Dance on Saturday, March 28, at the Gilmer Co-Recreation Center from 9:00 to 12:00 midnight.

Meridith Sue Willi

Featured Speaker Portrayed

I like Meredith Sue Willis! Before meeting her in English 202, I expected to see a pretentious person modestly puffed with self esteem. But to my pleasant surprise, I found a very charming and down to earth person who is dedicated to her profession and genuinely concerned about aspiring writers.

Rather than permit my opinionated and partial pen to persuade anyone, I decided to solicit comments from other students.

"A delightful lady," said one student. "I could listen to her for hours," and, "She's a credit to West Virginia," added two others. "I wish we could have visitors in our English class more often if they were like her," was the comment from a student who was very impressed with Willis.

Vera, the wife of Preacher Scarlin in Meredith's novel, "A Space Apart," ran around the classroom in her red shoes and pink dress while sporting her green plastic ring that she found in a box of "cracker jacks." Vera came to life while Willis was reading from her novel.

Willis commented briefly on her story and how she used her imagination and past experiences in the creation of all the characters. Following her comments Willis answered questions pertaining to her novel and creative writing.

Willis warned that writing a novel is a difficult adjustment for a physically active person. "For hours you sit with only cerebral activity and your body cramps from writing too long. I like the activity but I don't like the inactivity."

She compared the act of writing to other arts and crafts. "Writing a book is like a wood craftsman taking a piece of rough wood and with imagination, tools, time, and care for the finished product, the rough wood turns into a smooth and delicate work of art.

Willis was asked, "What does an aspiring writer do when they feel that the more they learn about writing, the more they realize they don't know and that when they learn these "skills" they may no longer have the creative ability. She replied, "Don't be discouraged and don't wait. Write!"

It's a new season in major college basketball. The various teams of the country have ended their regular season and are starting again. This time, though, if they lose, there is no tomorrow.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tournament begins this week with 48 teams participating. Among the teams that will take part in the NCAA competition are number-one ranked DePaul, formerly undefeated and once top-ranked Oregon State, and defending NCAA champ Louisville.

This year will prove to be one of the more exciting tournaments in recent years. Not one team in the field of 48 is undefeated. The defending champion, Louisville, tarted their season off by losing seven of the first eight games. They struggled throughout their season and barely grabbed a bid to the NCAA tournament to defend their title.

Among the once-beaten teams participating in the tourney are DePaul and Oregon State. DePaul dropped a heartbreaker to Old Dominion halfway through the regular season while Oregon State was beaten by Arizona State. (Arizona State, incidently, played a regular season game with Glenville's opponent, the University of Charleston.)

Notre Dame will also bring a strong team into the tournament. The Fighting Irish dropped a tough decision to DePaul last weekend to end their regular season.

Other teams not to be overlooked are Virginia, UCLA, Kentucky, and Louisiana State University. Virginia boasts probably the best big man in Ralph Sampson who tips the height chart at over seven feet. Kentucky always seems to play their best at tournament time. The Wildcats will need big performances from big man Sam Bowie, probably the second best center behind Sampson.

Louisiana State has been ranked in the top ten throughout the regular season and will give the others a run for their money.

West Virginia University just missed getting a bid to the tournament. The Mountaineers lost their chance in the semifinals of their conference tournament. Pittsburgh won the right to represent their conference in the NCAA. WVU had to settle for a bid in the National Invitational tournament, the little sister of the NCAA tourney.

The NCAA tournament is always the highlight of college basketball. It has its upsets and glorious come-from-behind thrillers. Who is my choice for the NCAA championship? Well, I believe that no team can stop Coach Ray Myers and his DePaul team. I pick DePaul to win it all and my upset special is a surprising team from Pepperdine University. Don't count them out! Anything can happen in college

Track Squad Begins Season

The GSC men's track team will begin its 1981 campaign tomorrow (Saturday, March 14), in a triangular meet at Rio Grande College (Ohio). The meet will kick off a season which will see participation in eight meets, including the Pioneer Invitational on April 25 and the West Virginia Conference meet, also held at GSC on May 2 and 3.

Seventeen members were to make the trip to Rio Grande. They were: Steve Roberts and Steve Keenan in the 10,000-meters: Rick Murray in the javelin and discus; Dave Husk in the javelin, discus, and shot put; John Irwin in the high jump and the 120 yard high hurdles; Craig Worl in the discus: Virgil Davis in the triple jump, 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash and 440 yard relay; Scott Pottmeyer in the triple jump, 440 yard relay, 100 yard dash and 220 yard dash, Gary Brissey in the triple jump, 120 yard high hurdles and 440 yard intermediate hurdles; Eddie Huffman in the 440 yard relay, 440 yard dash and the 440 intermediate hurdles; Gerald Miller in the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash and 440 yard relay; Larry Taylor in the mile and three mile; Ray Loughry in the 880 yard run and the mile run; Billy Belcher in the mile and three mile; Mark Price in the 440 yard run and 880 yard run; Greg Anderson in the 440 and 880 runs; and Craig Book in the three mile.

Coach Jerry Milliken remarked on his team, "I've been pleased with our progress so far, but I won't really know how we stack up against other teams until we've been in competition. We're just hoping to get some good weather going, and hopefully we'll be able to put it all together by the first week of May."

Following is the 1981 track schedule:

March 14-Rio Grande Invitational; etta); April 11-Rio Grande Relays; April 18-Marshall Inv.; April 25-Pioneer Inv.; May 2-3 WVIAC.

Cheerleaders To Meet

There will be a meeting March 17 at 12:30 in the Little Gym for any male or female interested in trying out for the 1981-82 cheerleading squad. This meeting will be held to inform everyone of the requirements and procedures of the tryouts scheduled for March 29 and 30.

A new procedure for cheerleaders has been adopted by the WVIAC, where each school will have a total of only ten cheerleaders and two alternates. Glenville State College has adopted the policy of having five female cheerleaders for the entire vear and one alternate. The male cheerleaders will have two permanent members on the squad for the football season and one alternate. After football season, three new male cheerleaders will be picked for basketball season (the alternate male cheerleader will have to try out a second time). The three new members will be picked for the basketball season to make the cheerleading squad a total of ten. An alternate will also be picked for the males for the basketball season. The two permanent male members will be required to attend camp in August, along with five female cheerleaders.

Glenville State College cheerleaders currently hold the WVIAC title of "Best Cheerleaders", which they also won at the 1980 WVIAC tournament. It is important that everyone attend this meeting. If one cannot attend, please contact Mrs. Sandra Piercy, or Della Seaman, apartment 500 Pickens Hall

Baseball Begins March 24

"We're young but our competitiveness will outshine that!"

That's how Coach Ollie Pottmeyer sums up his forecast for the 1981 edition of the Glenville State College baseball team, which is scheduled to open their season on Tuesday, March 24, at Concord College.

The Pioneers, who went 6-16 on the season last year, are more experienced this spring. "We started three, sometimes four freshmen last year," stated Pottmeyer, "Those freshmen are more experienced now and they should fall right into place when the action starts"

Gone from that 6-16 team is Terry Spangler, an all-conference pitcher-third baseman, who graduated from GSC last year.

The shining star of the 1981 edition is senior pitcher-third baseman Gerry Myers Myers was a special honorable mention selection on the mound last year in the West Virginia Conference, "I feel he's the best pitcher in the conference," Pottmeyer proudly states.

In all, there are 15 freshmen, 8 sophomores, 3 juniors and 3 seniors.

Pottmeyer has strengthened the weakest spot in the GSC line-up by recruiting several promising freshman pitchers. They include Williams, Guinn, and Bob Davis.

Glenville's toughest conference competition will come from defending WVC champion Davis and Elkins. D & E enjoyed an undefeated season last year in addition to copping the conference crown. West Virginia State will also be among the top teams in the WVC

Glenville's first home game will be April 4, against Salem. The game is scheduled for 5:00. The highlight of the GSC schedule is a southern trip during April 12-16. Teams scheduled to host the Pioneers are North Carolina Weslevan, Atlantic Christian, and Favetteville (N.C.) Methodist.
