"Miss GSC" Rules Stated

"Spring has sprung." While that sounds extremely cliché, before long it will be true. With the coming of spring, the Miss GSC Pageant also returns to campus.

Entry forms may be completed until Friday, March 6, by contacting Ms. Nasia Pavlidies or Ms. Angel Goddard. Ms. Pavlidies, the pageant director, is anticipating participation by nine to ten girls. To participate, a girl must be between 18-25 years of age and have completed at least two consecutive semesters at GSC. An entry fee of $25 must be paid by each entrant. In the pageant, the participants will be involved in four phases of competition: interview, talent, swimsuit, and evening gown. The talent phase is the most important facet of the competition, because points toward each girl's final tally are doubled. The 1982 Miss GSC Pageant will be held on Wednesday, March 31, at 7:30 p.m. in the GSC Auditorium. Candi Cohen, the reigning Miss West Virginia, will be a special guest at the pageant. Former Miss GSC's Vicki Parrish and Angel Goddard, and Miss GSC 1981, Francene Davis, will all participate in the pageant. The theme of Miss GSC 1982 will be "Shine It On."

Guest Speaks On Poetry

Ms. Maggie Anderson, a native West Virginian poet, visited Glenville February 25, and gave her views on poetry, what it means to an individual to be able to write a poem, and what impulses bring about poetry. She said she started writing poetry when she was in grade school, and kept it up, as sort of an emotional release.

Ms. Anderson also shared some of her poetry and some of her students' poetry, also. "Some of my poetry is just too personal to me," said Ms. Anderson, "that's why I don't like to read so much of it."

Maggie Anderson now lives in Waynesburg, PA, where she is "not writing." "Not writing is preparing myself to write; it's the time I need to sort out what I want to say," explains Maggie.

She said, "I really enjoy speaking to people who are interested in poetry, and I enjoyed speaking here."

Members of the cast, orchestra and crews of THE MUSIC MAN have been anxiously preparing for the spring drama production to be presented March 5-7 in the GSC Auditorium.

Drama Department Presents "Music Man"

The Music Man is playing your song! On Friday, March 5 and Saturday, March 6 at 8:00 p.m. and Sunday, March 7 at 3:00 p.m., a tremendous amount of hard work and long hours will culminate in Glenville State College Theater's salute to Iowa of 1912; hard-nosed Iowans; the American Dream; Motherhood; the Red, White and Blue; and everyone's favorite hand-in-hand subjects, spring and love.

The Music Man, Meredith Wilson's prize-winning musical of 1957, has been put together by students from practically every department on campus. There has also been much help given by members of GSC's faculty, as well as by residents of Glenville and other surrounding communities.

Production crews for the musical are listed below:

Set Construction - Head: Jennifer Morton; Crew: Micky McDonald, Chris Keister, Neal Benson, Ronnie Hall, Bill Anderson, Vickie Carder, Danny Bayer, Cheryl Keenan, Raeleen McMillion, Dan Langford, Robin McDonald.

Lights - Crew: Chris Keister, Jennifer Morton, Steve White, Mike Schar-tiger, Dennis Jarrel. Make-up - Co-Heads: Raeleen McMillion and Danny Bayer. Crew: Pat Lewis,

Berkshire Chamber Players To Perform

The Berkshire Chamber Players will present a free concert at 8 p.m., March 4 in the auditorium at Glenville State College. The four performers, featured on clarinet/flute, violin, cello and piano, present music from the Baroque Era in an informal concert style that has won them acclaim from coast to coast.

The chamber group launched its musical review in Lenox, Mass., in the heart of the Berkshire Mountains. The guiding force behind this organization is Herbert Tichman, internationally renowned for his work as a soloist in chamber music throughout North America, Europe and the Middle East. Tichman received his musical education at the Peabody Conservatory and the Juilliard School of Music where he majored in both clarinet and flute. While a student, he met Ruth Budnevich. They were married and began to tour as a duo.

Ruth Budnevich Tichman, featured on piano, is originally from Manchuria and came to the United States at the age of 17 to continue her musical training. She has toured throughout the United States and Far East and recently has focused her interests on chamber music, teaching and raising a family. The Tichmans have three daughters—all involved in music.

Maxine Neuman, featured on cello, received her education from the Manhattan School of Music. Neuman is well known both as a soloist and as a distinguished chamber music performer with such ensembles as the Walden Trio, the Lydian String Quartet, the Contemporary Trio, the Mostly Mozart Festival and the Philharmonic Virtuoso, with which she recently toured Japan.

Bruce Berg, master of the violin, was a full scholarship student at the Juilliard School of Music where he received his bachelor, master and doctorate degrees. He has appeared in solo recitals throughout the United States, South America, and Europe. He

The Ides of March

What is in store for March? Check your calendars! The month is full of extra-curricular activities planned especially for the entertainment of GSC students.

Anyone interested in music can enjoy two performances in March. The Berkshire Chamber Players will be performing Thursday of this week, and also the Pennsylvania Boys Choir is scheduled for March 29.

The Music Man, GSC's Spring drama production, will be presented Friday through Sunday. Everyone should attend this entertaining musical. Get your tickets now.

Movies are planned for three weeks of the month. They include Blue Lagoon, Golden Girl, and a Marlon Brando Film Festival. Also, the annual Miss Glenville State College Pageant will take place on March 31. Come and see who will be selected as the next reigning Miss GSC.

Of course everyone is anxiously waiting for spring break, March 12-22. We still have two more weeks, however, so while we're here, let's enjoy the activities planned for our benefit.

No Surprise Is The Best Surprise

Life is full of surprises (this column is a weekly one because I am never prepared for it) and campus life is just one big scare after another. A wheel lock, a pop quiz, an early alarm, a teacher showing up for class, breakfast through dinner in the cafeteria, and so on and so on.

Time and time again an alarm clock brings tears and heartbreak to students around GSC as they stumble and mumble to find an exciting surprise. The next surprise is either breakfast or falling out of bed and missing the floor. When you are in this kind of situation, it is advisable to check and see if all your buttons, zippers, and everything else is okay.

The next surprise is when you go to class and wait 14 minutes and 59 seconds for a teacher and they walk in and begin to teach—(surprises like this one can stunt your growth and make your hair fall out).

Then as you proceed to prop your eyes open the teacher asks you to answer question number thirteen and surprise, surprise, you don't have the answer. So once again, ignorance has triumphed and the art of surprise has scored a major victory.

Again the act of surprise has come and gone for another week (and my job will be saved). I will not speak of it for a time. So tune in next week as I plot the overthrow and general betterment of the Mercury. Esiprus, Esiprus!!!

Cafeteria Discussed

Last semester, I was on a committee to bring forward complaints from the student body to the food director. As time went, I realized we may as well have been talking to a brick wall until we were blue in the face because we received absolutely no results or corrections. Not even the simplest complaint was corrected. It seemed like there was an excuse for everything. Listed below are some of the complaints that were brought forward by the committee, and many students still complain about these this semester.

First, it is not fair that the students should pay extra for second servings. If I recall, we paid for ALL of our food at the beginning of each semester. That is like taking money out of our own wallets. It is said that the cafeteria is doing this to cut down on food waste. Well, if the cafeteria could cook the food so it would be somewhat edible, then there would not be as much food wasted. What is worse, is that if a student should eat three meals a day with no extra servings, he would be a couple of days short with tickets. I should know, I was two days short on tickets. The students should be refunded every two weeks for the tickets they do not use. If the food was cooked and kept warm, that would also help the food waste problem. But these two problems seem to be the worst of all.

It is probably a major accomplishment if they could boil water. Besides the main dish being cold or not cooked (or both), the vegetables are just as bad. There have been many times when the vegetables were cold or not cooked (or both). Last year, the vegetables were kept in the electric warmers (where the salad is served), and they were always warm. Once in every great blue moon, we are fortunate to have something worth eating, but the portions are too small. But look on the bright side, if you do not want to pay extra for another fantastic serving, you can always go back and eat more of the two-three day old salad. Myself, I do not like to eat brown or wilted lettuce. If you notice the menu, sometimes they will serve something that is not even listed on the menu for the day. Mainly because they ran out of stock of what they were supposed to have. If they run out of stock, they usually resort to the hotdogs which are almost half the size of the hotdog buns. If they do not have any hotdogs, they can always stick us with the good ole' left-overs that haunt us regularly. Many of the students would like another pop machine in the cafeteria. If I remember correctly, the committee was told we would get another pop machine. Where is it?

Besides those problems, what about the plastic gloves that are supposed to be worn by everyone who serves food. Even if they are serving the food with serving utensils, they are still supposed to wear those gloves. Just last Sunday, I saw one of the ladies filling up the salad tray and she was scooping the lettuce out with her bare hands. Last semester, one of the workers in the serving line smoked cigarettes while serving food. Now, that same person chews gum while serving food. That person also chews their gum on the outside of their teeth and not inside the mouth. If you go to any fast-food restaurants, you will notice none of those workers smoke cigarettes or chew gum. Also, there have been occasions when a person who is serving food has a cold. It would be nice if the people serving the food (male and female) would wear hair nets. Many of the students complain about going into the cafeteria fifteen minutes before closing time but those students cannot be served because the cafeteria workers cleaned everything up. They should start cleaning up after the cafeteria is closed and not before.

Everything I have listed is everyday complaints by GSC students, mainly because these are everyday occurrences. With a little effort, all of these complaints could be resolved. We may as well face it, when it rains, it pours. Especially for the GSC students who paid to eat in the cafeteria.

Sure, people say institutional food is all alike, but those have not eaten in the GSC cafeteria. From writing these complaints which I have compiled, I hope this is only the beginning. I hope there will be other students who will let the cafeteria know how they feel about the food situation.

Thank you,
Sincerely,
Bill Szabo

The residence halls will be closed on Friday, March 12, 1982, at 5 p.m. and will re-open on Sunday, March 21, 1982, at 12:00 noon. Lunch will be the last meal served on Friday, March 12, 1982. Dinner will be the first meal served on Sunday, March 21, 1982.

Before you leave the residence hall for the break, please be sure that: 1) you have unplugged everything in your room (clocks, stereos, etc.). 2) you have turned out all lights. 3) your curtains and windows are closed. 4) your door is locked (and windows, also). Please note that the college is not responsible for anything stolen from your room. We will be checking your rooms to see that you have complied with the above requests.

Keenan Praises Anderson

On Thursday, February 25, I was one of a large number of GSC students, faculty, and staff who was fortunate enough to be able to attend a poetry reading and discussion by Ms. Maggie Anderson. Ms. Anderson, a native of Keyser, WV, discussed poetry in general and read several of her original poems. Throughout the discussion, Ms. Anderson stressed the importance of each individual person (particularly West Virginians) being able to write poetry in order to preserve their heritage. She stated that many people in West Virginia and other Appalachian states feel that poets abound in larger states, and that West Virginians feel that they are just naturally "left out" and don't have a chance to be recognized. Ms. Anderson feels that everyone should be entitled to write, no matter where they are from. In order to stress her point, Ms. Anderson quoted Virginia Woolf: "Literature is no one's private ground; literature is common ground."

After reading several of her original poems and poems by some of her students, Ms. Anderson volunteered to remain after the discussion to talk with all students who would like to discuss poetry in general or a student's own original work, specifically.

Personally, I greatly enjoyed Ms. Anderson's discussion, and especially her poetry reading. She gave a dynamic talk encouraging all would-be poets to pursue their interests further and to continue writing. She certainly encouraged me!

My own thanks, as well as those of many others, go to the GSC Cultural Affairs Committee and to Mrs. Martha Keating for inviting Maggie Anderson to campus, and my special thanks to Maggie Anderson, poet-in-residence of Marshall County and genuinely warm human being, for sharing her experiences, her wisdom, and her work with us.

Cheryl L. Keenan

From A Political Viewpoint

We are very rapidly approaching a time when political candidates will be seen as well as heard in this off-year election. With the filing date of February 24th having gone by, scores of candidates will be declaring their candidacy and filing to run for various local, state, and national offices. With the primary elections in June, and the general elections being held in November, we are going to be faced with a decision of whom to vote for. We need to seriously look at a candidate's platform, how they feel and believe on the issues in determining how or for whom we are going to cast our vote.

We as students have a responsibility to ourselves, to our state, and to our nation in helping to decide what candidates are elected to public office. Voting is a moral obligation to our country and to ourselves, and a privilege given to us by the Constitution of the United States and the State of West Virginia, or whatever state you may be from. Thousands and thousands of votes are lost during each election, some because people are away from home and are not aware of the procedures to follow for absentee balloting/registration.

This is the first in a series of articles that I will be writing between now and the end of the semester, designed to inform us as students here at GSC on the subject of voting and the procedures that we need to follow in registering and voting by absentee ballot. I hope that this subject will not be taken lightly, as state and national budgets, and even the budget here at GSC become tighter, reductions are going to be made, and programs are going to be reduced, which will affect us as students. By exercising our constitutionally guaranteed privilege of voting, we will be helping to make the decision of what candidates will hold public office, and will be making laws that affect us as students and responsible adults.

After researching and talking with several of the staff and students here at GSC, I have found that there is not a voter information program available to us, and I have also found that there is a consensus that such a program is needed. I will be working with Dr. Darnell in the Political Science Department, along with Dr. Billups in the Student Affairs Office, and involving those as necessary in trying to establish a voter information program here at GSC that would be available to all students. Any help from the staff, student body or organization on campus will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
Billy C. Hurst

'Gems' Visit Mar. 11

On Thursday, March 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the GSC gymnasium, the GSC Staff Council will present the Arkansas Gems, often called the clown jewels of women's professional basketball, in a game against the GSC men's faculty "Flops."

The Gems are a team of women basketball superstars ranging in height from 5'6" to 6'2". The team plays only men's teams and plays specifically by men's rules.

Admittance to the game will be $3 for adults and $2 for children in advance. Admission at the door will be $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for children.

The Glenville State College cheerleaders recently returned from the WVIAC Men's basketball tournament in Charleston.

The captain of GSC's squad, Angel Goddard, was named as one of three Best Individual Cheerleaders. Angel is a senior Business Administration major from Elkview, WV.

March 10 is designated as mid-semester. Also, the last day to withdraw from classes is changed from March 17 on the college calendar to March 24.

Advanced Life Saving Class offered Monday, March 1 at 7:30 p.m. Those interested should be able to swim 400 yards crawl stroke in less than eleven minutes. Age 15 and up are invited to attend.

Cave Biology Class Outlined

The Glenville State College Cave Biology Course begins March 4 at 6:30 in the downstairs Biology Lab. It will last eight weeks of this semester. This field-oriented course is offered by the Division of Science and Mathematics and is taught by Mr. Jim Meads. Cave Biology is designed to acquaint the student with the history and study of cave science, and to instill a respect for cave conservation, safety, and proper caving techniques. An important aspect of Cave Biology is the planned field studies into various West Virginia caverns.

On March 6, the cave biology class will be touring Smokehole Caverns in Grant County, Seneca Caverns in Pendleton County and Stratosphere Balloon Cave in Pendleton County.

March 27 they will explore Bowden Cave System in Randolph County. April 24 they will explore Sinks of Gandy Creek, Stillhouse Cave in Randolph County. There is one optional trip May 7, 8, 9 at Trout, New Trout, Hamilton Caves in Pendleton County.

The class also consists of four hours of lecture time, quizzes and a final exam.

Tax Seminar Offered

A Tax Reporting Seminar to assist taxpayers in preparing their personal income tax reports (1040A Short Forms) will be offered on the Glenville State College campus Wed., March 10, commencing at 6:00 p.m. Participants will meet in Room 101 of the Administration Building. Mr. James Hinter, GSC accounting professor and CPA, will coordinate the workshop activities.

Some general background information will be given; tax preparers will have opportunities to ask questions of specific interest, and college business majors having already completed tax courses will be available to provide tutorial assistance. The purpose of the course is two-fold: (1) assist taxpayers in preparing their individual 1981 1040A Forms and (2) equip tax preparers so that they will be self-sufficient in preparing tax reports in subsequent years. You are asked to please bring your tax returns for the previous two to five years.

Interested persons can make inquiries and/or register by contacting the Office of Continuing Education at 462-7361, Ext. 118. A small fee will be charged for the seminar.

NOTE: THIS CLASS IS ONLY FOR PREPARERS OF INDIVIDUAL TAX RETURNS AND NOT FOR PROPRIETORSHIP, PARTNERSHIP OR CORPORATION TAX RETURNS.

Tom Davisson represented enthusiasm throughout his career as Pioneer, even as he watched GSC fall from the tournament.

Many Pioneer fans traveled to Charleston to encourage the Glenville team during tournament action.

Bowlers End Season

The GSC Bowling team finished its season last weekend by competing in its conference tournament. The Pioneer bowlers placed fourth in all events and fifth in the team event in the tourney.

A Division I team, Western Kentucky University, won the event while Marshall University was second.

For GSC, Keith Hite and Dave Lamm placed third in the doubles event with a total of 1,142 pins. Averages for GSC are as follows: Keith Hite - 186; Dave Lamm - 183; Jeff Stanley - 182; Jerry Kurjian - 181; John Waldeck - 176; and John Thompson - 170.

Hite received two awards during the weekend. One was for high conference game of 269, and the other was for Division II high series.

Don Bullett shoots for two of his 18 points against Bluefield.

Women's volleyball Intramural Rosters should be turned in by March 12. The teams will start playing after Spring break on Mondays and Wednesdays. Each team should have at least eight players. Turn volleyball rosters in to Diane Bach or Annetta Haddox.

A meeting of the PE Club will be held in the gym on Wednesday, March 3. Members are asked to be dressed to participate and to be prepared to pay semester dues of $3. Also, officers will be elected.

Time for the meeting is from 7-8:30 pm. Anyone with questions should call Mr. Hunt.

Men's intramural bowling will begin on Wednesday, March 3, at 6:45 p.m. in the Pioneer Center bowling alley. Teams must have five members, and members are responsible for shoe rental and lane fees.

All-Stars Vs. PCC

Women's basketball intramurals have finished their season.

During the period from November 9 to February 22, seven games were played. The basketball standings are: Longshots: 7-0; Woodchucks: 4-2; Terre's Terrific Team: 4-2; Sweats: 3-3; Sigma Sigma Sigma: 2-3; Oreos: 2-4; Delta Zeta: 1-4; and Rah-Rahs: 0-5.

Something new is going to be tried: GSC's all-star team is to play PCC's women's intramural team on Saturday, March 6, at 10 a.m. The two teams will play at Parkersburg on Wednesday, March 10, at 8 p.m.

Members of the GSC team are Arnie Headley, Annetta Haddox, Jeanette Pawlick, Gina Bailes, Kim West, Addie Holcomb, Janet James, Pam Hypes, Poncho Richards, Robin Fairchild, and Diane Bach. Coaches are Mark Kozlowski and Pam Minigh.

Pioneers Lose To Bluefield

GSC's Pioneer basketball team was knocked out of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference basketball tournament in the first round last week at Charleston.

The Pioneers, who placed fourth in the WVC Tourney last season, were pitted against Bluefield State College in their first round game this year. The game was played at the Charleston Civic Center on Wednesday, February 24.

GSC played well in the first half, grabbing a 2-0 lead and never falling behind in the half. The Pioneers of Coach Jesse Lilly played good man-to-man defense on the Big Blues and took away their explosive fast-break offense for the most part to take a 40-34 lead at intermission.

Glenville had built an 11-point lead with 3:09 to play, but Bluefield used a full-court press effectively to close the gap to six points at half.

The second half was nip-and-tuck the whole way as first one team then the other would score. Bluefield finally took the lead for good on a fast-break layup with only 2:14 to go. At that point, it was 67-65 in Bluefield's favor. The Big Blues used two layups and four key foul shots in the closing minutes to preserve the 75-73 win and dash the hopes of the ardent GSC followers.

Clay Young, a sophomore, had an outstanding game in a losing cause for GSC. He scored 27 points and pulled down 14 rebounds. For his effort, Young received a trophy for being the outstanding first-round player on a losing team.

Also for GSC, Don Bullett, a senior who received all-conference honors last year, had 18 points and seven rebounds, Scott Ludwig had 14 points and three assists, Randy Anderson had six points and six assists, Rich Moore had six points, and Chris Richardson had two markers.

Coach Lilly remarked of his Pioneers, who finished at 11-17 this year, "We played relatively well as a team. We had trouble inside when both Don Bullett and Clay Young got into foul trouble, but Bluefield didn't embarrass us."

Clay Young was named as the outstanding first-round player on a losing team in the WVC tourney.

Junior Guard Randy Anderson leads the GSC fast break in the tourney game against Bluefield.

From The Wesley Foundation

The GSC Wesley Foundation has established a cooperative relationship with the Draft Information and Referral Center in Morgantown.

Materials will be available at the Wesley Foundation and the S.I.R.O. office, and anyone seeking further information or counseling about the draft will be linked with the Center in Morgantown by phone or in person.

The Draft Information and Referral Center began in July, 1980 and located itself at Bennett House on the W.V.U. campus. Its founders were both campus ministers at WVU: the Revs. Jed Groszold and D. D. Meighen.

The Center's purpose is to assist young men and women who have faced or are facing registration to more adequately decide for themselves what they will do based on available information and alternatives.

Further, a counseling service is provided to help those who are examining available options and procedures in response to the Selective Service System.

The Center recognizes registration as a legal procedure. It is also sensitive to decisions of individual conscience, including conscientious objection. The efforts to provide materials or counseling are not geared toward making decisions for individuals, but rather to enable more informed decisions as well as to support decisions that are made.

Lenten materials and a schedule of activities are available FREE at the Wesley Foundation. This time of preparation can be a very significant one! Please drop in and make use of them.

A Workshop For Working Women will be offered by the W. Va. Conference Board of Discipleship. The United Methodist Church of Bridgeport will host this event on April 24, from 10:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. The afternoon will be divided into the following workshops: Time Management, Financial Planning, Coping with Children, Rights on the Job, Involvement in Church and Community, Career Development, Single and Divorced Women and Development of the Devotional Life.

Registration deadline is April 14th. Contact the Wesley Foundation for more information.

There will be a Special Olympics meeting Tuesday, March 9, at the Senior Citizen's Center at 7:00 p.m. If you are interested, please attend. Your help will be greatly appreciated.

There will be a regular meeting of the GSC Fencing Club on Wednesday, March 3. The meeting will be held in room 207 HB at 5 p.m.

Buy your tickets for the Arkansas Gem's game, to be held on March 11 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the switchboard and the library.

A story of natural love.
