Services Undergo Change

Do you depend upon Glenville's bus service to go home on weekends or holidays? If so you may want to really take notice of this article. Greyhound Bus Service is wanting to discontinue their stop in Glenville. They are wanting to do this because their expense would be lowered by only traveling the interstate between Clarksburg and Charleston. There will be a public meeting at the Courthouse on Dec. 16 at 3 p.m. in the Courtroom.

Before this date, Student Congress needs some information from those students who use this service. We would like this to be submitted by December 15 by 12 p.m. in the Student Affairs Office. The public meeting will be Dec. 16 at 3 p.m. in the courtroom at the Gilmer County Courthouse. We will organize everyone for the public hearing on January 18 at 1 p.m. at the Courthouse.

An important student meeting will be on January 11 at 4 p.m. in the auditorium. All students interested are ENCOURAGED to go. This is very critical in order to keep the bus service running through Glenville. The commissioner will gather information and listen to speakers. This is an open meeting in which anyone can speak.

The formal hearing is dated for January 28 at the State Capitol in Charleston. Testimonials will be heard as well as evidence and information considered. It will be at the formal hearing that the commissioner will decide if the Greyhound service will continue through Glenville.

Students Attend Legislature

Angela Boram and Kenny Millhone are the recipients of the Frasure-Singleton Student Legislative Program. Fifty college students from around the state will have the opportunity to observe the West Virginia Legislature in session for one week under this program.

Angela and Kenny will be able to see all aspects of the legislation lawmaking process and each will be assigned to a legislator. They will help aid their legislators in such legislative tasks as constituent requests.

They will receive one semester hour credit for their participation in the program. All major expenses are to be provided for all participants.

Dr. Joe Darnall, Co-ordinator of the program on our campus, expressed concern at the lack of interest that the students seem to have expressed in the program. He feels that it is an "excellent opportunity to learn about the West Virginia Legislature's lawmaking process."

So, anyone interested in a future career in (or around) politics should consider signing up for the program next year. The program is open to full-time sophomores, juniors, and seniors from all study fields on the college level. One course in Political Science must have been completed successfully and the applicant must be in good academic standing.

President Announces Annual Party Dec. 19

President and Mrs. William Simmons have announced the annual president's Christmas party for Glenville State College employees and their families on Sunday, December 19, from 2 - 3:30 p.m. in the ballroom.

This year's party theme will be 'Christmas Carnival' with many different games and activities. GSC students from different organizations will be assisting in the games. Those included are PBL Business Organization with the ring toss, Sigmas with the lollipop games, cheerleaders with the kissing booth, Wagner R.A.'s with the ball throw, Louis Bennett Hall R.A.'s with snowball pond, women R.A.'s with doughnut walk, MENC with the strolling musicians and singers, Alpha Psi Omega with strolling animals, Ohnimgohows with wagon rides, Delta Zeta with coin toss, Kappa Delta Pi with jump for distance, Lambda Chi Alpha with balloon squash and Theta Xi with the guess the weight.

There will be a Christmas tree and a visit from Santa Claus. Punch and cookie refreshments will be served.

If you are a commuter or not a resident of the dorm, and lose money in the vending machines, come to the Snack Bar floor of the Pioneer Center for a refund. Residents of the dorm should fill out a slip at the main desk of the dorm and the refund will be mailed.

Brown Named Dean

GSC now has a new Dean of Teacher Education, Dr. Palmoneada Brown. Her position will become effective January 1, 1983. Her responsibility is to be the "Institution's chief educational personnel preparation officer." First of all, Dr. Brown plans to meet with the advisory committee, who will help develop a management plan. The advisory committee's members are made up of college instructors, public school teachers and administration.

One change she wants to make is the reorganization of teacher education and more emphasis on teaching education of the college. The new dean is "enthused and optimistic."

Dr. Brown will be establishing residence in Glenville and her office will be in Clark Hall.

The former Director of Glenville State College Center at Parkersburg received her bachelor's and master's degree at Marshall University and her doctorate at the University of Houston. She formerly taught at GSC from 1974 - 80.

Dr. Brown had one comment to make. She wanted to "thank the faculty and staff for cooperation and assistance while I was serving as director in Parkersburg, and I'm sure it will continue in my new job."

Swimming Courses Offered

Glenville State College Office of Continuing Education will be offering American National Red Cross swimming courses. Instruction will be provided by Dr. John Hymes who has over 20 years' experience in teaching Red Cross Swimming. He is certified as an Instructor Trainer for the American National Red Cross and is currently the Water Safety Chairman of the Gilmer County Red Cross Chapter.

The Basic Swimming Instructor course will be offered to individuals 17 years of age and up who have basic swimming ability. The course will involve mastery of teaching the beginning elements of swimming as well as learning the nine styles of swimming and the basic elements of water safety. The 30-hour course will begin on January 17, through March 1982, from 6:30 to 9:15 p.m. each Monday evening at the College Pool.

Advanced Lifesaving/Lifeguarding course will begin during the month of April. Participants must be at least 15 years of age or older and be able to swim 440 yards American Crawl stroke (free-style) in a time of 11 minutes or less. This is a National Red Cross Certification course designed to train individuals in lifesaving skills and prepare them to hold a lifeguarding position.

The Water Safety Instructor course will be taught beginning January 17, through May 9, 1982, at the College Pool from 6:30 to 9:15 p.m. Participants must be 17 years of age or older, a good swimmer and have a current Advanced Lifesaving Certificate. The 45-hour course will involve the teaching of the nine styles of swimming, current life-guarding techniques and the latest developments in water safety.

Those participants interested in the Advanced Lifesaving/Lifeguarding and Water Safety Instructor courses will find it beneficial to enroll in the Basic Swimming Instructor course for instructional information and pre-conditioning.

For more information or pre-registration please contact the Office of Continuing Education at 462-7361, Ext. 120. A fee will be charged for participation which includes all printed materials and textbook.

The annual Mercury staff Christmas party will take place Sunday, December 19 at advisor Yvonne King's residence. The dinner party will start at 6:00 p.m. with the main course being lasagna. The highlights of the event will probably be the exchanging of gag-gifts from one member to another.

Kenny Millhone, Senior Business Administration major will be representing GSC at Frasure-Singleton Student Legislative Program.

Senior, Angela Boram, will use her past Political Science classes in orienting herself with the legislative process.

Editor Writes -30-

As the 1982 year draws near to its final hour so does my editorship of the Glenville Mercury. Yes that's right folks, I will step down from my position in order that I may pursue the experience of student teaching. I would like to, at this time, express thanks to staff members who helped me with my editorial responsibilities.

To my Associate Editor, Debbie Moore, thank you for all your support when I needed it and to Carron Smith (Assistant Editor), life in the Mercury Office would not be the same without you. May Steve Keenan, Cheryl Keenan, Angela Boram, Janice Boggs, and Kim Honaker, realize that without their contributions to the paper, there would be no paper. To all new staff members (Mike Phillips, Tammy Igo, Dave Spurlock, Jackie Mullens, Pat Lewis, Beth Bragg and Jim Weidemoyer) hang in there, and enjoy working on the Mercury, it only gets better. A special thank you goes to Cindy Vance and Pam Bickel for their patience with my complaining.

At this time I would like to thank Mrs. King (my mom away from home) for letting me try my hand at being editor. I am especially thankful because Mrs. King and all staff members are like family to me and working with them has been one of the best experiences of my life. Now that I have left tear spots on this editorial, I must end my good-bye and let the new editor fill my position. Best of luck to the new editor and staff next semester.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I'd like to thank all those who came out and made our blood drive a success. We had 87 donors. I would especially like to thank Diane Bach, the Interfraternity Council, and the Panhellenic Council for their participation.

Again, thanks and Merry Christmas!!

Sincerely,
Don Fox
Gilmer County
Blood Chairman

From The Wesley Foundation

A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all from the Wesley Foundation.

A thank-you to those who helped trim the tree here.

My personal appreciation to all, students, faculty, and staff, who have made the Wesley Foundation part of their campus life in some way.

A reminder that the Bible study class meets on Sunday mornings over coffee and doughnuts at the Wesley Foundation beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Late study will be offered at the Wesley Foundation. The building will be open on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Dec. 15th and 16th, until 1 a.m. Coffee, tea, or hot chocolate will be available.

Student Congress News

The Student Congress of GSC held a meeting on Thursday, December 9, at 4:30. Roll call was taken and the minutes were read from last week's meeting. Topics discussed were as follows: the possibility of having more ping-pong and pool tournaments and maybe even having a soft-ball and joint-swim tournament; also, the Student Congress decided to invite surrounding high school bands to play at the home basketball games. The PA system in the gym was discussed. A complaint was brought up about the big screen television in the Student Union. The complaint was that the screen should be played in the day for commuters instead of just at night. The Student Congress agreed not to meet next Thursday because of finals. The next meeting would take place on Jan. 14 at 4:30. The meeting was adjourned at 4:50. Also, the Student Congress wishes everyone good luck on their finals and a happy holiday!

The Residence Halls will be closed on Tuesday, Dec. 21, 1982 at 5 pm and will re-open on Sunday, January 9, 1983 at 12 noon. Lunch (noon meal) will be the last meal served on Tuesday, Dec. 21, 1982. Dinner (evening meal) will be the first meal on Sunday, January 9, 1983.

Pioneer Men Lose Two Games

The top two teams in the West Virginia Conference, West Virginia Tech and Salem, invaded Glenville last week and came away with victories over the GSC men's basketball squad. The two losses dropped GSC to 1-6 overall (0-5 in the WVC).

were Deon Lanier (13 points) and Kenny Taylor (ten points). Both Lanier and Taylor had dunks.

Also for GSC, Rich Moore had six points and six steals, Trent King had four points, and Steve Morris scored two.

Salem 79, GSC 63

Tech 94, GSC 88

All-American guard Sedale Threatt was unstoppable against GSC. He poured in 56 points, 36 in the first half, on 21 of 31 shooting from the floor and 14 of 17 from the foul line. His efforts led Tech to a 58-44 lead at half.

Beginning midway through the second half, the Pioneers got their offense rolling and cut into the Tech lead. GSC rallied to within five points but could get no closer as the Golden Bears held on for a 94-88 win.

Clay Young popped in 29 points, snagged 11 and had three assists to pace GSC's effort. Scott Ludwig scored 24 points and claimed 11 boards. Also in double figures for Glenville

The Salem Tigers used its superior height to down the Pioneers, 79-63, on Saturday. Salem's big men led them to a 52-31 advantage on the boards and numerous blocked shots.

Scott Ludwig, a senior co-captain, tallied 28 points to lead the GSC offensive attack, which was very ineffective at times.

Rich Moore and Trent King added eight markers each, Deon Lanier scored six, Clay Young had five, and Steve Linville and Kenny Taylor put in four each.

King and Young led in rebounds with six each, and Young had five steals.

The Pioneers will not play again until Jan. 4, when they play Pitt-Bradford in the first round of the Joe Manchin Tournament at Salem.

The Physical Education Majors Club will hold its Christmas party on Fri., Dec. 17 from 8-11. Kegs of refreshment, munchies and coke will be served. Music will be provided. Members and their guests must pay $1.00 each.

Teams Break 'Til 1983

Currently, the GSC Lady Pioneers sport a 6-1 record, while their male counterparts are 1-6 on the season.

Tim Carney and Jesse Lilly, coaches of the women's and men's team, respectively, expressed their views in recent interviews.

If one would look simply at the Lady Pioneers' 6-1 record, he would think that Carney would be ecstatic. However, Carney realizes that there is always room for improvement, and he stressed, "We are too inconsistent in our play. We've been basically a second-half team." The fourth-year coach also noted, "Our biggest concern is still in the area of rebounding. But, we've got seven or eight players producing, so we'll be all right."

So far, Carney has three players scoring in double figures. Senior Pam Minigh leads with a 17.0 average, Bunny Taylor is hitting at a 16.3 clip, and Sonja Bailey is putting in 14.5 points a game. Kim Maynard is adding 9.7 points an outing.

Maynard leads in rebounding with a 9.7 average, with Minigh adding 9.3 per game. Taylor is averaging 6.5 assists a game, and Bailey is leading in steals with a 3.2 average.

The Pioneer men find themselves at the opposite end of the spectrum with a 1-6 record, but, when they find the right groove, they should be able to compete with most WVC schools.

Lilly, a veteran of the coaching wars, remarked, "We need to find some balance and become a more consistent ball club. Four of our losses have been to four of the best teams in the conference." Also, he pointed out, "We've received good consistent play from Scott Ludwig and Clay Young."

Through the team's first five games, Ludwig's 15.0 average was tops. Young was at 13.6, Rich Moore 11.0, Kenny Taylor 10.0, Randy Anderson 9.8, and Deon Lanier 8.3.

Young's 8.2 average was the best rebounding mark for the Pioneers.

Senior Pam Minigh attempts to add to the Lady Pioneers' point total against West Virginia Tech.

GSC Lady Pioneers Capture Three Wins

Three more opponents fell by the wayside last week as the GSC Lady Pioneers basketball team continued its impressive playing against West Virginia Conference foes. The Pioneer women defeated West Virginia Tech, West Virginia Wesleyan and Shepherd in last week's action to raise their record to 6-1 overall and 5-0 in the WVC.

GSC 70, Tech 68

Against the Tech ladies, GSC fought its way to a 33-23 halftime lead and survived a second-half rally by Tech to record a narrow, 70-68 win.

Sonja Bailey canned 12 of 18 field goals and two of two foul shots for a team-high 26 points to lead Glenville. The junior guard had four assists and three steals, also.

Also for GSC, Bunny Taylor had 14 points and four assists; Pam Minigh had 12 points and six rebounds; Kim Maynard had 11 points and seven rebounds; and Maria Lothes had seven points and eight rebounds.

GSC 88, West Virginia Wesleyan 72

The Lady Pioneers outscored the Lady Bobcats by eight points in each half to record an 88-72 win in the game last Thursday at Buckhannon. The win was the first big one point-wise for GSC this season.

Pam Minigh and Bunny Taylor combined for 55 points to pace GSC. Minigh netted 28 points and grabbed nine rebounds, and Taylor scored 27 points and recorded seven assists.

Kim Maynard added seven, Judy Niday six, Tina

Burkhamer and Laura Dabney five each, Sonja Bailey and Maria Lothes four each, and Robin Phipps two.

Glenville continued its fine field goal shooting 36 for 66 for 54.5 percent.

GSC 90, Shepherd 50

Every member of the squad scored, including four in double figures, as the Lady Pioneers claimed their fourth consecutive win, a 90-50 blasting of Shepherd.

Sonja Bailey scored 16, Pam Minigh and Bunny Taylor hit 14 each, and Maria Lothes had ten to lead Glenville, which fell behind 9-0 before taking complete control.

Also scoring for the Lady Pioneers were Tina Burkhamer with nine, Kim Maynard six, Rhonda McComas five, Wendy Healy, Cathy Starcher and Judy Niday four apiece, and Laura Dabney and Robin Phipps two each.

As a team, the Lady Pioneers shot 46 percent from the floor. Also, they held a 40-35 rebounding advantage over Shepherd.

The Physical Education Majors Club will hold a meeting Wednesday, Dec. 15 at 7 p.m. at the swimming pool. There will be a kayak demonstration, so be dressed for swimming. For more information, contact Mr. Hunt or Mr. Ford.

The next Women's home game will be on Jan. 13 at 7 pm against Salem. The men will play at home on Jan. 14 at 7:30 pm against Bluefield.

Ladies Stomp A-B

GSC's Women's Basketball Team won its final game before the Christmas break by outscoring Alderson - Broaddus, 80-63, Monday night. The win moved the Lady Pioneers' record to 6-1 (5-0 in the West Virginia Conference.) The GSC Ladies took a halftime lead of 35-30 and continued their strong play for a second-half margin of 45-33.

Maria Lothes had 22 points on 11 of 14 shooting to pace GSC. She also had nine rebounds. Pam Minigh added 16 points and five assists; Kim Maynard had 12 points, 11 rebounds, six assists and four steals; Sonja Bailey had ten; Bunny Taylor added six points and seven assists; Judy Niday had six points; and Tina Burkhamer, Cathy Starcher, Rhonda McComas and Laura Dabney put in two points apiece.

As a team, the Lady Pioneers outshot A-B (48.1 percent to 38.2 percent) but were out-rebounded by a 45-42 margin.

Rich Moore, a sophomore guard, gets off a shot under heavy pressure from a Tech defender.

Frosty the Snowman is ready to welcome everyone into the room.

The Christmas Tree shines for all to enjoy.

President's Christmas Message

The fall semester will soon end, final exams will become history, and you will be heading home for the holidays.

Christmas is a very special time. The excitement of childhood is rekindled in all of us as we share the spirit of the season with family and friends. As the years pass, the special feeling that comes from being with those we love becomes more and more significant. Cherish your friends, your families, your homes, and your communities.

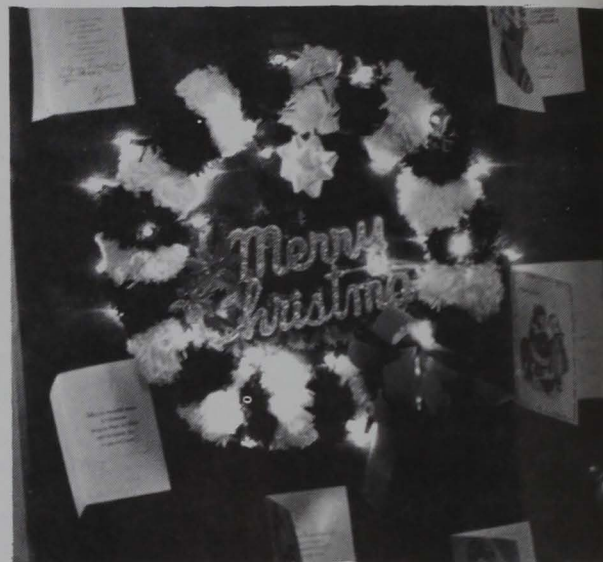

As President of Glenville State College, I get too few opportunities to express my appreciation for the fine student body we have at Glenville. I do appreciate your interest in the educational program, your positive attitude, and the fine image you project for the college. I am proud of you.

Have a safe journey home. I wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

President Simmons

Dorm officers; V-President, Vicki Martin; President, Denise Collins; and Mike Simpson, Secretary, helped organize the Pickens Hall Christmas Banquet for the residents.

Arnie Headley's decorated door expresses her Christmas spirit.

As the cold north wind brings snow to the Glenville State College campus, students prepare for the Christmas holiday. The MERCURY staff photographers put on their winter gear and brave the storm to photograph scenes of Christmas at the friendly campus. The holiday pictures snapped by the photographers express the feelings of good cheer and the warmth generated by the Christmas season.

Reporters' Poll: How Would You Spend Christmas?

As the Christmas season comes upon us, many people are making plans on how they are going to spend their break away from school. Most spend time with their families and friends, but what if they had a chance to do whatever they wanted? To carry out their wildest fantasy? Mercury reporters polled the GSC campus finding out what ideas were locked in the backs of many minds, and here's what they came up with.

Lisa Taylor - "Fly somewhere where the sun shines and there's no snow!"

Carol Bennett - "Get married to Gene."

Pete Singleton - "Buy a car like Magnum or Knight-rider."

Jennie Spencer - "Take a nice warm trip to Hawaii."

Nancy Hines - "Pay all of my parent's bills."

Todd Hall - "Marry Judy."

Billy Belcher - "Go and visit the Caribbean to relax for a couple of weeks."

Mickey McDonald - "Go back to St. Thomas, Virgin Islands."

Jeff Osburn - "Enroll in another school and go to Europe."

Judy Young - "Elope with Todd."

Nada Strother - "I would take Trent King to the Bahamas and have the best time of our lives."

Patty Woofert - "I would spend it in the mountains in a secluded cabin, with the men of my dreams."

Brian Ruth - "I would spend it with Jimmy Teter in the North Pole with Santa."

Glenda Taylor - "Spend it with Santa's helpers, if they were good-looking."

J.B. Miller - "I'd go to Jamaica and look at the girls and go drag racing."

Lou Ann Drake - "I'd go to Hawaii and lay in the sun and spend lots and lots of money."

Kim Lucas - "I would go to some exotic land and take Mark Taylor with me."

Greg Gency - "I'd like to spend my Christmas lying on the beaches of Honolulu, Hawaii. I'd also take my family along as a Christmas present."

Dave Drew - "It's a tough question. I'll let you know next month."

John Trew - "I'd spend my Christmas back home in Barberton the way I always do with one exception; I'd use the extra money to buy my girl and family anything their heart desired."

Brenda McCloy - "I would like to spend my Christmas with my family and closest friends. I would spend the extra money on everyone else but me."

Marc Nettles - "I would like to spend my Christmas somewhere that is warm and has a lot of good looking scenery."

Mike Chadwick - "I would spend it with my family and buy them anything they wanted."

Earl Clark - "I would like to go to Bille wonderland and stay intoxicated for a year with 12 girls."

Clint Waybright - "I would like to take Melissa to Hawaii and shower her with all the gifts a girl could desire."

Greg Knopp - "I'd like to go to Caesar's Palace and mud wrestle with Playboy's PLAYMATE OF THE YEAR."

Mark Wallace - "Right where I will be, on my honeymoon in Jamaica."

Jay Johnson - "Sitting at home eating turkey and watching bowl games."

David Spurlock - "In Honolulu with a case of Mezcal and $5000."

Jim Frame - "I'd like to be in Glenville studying and throwing ice-balls at Townies."

Bill Broshears - "On the beach in Florida, then off to the Gator Bowl."

Shawn Steele - "You don't know the name of the bar. . . don't print anything else I say."

Bill Jones - "In the Swiss Alps catching a buzz on a ski-lift."

Lisa Walker - "Take an extended vacation (6 yrs.) in Hawaii with a companion."

Steve Anderson - "Go on a big trip."

Paula Brown - "Pay all of my education expenses plus take my family to Texas to see my brother."

Sonja Bailey - "Buy my parents anything they wanted."

Kim Maynard - "Buy everyone anything they wanted and an undefeated season."

Cheryl Keenan - "Everyone to be happy and their needs filled."

Kelly Smith - "I would take Randy Usko to Hawaii, and lie around in the sun all day."

Karen Stanley - "I'd spend Christmas the same way I'd already planned - at my home, with my husband, my children, and plenty of food and good times together."

Wayne Hardway - "Spend it somewhere with my family."

Raeleen McMillion - "Give my folks a $300,00 dollar home, complete with tennis courts and swimming pool, two Rolls-Royce in the duplex garage, vacation to where they wanted to go, cash to spend and then $10,000 for each of my friends."

Mike Dotson - "Buy

stocks and give to my father and buy my sister her own newspaper, send my grandparents on a world tour, and give my mother a theatre in New York."

Bill Anderson - "Get on a plane and fly to Paris by way of New York stopping to see "Evita". Spend five days in Paris visiting the Louvre, the French opera, shopping at Galleries La-Fayette, having dinner atop the Eiffel Tower, taking a trip out to Versailles and visiting other attractions. Before returning pick up a Clinet to bring home."

Angela Boram - "Make the world into a T-group."

Cindy Vance -- "I would give money to those who needed it and to my family. I would also by a pair of new Nikes and the Pepsi Cola Company."

Pam Bickel -- "I would make sure my family had all they wanted. Then I would buy a Ferrari and the Dallas Cowboy Football team. I would also make sure everyone would have Christmas everyday."

Steve Keenan-- "To celebrate Christmas with my family, then hibernate for the rest of the break."

Christmas Requests Given

One morning while I was walking to class, a small whisper came from behind a bush at the Robert F. Kidd Library. "Jackie, over here," the voice whispered. I looked around to see if anyone was near and I ran behind the bush to see who was summoning me. A little man, dressed in green and red, smiled at me and introduced himself as one of Santa's helpers from the North Pole. He told me that Santa had sent him to GSC to find out what GSC wanted and needed for Christmas. I asked him why he had chosen me to tell him. He replied that Santa read THE GLENVILLE MERCURY every week and he wanted a reporter to inform him of GSC's needs. I peeked out of the bush to see if anyone was noticing me and I proceeded to tell him of GSC's Christmas needs.

First of all, I told him that GSC was in desperate need for some snow. I continued that Christmas just wouldn't be Christmas without snow. He told me that Santa would call Jack Frost and GSC would receive some snow. Next, I told him that GSC students needed all finals cancelled and automatic A's in all of their classes. He chuckled and told me that Santa couldn't deliver that, but he said he would mention it. He then told me to mention two other needs or wants because he had other colleges to stop at before heading home to the North Pole.

I thought really hard on what to say next. I knew exactly what to tell him. After all, Christmas is for gifts and these gifts were ones that anyone would be happy to receive. I told him to have Santa deliver to all of the students of GSC their desired degrees and to the staff of GSC deliver one million dollar retirement checks. He smiled and seemed confident that Santa would deliver those gifts. Finally, I told him to ask Santa to let everyone at GSC have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. He lifted his little arm, patted me on the arm, and said he would make sure GSC would receive that gift from Santa. Then he said good-bye and thanks, taking my copy of THE GLENVILLE MERCURY for Santa and he disappeared.

I was standing behind the bush in astonishment, when I noticed a few people staring at me. I pulled myself together and told them "Merry Christmas" and I continued to go to class with a smile on my face.

"The Global Community" Available

This week a new kit is available for use in the Media Center. Kit No. 1154 entitled "You, The Global Community, and Human Rights," contains a slide set, cassette tape, and nine lesson plans. Each of the lesson plans is structured for a fifty-minute class period.

This unit has been made available by FACDIS (Faculty and Course Development in International Studies). Dr. John Hymes is the campus coordinator.

The first lesson plan, "Human Rights as a Global Issue," is intended to give students factual and conceptual information about the nature of the problem of human rights violations in the contemporary world. Lesson 2, "Values Preferences," defines and illustrates values. "Human Rights Actors" will familiarize the student with the major categories of global Human Rights actors. "Human Rights Policies" is Lesson Plan 4. It is intended to develop the student's understanding of the relationship between specific Human Rights Values and specific Human Rights policies.

Lesson Plan 5 is entitled "Simulation Preparation" and introduces an experiential mode of learning. Lessons 6 and 7 are Simulation I and II. These two lessons are intended to operationalize the simulation experience outlined in the previous lesson. "Processing and Simulation" is lesson 8; it is to help the student assess the simulation from descriptive, analytical, and effective perspectives. Finally, the last lesson is "Summary, Relevance, and Efficacy." It, in effect, summarizes the main concepts in the unit.

Special Olympics Bowling Tourney In Pioneer Center

20 Gilmer County Special Olympians participated in a bowling event at the GSC game room on Thursday, Nov. 18, from 9:30 a.m. until noon. The event, sponsored by Gilmer County Special Olympics, with help from Mr. Drahnak and his staff at the Pioneer Center, college student volunteers, and the county school board, included lots of bowling, donuts for a morning snack, and a bag lunch for all the bowlers before they returned to school or home.

Bowlers included students from Sand Fork and Troy elementary schools, the TMR Center in Glenville, and an adult participant from Cox's Mills. Special Education teachers Mrs. Susan Stahlberg and Mrs. Elaine Morris accompanied their students. College volunteers Vicki Gaston, Gayle Stanley, Keith Enoch, Cindy Stewart, Mindy Parks, Tony Fry, Lisa Lucas, Boob Lanham, Susan Harshbarger, and Michelle Gallourakis were a great help in making the event such a success. It would be hard to say who had more fun; the bowlers or the volunteers!

Ann Lilly, R.N., wife of Coach Lilly, volunteered her services in providing physical screenings enabling the bowlers to participate in Special Olympics events. Edith Drahnak, wife of food service director Joe Drahnak, is the county coordinator for Special Olympics. Anyone interested in information about Special Olympics can call Mrs. Drahnak at 462-8977.

History Convention Planned For April

The 24th annual spring conference of the West Virginia Historical Association of College and University Teachers will be held in mid-April at Glenville State College in Glenville, WV.

The West Virginia Historical Association is a professional organization of college and university history teachers that was established in 1956. The organization gives opportunities for historians to present scholarly papers on research they have conducted. The papers are then published in the Journal of the West Virginia Historical Association.

"A call for papers has already been issued," said Dr. John Hymes, secretary-treasurer of the organization. "The papers will be dealing with new methodologies in history teaching and genealogical research."

Hymes said that there are 115 potential members in West Virginia who are professional historians at colleges and universities throughout the state. For more information regarding the submission of papers or the conference, contact Dr. John Hymes, Glenville State College, 304-462-7361.

Two Glenville Graduates Receive "Teacher" Honors

Kristy Dukas, a 1977 graduate of Glenville State College has been named teacher of the year from among 255 contenders in Braxton County.

Miss Dukas, a Parkersburg native, earned a degree in early childhood and elementary education from Glenville in three years. She was a member of the Delta Zeta Sorority and also selected for Kappa Delta Pi Education Honorary and Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

She has taught first grade at the Flatwoods Elementary School for the past six years. Miss Dukas has also taught Chapter 1 and Head Start programs during summer terms.

Miss Dukas was also one of the five finalists vying for the title of state teacher of the year in West Virginia.

Sandra McKinney, sister of GSC's band director and graduate of GSC, was chosen Jefferson-Wood County Teacher of the Year.
