Darnall Announces Legislative Programs

Dr. Joe Darnall has announced that application may be made by students interested in participating in the Frasure-Singleton Legis lative Program or the Legislative Fellows Program.
The Frasure-Singleton Legislative Program provides an opportunity for students to observe, for one week, the West Virginia Legislature during the 1984 regular session.

According to Dr. Darnall, students work on a one-to-one basis with legislators. one basis with legislators. They observe committee meetings, floor sessions, and hearings. Legislators are available to answer questions, explain strategy, and discuss procedures. The discuss procedures. The scheduled activities include discussion sessions with members of the executive and legislative branches of government as well as lobbyists and the press.

The program is open to full-time sophomores, juniors, and seniors who have completed one course in political science. Housing, two meals, and transporta-tion while in Charleston are provided by the program. All other expenses must be

Program provides an opportunity for a student to participate in a 16-week assignment with the Legislature, beginning in January. Fellows will receive 12 hours of college credit as well as a $150 weekly stipend.

Students will be assigned either directly to a legislator or a legislative agency, performing research and various staff functions. Among other things, participants will be introduced to and develop an understanding of the politics of legislation, legislative research, bill drafting, the role and function of committees mittees, and executive-legislative liaison.

This program is open to full-time undergraduates who have completed sixty who have completed sixty hours of course work, achieved a grade point average sufficient for admission to their degree program, completed a course in political science or have had extensive public af-fairs experience, and will be in good social and aca-absorbed by the particidemic standing during the pants.

The Legislative Fellows be serving the internship.

It is a competitive program with only ten students being chosen from West Virginia's public and private colleges. Dr. Darnall points out that in the three years of the program's exis-tence, two students from GSC have been chosen.

Students will be responsible for making their own housing and transportation arrangements in the Charleston area for the program's duration and will be required to carry their own health insurance.

Dr. Darnall emphasizes that applicants must have a sincere and serious interest in politics and the legislative process. Students who have participated in the program find it exhilarating and incomparable with the textbook and classroom environment.

Interested students should contact Dr. Darnall for applications and further de-tails about the programs. Applications must be re-turned to him by October

Ramsey Resigns Post

Dr. Robert R. Ramsey, Jr., the chancellor of the West Virginia Board of Regents for the last three years, has resigned that position. Ramsey will continue to serve the BOR until Nov. when he will leave to assume the duties of deputy commissioner for academic and health affairs for the Texas Coordinating Board for Higher Education.

Ramsey submitted his resignation at the recent BOR meeting at West Virginia Virginia Northern Community lege in Wheeling. The BOR accepted his resignation "regretfully."

Dr. William K. Simmons, president of Glenville State College, has been named Acting Chancellor of the West Virginia Board of Re-gents, effective October 10.

Commenting on Dr. Simmons' appointment, Dr. John Saunders, president of the Board, said, "The Board is delighted to have someone who has known higher education as a student, a teacher, and an administrator willing to assume the additional responsibilities of chancel-

No acting president will be named for Glenville State College at this time, but Dr. Bruce Flack will act in behalf of the president. Dr. Simmons will be at the Board office

Monday-Thursday and on the GSC campus on Fridays. The position announcement for the chancellor will be issued immediately and the permanent chancellor possibly will be chosen by the middle of March.
Dr. Simmons stated on notification of his appointment, "I approach the appointment with humility and with the desire to do the best that I can do. I am pleased at the confidence bestowed upon me by the Board in thinking that I can fill this position."

Further details on Dr. Simmons' recent appointment will be printed in next week's issue of THE MERCURY.

Education Committee Meets

The West Virginia Senate Sub-Committee on Higher Education assembled here last Friday to meet with faculty and students to discuss various issues and problems.

The acquisition of a new Fine Arts Building was the main topic of the meetings. After hearing a presentation from Gary Gillespie, chair-man of the Fine Arts Dept., and comments from several music majors, the committee took a tour of the music, art, and drama fac-ilities and felt that improvements definitely needed.

Other topics of interest to both faculty members and students were merit pay raises for teachers, the business program, the new drinking law and the new drinking law Parking Bill.

Nicholson To Sit On Panel

Barbara Nicholson, structor in speech at GSC, has been chosen by the West Virginia Speech Communication Association to sit as a member of a panel on teacher education at the association's state conference on October 7 and 8 in Parkersburg. Ms. Nicholson will speak, along with Ms. Pat Karney and Dr. Virginia Richmond, both from West Virginia University on the papel entitled. sity, on the panel entitled "Teacher Education: Content Competency Relational Competency." Ms. Nicholson will present a paper she has written on communication skills need-

Digging Outafter Homecoming!

Mid-Term Is Nearing

From almost every angle, Homecoming 1983 was a huge success. Events were well-attended and well-received, and most of them went off without a hitch. GSC Student Congress members and all others associated with the behind-the-scenes task of staging Home-coming are to be commended for an excellent job.

Now, however, it is time to face reality. Mid-term is drawing nearer every day, and with mid-term come exams, papers or projects nearing due date, and all kinds of other goodies. Late nights are common due to either procrastination or a too-heavy work load.

A simple solution is to begin now (for those of you who have already begun-congratulations). As instructors will preach over and over again, it is easier to read little every night than it is to cram it all in at once. We have a nice, quiet place to study-the Robert F. Kidd Library-and you ought to visit it at least once

However you decide to approach the remainder of the semester, good luck!

Steve Keenan

SC President Pleased

Since Homecoming is now officially over, and I am no longer in a constant state of anxiety, I would like to recognize some of the people who were instrumental in organizing the events and to say thanks for all their hard work. Preparation for this year's Homecoming began last May and continued through the summer right up until Saturday morning. The dedication and endless hours of work displayed by many people were essential in bringing the whole week together. I want to say thanks to the student body for their support and participation. This was what made our efforts worthwhile. I also want to thank SC members for a job well-done; Dr. Billips, who always managed to get things done; Bill Stackman for his time and efforts; Diane Bach, Shirley Williams, Joe Drahnak, and all the faculty and staff who served as judges, chaperones, or helped in any number of ways. I especially want to thank Steve "Only a Heartbeat Away" Keenan, and Shelly "Our car broke down-Gotta make a list" Morris both who, often in the face of adversity, managed to keep everything together-especially me. I sincerely appreciate the time and effort everyone involved. Now that I can take time to look back, I feel that Homecoming '83 was indeed a success.

Penny Clutter Student Body President

Letter to the Editor

To the Student Body:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of those people who helped to make the 1983 Homecoming parade a success. A special thanks to Paula Jones, Chris Bush, Mike Dotson, the Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, Terry Shockey, and countless others who helped with the parade line-up on Saturday morning. Thank you very much.

Finally, anyone knowing who was ramming students, boardmembers and the dean at the Homecoming dance should contact "Rammers of the Week" Joe Huxley and Jeff Cicci.

Lights Needed For Safety

As a resident of North Lewis Street, I have a complaint that I feel is justified.

North Lewis Street, for those of you who do not know, runs from the red light in town, past the Quarter Room and on out toward Mineral Road. Those of us who live on North Lewis Street walk up the steps behind the Student Union to get to class.

After class is when the problem starts. I have astronomy Wednesday night and after class when I have to walk down those same steps, it is a nightmare. There are no lights at all on those steps. They are steep. They are covered with leaves and trash.

Granted, very few people use these steps, but those of us who do deserve a lighted path the same as those who walk down the hill to the dorm.

I, for one, think that the administration should take a look at this problem and act on it. It would be much cheaper to install a couple of lights than pay damages in a suit when someone gets hurt.

Homecoming Is Exceptional

Most of us usually feel that Homecoming is just another week at GSC. However, this year's Homecoming was an exception. The activities planned were creative and successful. President Penny Clutter and the entire Student Conserve are to be conserved. tire Student Congress are to be commended for such a great job. A special congratulations goes to Vice-President Steve Keenan and Parliamentarian Shelly Morris for their innumerable hours of work on all the activities throughout the week.

The week's activities, from the Gong Show to the Las Vegas Games and Mystery Auction, were a great success and well-attended by the students. However, the highlight of the week was the Homecoming dance held on October 1. The Staircase Band was undoubtedly the best band we've heard at GSC.

Again, a sincere congratulations and thank you is extended to the entire Student Congress, Dr. A.T. Billips, and Diane Bach for making Homecoming such a success.

hampton praised

Lionel Hampton and his band's performance Friday night, kicking off Homecoming festivities, was nothing less than phenomenal. With Hampton leading the band, playing vibes, and even the drums, the sixteen-piece band had the auditorium swaying, then dancing, then crooning to the sounds. They provided an excellent mix of new releases and old favorites, appropriately so, as 20-year-old students and 75-year-old alumni all enjoyed the sounds.

In an interview with the MERCURY, though, he demonstrated that his abilities and interests extend well beyond the realm of music. Of course he discussed jazz and its influence on him, but he was also eager to discuss politics, education, and race relations.

He is most proud of his achievements in the latter field. Not only was he the first black to perform publicly with whites in his own field of music, he was actually the first black (along with Teddy Wilson) to do anything with whites in public. The year was 1936. Sports, theatre, and every other field had yet to be integrated. And in the late 1940's, he was the first black to perform at the White House (for President Truman). When talking the White House (for President Truman). When talking to Mr. Hampton, one could feel as if he were studying the history of race relations in modern America. Of course, Mr. Hampton believes that "there is always room for improvement," but points to the success of black jazz musicians, athletes, actors, teachers, and other professionals as examples of how far the country has come in 50 years.

Mr. Hampton is also well-versed in politics and serves as a campaign manager for Ronald Reagan in New York, particularly Harlem. He says new technology, not "Reaganomics" has displaced millions of workers. He is confident that Mr. Reagan's policies will eventually lead to near full employment. Pointing out that he has travelled the world, Mr. Hampton believes this has taught him how important it is for the United States to protect its interests in the manner that Mr. Reagan has chosen.

On the lighter side relative to world events, yet nearly as serious to Mr. Hampton, is the position of jazz today. He is disappointed that more FM stations don't give it air time, as he believes it is far more difficult to play, and more pleasant to listen to than rock music. As a result, "jazz has become bastardized" by musicians attempting to appeal to both audiences, he believes.

Finally, his advice to young people who are pursuing their dream, is "stay in school and get as much education as possible." A professor of music at Howard University, he believes all subjects should be studied and are important complements to one another.

Mr. Hampton has proven once again that age is nothing but an asset. His music and involvement in community affairs serve as an inspiration to students attempting to find their niche in society. A BIG thanks to those who brought us this entertainer and a BIG raspberry to those who complain of a lack of cultural entertainment at GSC. You should have been there.

Athlete's Addition

My congratulations go to the GSC cross country unit for the running they did last weekend. They placed second out of six teams at the WVSC Invitational.

Coach Hilgenberg's men have steadily gotten stronger after a shaky start. The harriers had been beaten by Fairmont State College at both the GSC and IUP Invitationals. Last weekend, however, they defeated the Falcons by seventeen points. Hopefully, this is the turning point for Glenville, and they will soon recapture their conference championship form.

The men in the other fall sport are not doing so well this season. The Pioneer football team played fairly well against Waynesburg in their season opener. They fell upon some very hard times against Shepherd, but they seemed to be ready to get together when they beat West Virginia State soundly. Last weekend was missed opportunities and a punt blocked by the Hill-toppers returned for a touchdown to spoil their Homecoming game.

Frank Vincent's gridmen have had an up and down season as of now. They have an extra week to work and get ready before their next game at Salem College. This extra seven days, with the open weekend, may also be used for rehabilitation as four Pioneers are down with knee injuries and a few others with minor physical Taylor took second place individually with a time of 26:27 for the five-mile course. Senior captain Steve Keenan took seventh place overall at 27:18 with Dave Antonik the next Pioneer in at ninth place at 28:04.

Steve Meckfessel finished sixteenth with a time of about thirty minutes while with a time of 31:23, Steve Roberts earned twenty-fifth place. Sophomore Lloyd Taylor, Keenan, and Antonik all received individual plaques for their efforts. The Pioneer team got a trophy for its second place finish overall.

Rio Grande was the only team to defeat Glenville last Friday. Rio scored only 44 points to the Pioneers' 59. Glenville did beat every conference team at the meet.

Next Wednesday, October 12, will be the next time the harriers compete. They will run against conference foe, West Virginia Tech.

Spikers Drop 5 Of 6

Hard luck seemed to fall upon the women's volleyball unit last week. The spikers saw their score fall short in five of the six matches they played in the first week of action.

Wednesday they travelled to West Virginia Tech for a triangular match. The spikers defeated host Tech twice by identical 15-13 scores to win their match. Salem College, however, defeated the Lady Pioneers twice, including a hard fought 17-15 battle.

At the invitational at Concord, West Liberty beat the netters twice to win the first match. Mars Hill took Glenville's next match and Alderson-Broaddus and Milligan College did the same.

Senior Gina Bailes scored in every match last week and in every game but three. Leading scores in last week's action were Bailes with 17 points and Leah Marlowe scoring 14 points. Kim West tallied ten points, Myrtle Conley eight, and Kelly Cain, Kelly Smith, Robin Tallhammer, and Diana Sutherland all had seven points.

GSC Loses Homecoming Game As Field Goal Attempt Misses

With five seconds remaining, a last-gasp field goal attempt of 30 yards sailed wide to the left of the goal post for Glenville as West Liberty prevailed 9-7, at Pioneer Stadium on Saturday.

Late in the first quarter, a Scott Hopwood punt was blocked by the Hilltoppers. The ball bounced into the hands of Rob Caldwell, and he scampered 38 yards for six points. The extra point attempt sailed wide and WLSC held a 6-0 lead.

Darst Earns Honors

Sophomore defensive tackle Dave Darst was named Conference Defensive Player of the Week for his efforts in the Pioneers' victory over West Virginia State two Saturdays ago.

Darst recorded three solo tackles, six assists, and two quarterback sacks. With those two sacks Darst leads the Pioneers in that category with four this season. He also led the team last year as a freshman.

The Point Pleasant native was also nominated as NAIA National Player of the Week although he was selected only in the honorable mention category.

yards out. Freshman Mark Szklennik tacked on the extra point for a 7-6 Pioneer lead with 5:05 left in the half.

With only 45 seconds remaining in the first half, junior Byron Brooks fumbled, and the West Liberty defense pounced on the loose ball at the Glenville 44. A few plays and thirty seconds later from the 18-yard-line, Mark Marchese hit on a 35-yard field goal attempt. This made the score 9-7, a lead the Toppers would not relinquish.

A Metheny intercepted pass with only 2:22 left in the game seemed to be all the Pioneers could muster but the stingy defense of Glenville held and forced West Liberty to punt. With 1:19 remaining the Pioneers took over on their own 38. A 27-yard pass to Jim Bird put Glenville on the Hilltopper 35-yard-line. Metheny ran twice, once for eleven yards and again out of bounds to stop the clock. Freshman tight end Mark Underwood caught a pass accumulating eight yards and Metheny ran again to the 13-yard line.

With time running down, for the Pioneers had no time outs remaining, the field goal unit rushed onto the field. Szklennik's 30-yard field goal attempt sailed left and the Hilltoppers won, 9-7.

random thoughts

Hi! I'm back. Not by popular demand but by demand, I've been asked to randomly think again. So here we go.

(1) Mountaineer fever is alive and well in Glenville... is Pioneer fever alive in Morgantown? (2) Larry Loughner did some very intelligent things on the football field Saturday. Whenever West Liberty would try to anticipate the count, Larry would immediately snap the ball, catching them offsides. (3) In the last "Random Thoughts" column, I said cross country was the winningest sport at Glenville. I was later informed rather assiduously that golf has won the most conference championships with six, making it Glenville's winningest sport. (4) The 1973 football team, which was runner-up to the national champions, did not win the conference. (5) How come the cafeteria puts potato chips in every casserole they make? (6) The Pioneer defensive hasn't allowed a touchdown since the Shepherd game. (7) West Virginia will play in the Gator Bowl. (8) Monday Night Football is great, but not that great. (9) Can Nebraska be beaten? (10) This column is for entertainment. It is not meant by any means to offend anyone. (11) Marietta College is no longer on my list. They wrote me a check this week for damages. (12) Basketball is only two weeks away from practice time. (13) Coach Lilly is recovering rather nicely from his recent illness. Get well soon, Coach, We miss you.

Literary Society Underway

The first meeting of the Literary Society for the 1983-84 school year was held September 22 in Room 301 of the Administration Building. Under the advise-ment of Mr. Wayne deRosset, assistant professor of English, members of the Society meet to discuss a variety of selected literary works that are decided upon by the members themselves. Literary Society collects no dues.

This organization was designed in 1969 by Dr. Espy Miller, retired chairman of the Division of Language, for English majors. Today the Society consists not only of those majoring in English but of all those interested in furthering their knowledge of great literary works in prose and poetry.

The honorary organization for English majors and other interested people is Sigma Tau Delta, chartered May 17, 1974. A $10 membership fee will give life-time membership into the organization.

Officers for the Literary Society are as follows: President - Dina Darby; Vice-President - Paula June
